UNC Team Places In Speaking Meet

Talkers Win Two National Crowns; Blanton Miller Is Individual Leader

Out of the 59 colleges and universities represented in the Grand National Forensic tournament, it was announced yesterday that the debate council team from the University of North Carolina placed second. The team representing Pacific University won first place.

The Carolina team won eight first places and two national championships. Dr. Warren G. Keith, director of the tournament, stated that this was the best record ever achieved by a team from North Carolina at any forensic meet. It was the first time that the University had won a national championship since 1946.

Blanton Miller was highest scorer in individual honors from Carolina and second highest in the entire tournament. Miller was a finalist in three major contests including poetry, oratory and dramatic reading. For his dramatic reading, Miller wrote his own composition, "The Last Leaf." This was the first time in the history of the tournament that anyone had ever written his own speech and won.

The other national champion from Carolina is Bob Evans of Durham. Evans, as was Miller, was listed in the public speaking events and won his championship in dramatic reading.

Sam Manning, another public speaker, was the earliest winner and won the men's Spanish declamation contest.

Bob Giles, a public speaker and a debater, won in the poetry and address reading events.

A debate team comprised of Bob Evans, Bob Hutchison, Charles Dixon, and June Hurst, all varsity debaters, won four out of seven debates. The team defeated the University of Utah, Pacific University (winner of the tournament), the U. S. Naval Academy, and Washington and Jefferson College.

Weaver to Speak Before Ex-Scouts

Dean Fred Weaver will address tonight's meeting of Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity. The meeting will be held at 7:00 o'clock in Roland Parker lounge 3.

Weaver, a member of the fraternity since 1940, will report on a conference with the national president in Chicago last week.

President Bill Roth said that tonight's meeting is open to all interested persons, and especially former Boy Scouts not members of the fraternity.

Coed Concert Soloists Are Versatile Singers

To be featured as soloists in the Spring concert to be presented by the Women's Glee Club Thursday evening are Jean Schneck, contralto; Beatrice Donley, contralto; and Harriet Keen, soprano.

Jean Schneck, a member of the faculty music school at Woman's College, has appeared as soloist in a number of special public programs since she came to this state in 1948. She sang with the Greensboro Euterpe Club's presentation of the "Messiah" and a soloist for the Woman's College choir Christmas program and Palm Sunday programs. She gave a special recital in the Wade R. Brown series and was also a soloist in a presentation of the "Messiah" in Salisbury.

Before coming to Greensboro, Miss Schneck has been on the faculties of the Oberlin conservatory of music and the Indiana university music school. Prior to that, she received her degree from the Oberlin conservatory and did work on fellowship at the Juilliard Graduate school.

Beatrice Donley, a native of West Virginia, received the degrees of Bachelor of Music in voice and a Bachelor of Music in public school music from West

Applications Are Needed By Quarterly

Both Top Posts Will Be Filled

Looking forward to its second year of operation, the Carolina Quarterly, campus literary magazine, will be headed by two new persons. Both positions of Editor and Business manager have been declared open by the Faculty Advisory committee of the Quarterly and applications will be received through tomorrow for the positions.

The committee announced that all persons interested in applying for the positions must submit in writing a statement concerning experience, qualifications, and plans for publishing the Quarterly next year. All such applications must be mailed to the Faculty Advisory Committee, Carolina Quarterly, Box 1117, Chapel Hill.

Present editor of the Quarterly is Roy C. Moore who is planning to do graduate work at Oxford, England, next year. Business manager is Emily Sewell who has announced that she does not plan to apply for re-appointment.

During its first year of operation the Quarterly has published articles by such well-known authorities as Paul Green, Dr. Archibald Henderson, Dr. Hardin Craig, Walter Prichard Eaton, Richard Walser, Henry L. Kamphefner, Dr. William M. Coppinger, Jacques Hardee, and Agatha Boyd Adams.

Poetry and short stories have included works by students, faculty members, and outside contributors, combining to present under one cover a common meeting place for both amateurs and professionals.

