Proposed Tuition Raise To Be Discussed By Phi

The proposed tuition raise for students in the Greater University will be discussed by the Philanthropic assembly meeting in Phi hall, New East, at 7:30 tonight.

By special action in last week's meeting Phi members voted to postpone consideration of the Fair Employment Practices commission in order to give immediate attention to the tuition question.

The tuition raise has already been condemned by the student legislature, the Dialectic senate, the University Veterans association, the Young Republicans club, the Young Progressives, and other campus organizations.

A member of the Ways and Means committee stated that in view of the lack of support on campus for the raise, tonight's discussion will probably be concerned with ways of stopping Governor Scott's proposal.

Madry Announces Government Week To Start Monday

Mayor R. W. Madry yesterday proclaimed the week of Feb. 27 through March 5 as Chapel Hill World Government week.

First, it is universally recognized that the problem of securing a stable world peace is the most vital problem today, and failure to solve that problem may endanger or destroy the democratic way of life, the proclamation stated.

There is constantly increasing sponsorship for the creation of a world federal government as offering the best opportunity for a solution of the problem, the proclamation continued.

The proclamation pointed out that it is of cardinal importance that all Chapel Hill citizens familiarize themselves with such proposals in order that they may form intelligent opinions and reach wise decisions with respect to them.

"I urge all of our citizens, whether of voting age or not, to make a serious and sincere effort during World Government week to devote study and thought to the reasons prompting, the issues involved in, and the practicability of the proposals for world federal government," Madry said.

Madry urged civic, religious, and other organizations to devote their meetings scheduled during the designated week to study and discussion of world federal government proposals.

Russia Demands Three Witnesses

PARIS, Feb. 21.—(UP)—Russia demanded tonight that France hand over as war criminals three witnesses who testified for Victor Kravchenko, author of "I Chose Freedom," in his libel suit against the Communist weekly Les Lettres Francaises.

Soviet Ambassador Alexander Bogomolov made the demand in a not handed to the foreign office. The Russian note said the three witnesses served in the German army and took part in war crimes during the occupation of the Soviet Ukraine.

Russia invoked United Nations resolutions calling on member countries to hand over alleged war criminals on request.

Atom Laboratory Open to Public Here Tomorrow

A laboratory in connection with atomic research will be open to the public here tomorrow afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock, University authorities said yesterday.

The installation, sponsored by the division of biology and medicine of the Atomic Energy commission in cooperation with the University, is housed in an army surplus building between Phillips hall and Venable hall.

Officials said that the laboratory will be used for the development of research in radioisotopes. Dr. Arthur Roe, who is currently engaged in the organic phase of research with radioactive materials, explained that radioisotopes "are unstable forms of chemical elements which are manufactured in the Oak Ridge laboratory uranium pile. This pile," he continued, "is a controlled atomic bomb, so that materials put in it become radioactive due to proximity of the uranium."

Preliminary to the formal opening, five University professors will hold a seminar on the use of radioisotopes in research tonight at 8 o'clock at the meeting of Sigma Xi, scientific fraternity, in Phillips hall.

Discussion leaders will be Dr. H. D. Bruner, pharmacology; Dr. George Doak, public health; Dr. G. C. Kyker, biochemistry; Dr. Roe, organic chemistry and Dr. C. D. Van Cleave, anatomy. These men are all currently engaged in various phases of research with radioactive materials.

North Carolina is one of six states with facilities for the training of men at both predoctoral and post-doctoral levels in the peacetime use of atomic energy. Other institutions in this state participating in atomic research and training are Duke, State and Wake Forest.

"The Perils of American Democracy" will be the theme of his three evening lectures here.

The Weil lectures, endowed by the families of Sol and Henry Weil of Goldsboro, have been an annual event at the University for 35 years. The first series of these public lectures was delivered by President William Howard Taft in 1914. Included among the Weil lecturers in recent years have been Roscoe Pound, Charles A. Beard, Felix Frankfurter, Herbert Agar, and R. H. Tawney.

They plan to hold the conference during the spring quarter for freshmen of the University, State college, and the University's Woman's college at Greensboro. Bob Barrus, assistant executive secretary of the YMCA announced yesterday.

Hauser Is Triply-Endorsed For Daily Tar Heel Editor

Chuck Hauser, managing editor of the Daily Tar Heel, who received the Student party nomination for the editorship of the DTH last month, was endorsed for the post last week by both the University and Campus parties, Joe Leary and Banks Talley, party chairmen, announced yesterday.

Hauser is the second candidate for the top campus publication post to receive a triple endorsement from campus political parties in as many years. Ed Joyner, present DTH editor, ran under a triple endorsement last spring and was elected to the post over Art Melton, an independent candidate.

Hauser's triple endorsement is the third in recent campus political history. Bill Moffitt, successful candidate for the editorship of the Yackety Yack two years ago, received the first triple endorsement. Moffitt, however, later withdrew from school and was replaced by a board of editors.

CHUCK HAUSER

Hauser has been a member of the Daily Tar Heel staff since the fall of 1946 when he entered the University as a freshman. He was appointed to his present position as managing editor after elections last spring.

He is also treasurer of the Publications board, campus organization which administers the finances of the DTH, Tarnation and the Yackety Yack. He was elected as junior member of the board last April.

After serving as a reporter and night editor for his freshman year, Hauser was appointed DTH news editor during the fall quarter of 1947. He served in that capacity until his appointment last spring.

Last summer, the candidate spent almost three months as a staff member of the United Press bureau in Raleigh. At the present time, he is the UP correspondent for the Chapel Hill area.

In high school, Hauser directed his publications talents towards magazine work. During his sophomore year he was art editor of his school magazine in New Orleans.

Too Far

Students who returned from the YM-YWCA retreat at Montreal over the weekend had a good story to tell yesterday about the embarrassing position Dean of Women Katherine Carmichael found herself in.

Through a mistake in room registration, Miss Carmichael wound up with a State college man for a roommate.

After everything had been straightened out, Dean of Men Fred Weaver made the classic remark of the weekend: "That's carrying consolidation a little too far."

Humanities Talk To Be Delivered By Dr. MacMillan

Dougald MacMillan, professor of English, will deliver the faculty lecture in the humanities for the winter quarter on Friday night at 8:30 in Gerrard hall.

This is one of a series of lectures begun several years ago as a means of presenting various members of the humanities division faculty to the entire community, students, townspeople, University staff, and visitors. The series has proved successful and has included lectures representing all the foreign language departments, drama, art, music, archeology, English and American literature.

Theater Stormed By Angry Jews

BERLIN, Feb. 21.—(UP)—Angry Jews defied warning police shots and high-pressure fire hoses today to storm a theater and prevent a showing of the British motion picture "Oliver Twist" on the ground that the portrayal of "Fagin" is anti-semitic.

Three persons, including an American correspondent, were injured in the melee. It was the second time in less than 24 hours that Jews in Berlin have expressed violent protests over the motion picture. Last night they halted a showing of the picture by yelling, stamping their feet and ripping up seats in the theater.
