Initial Political Action School Scheduled In Gerrard Tonight; Will Be Under YDC Auspices

The first annual Charles B. Aycock Political Action School will be initiated by the Young Democratic Club at 8 o'clock tonight in Gerrard Hall, acting President Graham Jones said yesterday.

A four-way debate on which of the four national political parties is best for North Carolina, and talks by Professor E. J. Woodhouse of the Political Science Department and Professor Albert Coates of the Institute of Government are scheduled for tonight's meeting, which will be the first of a three-day institute.

Speaking for the Democratic Party tonight will be Herhall Keener, a member of the varsity debate team. Russell Baldwin of the Young Republicans Club will support the GOP and Hans Friedstadt has been invited to uphold the Communist Party. Jones added that "We will have someone speaking for the States Rights if we can locate a Dixiecrat."

Following the original debate, the floor will be thrown open to the audience for questions and statements.

Theme of the school is "Why to support democracy and How to elect Democrats." Jones, on behalf of the YDC executive committee, urged to all members and other interested students to attend.

Professor Coates will speak on "Democracy on the various levels of government and Woodhouse will trace the evolution of the political parties and their roles in our system of government.

The school will be topped off with a square dance at the Tin Can on Saturday that will be open to the entire campus.

'Beat Dook' To Be Theme Of Pep Rally

Card Stunt Show, Cheers Will Help Tar Heel Cagers

Cries of "Beat Dook" will echo through Memorial Hall for one solid hour tomorrow night as students gather for a pre-game Beat Duke pep rally.

Having failed miserably several weeks ago to show up for a Beat State rally, students are expected to fill the big hall tomorrow night from 7 to 8 o'clock.

"This is our chance to show the team that we are backing them to the very end," Frank Allston, chairman of the rally said, "And the University Club expects every student to turn out for the rally."

The main event of the rally, which is going to be full of cheers, laughs and surprises, will be the premier showing in Chapel Hill of the 1949 color card stunts. Students will see movies made of the stunts at the Georgia, Wake Forest, State, Tennessee, Virginia and Duke football games.

The movies will begin promptly at 7 o'clock, and Allston said yesterday that those wishing to see them had better plan to be there early.

At the close of the movies, the rally, led by Head Cheerleader Norm Sper will get underway. The entire cheerleaders squad will be on hand to lead both songs and cheers.

As soon as the ralliers have cheered until they are hoarse, Joe Chamliis, popular cheerleader, will present a one man show that is guaranteed to keep the audience in the aisles.

"Those who have seen Joe perform know how funny he is," Allston said. "Those who haven't have a surprise in store."

The University Club has requested that the band be on hand to furnish music, but as yet no words of acceptance or regret have come in from the Earl Solcum musicians.

The rally, although essentially a Beat Duke rally, will have as a secondary purpose the recognition of Coach Tom Scott in appreciation of the work he has done with the basketball team.

"Last time we tried to show the team we were behind them, we failed," Allston said. "This time we don't want only 28 students to turn out. We want 2000."

Three-Way Battle Is Shaping In UP For Two Top Positions

Jack Woodhouse Endorsed For Editor Of Yackety-Yack

Two-Year Veteran Of Yearbook Activity Says He Will Seek Two-Party Nomination

Jack Woodhouse, junior from Virginia Beach, received the unanimous endorsement of the Yackety Yack staff for editorship of the 1951 annual at a meeting yesterday.

Woodhouse, two-year veteran of yearbook activity, announced immediately that he would seek two-party nomination for the spring general election.

Described as "an outstanding member of the annual staff," by Editor Bill Claybrook, Woodhouse is serving this year as Senior Editor. In high school he was business manager of the annual.

Woodhouse presented a tentative plan of action for work on the 1951 Yack after receiving the endorsement. He promised organizational changes, put forward detailed plans for the theme of the annual, promised work to secure better and larger offices for the staff, and said he planned a school for new staffers.

No other person has yet been suggested as candidate for the Yack editorship. If he becomes doubly-nominated, Woodhouse will be the second such unopposed candidate to seek the post in as many years.

The endorsee is a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity.

Van Noppen Wants Chance At Presidency

Mitchell Running; Warriner After Vice-Presidency

By Chuck Hauser

A three-cornered battle for the two highest posts in student government seemed to be shaping up for the University Party steering committee meeting in Graham Memorial at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

The UP will nominate its candidates for president and vice-president for spring elections April 4 before the afternoon is over, according to Chairman Paul Roth.

Herb Mitchell, the heir-apparent to the UP presidential candidacy, has run into last-minute opposition in the form of Don Van Noppen, senior from Morganton. Mitchell is a junior from Asheville.

Dorch Warriner, senior from Lawrenceville, Va., has entered in the race for the vice-presidency apparently by himself. But indications are that he will have to oppose Mitchell if Van Noppen captures the top nomination.

The winner of the number one post will fight the battle of the ballot boxes against John Sanders, graduate student from Four Oaks, who was nominated last week by the Student Party as their spring standard-bearer.