The Quarterly, a seventy-two page publication, was organized last year after over 1400 students signed a petition asking that a literary publication be continued at the University. It replaced the Carolina Magazine which had been voted out of existence after over one hundred years of publication.

Ballot Recount Alters Six Votes

Al Winn, chairman of the Board of Elections, yesterday announced that a recount of the runoff voting for vice-president had revealed the correct vote as: Ted Leonard (UP), 1,255; Al Lowenstein (SP), 1,233.

The figures on the first count were Leonard, 1,259; Lowenstein, 1,231. The SP candidate gained two votes in Dorm Men's District One, two in Town Men's Three and two in Town Men's Four, for a total gain of six.

Lowenstein carried the combined men's dormitory districts and the combined coed vote, but lost the combined men's town districts by 22 votes more than his margin in the men's dorm and coed balloting.

DR. JOSEPH A. LEIGHTON

Noted Philosopher To Speak Tonight In Gerrard Hall

Dr. Joseph A. Leighton, for many years a leading social philosopher and former chairman of the Ohio State University Department of Philosophy, will speak on "Democracy, Technology, and Personality" when he gives a public lecture in Gerrard Hall here today, at 8 o'clock.

His appearance is being sponsored by the University Department of Philosophy. A Canadian by birth, Dr. Leighton received his doctorate at Cornell University and his B. D. from the Episcopal Theological School of Cambridge, Mass. He also studied at the Universities of Tubingen, Berlin, and Erlange in Europe.

He is author of a number of books and articles dealing with metaphysics, religion, education and social philosophy, including "Man and the Cosmos," "Religion and the Mind of Today," "The Individual and the Social Order," "The Field of Philosophy," and "Social Philosophies in Conflict."

Piano Recital To Be Presented In Hill Tonight

In a piano recital to be presented this evening at 8:30 in Hill Hall, Robert MacDonald, William Waters, Felder Graham, and Edwin Steed will play such numbers as "Sonata in F Sharp Major," Beethoven; "Intermezzo in A Minor," Brahms and Faure's "Impromptu in F Minor."

Robert MacDonald, a junior, has been accompanist this year with the Men's Glee club. Last spring he was heard as piano soloist and accompanist with Frances Jonsson, Spanish dancer, in a dance recital at Graham Memorial. He is a member of the University band and the Chapel Hill Choral club.

William Waters, a senior music major from Roanoke Rapids, for the last four years has been studying piano with Virginia Hare of the music department here. He was a recipient of the Kay Kysner scholarship in music for 1946-47, and has been heard as soloist in an all-Brahms recital and a junior recital. At present Waters is organist at the Chapel Hill Presbyterian church and is a member of Phi Mu Alpha music fraternity.

Felder Graham, a sophomore English major from Dawson, Ga., has studied piano with Dr. Jan P. Schinhan and now studies under Virginia Hare of the music department. At the age of 13 he took up piano and studied at Wesleyan conservatory in Macon, Ga. During his senior year of high school, he won second place in both piano and essay at the Georgia state literary meet and received an A-1 rating at the Georgia state music festival. He is a member of Phi Eta Sigma and Chi Phi fraternities.

Edwin Steed, a senior mathematics major from Richlands, has been a piano student of Virginia Hare for the last four years. Steed began studying piano at the age of eight and played eight years in North Carolina Federation festivals and one year in Virginia, with ratings of "excellent" and "superior." He auditioned three years for National Guild of piano teachers and was awarded diploma by them in 1945.

Campus Party Names Taylor As Chairman

Byrd, Clampitt Hall Get Posts

Vestal C. Taylor, member-elect of the Student Legislature, was elected chairman of the Campus Party yesterday afternoon at a meeting in Graham Memorial.

Taylor won the post by a vote of 14 to 4 over Jim Southerland, who was defeated in his race for the legislature on the CP ticket.

Three other persons were originally nominated along with Taylor and Southerland—Nelson Taylor, Dorth Warriner and Bob Fentress. Warriner declined the nomination; Taylor declined but then reconsidered and left the room when the vote was to be taken; Fentress did not officially decline but asked that his support go to Southerland.

