

Poker Is Lady
Worthwhile Sacrifices?
Needlessly Apoplectic

The Daily Tar Heel

Fair and mild.

Raise In Tuition Going Toward Salaries

Trustee Committee OK's Parking Restrictions

GRACING THE CENTER of the Dartmouth college campus at Hanover, N. H., a grinning imp appears over the edge of a ski boot, representing the spirit of the winter carnival. The original statue was designed by Stephenson Flemer, class of '50, of Princeton, N. J.

Legislature Condemns Tuition Raise Proposal

The Student legislature last night passed a second resolution condemning the proposed tuition raise and "implored" the General Assembly to "consider the students as individuals and not as monetary units in consideration of the proposed tuition increase."

Introduced by Ed Tenney, the resolution pointed out that the state constitution calls for tuition rates to be as near free as possible, that any tuition increase would probably force many students to leave school and that "our forefathers have been pay-

Collegiate

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Feb. 17—(UP)—The goldfish-swallowers of the Roaring Twenties had some competition today from the oyster-eaters of the University of Michigan.

And the oyster-eaters had some competition from a tiny feminine member of the University of Michigan Daily's sports staff.

It began Tuesday night when freshman Donald Brown downed four dozen raw oysters in 30 minutes because he "decided to defy science."

Last night, sophomore engineer Chales Porter left his mark lying in the dust with a near-unbeatable mark of 76 oysters in 10 minutes. An awestricken Brown kept count.

Porter, a strapping six-footer, duplicated Brown's feat of eating a hearty meal after the ordeal.

"I still love oysters," he said. About the same time, Beverly Bussey, five-foot three inches, 21 and pretty, set out to break the mark of a University of California student who ate 13 hamburgers in a half hour.

She failed, downing only 12 and 1-2 in a 35-minute span and concluded: "The next time I'll keep my mouth shut."

All were reported in good condition. Said Dr. Warren E. Forsythe, head of the University Health Service: "It's disgusting and silly. You can go and get a hog that can eat more than that."

"I'll be glad when these students grow up," echoed his colleague, Dr. Margaret Bell.

Group Passes New Rulings Recommended

Spring Quarter Marks Beginning

Parking regulations which will restrict virtually every campus parking area within the "walking zone" were passed by the executive committee of the Board of Trustees in Raleigh on Monday, Controller W. D. Carmichael, Jr., announced yesterday.

The recommendations of the University Safety committee were approved by Chancellor House Jan. 24 and were held over for approval by the executive committee.

House said the recommendations, as passed by the executive committee, are:

1. Restrictions on all parking lots will be effective between 7 o'clock in the morning and 2 o'clock in the afternoon, Monday through Friday.

2. In addition to the parking areas already reserved to red sticker parking, the following lots will be restricted: (1) The road leading from Cameron avenue to Emerson stadium, west side; (2) The road leading from Cameron avenue to Alumni building; (3) The small parking areas adjacent to and south of Lenoir hall and Venable hall; (4) The parking area around Swain hall, Smith dorm and Hill hall; (5) All developed parking lots behind the library.

3. The following areas will be reserved for faculty and staff parking and physically-handicapped students under the new rulings: (1) The parking area adjacent to Steele dormitory, Carr dorm, Bynum and Caldwell halls; (2) The parking area on the road leading from Cameron avenue to Alumni; (3) And the parking area between Phillips hall and the Buildings department.

Carmichael said that the new restrictions will go into effect on March 22 which is the first day of spring quarter classes. Another official said the reason for the date is to allow plenty of time to issue necessary stickers and erect the necessary signs.

Scott Charges Democrats Welsh

NEW YORK, Feb. 17—(UP)—Hugh Scott, Jr., chairman of the Republican National committee tonight accused the Truman administration of welshing on its campaign pledges.

He listed civil rights, taxes and the Taft-Hartley labor law in a speech prepared for delivery to the New York Republican clubs.

Durham-Chapel Hill

Another Boulevard Proposal Presented; New Route Asked

DURHAM, Feb. 17—Another proposal was made today for an entirely new entrance into Durham for the proposed Chapel Hill-Durham boulevard as a suggestion made earlier this week met a barrage of objections at a city council hearing this morning.