The SP vice-presidential candidate will not be chosen until next Monday. The party hit a vote deadlock this week between Bill Prince of Rochester, N. Y., and Dick Murphy of Baltimore, Md., for the position.

One thing seems certain. With the defunct Campus Party out of the political picture for this spring, the UP and SP will not be doing much, if any, double-endorsing of candidates. There are apparently plenty to go around on all sides.

GUSC Asks Reports For Improvements

Three-School Council Will Forward Recommendations to President Gray

The Greater University of North Carolina Student Council has asked that the student legislature of the three branches of the Greater University submit a report to the Council recommending improvements for each school to be forwarded to President-Elect Gordon Gray, Chairman Dorch Warriner said yesterday.

Warriner said the Council is forwarding a letter of congratulation to Gray on his recent appointment.

The Council, sitting at the top of all three campuses of the University, represents the consolidation on the student level, having equal representation from all three schools, N. C. State, the Woman's College, and Carolina.

Warriner said the Council also took favorable action on the proposal that the group sponsor a radio forum telling of the formation and purpose of the Council.

Plans are also being made for the Greater University Day next fall, Warriner said. "Last year the day was a success," he said, "and we hope that it will be so this year. With old Council members going out this spring and new ones coming in, it is important for continuity that preliminary ground work be laid now," sides the football game between Carolina and State, and half-time speeches by Governor Scott and Acting-president Carmichael, a dance in Woolen Gym.

The Greater University Day last year was the first one held that was sponsored and organized entirely by students. Warriner said that the Council hopes that it can become a tradition that future Councils sponsor the Day annually.

ABC Store In Durham Open Late

Liquor-lovers of the Chapel Hill area are getting a break from the Durham County Alcoholic Beverage Control Board.

The Bull City ABC boss said yesterday that hench-forth a hooch store in Durham will keep night hours, and others will get Saturday time extensions.

Moving to combat bootlegging activities that a federal judge had described as "on the upswing" in Durham, the ABC department said that the Parrish Street store will operate daily from 1 o'clock until 9, and that other stores would remain open until 6 o'clock on Saturdays.

Federal Judge Johnson J. Hayes recently asserted that he "was surprised to find so much activity among bootleggers" in wet Durham county. ABC Police Chief A. B. Polard suggested that a night store be operated in order to wet nocturnal whistles that were taking their business to bootleggers.

Scott Says Graham To Have Hard Fight

Predicts 'Five or Six' Will Run Against Senator for Position on Capitol Hill

RALEIGH, Feb. 14—(P)—Governor Kerr Scott predicted today that U. S. Senator Frank P. Graham, whom he appointed to the Senate and who is receiving the Governor's active support, would have five or six opponents in his campaign for the Democratic Senatorial nomination.

Candidates already in the field include former U. S. Senator Robert Rice Reynolds, Olla Ray Boyd of Pinetown and Manley Dunningway of Charlotte. Superior Court Judge Henry L. Stevens of Warsaw has said he is thinking of entering the race.

Reynolds, said Scott, "would get more votes if he were the only man running against Graham." The Governor also said he did not think Stevens would reduce Graham's vote greatly if he enters the race.

Then the governor commented: "Senator Graham has a lot of folks who believe in him, that don't believe in me.

"On the other hand, there are a good many folks who supported me who won't support Graham."

He predicted that "there are people who voted for me who will vote for Reynolds," and he explained that "a lot of folks voted for me just for the hell of it and they'll do the same with Reynolds."

Scott said he believed many voters would cast their ballots for Graham because "they've heard propaganda he is a Communist."

"A fellow might say, 'I don't believe that' and 'although I don't like Graham, I'm going to vote for him.'"

The Governor again warned the Graham forces against over-confidence, saying: "The most dangerous statement you can make is that you can't be beat. Folks don't like a man to say he is all-powerful."

Invitations Are On Sale During Week

Invitations to the annual University commencement will be on sale in the lobby of the Y every day this week, Dick Gordon, exchequer of the Grail, the sponsoring organization, said yesterday.

Invitations will be sold daily from 9 o'clock until 1 o'clock and Monday through Wednesday of next week at the same times.

Three types of invitations are available, the Dutch fold type, the cardboard variety and the leather invitation. The first type, which is a hand engraved invitation for general use, will cost 15 cents each and will include a calendar of events for the exercises. These are for general announcements.

The cardboard variety, which has a heavy paper cover, 11 pages of pictures and the entire program for Commencement, will sell for 35 cents each and is designed for special friends and relatives.

The leather invitations, finished in Carolina Blue, are styled as a graduation souvenir and are gifts for the student's immediate family. They will cost 75 cents each.

Pastor Concert Ducats Are Available Today

Tickets for the Tony Pastor concert scheduled for Memorial Hall on Sunday night were placed on sale in the lobby of the Y this morning.

Dorch Warriner, chairman of the ticket committee, said that first sales exceeded expectations, but there are still plenty of seats left.

