Six Organizations Share Chest Funds

Six welfare organizations, local and national, will share funds gathered in through the combined Campus Chest drive next month, Feb. 5-10.

Five are national and international: the World Student Service Fund, American Friends Service Committee, Displaced Persons Scholarship Fund, CARE and the University of Athens. All five are student help organizations, organized to render aid to students still handicapped by the destruction of war.

The sixth hits at the school-year home of over 7,000 students: The Chapel Hill Community Chest.

Recently appointed co-ordinator Dick Murphey yesterday named his Board of Directors for the forthcoming campaign and released the names of faculty advisors obtained for the drive.

Six assistants will work directly throughout the drive with Murphey, and eight heads of organizations will serve on the Board. Harold Bursley was named campaign manager; Mike Henry Bowers, secretary; Ted Fussell, treasurer; Sam Boone, student art assistant and Don Maynard, Daily Tar Heel news representative.

Organizational heads serving on the Board are: Harry Aycock, Men's IDC president; Allison Poll, IFC president; Ralph Hebb, TMA president; Helen Hilton, Women's IDC president; Lucile Rights, Pan-Hell president; Janet Ellington, TGA president; Bill Roth, Alpha Phi Omega president and Daily Tar Heel Editor Dick Jenrette.

Co-ordinator Murphey said that the heads of all other organizations not listed may serve as ex officio members in an advisory capacity to the Board of Directors.

Tain't So!

MOSCOW, Jan. 12—(P)—West Point and Annapolis are mere high schools, not to be compared with similar Soviet institutions, the Russian army newspaper Red Star said today.

"In general, there are no higher military educational institutions in the United States which, in the scale of knowledge imparted, can be fully compared with our military academies," the newspaper said.

The Red Star article objected to the use of the term "academy" by Russian translators referring to the U. S. military academy at West Point and the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis. It said the word should be translated only as "school."

"It is regrettable that certain of our translators, without suspecting it, by incorrect interpretation of terms, greatly exaggerate the general education level of American officers," Red Star added.

Uncle Sam's Vet Refunds Start Mon.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12—(P)—The Treasury Department turned out its first batch of World War II veterans insurance dividend checks today.

The Veterans Administration said, however, that none of them will be mailed until next Monday.

On that date, the two agencies plan to start turning out an average of 200,000 checks a day, 1,000,000 a week, in payment of the $2,800,000,000 dividend to 16,000,000 veterans.

A VA spokesman said the checks sent through the Treasury's check writing unit this week are being dispatched in bundles to post offices throughout the country. The bundles will be opened Monday for distribution of the checks through the mails to the veterans, he said.

The checks range in size from 9 cents to $528, with the average about $125. Payments are to be largely completed by June 30.

Postmaster General Donaldson warned that "Forgers may attempt to steal checks from house letter-boxes."

He asked veterans to keep their mail boxes locked and to remove mail from boxes promptly.

U. E. Baughman, chief of the U. S. Secret Service, urged that retail storekeepers be on guard against forgeries.

Travel Agency Has Big Quarter

Approximately 500 travel reservations were handled through the Graham Memorial travel agency last quarter, agency manager Charles Ufen said yesterday.

The travel agency is open to all students and townspeople, and there is no charge for any of the services rendered by the agency. Complete schedules of all buses, trains and planes to any point in the United States are available, and either Ufen or Winston Hall, assistant manager, can arrange schedules and make reservations.

Last quarter more people made use of the agency than in the two previous quarters combined.

Max Gardner Enters Race For Senate

By Graham Jones

Law student O. Max Gardner, Jr., of Shelby announced yesterday that he will be a candidate for the North Carolina State Senate subject to the Democratic primary on May 27.

Lee B. Weathers, Shelby publisher, who at present represents Cleveland County and the 27th senatorial district, stated two weeks ago that he will not be a candidate to succeed himself.

The 27 year old student is the son of the late O. Max Gardner who served as governor of this state from 1928 until 1932 and who died soon after President Harry Truman appointed him as ambassador to England.