John S. Hill submitted a plan which called for the new approach to enter Durham by way of Erwin road.

The approach for the proposed boulevard has met opposition from all sides, but the strongest complaint came this morning when Hill told council members

Di Protests Tuition Hike In Resolution

Requests Rates At Present Level

The higher tuition fees approved by the executive committee of the Board of Trustees yesterday, on recommendation of the Advisory Budget commission, drew a protest yesterday from the Dialectic senate.

Arguing against the proposal to increase the fees for state students from $81 to $150 a year, the Di released a resolution which "strongly disapproved" of the proposed increase and "called upon the people of the state, the General assembly, and the Board of Trustees to take action to maintain tuition at the present level."

RALEIGH, Feb. 17—(UP)—North Carolina State college students today urged the state legislature not to raise tuition rates throughout the Greater University of North Carolina. The state college campus government adopted a resolution suggesting that the money needed to maintain University standards at present levels come from other sources than higher tuition rates.

The senate adopted by a vote virtually unanimous a resolution which said in part: "The constitution of the state states that the General assembly shall provide that the benefits of the University, as far as practicable, be extended to the youth of the state free of expense for tuition."

"Any increase in tuition is a departure from the constitutionally-stated principle and will work an undue hardship on many present students and would assuredly deny higher educational opportunities to many potential students.

"It is not the purpose of the University to compete on a financial basis with the denominational colleges, but instead to provide educational opportunities for all the qualified youth in the state, regardless of their financial status."

Medina Rebukes Defense Lawyer

NEW YORK, Feb. 17—(UP)—Federal Judge Harold R. Medina heaped rebuke on one of the defense attorneys as incorrigible and conceited today as the trial of 11 indicted U. S. Communist leaders neared the end of its fifth week.

Medina gave a dressing-down to fiery, little Harry Sacher during the defense cross-examination of federal jury clerk Joseph F. McKenzie in an attempt to show that the jury-picking system here is discriminatory.

New Jersey Students Play Hockey To Help Teachers Get Salary Increase

ELIZABETH, N. J., Feb. 16—(UP)—Some 1,000 high school students played hockey this afternoon to help their teachers get a pay raise.

The students staged demonstrations at three high schools and the city hall in an effort to make the Board of School Estimate grant the teachers a $300 a year pay increase. The board has rejected the teachers' request for a raise.

The demonstration began during the lunch hour and spread to other high schools,

A FIRE ABOVE THE DOME in the Morehead planetarium chamber Tuesday morning damaged acoustic materials which had not been fireproofed. A portion of the material burned is shown suspended above the back surface of the dome. Officials reported that the $115,000 stainless steel dome was not damaged. The part of the dome shown in the lower right part of the picture suffered only water damage. Flames were ignited by sparks from a worker's blowtorch which caught in a pocket of the material. Purpose of the material is to remove all reverberations and echo during a demonstration in the planetarium chamber below.

Shades of Copernicus

Planetarium To Feature Rotunda, Star Exhibits

(Eds note: This is the last in a series of articles on the Morehead Planetarium and Art Gallery which is expected to be open for business before commencement this spring. The article concerns a planned tour through the building excluding the planetarium room itself which was described in yesterday's installment.)

On the right and between the 13th and 14th columns is a huge barometer, one of the largest in the world. Between each of the columns is a masterpiece of art which made up Genevieve Morehead's famous collection.

Black walnut paneled walls and a floor of a fine, rich hardwood are a feature of the rotunda. (See MOREHEAD, page 4)

Four New Skits

Competitive Sorority Program Set for Rendezvous Tonight

Plans have been completed for tonight's Rendezvous radio program and competitive sorority floor show. Lib Stoney said yesterday. The series of sorority skits will begin at 8 o'clock, and the radio portion of the show will be at 9:45.