The concert is sponsored by the senior class as part of a campaign to raise funds for Senior Week which will take place late in May.

Pastor's last appearance on the campus was in the Spring of 1948 when he played for May Frolics. Since that time he has begun recording for Columbia Records and has been responsible for several nationally known hits. "Red Silk Stockings" was the first and was followed by "Gonna Get A Gal," "There's A Man At The Door," and "You Started Something."

Though he was always a leading recording artist, Pastor did not hit his first million record until "Gonna Get A Gal" was released by Columbia.

Previous hits were "Paradiddle Joe," "I Found You In The Rain," and "Robin Hood" for Bluebird and Victor. They all passed the half-million mark.

The concert will last from 8 until 11 o'clock broken by a short intermission.

Yale To Name Poet For Prize

NEW HAVEN, Feb. 14—(P)—America's outstanding poet is to be honored annually from now on by Yale, it was announced here tonight.

Yale, President Charles Seymour explained, is to present the $1,000 Bollingen Prize to a citizen of the United States whose poem or book of poetry has been rated outstanding by a Committee of Award.

Pay $20.80 Court Costs

The Negro, who gave his name as Johnny J. Jones, said he spend six months covering the territory between here and Alabama looking for work.

He was charged with carrying a concealed weapon when he was picked up by police on the outskirts of Chapel Hill. Too scared to speak out in court, he later said he carried the weapon, a .38 caliber revolver, for protection on his long hike.

The benevolent students covering the court for class, passed the hat and raised the necessary $20.80 to give Johnny his freedom.

But there is more to the story than the freeing of Johnny since Judge John Manning pointed out to the students that the police will have to pick him up for vagrancy if he doesn't find a job.

For the present, Johnny is staying at the home of a minister in Carrboro.

By J. P. Brady

With tears in his eyes, a tired old Negro man of "about 60" who walked 576 miles from Alabama to Chapel Hill looking for work, expressed his thanks to a group of University journalism students who chipped in and paid his court costs in Recorder's Court yesterday morning.

Winner of the tournament was Notre Dame, with Vermont running second, and Purdue third. The local team finished with a record of five wins and one loss. Victories were achieved at the expense of Dartmouth, Harvard, Vermont, Boston University, and Bowdoin.

Drive Report Is Due Soon

Final reports on the Campus Chest drive will be ready for the public after Thursday night, Solicitations Chairman Ted Fussell said yesterday.

The drive was extended until Thursday, said Fussell, "in the belief that the solicitors had not had time to see everyone. There were still many students who would like to contribute who had not been solicited."

The Campus Chest Board of Directors set as a goal 100 per cent contribution, but by the original Friday deadline, only two-fifths of the students on campus had been solicited.

Fussell explained that the board "took this to mean that there had not been sufficient time for the solicitors to get around to everyone, not that three-fifths of the students did not want to contribute."

Just Darling

DARLING, Pa., Feb. 14—(P)—For the romantic, this was just about tops in postmarks today.

All the rest of the year Darling is simply a speck on the map, but when Valentine's Day comes around, the tiny Philadelphia suburb with its eight by ten post-office becomes a national date-line.

It's been that way for more than 25 years—ther love-bitten clamor for the Uncle Sam stamp—in red—which puts extra flutter into the exchange of valentines.

Russo-Chinese Pact Is Signed In Moscow

MOSCOW, Wednesday, Feb. 15—(P)—The Soviet Union and Communist China signed far-reaching pacts here yesterday.

The Soviet Union has agreed, after the signing of a peace treaty with Japan, to turn over to China the Changchun (Southern Manchurian) Railway and to withdraw her armies from Porth Arthur, a Manchurian city.

Russia has further agreed to grant a large long-term credit to China for the purchase of railway and industrial equipment.

Western North Carolina Style

Pan Hell Will Give Square Dance In Tin Can After Friday's Game

An old-fashioned western North Carolina square dance will be given by the Pan Hellenic Council in the Tin Can Friday night after the Duke-Carolina game, and all men on campus are invited to it.

The square dance will replace the sorority parties for individual fraternities which have been ruled out by Pan Hell.

Arnold Wilson, caller for the championship Greenwood Square Dance team which won the 1949

North Carolina Folk Festival, will do the calling. Between sets there will be slow dancing for those who do not like to square dance.

"The dance is especially for the fraternities who have been giving parties to sororities," Lucille Rights, president of Pan Hell, said, "and we want all men to come to it. The girls will be there without dates, and this will give the men an opportunity to meet them and to dance with them."

Pan Hell Council will decorate

the Tin Can with posters representing the different sororities.

The dance will begin at 10 o'clock and last until midnight.

"The girls should wear cotton dresses and the men, dungarees," Lucille said. "This is strictly a mountaineer squar dance."

Mecia Eure is chairman of the dance committee and serving on the committee are Jody Armstrong, Patty Ann Frizzell, Helen Hilton, Peggy Martin, Betty Denney, Lucille Rights and Jean Ogburn.