The discussion centered at first on Nelson Taylor, but the candidate returned to the room and declined for a second and final time after reconsidering. He supported Vestal Taylor (no relation) for the position.

Elected vice-chairman by acclamation was Davis Byrd, after Bob Clampitt was nominated and declined. Clampitt was made secretary, also by acclamation. Ellis Hall won the post of treasurer over Hal Darden by a vote of 11 to 3.

The party gave retiring chairman Banks Talley, defeated CP candidate for the vice-presidency of the student body, a rising round of applause for his work for the party.

Johnnie O'Neal, CP member and chairman of the Rules committee of the Student Legislature who was re-elected to that body, obtained the floor and leveled a blast at recent actions and policies of the Campus Party, climaxed by the statement that he was withdrawing from the party.

O'Neal charged that the political organization was "being run by a small group of people—just three or four who plan things out before hand so the actions at the meetings are cut and dried." He also condemned the CP's actions in endorsing Dick Gordon and Ted Leonard, the University Party presidential and vice-presidential candidates in the spring general election runoff.

O'Neal said he was planning to join the Student Party. Before he left the room Hal Darden requested that he turn in his resignation to the legislature, since he was elected on the CP ticket, but the consensus at the meeting was that it was O'Neal's private concern whether or not he resigned from the Student Legislature.

Humanities Meet Opens This Week

The Southern Humanities Conference, composed of representatives from 10 southern societies interested in the humanities, will meet in Chapel Hill April 22 and 23. The Carnegie Corporation, the Rockefeller Foundation and the American Council of Learned Societies will also send representatives to the meeting.

In recognition of the Conference and in behalf of the humanities in general, the Department of Radio and the Department of Music are producing a program which points to the significance of the humanities in the world today where technology seems to be of primary concern to so many people.

The program will consist of an informal dinner, to be held in the Pine Room of Lenoir Hall at 6:30 Friday evening, followed by a radio-musical production in Studio A of the Communication Center. The object of the production is to bring about a clearer understanding of the importance of things of the spirit.

University Chancellor R. B. House will be the toastmaster for dinner.

Officers Will Be Inaugurated In Special Ceremony Tonight

Umstead Unfavorable To Alumnus President

"The next president of the Greater University," John Umstead said, "should not be, in my opinion, an alumnus of either the University at Chapel Hill, State College, or the Woman's College."

Faculty Asked To List Qualities Of New President

Each faculty member will be given the opportunity to express his opinion as to the qualifications desired in the next president of the Greater University and who he considers meets these qualifications, A. C. Howell, secretary of the General Faculty, said yesterday.

In a recent meeting of the general faculty, the group voted to authorize the Faculty Advisory Committee to represent the faculty in negotiations with the committee to be appointed by Gov. Kerr Scott from the Board of Trustees to nominate a successor to Sen. Frank Graham as president of the consolidated University. By a vote of 164 to 78, the general faculty voted in favor of the Advisory Committee instead of selecting a special committee to negotiate with Scott's committee.

In carrying out its newly assigned function, the committee has circulated the faculty with a request that each member write a letter stating his views regarding (1) "the qualifications desired in a president of the Greater University, and (2) specific persons who, the member believes, are so well qualified as to deserve careful consideration in the selection of the President."

The Advisory Committee, an elected body consisting of members of the faculty, includes Professors R. J. M. Hobbs, president; J. W. Fessler, secretary; E. C. Markham, R. H. Wetach, W. R. Berryhill, A. W. Hobbs; H. D. Wolf, H. G. Baity, and William Wells.

The committee is at present working informally on the problem and will not be in a position to make a definite statement for several weeks, Howell said.

The duty of the Advisory Committee, organized over a quarter of a century ago, is to advise the Chancellor on matters of policy and other topics of interest to the general faculty. There are approximately 350 voting members of the Faculty Committee.

'The Paws That Wreck Us...'

