Entertainment Committee Releases Year's Bill; Ives, Polgar, Cassocks, Scott, Kitchell, Loesser Included Group To Use Entire Budget For Program

Ballad Singer Is First Here

Burl Ives, Frank J. Polgar, the Don Cossacks chorus and dancers, Hazel Scott, Jan Peerce, Iva Kitchell, America's foremost dance comedienne, and Arthur Loesser, international concert pianist, will all appear on the University campus this year, the Student Entertainment Committee announced yesterday.

The seven-attraction program has been arranged by the Student Entertainment Committee with a $7,000 appropriation from the Student Legislature, the money coming from the regular student block fees paid during registration. No other admission requirement except I.D. cards is required of University students for the 8 o'clock SEC shows in Memorial Hall.

"These artists were selected," according to SEC Chairman Charlie Gibson, "to provide a maximum of year-round entertainment in a wide range of fields, at least one of which should appeal to every variety of personal taste."

"We hope that all interested students will attend the shows which are free to them now and make their plans to come early once the doors open at 7 o'clock. By 7:40 any of the 1,800 seats in Memorial Hall which are left empty will be sold for $1 each on the first-come first-serve basis among student wives, faculty members, and townspeople also anxious to see the shows."

Burl Ives, the "Wayfarin' Stranger" of microphone, disc, and screen fame, will open the SEC slate on Oct. 13 with a program of his American folk ballads. The other attraction for the fall quarter will be Dr. Franz J. Polgar, celebrated hypnotist and standard campus favorite whose two-night run here will come on dates to be announced.

The winter quarter attractions will be the Cossacks on Jan. 10, Miss Kitchell on Feb. 14, and Loesser on March 2. Later in March and early in the spring quarter Miss Scott, popular Negro keyboard artist and the sensation of the SEC series last year, will encore here while Peerce, tenor star of the Metropolitan Opera whose son is now enrolled in the University, will appear April 13.

Other members of the Student Entertainment Committee are Anne Sawyer, Dick Allbrook, Billy Carmichael III, and Banks Talley, student members; and William S. Newman, Samuel Selden, and Olin T. Mouzon, faculty representatives.

New York, Here We Come!

Travel Agency Explains Notre Dame Trip Plans

In an effort to clear up some of the confusion that has developed concerning transportation and housing arrangements for the Notre Dame weekend, Bob Watson, manager of the Graham Memorial Travel Agency, yesterday outlined the three existing plans that have been developed by the Agency and the University Club.

The club plans, as announced by President Jack Holcombe, include both train and bus transportation to and from New York. The train reservations, which are being made with the Southern Railway, will cost $21.74. The previously announced price of $18.69 had to be increased because the Pennsylvania Railroad, over which part of the trip will be made, does not allow excursion rates on its line.

Plans to charter special buses will also be made by the club. The total fee for this will be $14.15 and the buses will take students directly to their hotels and return for them there for the return trip to Chapel Hill.

In addition to these transportation plans, the University Club will set up a booth today in the Book Exchange at which students will be able to get the names, addresses, and rates of 25 hotels to which they may apply for reservations. Rates should run from $2.50 up per night, Holcombe said.

The third and final plan, developed by the Graham Memorial Travel Agency, offers bus transportation to and from New York at the same rates announced by the club. Other features, however, have been planned for the students who choose the Agency's plan and pay a straight pro rata fee of $25. Under this plan, hotel room reservations will be furnished without additional charge and transportation to and from Yankee Stadium will be available.

Other features of the $25 plan include ice containers on each bus, free box lunches while en route, soft drinks on the buses, and a confederate flag for each passenger.

All students interested should contact the University Club or the Travel Agency as soon as possible.

Holsten, already tentatively elected to the chairmanship of the court, pending action by the Legislature, was recommended for the vacant post of Bruce Sanborn by the tri-partisan board and appointed by President Bill Mackie.

Other business before the session may include consideration of the appointment of Georgia Fox to fill a woman's vacancy on the Student Council. She was appointed to take the chair vacated by Barbara Lowe, and was recommended for the post by the Student Party, who had the choice since her predecessor was elected to the highest court on the SP ticket.

Possible other vacancies to be filled are empty seats in the Legislature's own membership. Several legislators were forced to resign because they have moved out of the districts from which elected.

