When That South Building Bell Rings—MEET THE TEAM!

Latest information from Baton Rouge, La., early this morning indicated that the Tar Heels will be returning home around 4 o'clock this afternoon, and University officials said the bell in South Building will ring as soon as information is received here that their plane has landed.

At that time, all students who do not have cars or other forms of transportation to drive to the Raleigh-Durham Airport before 4 o'clock will assemble at the front steps of Woollen Gymnasium to give the team a real welcome home.

plane carrying the Tar Heels will leave New Orleans at 11 o'clock this morning (EST), and after a stop-over in Atlanta will head for Chapel Hill. All students meeting the plane should be at the airport no later than 4 o'clock.

At 2 o'clock this morning that the administration would cooperate fully in sending the South Building bell signal to all students who are unable to leave the campus to meet the plane. So when the bell rings this afternoon, MEET THE TEAM!

BAYOU TIGERS CLAW TAR HEELS, 3-7

Carolina Is Dropped From Unbeaten Ranks

By Billy Carmichael, III

TIGER STADIUM, Baton Rouge, Oct. 22.—The postmen of Louisiana State rang twice on the goal line of North Carolina tonight and the second time delivered to the Tar Heels the letter edged in black.

Baton Rouge, LSU Too Far For Fans

(Special to the Daily Tar Heel)

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 22.—The distance between this Louisiana college town and Chapel Hill beat the Carolina team out of its usual rousing support following this weekend.

Wildcats Fall To SMU Team By 20-7 Score

DALLAS, Oct. 22.—(AP)—Southern Methodist kicked Kentucky in the middle of its national ranking today, knocking down the seventh-rated Southern team 20-7 on the smashing runs of Kyle Rote and the thread-passing of sophomore Fred Benners.

Playing without the great Doak Walker who heard about it from his hospital bed where DALLAS, Oct. 22.—(AP)—Coach Paul (Ber) Bryant of Kentucky charged today that the officials lost the game for his team to Southern Methodist University.

"The officials cost us the game. I'd rather have that referee on my team than any of my players," the Kentucky mentor snapped, after his Wildcats, seventh ranking team in the nation, took a 20-7 licking from SMU.

he is recuperating from an influenza attack, the Methodists stormed from behind and won going away. As the game ended, SMU was on the Kentucky seventh yard line with three downs to go for a touchdown.

A crowd of 48,000 watched the fighting Methodists, covering glaring mistakes with great defensive plays in the clinches, wham the hitherto undefeated, untied Wildcats.

The lads in blue had moments of greatness during the evening, but only one in the vicinity of the LSU goal line, and that forced them to accept something they never came to Baton Rouge for—defeat.

Billed as a defensive team, the Tigers left the Tar Heels yelling cries of fraud as they unleashed an offensive game that wanted a victory and got what it wanted.

Leading 7-6 in the fourth quarter, LSU's chance of victory were as slim as the Cat Girl with the Tar Heels on the march and the Bengal goal line within easy hailing distance.

The crisis came when Carolina reached a fourth down situation with-but one yard to go on the Tiger 18-yard line. Billy Hayes who had spread a brand of KKK terror all evening went for the yardage, but the item was not in stock.

Captain Sam Lyle who had lost the flip at the start of the game, found his luck was better this time when he flipped Hayes into the air short of the first down, and the ball and the ball game went over to the Tigers.

LSU halted only long enough to reverse an old adage to 11 come seven, for with the next 11 plays came the winning seven points to the home side of the scoreboard.

Once the Tigers started moving, it was like the Mississippi going over the banks. The Tar Heels, who had entered the game overtaxed at most positions because of injuries, just didn't have the levee.

It was 11 tired Tar Heels giving the best they could wasn't enough. The Bears threw fresh backs into the slaughter, the most effective of which was one Zollie Toth of Pocahontas, Va., who certainly had the Indian sign on the visitors. Toth hit the Carolina left (See CAROLINA, page 3)

STUDENTS OF DUKE UNIVERSITY at Durham are boycotting buses of the Duke Power Company because fare has been raised from five cents each to three tokens for a quarter. Two buses, empty and ignored, stand in the background while the boys crowd around private automobiles. The buses operate between the men's and women's campuses, a distance of a mile and a half.

