John Sanders SP Nominee For Spring Presidential Race

Legislative Vet Takes SP Vote Of Acclamation

Carolina Forum Head Is Attorney General For President Mackie

By Roy Parker, Jr.
John Sanders, special student from Four Oaks, entered the student body presidential race last night as the Student Party nominated him by acclamation to lead its spring election ticket. Sanders beat out Dick Murphy for the nomination. He immediately called on the party to "work together and come through in the spring election with flying colors." His was the first nomination of any party for spring tickets. Sanders is present student government Attorney-General, veteran member of the Student Legislature and Carolina Forum head. As Attorney-General he has had a hand in practically all legislation presented in the Legislature for the past two sessions, and as Forum head was instrumental in bringing Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt here as Weil lecturer.

Band Parade Is Scheduled To Open Show

The Chapel Hill High School band will inaugurate festivities for tomorrow's PTA variety show with a parade through town tomorrow afternoon, it was announced yesterday by the PTA steering committee.

The band, 65 pieces strong, will be one of the many organizations taking part in the big benefit show which will start in Woolfen Gymnasium at 7:30. In all there will be 10 acts.

Yesterday the PTA announced that Miss Ruth Price's group of physical education majors will give an exhibition of a Morris Dance. This is an interpretive English dance that is done by six men.

In addition to the Morris Dance, there will be square dancing, acrobatic, ballet, adagio, tap, ballroom and folk dancing.

There will be children's music, quartet singing and an exhibition of gymnastics and tumbling to go with the outstanding array of dancing groups.

Negro Gunmen Scoop $16,000

BALTIMORE, Feb. 6—(AP)—Four gunmen walked into the library at Morgan State College late this afternoon, scooped up $16,000 in registration fees and escaped—all in three minutes.

The bandits, all Negro, entered the building at 5 p. m., just a few minutes after the last student had paid his mid-term fee and departed. They held 12 persons at bay with guns and scooped the money into a canvas handbag, a college official said.

Morgan is a state college for Negroes.

James Carter, the college's business manager, said one bandit stood guard at the front door.

The other three hustled into the library wing where a temporary cashiers' cage had been set up to collect the registration fees.

Chest Report

Only a few reports from Campus Chest solicitors showed total collection as of 10 o'clock last night to be $450.76. Of this total, $255.51 is cash, according to treasurer Ted Fussell. He urged that all teams make complete reports tonight.

DR. D. D. CARROLL

DR. THOMAS H. CARROLL

Commerce Dean Due Here Sept. 1

Dr. D. D. Carroll Will Remain to Teach When Syracuse's Dr. T. H. Carroll Arrives

September 1 will see a new face behind the desk formerly occupied by Dean Dudley deWitt Carroll, and a new name for the School of Commerce to go along with the face.

Dr. Thomas Henry Carroll, now dean of the College of Business Administration at Syracuse University, yesterday was revealed as successor to Dr. D. D. Carroll as dean of the newly-named School of Business Administration here.

Dr. Carroll's appointment was announced by Abtng President W. D. Carmichael, Jr. and Chancellor R. B. House following approval of the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees.

After 29 years of service as Dean of the School of Commerce, D. D. Carroll asked to be relieved of administrative duties two years ago. Since that time, Dr. John B. Woosley, head of the Department of Economics and Commerce and chairman of a faculty committee to recommend Carroll's successor, has been searching for a man for the job.

Dean Carroll was one of the youngest deans in the history of Syracuse University when he was appointed to that position in January 1946. He is now 35 and described by Dr. Woosley as a man with a dynamic personality and a genial and charming manner. Besides serving as dean, he also holds the position of professor in the College of Business Administration there.

At Syracuse, he has been a leader in the development of a curriculum which has met with widespread approval because of its dual emphasis upon "broad training for effective citizenship through instruction in social science, the humanities, and science, and thorough grounding in all the basic areas of business as preparation for advanced training in a selected field."

Plans for the Saturday night square dance and other recreational activities have been completed. A well-known Asheville caller and his musicians will furnish direction and music for the dancing. Recreation co-chairmen Gene Hines and Ed McLeod have lined up a Sunday sunrise hike to nearby Lookout Mountain for those with sufficient will power to meet the 5:30 starting time.

Mount Mitchell will be the goal of another trek.

Student Recital Set Today at 4

Bach, Schubert, Chopin, and Scarlatti will be featured on this afternoon's student recital at 4 o'clock in Hill Hall.

Students taking part in this afternoon's recital are Malcolm Matthews, piano; Nancy Eagle, piano; the Madrigal Singers, and Sam Andrew, piano.

Gardner Gets Trustee Post By Board Vote

Three New Schools Given Go Ahead In Other Action

O. Max Gardner, Jr., University law student from Shelby, was named to the Executive Committee of the Greater University Board of Trustees by the Board at its meeting here yesterday.

In other action, the Board approved three new schools for the University. The new units will be a School of Journalism, replacing the department; a School of Social Work, replacing the department, and the School of Commerce will become the School of Business Administration.

Gardner's appointment is to fill the position of the late Governor Ehringhaus. Gardner has been serving as a member of the Board of Trustees and was on the special committee to select a new president to succeed Dr. Frank Graham.

Gardner will run for the State Senate from Shelby in the next primary.

Chancellor Robert B. House requested and received authority from the Board to reorganize the three units. House also was given permission to name Oscar J. Coffin, Dean of the School of Journalism; Arthur E. Fink, Dean of the School of Social Work, and Thomas Carroll, Dean of the School of Business Administration.