The political parties recommend replacements for vacancies previously held by their own party members. The Campus Party recommended Jim Lamm to fill the vacancy caused by resignation of CP legislator Bill Jones at its rally Monday night. Two Student Party seats have been vacated, but replacements have not been recommended. The University Party will meet on Monday and may take up recommendations for several seats.

The first regular session of the Legislature is scheduled for Thursday night. By then, the University Party is expected to have recommended a person to fill Holsten's former seat on the Student Council, and all seats still empty in the body's own membership will be filled.

Special Meet Of Legislature To Be Monday

Consideration Of Appointments Is On Agenda

By Roy Parker, Jr.

Student government's most colorful arm will swing into action for the first time this year Monday night when a special session of the Student Legislature meets in Di Hall to consider the appointment of Roy Holsten to the Men's Honor Council, and possible other appointments.

Holsten, already tentatively elected to the chairmanship of the court, pending action by the Legislature, was recommended for the vacant post of Bruce Sanborn by the tri-partisan board and appointed by President Bill Mackie.

Supreme Court Justice Reed Addresses 300 Law Students

By Charles McCorkle

U. S. Supreme Court Justice Stanley Reed told some 300 law students, last night, that "the constitution of a country means nothing unless the people of that country believe in their constitution."

Reed, whose talk in Gerrard Hall was sponsored by the Law School Association, pointed out that the constitution of Soviet Russia "has practically the same words in it as that of the United States."

The jurist tried to impress on the students the fact that the courts of the land do almost as much "law making" through their decisions and rulings on law which has been passed as the Congress and other legislative assemblies do.

Reed has been a patient at the Duke University hospital in Durham since May 28. He said yesterday that he planned to leave for Washington on Saturday to resume his seat on the Supreme Court bench when it reconvenes Monday after a summer recess.

The Justice agreed to speak on the condition that no advance publicity be given his talk. His wishes were followed, and only members of the law school student body were notified of the address.

Reed has been doing a good bit of work in the Duke University law school during his stay in Durham.

Paraphrasing a 1936 court decision written by Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, Reed told the law scholars, "the principles of the Constitution are unchanging. But the application of these principles must change, because if they do not, we will be caught in the strait-jacket of the 18th century."

The jurist said the most characteristic thing about the government of the United States was its solicitude for the individual. "Our whole government is built around the individual," he stated.

Dance Group Case Reported By Chairman

A single case of a violation of Dance Committee regulations was reported yesterday by Committee Chairman Frank Kilpatrick. The case grew out of the Committee-regulated Grail dance held in Wollen Gymnasium Saturday night.

The case involved violation of the rule against bringing intoxicating beverages on the dance floor. Under the regulation, the offender has been "suspended indefinitely from all University dances," Kilpatrick said.

Kilpatrick explained that the student may appeal to the committee for a full hearing and reconsideration of the cases "if he feels he has just grounds for complaint at the action of the committee." He may appeal by letter or appear in person before the body's weekly meeting. Appeal from the committee hearing is to the Student Council.

The Dance Committee is the campus agency for control of conduct at all University dances. It sets rules, subject to the Student Legislature's approval, for conduct, and enforces them to the limit of indefinite suspension from dances.

Kilpatrick also cleared up the definition of "informal as applied to University dances. Coats and ties are considered to be informal. Several students, mostly freshmen, had to be denied entrance to the Saturday dance because of the confusion over the term.

The bill authorized $1,000,000 for Atlantic Treaty nations—$500,000,000 in cash and $500,000,000 in future contracting authority—with the balance going to Greece, Turkey, Iran, Korea, The Philippines, and the "general area" of China.

On the basis of latest U.S. Census bureau figures, the $1,314,010,000 total works out at a cost of $8.07 to every man, woman and child in the United States. The bureau's population estimate for Aug. 1 is 149,452,000 Americans.

On the Senate floor, Republican leader Wherry of Nebraska attacked the measure as a "foredoomed futile effort to stop Russia at the borders of Western Europe" and a "reckless waste of America's limited resources."

But others insisted that with Russia now in possession of the Atomic Bomb secret, the United States must make every possible effort to build up the wobbly post-war defenses of non-Communist nations, particularly those countries lying in the shadow of Soviet Russia.