Representatives from the four participating sororities on the program will be Lucille Arnette, Alpha Gamma Delta; Phyllis Bradshaw, Delta Delta Delta; Connie Roper, Alpha Delta Pi; and Ann Cooper Knight, Chi Omega. The Town Talk trio will present several vocals on the program.

The sorority skits will be announced and explained by Lib, and Mark Barker will be master of ceremonies for the WDUK broadcast.

Faculty Will Get Benefits --Carmichael

Says Non-Staters Are Also Affected

By Margaret Gaston

"Virtually all" money gained through the raise in tuition recommended by the executive committee of the Board of Trustees will be used to increase faculty salaries, Controller W. D. Carmichael, Jr., said yesterday.

"Any person who realistically examines facts that exist today must reluctantly resign themselves to University students paying more if University standards are to be maintained," Carmichael said.

The proposed increase would raise tuition for in-state students from $81 to $150.

Carmichael pointed out that the proposed increase in tuition applied to out-of-state students as well as North Carolinians. Out-of-state tuition would rise from $288 to $357.

Referring to trustees, faculty and administration, Carmichael added that "everybody regrets that a raise in tuition is necessary."

President Frank P. Graham of the Greater University said yesterday the administration and trustees are determined that no student will be deprived of admittance to any of the three branches of the University for financial reasons.

Dr. Graham said that loan funds, escheats funds, and opportunities for work will be used to enable students to attend the University. In cases where none of these suffice, alumnae in various towns and communities will be asked to come to their aid.

"Mr. O. Max Gardner, Jr., graduate of State college and a student in Law school, made a splendid case against any raise in tuition whatever," Graham said.

Graham pointed out that the Greater University was already short $1,575,070 which it is seeking to have added to the budget to make up for an overestimate of receipts. He said the overestimate by the Advisory Budget commission was made even with increased tuition included.

Money appropriated and recommended for the University's large building program is under (See TUITION, page 4)

Shreve Blasts Scales' Letter In Legislature

Anti-Red Measure Topic of Message

By Margaret Gaston

RALEIGH, Feb. 17—(UP)—Rep. Clyde E. Shreve of Guilford county said today in the North Carolina legislature he had received a letter from the "Carolinas district of the Communist party" attacking him for introducing an anti-Communist bill.

Shreve said the letter was signed by Junius Scales of Greensboro and was mailed from Chapel Hill.

He said it was a personal attack on his integrity and character. "The Communists will creep into our foundations like termites when the time comes, we will fall from within, and not as a result of any pressure from without."

Shreve and Rep. John B. Regan of Robeson county recently introduced a bill making it a felony to be a member of any organization advocating the overthrow of the government of the United States or North Carolina by force or violence, and requiring non-Communist oaths from all state employees.

Shreve said the bill was not aimed at any group "except such group as advocates and teaches overthrow of the government of the United States or North Carolina by force or violence."

He said he resented the attack upon him. He said the letter called the bill a rehash of the Mundt-Nixon measure which failed to pass Congress last year, and charged that he could have done more good by backing a state Fair Employment Practices act or supporting admission of Indians and Negroes to the University of North Carolina.

Test Professors

RALEIGH, Feb. 17—(UP)—Wicked glee lighted the eyes of some 5,000 North Carolina State College students as they faced their slightly-nervous faculty today.

Armed with specially-prepared forms, the students were out to evaluate and grade their professors on a fiendish scale known as the Faculty Merit Rating system.

Furthermore, the idea had the blessing of State College Chancellor J. W. Harrelson.

The Faculty Merit Rating system was set up to help State College's administrative officials "maintain the school's high standards of instruction." Fred Kendall, Jr., president of the student body, explained.

There was a speculative gleam behind his sober expression.

"Each student enrolled in the college rates all of his instructors, both lecture and laboratory teachers," Kendall explained. The students are doing the scoring during a few moments of each classroom period this week.

Faculty members are being sized up on 14 points, including personal appearance, presentation of subject material, distressing mannerisms, ability to hold student attention and fairness in grading.

The results of the tests will be submitted to the college Institute of Statistics for tabulation, Kendall said. Later, Harrelson and a student committee will review the results and forward them to the heads of the college's departments.