Governor Kerr Scott was authorized to appoint a committee to plan the inauguration exercises for Gordon Gray, president-elect of the Greater University.

Victor S. Bryant of Durham, Mrs. Laura Weil Cone, and Mrs. May L. Tomilson were reelected to the Executive Committee upon expiration of their terms of office.

Dr. Henry Toole Clark Jr., was named Administrator of Medical Affairs here, and Dr. John Charles Brauer was named Dean of the newly-created School of Dentistry. Three other faculty additions were approved: Dr. Floyd B. Jones, Robert L. Stallings and Robert M. James.

Twenty-six faculty appointments were approved by the Board for N. C. State College in Raleigh, and six appointments to the staff of the Women's College were okayed.

Fourth Major Show

Playmaker Rehearsals Underway For Production, 'Angels Full Front'

The Carolina Playmakers last many years.

The Carolina Playmakers last many years. The preliminary rehearsals for their new touring production, "Angels Full Front" by Frances M. Casey, after holding the open tryouts for two days last week. The play will be shown here as the fourth major production of the season for six days starting February 28.

Casey is Assistant Technical Director of the Playmakers. An Irish American comedy, Casey's play will be the first original full-length play to be toured by the famed drama group of The University of North Carolina in for it is taken on the road. The script which is being handled by Samuel French, Inc., New York Play publishers and agents, is under consideration for New York production next season, and is also being considered for motion picture and television production.

Casey has attracted attention as one of the most promising young playwrights to study work with the Carolina Playmakers in recent years. Four of his plays have been published within the past year.

GORDON GRAY, SECRETARY OF THE ARMY, yesterday was officially named president of the Greater University by the Board of Trustees in its meeting here. Gray, a Carolina graduate in '30, will take over his duties by Sept. 1. His selection by the Executive Committee in January climaxed a 10-month search during which some 200 applicants were interviewed for the position formerly held by Dr. Frank Graham.

YDC Rally Saturday Will Hear Kefauver

A delegation of 25 campus Democrats will join some 400 North Carolina Young Democrats when they converge on Greensboro this Saturday to hear Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), eat barbecue, and listen to brass bands in a statewide political rally.

Acting President Graham-Jones said yesterday that the 600-member Carolina YDC has been allotted 25 tickets to the Greensboro rally, and asked club members interested in attending Saturday's rally to contact him at 313 Grimes or Jess Edmond at the Sigma Nu House.

Jones said that Senators Frank Porter Graham and Clyde Hoey and several of North Carolina's Congressmen will make short talks. Local YDC officials stated that they had not learned if Robert Reynolds, who last week announced for the Senate seat now held by Dr. Graham, has been included on the speaker's list.

5 Med Frats At Minnesota Make Good

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Feb. 6—Five University of Minnesota medical fraternities who had to show cause why they should not be expelled from the campus made good today.

The five groups will continue to "exercise the full rights and privileges according recognized campus organizations," and plans for a new medical interfraternity council have been brought forward.

The fraternities were asked to show a student government committee cause why they shouldn't be kicked off the campus on Jan. 5 after they had been charged with fraud in presenting chapter lists for approval.

In making up its mind, the investigating committee passed two resolutions — one commending the fraternities for their "spirit and integrity" in presenting their case, one asserting that "real progress has been made on the problem of relationships between the university and these students groups."

The fraternities all presented briefs to the committee stating their fundamental aims as fraternities.

Editorially the "Minnesota Daily," warned the campus that the controversy may not be over.

Carolina Grad New GU Head: Here By Sept.

Twin City Native Unanimously OK'ed At Morehead Meet

By Don Maynard

Gordon Gray, Phi Beta Kappa graduate of the University in 1930, was brought back to his alma mater shortly after 11 o'clock yesterday morning as the full Board of Trustees unanimously voted him president of the Greater University of North Carolina.

Secretary of the Army Gray was voted to succeed Senator Frank Porter Graham as President.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6—(AP)

Gordon Gray is quitting as Secretary of the Army to take over the presidency of the Greater University of North Carolina. He set a deadline of Sept. 1 for the move.

Gray made known his decision today shortly after trustees of the University elected him to the presidency.

In a statement, Gray said that he would be available for the new job "no later than Sept. 1 and as soon before that date as the requirements of the Department of Defense permit."

Gray, who has been tight-lipped about his nomination for the presidency, broke his silence and accepted the appointment in a telephone conversation with Chairman of the selection committee Victor Bryant shortly after his approval.

Speaking from Washington, Gray said he was "deeply honored by the action of the trustees and happy to accept this great opportunity which they have given me to serve North Carolina and its people."

In his message to the Board, Gray said he would take over his duties as president "no later than Sept. 1, 1950, and as soon before that date as the requirements of the Department of Defense permits."

Gov. Kerr Scott said at the luncheon following the Board's meeting that approval of the 49-year old Gray was "one of the most important steps we've taken in a long time," and gave hint that his inauguration may take place sometime near May 1, if Gray could be relieved soon of his duties as Secretary of the Army.

No Riders

HENNIKER, N. H., Feb. 4—(AP)—Dobbin said "nay," so Paul Revere did not ride today.

Paul, in the person of William Brissot of Salem, Mass., was scheduled to rouse the town for New England College's Winter Carnival. However, when the student, authentically garbed, attempted to mount, the horse would have none of his masquerade. After repeated futile attempts, Brissot quit.

Maybe that's why the British, in the Carnival's mock battle, captured Henicker.