Prying By Students Results In Near Accident for Auto

"The paws that wreck us" is what Jack Ranson is calling the inquisitive hands of several students who peered and pawed about his tiny, black 1949 Renault, a French-built beetle-like vehicle not over 10 feet long.

Unique in that its engine is found in the rear and its baggage compartment under the hood where the engine in most autos would be located, the French model seats five people comfortably, and sports a four cylinder, 19 horsepower motor capable of scooting it along at 80 miles per hour.

Ranson, brother of track coach Dale Ranson, left his foreign made automobile in the parking lot of South building yesterday for only a few minutes.

In that time, a score of students peered, pried and poked the little four-wheeler almost to destruction.

Magill Will Administer Official Oath; Dedmond To Make Farewell Address

A full complement of student government officials for the year 1949-50 will be sworn in tonight at 8:30 in the hall of the Dialectic Senate in New West Building.

Inauguration Will Climax Coed Program

Tonight's inauguration ceremony climaxes a two-day program of leadership training set up mainly for new coed officers and under the direction of Patsy McNutt.

Last night in Graham Memorial, Miss Dorothy McCuskey spoke on "Leadership and Followership," after which President Jess Dedmond and Coed Senate Speaker Emily Baker gave short explanations of the duties of their offices. Al Lowenstein spoke on "General Aspects of Student Government."

Also last night, commissions for coed organization presidents, vice-presidents, secretaries and treasurers were held in the Alumni Building.

This evening in the main lounge of Graham Memorial at 7 o'clock, Randy Hamilton will talk on parliamentary procedure. Commissions will be held at 7:30 in the Alumni Building for social chairmen, publicity chairmen, members of the Coed Senate and Legislature, Women's Council, House Councils.

Organizations included in the leadership training program are the Coed Senate, the Student Legislature, Women's Council, Student Council, Women's Athletic Association, Young Women's Christian Association, Pan-Hellenic Council, Carolina Independent Coed Association, Stray Greeks, Town Girls' Association, Interdormitory Council, Chi Delta Phi, Women's Glee Club, and the five campus sororities.

Legal Gambling To Be Phi Subject

The legalization of gambling in North Carolina will be debated by the Philanthropic Assembly in Phi Hall, New East at 7:30 tonight according to a resolution released by the Ways and Means Committee.

The bill for this evening's discussion declares that many people are "denied the pleasure of gambling" and contends that "gambling does exist in certain homes."

"Any man should have a right to determine where his money is spent as long as no legal harm is committed against others" is the main argument in the resolution for legalization of gambling.

For the purposes of this bill the Ways and Means Committee has construed the term "gambling" to mean lotteries, raffling, and all other games of chance.

The possible legalization of games of chance has been thrust upon the present session of the North Carolina Legislature. A bill to establish pari-mutual betting at dog races in Currituck County is now before the Legislature.

Several votes have been taken and the Legislature has reversed itself at least twice on the matter. Carteret County has pari-mutual tracks already and New Hanover County has been given the right to set up pari-mutual windows for horse racing.

Walter Montgomery will lead the opposition against tonight's bill. Proponents, who asked that their names not be published, said that their arguments will be based on the good that can be derived from controlled gambling.

Cheering Tryouts Slated For Today

Tryouts for cheer leaders for next year will be held today in Kenan Stadium at 4 o'clock. Norm Sper, head cheerleader said yesterday. In case of bad weather, the tryouts will be held in the Tin Can.

Current plans call for two cheering teams next year. Sper said, with one cheering for the varsity teams and the other for freshman games. Varsity team members will accompany the team to New York.

Sper urged all students interested in trying out to be present in order "that we can have the best cheering squads possible from the campus."

Student Auditions Scheduled Thursday

Open auditions for a series of 23 15-minute student dramatic shows will be held in the student production studio of Swain Hall Thursday from 2 o'clock until 4:30 in the afternoon, the Radio Department announced yesterday.

Interested students are requested to bring any script they would particularly like to read, but they will also be asked to read material provided them at the time of the audition.