Round-Trip Is Also Offered; CAA To Check

Tar Heels, Town To Remove Cars For Visitor Room

By Chuck Hauser

There will be a lot more parking spaces on campus and in town for football game visitors this Saturday, and student, faculty and Chapel Hill car-owners will get a chance to win Notre Dame tickets and a round-trip to New York in the bargain, under a plan advanced yesterday by the Safety Committee.

Chairman Joe Bach said blueprints have been drawn for a voluntary exodus from town of all cars to parking areas at the Horace Williams Airport to the north of Chapel Hill. Buses will operate continuously at no charge to bring car-owners back to town after they park their cars at the airport, and to return them to retrieve their vehicles after the game with Georgia in the afternoon.

Everyone who parks at the airport will be given one half of a numbered ticket stub and the other half will go into a fishbowl from which the prizewinners will be drawn at halftime. The first prize in the contest is a pair of Notre Dame duets and the New York round-trip with lower-berth pullman reservations, the second prize another pair of the coveted cardboard, and the third prize two tickets to the Carolina-Duke game in Durham.

J. A. Williams, University Assistant to the Business Manager, said final plans for airport parking could not be made until all arrangements were cleared through the Civil Aeronautics Authority. He said the University Club was taking care of all arrangements for the ticket drawing, in addition to promoting the car cavalcade plan on campus. The University is bearing the expense of the prizes and the bus transportation to and from the airport.

The buses will leave the airport for Chapel Hill continuously from 10 o'clock until noon Saturday morning, and will start making the return trips at 5:30 from in front of the Scuttlebutt. The schedule will run until 7 o'clock.

Bach said it was urgent for students and Chapel Hillians to cooperate with the plan. He said the campus was marred continually last Saturday as people drove their automobiles up into the grass behind the Old Well and into other obvious non-parking areas on campus.

A meeting was held in Acting Dean of Students Bill Friday's office yesterday afternoon to discuss the problem. Members of the Safety Committee, the University Club, the Interfraternity Council and other campus organizations were present to try to iron out the kinks of the parking situation.

Following the banquet, the high school students will be entertained with a floor show in the Rendezvous Room of Graham Memorial. The show will be under the direction of Mary Jo McLean and James Rathburn.

Pell Clarifies Silence Before Rushing Period

Allison Pell, president of the Interfraternity Council, yesterday clarified the rushing rule concerning the "silence period" for both new men and fraternity men.

This rule states that between Sept. 22 and October 30 a modified silence period shall be in effect.

This rule states that between Sept. 22 and Oct. 30 a modified silence period shall be in effect. Modified silence is defined as a period during which the "new men" and the fraternity men shall not be allowed to engage each other in social conversation. Formal greetings may be given, but that is all, Pell said.

"Social conversation," was defined by Pell as any conversation whatsoever. In other words, fraternity men cannot talk to "new men" other than to greet them. This is a very important rule, he said and any violations should be reported to the IFC.

Another factor that new men should keep in mind, according to Pell, is that the rushing rules govern not only present fraternity members, but also fraternity alumni or any agents of a fraternity.

Pell urged all new men to learn this rule so that they will understand why fraternity members are unable to carry on conversations with them. Cooperation in enforcing the rule will aid all parties involved.

Delta Alpha Meet Slated

The Beta Rho chapter of Delta Phi Alpha, national honorary German fraternity, will have its first meeting of the year tonight at 8:30 in the dinner room of Aggie's Restaurant. Herman Sienber, president, urged all members to attend.

Initiation ceremonies will precede the regular business session. The following persons have been tapped for membership and will be initiated into the fraternity tonight: Antonios Antonakos, Edward Bjerk, Enno Reckendorf, Seth Meads, Karl Lawing, John Apostol, William Thomas Dixon, Lloyd McCaskill, James Hayes, Yuell Reid Hawkins, Cynthia Lane, Mary Theresa Kraus, Farlie Archibald Garner, and William Bishop Curtiss.

Durham Students To Get DTH Here

In order to avoid having students living in Durham receive their Daily Tar Heel a day late through the mail, boxes have been set up at which students may pick up their paper each morning.

