

Miss Lee In Queen's Court Justice Crowns Azalea Queen

Miss Claudia Lee of Marshallville, Ga. and a senior at the University, is a member of the Azalea Queen's court at the annual Azalea festival, which began in Wilmington Friday and will end sometime today.

Miss Lee, a member of the Alpha Delta Pi sorority, is one of the ten May and Beauty queens at 10 of North Carolina's principal colleges and universities. The queen of the festival is Miss Martha Hyer, an RKO movie actress, who was crowned last night at the Azalea Coronation ball at Lumina on Wrightsville beach by All-American football star Charlie Justice.

The festival began Friday afternoon with Gen. George C. Marshall, Gov. Kerr Scott and a number of other state officials on hand, and continued Saturday with a mile-long parade. The queen and her court were featured in the parade, which was a prelude to the crowning of the queen.

Other members of the Azalea Queen's court are Miss Katy Evans of Murfreesboro, Saint Mary's college; Miss Anelia Shannon of Waxhaw, Woman's college at Greensboro; Miss Dorothy Guy of Newland, Peace college; Miss Audrey Scarboro of Rocky Mount, Flora MacDonald college; Miss Miriam Bailey of Fair Bluff, Salem college; Miss Jeanne Dickens, Delray Beach, Fla., Meredith college; Miss Nancy Hanks of Cashiers, Duke university; Miss Jill Dellinger of Lincolnton, Greensboro college, and Miss Virginia Gray of Clinton, S. C., Queens college.

Miss Hyers, Dallas Texas, attended Fairfax hall in Virginia and is a graduate of Northwestern university.

Church Group Has Candidaia Speak Tonight

Among student church group activities this week will be the presentation of leading student government candidates at the Baptist church supper forum tonight at 8 o'clock in the church's basement.

Candidates endorsed by the University, Campus, and Student parties will each speak on "Civic Responsibilities on Campus." Following the talks, the audience will be able to question the candidates.

Other student programs will be held at the Methodist church tonight at 8 o'clock when the Rev. Mr. Charles Jones of the Presbyterian church will visit the group and speak on Mahatma Gandhi.

Four Hillbillies Supply Music At Friday Night Sq. Dance

By Don Maynard

"I know Jean Hillman," Jasper Tutes, crack cracked-ice distributor of the Rendezvous said, "but I never knew she was the fastest girl on campus until Friday night. She won the heel-and-toe coed walking contest at the Montreat Social commission-sponsored square dance in the Tin Can feet down."

"It was wonderful to be able to get out my Sunday-go-to-picnic duds and really tear loose. And I believe every one of the 500 or more students and faculty members present will agree with me on that point."

Friday night was the first square dance held in the 25-year old Tin Can. "And if it was not for Dr. O. K. Cornwell of the Physical Education department, everything wouldn't have been 'OK,'" Jasper praised.

Dr. Cornwell whipped the Tin Can into topnotch shape. Bob Williams, instigator of the square dance idea, said he supplied the musicians—real country style hillbillies, four employees of Woollen gym—had the floor scraped and waxed and installed the floodlights. The entire evening cost the Montreat committee only $4!

Midway through the evening, a few contests and a square dance exhibition gave everyone a chance to fan their brows. Prizes awarded were donated by town merchants, the Seaford Grill, Sutton's, E. Carrington Smith and Dorth Warriner of Phillip Morris representative fame.

"As always," Jasper said, "the everlovin' Chesterfield representative chipped in several cartons—made me feel right at home."

Nathan Booe, Arnold Nash and Bud Reagan did the calling. And Jasper tossed a bouquet to Gay Currie and Bob Barrus for "depending a lot of time and effort."

"There are many others who deserve credit, I just haven't space to mention them," he went on. "But I do want to say 'thank you' to all those who worked for the dance. Thank you for a swell evening."

ADPi Sorority Elections, Parties Given At Houses Independent Coeds To Hear Miss Branch Soon

Peggy Martin of Tom's Creek, Va., became the president of the Alpha Delta Pi sorority Wednesday night when elections were held for next year's officers. Other newly elected officers are: vice-president, Ann Green; secretary, Margery Williams; treasurer, Bobbie Lancaster; house manager, Charlotte Wilson; rush chairman, Kitty Haynaer; and social chairman, Gloria Jackson.

Sorority-fraternity parties continued this week with the Lambda Chi Alpha's dinner-party at Terrace View April 26 and the Alpha Gamma Delta's picnic yesterday.

Lambda Chi entertainment included skits by two pledges, dancing, and listening to the Vaughn Monroe show on which the band leader played "Sweetheart of Lambda Chi." The program also presented a brief history of the fraternity.

The Alpha Gams and their dates mixed work and fun yesterday when they cleaned up the sorority house's backyard, built picnic tables, and afterwards enjoyed a picnic supper.

The Carolina Independent Coed association will hear Miss Twig Branch from the Dean of women's office speak on vacations at the next meeting Wednesday night at 7 o'clock. CICA members will continue making plans for the association-sponsored fashion show which will be held in the Carolina theater April 26.

The Chi Omega sorority will hold its first open house of the spring quarter tonight from 7 until 8 o'clock. Coffee will be served at that hour.

Phi Delt Honor Pledge Class

The Phi Delta Theta fraternity honored 22 pledge members last night with a formal dance at the Carolina Inn from 8 until 11 o'clock, featuring the music of the Stormy Weathers.

Decorations, planned by a Durham decorator in cooperation with the University Flucist here, showed a spring motif with greenery, flowers, and soft lighting.

At intermission, pledges and their dates were introduced, after which a no-beak dance followed for the members of the pledge class and their dates.