UNC, Duke Are Tied In Loop As Devils Bludgeon VPI, 55-7

By Chuck Hauser

DUKE STADIUM, Oct. 22.—The Blue Devils of Duke University tied North Carolina for first place honors in the Southern Conference today by pulverizing a hapless Virginia Tech team, 55-7, in a dreary loop contest between the two schools.

for some 10,000 listless fans. VPI became Duke's third conference victim of the season, while the Tar Heels spent the day in an inter-sectional meet with Louisiana State in Baton Rouge. The North State neighbors now each have three wins, no ties, and no losses within the SC.

Virginia Tech played its 16th straight game without a win today. But there was one bright spot in their gloomy picture—they scored on Duke for the first time in history.

Sparking the Blue Devil attack were tailback Billy Cox, who scored twice, and sophomore Glenn Wild, who ran wild to score one of the TD's and pass for another to Corren Youmans.

Veteran wingback Jack Friedlund ran two more across and letterman fullback Jack Mounie accounted for another. The eighth Duke touchdown was made on a pass interception by fullback Louis Viau. Deadeye Mile Souchak kicked seven beautiful conversions but got a little bleary-eyed on one wild one. The boys from the Old Dominion didn't look quite as bad as the score indicated. Their ground game was sound, and they made several sorties well into Duke territory, but three intercepted passes and two lost fumbles

Terps Bite State In Fifth Loss, 14-6

By Roy Parker, Jr.

RALEIGH, Oct. 22.—State College's hapless Wolfpack managed to continue its losing streak to five games here this afternoon as it dropped a 14-6 decision to the University of Maryland. The home team practically handed the contest to the Terps by committing all the errors that have become its forte.

State lead the visitors in every thing except points, but when standing in the shadow of the Maryland goal line, always muffed the chance. Three times the 'Pack started apparent touchdown marches, one that reached the Maryland one yard line with four downs to go over, but only on the first could they score.

The Old Liners took to the air in critical times and made good with the express. After State scored in the closing minutes of the first quarter, they started a passing parade that made them a 7-6 leader at halftime. It was end Dave Cianelli who took to the air in the fourth period to snag a State pass and gallop 45 yards down the sidelines to put the game on ice.

State's lone score came on a 50 yard drive late in the first stanza that took 12 plays. Tailback Ed Mooney flipped a six-yard pass to end Tony Romanovsky for the tally. Westbrook missed the extra point.

Maryland started its second quarter drive when quarterback Joe Tucker whipped a 40-yard pass to halfback Bob Shemonski on the State 15, and he bulled to the 12. Three plays later Tucker pitched 10 yards to fullback Modzelewski in the end zone. Dean added the first of two extra points.

After a State drive that started with the second half kickoff on its own 27 yard line fizzled in four straight plays at the Maryland line, the Old Liners bided their time until Cianelli grabbed Mooney's over-center toss and tightroped for the clincher.

Deacons Rout Wm. And Mary In Loop Tilt

O'Quinn Stars In 55-28 Triumph Over Indians

By Bill Peacock

WAKE FOREST, Oct. 22.—Wake Forest bounced back from four straight defeats to rout William and Mary, 55-28, here today in a Southern Conference game.

The Deacons overcame a first quarter William and Mary lead and went on to score three times in both the second and third periods in an eight touchdown parade.

Stars of the game were Wake Forest end Red O'Quinn and William and Mary end Vito Ragazzo, who both caught three touch-down passes, and Deacon back Nub Smith who made runs of 58 and 44 yards and one of the Wake tallies.

Wake Forest scored the first time they gained possession of the ball. They drove 66 yards with Bill Gregus banging over from one foot out. Billy George added the first of his seven extra points.

But the Indians came right back as Ed Magdziak cracked over from the one yard line to climax a 76 yard drive and a moment later took a 14-7 lead after Deacon back Carol Blackerby fumbled on his own 10.

