

NCAA To Investigate Payment To Bowl Game Players

LSU Players Given $250 In Sugar Bowl

By Will Grimsley
NEW YORK, Jan. 10—(AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic Association raised its official eyebrows today over a report that Louisiana State, football players had been given extra money for playing in the Sugar Bowl and announced a sweeping investigation probably would be made of bowl expense payments.

"This is most unusual," Dr. Karl Leib, president of the NCAA, said. "I don't doubt this will be brought to the attention of the constitutional compliance committee."

The compliance committee is the policing agency of the NCAA's sanity code, which is in for a battle at the NCAA sessions here this week.

LSU announced yesterday players who played in the Sugar Bowl game against Oklahoma would receive $250 each for extra expenses involved in training. This is in addition to regular expenses for meals, board and entertainment.

The disclosure met with mixed reaction, both from among NCAA officials and other member schools which also took part in bowl games.

Leib said he hasn't had a full report on the LSU action and so could make no statement on it. It may prove that the payments were justified, he added.

"However, Leib said, 'I imagine this will call for some investigation and we may try to standardize the payments given boys who miss the holidays to play in post-season games.'

James Stewart, Southwest Conference Commissioner and a member of the compliance committee said his group probably would study the situation to see if the sanity code was violated.

Meanwhile, a strong defense of LSU's action came from T. P. (Red) Heard, little red-haired athletic director of the Baton Rouge institution.

"Let the NCAA take it up," he said. "I don't know what they can do about it. We violated nothing. We did just what every other team that plays in bowls does for its men."

"What about the Oklahoma players? They and their wives were taken on a pleasure trip to Cuba. Don't tell me that didn't take at least $250 apiece."

Walter Kraft, Oklahoma faculty representative, acknowledged the Sooner players were taken on the Cuban trip as appreciation for their bowl time and added he thought there is justification for expenses for players taken on a trip.

Bernie Moore, Commissioner of the Southeastern Conference of which LSU is a member, said he saw no violation of amateur ethics in the payment.

"The way it was explained to me it was simply a payment for expenses the boys incurred while in training and the time they were away from home," he declared.

Others took a dim view of such large cash handouts, for whatever the reason.

Cagers Prep For Miami; Scott: 'Cats 'Too Good'

Still reeling from the knockout punch delivered to them by Kentucky Monday night in the form of a 63-44 shellacking, the Tar Heel cagers resumed practices again yesterday in preparation for a pair of contests with Miami this weekend down in the Sunshine State.

When interviewed yesterday about the defeat, Coach Tom Scott offered no alibis, just that the Wildcats, ranked second in the nation, were "too good" although the Carolina mentor did suggest that the final count could have been a little more closer if the Tar Heel five had performed in the fashion they showed during the recent Dixie Classic.

It seems that Kentucky's coach, Adolph Rupp, was well pleased with the showing of his disciples, saying that "we played very well, about 25% better than we did in the Sugar Bowl Tourney. Had we played like this against St. Johns in New York, we would have beaten them." The St. Johns game is the only setback that the Wildcats have sustained so far through a rugged slate.

Hugo Kappler and Red Bennett shared the scoring honors for the locals, each notching 11 points while Nemo Nearman chipped in with 8. Both Tar Heel pivots had their hands full trying to get off their shots against the Kaintuck center, seven foot Bill Spivey. Spivey had a field day in blocking shots and putting a crimp in the Carolina scoring plans.

As an observer, Scott thinks the Wildcats stand an excellent chance to repeat as the national champs of the court game. Spivey, only a sophomore, needs a little more action to be a polished performer, and still dinked 16 points against the locals. Scott was glowing in his respect of Kentucky junior, Walter Hirsch, who has had his chance this year after being a reserve behind the immortal Wildcat teams of Groza, Jones, Beard and Co.

Tar Heel Matmen Prep For Opener With State Here

With the first match coming up next Tuesday, Jan. 17, Coach Chuck Quinlan and his wrestlers are going through workouts every afternoon to have the team in shape for the Wolfpack of State College. Fortunately, Coach Quinlan is in the unusual position of having a good number of veterans and experienced men on hand.

Leading the list of lettermen are Phil Kemp, wrestling in the 155-pound class, and Oscar Gupton in the 165 division. Kemp was Southern Conference champion in his weight last year and was further honored by being voted the outstanding wrestler in the Conference. Gupton also walked away with the 165-pound crown.

Another letterman is Ken Hoffman who will lead off in the 121 pound group. Bob Randall, a senior, but new to the squad, will also handle this class.

Coach Quinlan has Bob McGimsey in the 128 division. McGimsey lost only one match last year as a freshman and with a little more experience should be ready to go.

Joe Bourne, a member of last year's squad, will hold down the 145 division.

Two more lettermen from the frosh squad, Joe Aaron and Chigger Qualls, will handle the 136 pound class. Qualls can also be used as a 145 man as replacement for Bourne.

After the State meet the team will enjoy a short rest before meeting VPI, again on the home mats.

The 1950 schedule:

January 17	N. C. State	Here
February 4	VPI	Here
February 18	Citadel	Charleston
February 24	Wash. & Lee	Lex., Va.
February 25	YMI	Lex., Va.
February 28	Duke	Here

UNC Players Given Money For Expenses

University of North Carolina football players have been given money for their expenses on bowl trips, a University athletics spokesman revealed yesterday.