Young Gardner, who actively fought the tuition raise for students of the Greater University of North Carolina last February, informed The Daily Tar Heel yesterday that "One of my main interests is lowering the tuition in state-supported schools, and providing state aid scholarships similar to proposed scholarships by the federal government."

When questioned on the possibility of a lowering of tuition rates, Gardner declared, "It will take a great deal of the type of work students carried on a year ago and it definitely will be a cooperative affair of students, trustees, and

Raleigh Man Is Prominent In UN Action

LAKE SUCCESS, Jan. 12—(P)—A United Nations group invited member governments today to furnish examples of laws and other means they have found effective in stamping out discrimination.

The group is the subcommission on prevention of discrimination and protection of minorities, now studying discrimination problems for the commission on human rights.

Jonathan Daniels, U. S. representative, proposed the step as the first in a world wide campaign to curb discrimination.

Russia's V. I. Formashev said it would only delay the program. Daniels, a Raleigh, N. C., publisher said that such preliminary information was necessary.

The 12-member group sits as a board of experts, not as national paid delegates, and Daniels announced that he wants to ask the United Nations to increase the daily expense allowance for the experts. He said the $20 daily now paid by the United Nations was not sufficient.

New equipment including an enlarger, a printer, a timer and a clock have been purchased and there is also a supply of small equipment and chemicals on hand.

Any student may use the camera shop, and there is a fee of 20 cents for use of it.

Anthony Lewis Will Return Here Somewhat As Conquering Hero--Is Former Playmaker Star

By Mark Sumner

Anthony Lewis, actor who handles the role of Germio in the Margaret Webster production of "The Taming of the Shrew" and Marcellus in "Julius Caesar," will return to Chapel Hill as somewhat of a conquering hero when the company presents the two plays here next Monday in Memorial Hall.

Actually, he is Arthur Solomon, who received his Master's Degree in dramatic arts here in 1947. As a member of the Carolina Playmakers, he will be remembered for his roles in Lennox Robinson's "Drama at Innish," Sam Hirsch's "Subway Rhapsody," and Cid Ricketts Sumner's "Hear the Hammer Ringing," the play which is now being seen as the movie "Pinky."

After leaving Chapel Hill, Art worked in stock and little theater companies in the mid-west, then joined the Cherry Lane Theatre in New York, one of the better "off Broadway" theaters.

Dartmouthian Is Sentenced In Death Case

Suspended Term Handed Collegian In Fatal Beating

WOODSVILLE, N. H., Jan. 12—(P)—A 21-year-old Dartmouth College student was given a suspended prison sentence today after entering a surprise plea of guilty to a charge of first degree manslaughter in the fatal beating of a fellow classmate.

William C. Felton of Tiffin, O., stood with solemn mien as Superior Court Judge William A. Grimes imposed a suspended sentence of three to five years and ordered the youth to pay court cost of $375.

Felton was the second suspended Dartmouth student to be sentenced in connection with the beating death of Raymond J. Cirrota, 21, of Linden, N. J., a member of the junior class, who died last March 19 after a brawl in his dormitory room.

Last June, Thomas A. Doxsee, 22, of Fayetteville, N. Y., pleaded nolo contendere to second degree manslaughter and was given a suspended sentence of a year and (See M'SLAUGHTER, page 4)

Lewis will play Brutus and Triano, Miss Horton appears as Katherine and Portia, and Clark portrays Mark Anthony and Petruchio.

Solons Hear Mackie; Mitchell Gets Pro Tem

By Chuck Hauser

The Eighth Student Legislature convened last night, and the only exciting thing that happened during the evening was that it met on time.

Sidelights after the auspicious beginning for 1950 included a "moral encouragement" address by President Bill Mackie, and election of officers, during which University Party floorleader Herb Mitchell was ayed into the post of speaker pro tempore by acclamation before any contests turned up.

For clerk, (Miss) J. K. Richardson (UP) took 26 votes to win over John Hazelhurst (SP-CP) with 12. UP Legislator Charlie Foley took the chairmanship of the powerful Ways and Means Committee with 22 votes over Graham Jones (SP) with 12.

Ben James (UP) captured a weighted 28 ayes to walk over Sol Kimerling (SP) whose nine didn't come near winning him the chair of the important Finance Committee.