The William and Mary lead was short lived, however, as Ed Bradley, Lou Pollacci, and O'Quinn tallied for the Baptists in the second period and started them on the way.

The Deacons pushed across three more scores in the third quarter to take a five touchdown lead and eased up in the last period when William and Mary scored twice.

House Will Speak To Cosmopolitans

Chancellor Robert B. House will speak on University traditions and plans for the future at a meeting of the Cosmopolitan Club this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

NSA Hears Carmichael, Delahanty; Meeting Set To Adjourn Today

By Wuff Newell

"The measure of an organization is not merely the nobility of its aims or the sincerity of their implementation. It is this and the effectiveness and practicability with which they are carried out," Bob Delahanty, national executive secretary of the National Students Association told delegates to the Virginia-Carolina regional meeting last night.

Speaking before a large group of students in the Di Hall, Delahanty said that NSA serves as a clearing house of information, services and research directed toward the strengthening and expansion of student government services where they exist or their establishment where they do not exist. Delahanty's talk brought to a close a day of meetings and informal discussions. At the opening meeting yesterday morning W. D. Carmichael, Jr., acting president of the Greater University, told the delegates that the great hope that we can capture our faith depends not upon older people but upon people the age of college students.

Following Carmichael's speech the Jess Dedmond, former regional chairman, discussed some of the aims of the NSA. "Our aim," he said, "is to bring us all together regardless of age, sex, race, religion or political beliefs." After explaining the aims of NSA, Dedmond gave a brief history of the Virginia-Carolina region and discussed student organization in other countries.

Parties Start Picking Slates For Fall Voting

December Election To Fill 46 Posts, 34 Legislators

The opening curtain of the political show known as December elections will go up tomorrow night as the Campus and Student Parties start nominating candidates to run in the vote fight.

The University Party will start its nominating at Wednesday's Steering Committee meeting. The Qualifications Committee is already considering candidates to be presented to the entire group.

The SP will nominate all but freshman officers tomorrow night. They will sponsor a freshman convention Wednesday night to select their first-year slate.

A total of 46 campus offices are to be filled in the balloting, including 34 legislature seats, class posts for both the junior and freshman classes, and two seats on the Student Council.

The SP convention will be open to all first-year men. The Party executive committee will present no slate, all nominations will come from the floor.

Other campaign plans formulated by the political units includes a UP plan to appoint dormitory representatives to the Steering Committee and the holding of several open Committee meetings. Discussion of Party platforms will also begin in tomorrow night's CP and SP meetings.

All nominations for candidates in the December election must be complete and in to the Elections Board by Nov. 21.

Basile Set To Give Talk For Society

Professor D. G. Basile of the Department of Geology and Geography will be the guest speaker tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in 112 New East for the second in a lecture series, sponsored by the Sigma Gamma Epsilon professional geologic fraternity.

Professor Basile's topic, entitled "The Highland Indians of Ecuador," will be illustrated with color slides, which will describe the topography and ethnology of the region.

Basile spent eight years in western South America, and during the war years was engaged in the search for strategic materials, particularly quinine.

Another Upset

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Oct. 22.—(AP)—A trio of sophomores and a veteran quarterback rose from the mire of 11 consecutive Indiana University football losses today to dump Pittsburgh from the ranks of the unbeaten, 48-14.

The Panthers, boasting four victories this season and heavily favored to hand Indiana its fifth loss of the year, couldn't match the inspired play of quarterback Nick Sobek and rookie Jerry Van Ooyen. Jim Gomory and Bobby Robertson.

Cat Girl Is Cavorting In New Orleans Again

By Billy Carmichael III

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 22.—The Cat Girl, the lady who put the motion in commotion, is back at her old stamping grounds.

Lithe and lovely Lilly Christine has returned to the French Quarter in New Orleans, and though she remains peerless in her occupation, there, etc., is no lack of people down at the Prima's "500" Club to peer at Lilly. The act remains indescribable. She rolls those eyes, those should-