The boxes for Durham commuters will be located at the following points: (1) Across from the entrance to Davie Circle on the road leading from Durham into Chapel Hill, and (2) on the corner of the County Club Road and Raleigh Road.

If for any reason it is inconvenient for a student to pick up his paper at either of the two boxes, he may continue to receive his paper through the mail by coming to the DTH office and filling out a request card.

Sigma Chi's On Air

The Sigma Chi Sextet, Hank Beebe and Orville Campbell who, wrote the words and music on "All The Way Choo Choo", will be featured in a 15 minute show over radio station WSSB, Durham, tonight at 6:15.

Foreign Arms Bill Passed By Congress

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28-(AP)—An historic $1,314,010,000 Foreign Arms Aid bill, the greatest in peacetime history, sped through both chambers of Congress today.

It now goes to the White House for President Truman's signature. The Measure, designed to bulwark the defenses of friendly nations against Communism, first cleared the House by a top-heavy margin of 223 to 109.

Then, by voice vote, the Senate shouted its approval.

In its final form, the bill emerged as a major victory for administration leaders who fought back efforts to cut the vast expenditure.

The bill authorizes $1,000,000,000 for Atlantic Treaty nations—$500,000,000 in cash and $500,000,000 in future contracting authority—with the balance going to Greece, Turkey, Iran, Korea, The Philippines, and the "general area" of China.

Truman Talk Slated In K.C. For Tonight

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28-(AP)—President Truman flew to Missouri tonight on a two-day visit expected to set the stage for a big Democratic drive in a hot congressional campaign in his home state next year.

The President will make one of his off-the-cuff talks at 10:30 P.M. (EST) in Kansas City tomorrow night at a testimonial dinner for William M. (Bill) Boyle, new Democratic National Chairman.

Virtually the entire cabinet and top-ranking Democratic national leaders will attend the celebration in Kansas City's big civic auditorium. Boyle formerly was a police official there.

Builders May Sue For Road Funds

Raleigh, Sept. 28-(AP)—A suit to challenge legality of the Highway Department Commission using rural road bond funds to buy highway construction equipment may be filed tomorrow, it was learned today.

The Highway Commission has decided to spend $5,000,000 from the first $50,000,000 rural road bond issue to buy machinery. Most of this machinery has been ordered and much of it has been delivered.

Law School Library Rules Are Released

The law school and the law library administration are compelled to limit the use of the two reading rooms, due to the fact that these rooms seat only 80 students.

Therefore, no social science classes can apply for service at the loan library desk. Professors of departments in the social sciences and research students needing legal material will be served at the loan desk.

Scholastic Press Institute To Be Held Here Next Week

Approximately 100 high school newspaper yearbook editors and business managers are expected to attend the Eighth Annual North Carolina Scholastic Press Institute here Oct. 7-8, Walter Spearman, director of the Institute, said yesterday.

In an announcement yesterday, Spearman said that the two-day meeting will be devoted primarily to discussion groups such as high school publication problems as news writing, headlining, staff organization, editorials, sports, features, publication finance and photography.

Each discussion group will be led by members of the Journalism Department faculty, University publication editors, and high school editors.

Registration for the institute will be held Friday afternoon, Oct. 7, in the Journalism Department offices in Bynum Hall. The first business session will be held Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock with Donnie Lou Jacobs of Durham president of the Press Institute, presiding. During the Friday evening meeting Reid M. Montgomery, director of the South Carolina Scholastic Press Association, will discuss, "What Makes A High School Paper Readable."

Saturday morning and afternoon will be devoted to practical discussion groups. New officers will be elected Saturday afternoon. A banquet will be held Saturday evening in Lenoir Dining Hall with Paul Green, local playwright and novelist, speaking on "Democracy at Home."

Following the banquet, the high school students will be entertained with a floor show in the Rendezvous Room of Graham Memorial. The show will be under the direction of Mary Jo McLean and James Rathburn.

Rushing

Sorority rushees may get their rush schedules for Thursday and Friday night parties today between 10 and 2 o'clock in Horace Williams Lounge of Graham Memorial.

There will be two parties on Thursday and three parties on Friday night, said Marie Nussbaum, president of the Pan-Hellenic Council. Every rushee must visit all five sorority houses during these two nights.