Another University athletic official said the money was provided so that the players could bring their wives or parents to the bowl games.

University officials were asked for comment on the action of Louisiana State University in giving its football players $250 each in expense money for their trip to the Sugar Bowl.

North Carolina played in the Cotton Bowl this year, losing to Rice 27 to 13. Last year and in 1947, the Tar Heels played in the Sugar Bowl.

"I think it's not an uncommon practice to allow them (football players) some expenses," said Dean A. W. Hobbs, chairman of the University Athletic Council. "We have allowed them something for expenses when they make a trip like that."

Asked if he thought the expense allowances would affect the players' amateur standing, Hobbs said:

"I don't think so. The boys would take in a good deal of money working during the holidays if they were not practicing football. I don't see anything wrong with giving them a little expense money."

Assistant Athletic Director Chuck Erickson said the players were allowed the expense money to bring their wives or parents to the bowl games. For the Cotton Bowl, he said the most allowed any player was travel expense plus hotel and food costs for one person or travel expense only if two persons made the trip.

"It was the only fair thing to do," he said. "I understand that's the basis most of them (other colleges) use."

Not At Home

Marvin Bass was unable to be reached today for comment on the report that he will rejoin Rube McCray as line coach at William and Mary. He was out of town for the day.

It was announced from Richmond, Va. on Monday night that Bass would go back to WM after his year's tenure at Carolina, with the possibility of succeeding Head Coach McCray when his contract runs out in 1954.

N. C. State Drops To 9th in Poll

NEW YORK, Jan. 10—(AP)—St. John's of Brooklyn still is the nation's no. 1 college basketball team.

The Brooklyn Redmen, knocked out of the thinning ranks of the nation's major undefeated teams by CCNY, held their slim lead over once-beaten Kentucky in the second of the weekly associated press ranking polls.

Long Island U., with eight successive victories to its credit through Monday night's games, moved up a notch into third place. Indiana, which was handed its first looking last night by Michigan, took fourth place followed by Holy Cross, Bradley, CCNY, Duquesne, North Carolina State, and UCLA in that order.

St. John's with 26 first place ballots, accumulated 929 points in the voting of 122 sports writers and sportscasters. Kentucky, receiving 24 no. 1 nominations, piled up 871 points. L.I.U. collected 820 points and was named for first place on 30 ballots.

With one exception, CCNY, the first ten teams are holdovers from the previous week. Improving City vaulted from 14th to its no. 7 rating.

The voting was based on games played through the last weekend. Thus, Indiana moved up one peg, from fifth to fourth; Holy Cross advanced from sixth to fifth.

Tar Babies Win, 54-31, At Highpoint

Special To The Daily Tar Heel
HIGH POINT, Jan. 10—Coach Jim Hamilton freshman cagers jumped to an early lead here tonight to cop their season's fifth win at the expense of a hard fighting quintet from High Point High.

Jack Wallace, Vince Grimaldi, and Jim Carter seemed to make the difference for the Tar Babies. Wallace was high scorer for the evening with a total of 13 points. All three led in the early scoring that gave the Blue and White an 18-6 advantage at the end of the first quarter.

But Bill Powell outdid them all for the High Pointers, scoring 15 of his team's 31 markers and taking the lead in the defensive play also.

It was the fifth win of the season for the frosh, their only loss was to powerful aggregation from N. C. State. Other victories were scored over Elon's jayvees, Burlington High, the Blue Imps from Duke and Davidson's frosh.

The Tar Babies play their next game against Wake Forest's Junior Deacons this Saturday night.

Art Honored

NEWARK, N. J., Jan. 10—(AP)—Art Weiner of Newark, North Carolina University's star end, has been selected as New Jersey's outstanding collegiate athlete for 1949 by the Newark Athletic Club.

In 1949 he won honorable mention on the Associated Press All America team.

Eleven Tar Heels Entered In Washington Star Games

Carolina's indoor tracksters will be working hard this week in preparation for their Saturday night date in the Washington (D. C.) Evening Star—District of Columbia AAU Indoor Track Meet in the Washington National Guard Armory.

With only two more days of practice remaining, coaches will be anxiously watching the performances of the men entered in the meet. The remainder of the squad will be preparing for the State dual meet on February 4.

The meet Saturday night will find some of the nation's top track men on hand. Many national champions enter each year and the Washington meet is considered as one of the top meets in the winter circuit.

The probable Carolina entries in the meet will be Sam Magill in the open two-mile run; Bob Moody, high jump and mile and two-mile relay teams.

Running in the mile relay will be Bill Crimmins, Percy Flowers, Clarence McLain and Gene Brigham. With the exception of Brigham, a sophomore, this is the same team that competed in Washington last winter.

The two-mile team will consist of veterans Frank Hooper, Halsted Holden, Laddie Terrell and sophomore Gordon Hamrick.

COED BASKETBALL

The coed basketball club will meet this afternoon at 4 o'clock in Woman's Gym. Any coed is eligible to become a member of the club.

VISIBILITY ZERO
Rain, sleet or snow on the windshield greatly reduces visibility and increases the hazards of winter driving. Keep your windshield wipers and defroster in good working order. You have to see danger to avoid it.