By acclamation: Dick Schwartz

speaker pro tem, was nominated (UP-SP) for sergeant-at-arms, Sheldon Plager (UP) for chairman of the Board of Elections, George Rodman (UP) for chairman of the Rules Committee, and Bootsie Lyons (UP) for chairman of the Coed Affairs Committee.

Mackie gave a 12-minute orientation lecture to the legislators on general problems that would face them in the coming months. Specifically, he mentioned the enormous budget which they will have to approve, elections laws "which are in constant need of revision" and constitutional revision.

"The budget should be ready by about April 1," he said, "and the work being done on the constitution will come before you in about two weeks. We would (See LTURE, page 4)

Hair Nabbed By Policemen In California

Student Wanted Admits Identity For Dec. Slaying

RALEIGH, Jan. 12—(P)—Raymond D. Hair, 24-year-old Wake Forest College senior wanted on a murder charge, was arrested in Los Angeles, Calif., today, SBI Director Walter Anderson announced.

Anderson said that Hair, who is wanted for the Dec. 15 slaying of Roy W. Coble, a former Wake Forest student, was arrested by the Los Angeles police.

Anderson said that Hair admitted his identity and had waived extradition to North Carolina.

The SBI was notified by W. A. Worton of the Los Angeles police department of the arrest, which brought to an end one of the most intensive manhunts in recent state history.

Worton told the SBI that Hair had been living in the Cecil Hotel at Los Angeles under the name of J. S. Royster.

Earlier today, the SBI had stated it believed Hair was in eastern North Carolina. It said three persons in the eastern area had reported seeing a man answering Hair's description. However, this trail turned out to be false.

Hair, the son of a prominent Fayetteville dentist, has been the object of an intense search since the night of Dec. 15 when he fled from the scene of a minor automobile accident on a Wake Forest College parking lot.

Behind him in his car, Hair left Coble, 20-year-old Oakboro native who had planned to re-enter Wake Forest. Coble had a bullet through his brain and died in a Raleigh hospital a few hours later.

Hair's arrest resulted from a tip furnished the Los Angeles police by the SBI, Anderson stated. He said Agent James W. Powell received the information this morning and called the Los Angeles police asking them to check.

Police Chief C. R. Howard of Wake Forest, informed of Hair's arrest, said the news "is the best thing I've heard since Dec. 15."

BETTY LOU BALL TO ENTERTAIN IN GM SHOW

BETTY LOU BALL, special student in music, will be one of the featured performers on the Rendezvous Room floor show tonight at 9:45.

While she was a student at Salem, Betty Lou sang on the Rendezvous Room shows several times and was well-received by the audience. Tonight will mark her first appearance since she transferred to the University.

Bob MacDonald will accompany her at the piano.

Sharing the spotlight with Betty Lou will be the Lambda Chi trio, composed of Frank Moore, Bob Sturdvant and Andy Shevda.

Steve Cole will be the accompanist for them.

The trio have entertained in the Rendezvous Room several times this year already and have become one of the popular members of the floor show cast, according to entertainment director Mary Jo McLean.

Mark Barber will be master of ceremonies, and Wally Andrews and his combo supply music for dancings.

NSA TRAVEL, STUDY WORK BOOKLET ON SALE

MADISON, Wis.—"Work Study Travel Abroad 1950" has been put on sale by the publications bureau, U. S. National Student Association, 304 N. Park, Madison, Wis.

The 10,000-word booklet, which follows similar booklets for 1948 and 1949, gives agencies to contact for traveling during the summer months, outlines their programs and provides general year-round facts on going abroad.

The Publications Board elected a chairman and welcomed a new member yesterday afternoon in its first meeting of 1950.

Managing Editor Chuck Hauser of The Daily Tar Heel was named chairman to succeed Billy Carmichael III, who graduated at the end of the fall quarter. Professor Gerald Barrett of the Commerce School succeeded Stuart Schriest of the Journalism Department as a regular Board member.

Schriest's term expired Jan. 1, and Chancellor Robert B. House, who is empowered under the student constitution to appoint the two voting faculty members, nominated Barrett for a two-year term on the recommendation of the Board.
