Cage Rally To Begin In Memorial At 7

Six Carolina Game Student Card Pictures To Be Shown; Tom Scott Will Be Honored

Carolina's famed color card stunts—six sets of them in all—are coming to life again. And this time even those who so patiently took part in the stunts all during football season will be able to see the colorful show.

At 7 o'clock tonight, Memorial Hall will be turned into a motion picture theater and movies of the stunts made at the State, Duke, Wake Forest, Virginia, Tennessee, and Georgia games will be shown.

The occasion for the Chapel Hill premier showing of the stunts is the "Beat Dook" pep rally which the University Club is staging from 7 to 8 o'clock tonight. The rally will open with the showing of the card stunts, and students will be able to see such enthusiastically-received stunts as the Justice to Weiner pass, the Duke-Carolina friendship stunt and the picture of the Stars and Bars that changes into the Stars and Stripes.

Following the movies of the card stunts, Norm Sper and his cheerleaders will take the stage and lead students in some favorite cheers and songs.

The University Band said last night they would have 100 musicians on hand to furnish music.

Another feature of the program will be a stunt by a group of coeds. The details are still secret, but Frank Allston, chairman of the rally, has promised this part of the show will be something out of the ordinary.

More humor will be injected into the rally when cheerleader Joe Chamblis presents his famous comedy act.

"Those who have seen Joe perform, know how funny he is, Allston said. "Those who have not seen him are in for a good laugh."

Tonight's program will actually be a double header, for the University Club has named it official "Tom Scott Night" in honor of the coach of the basketball team. During the program Scott will be recognized for the fine work he has done.

"The last time the University Club tried to have a pep rally only 28 people appeared," Allston said. "Tonight is our chance to redeem ourselves, so we hope that every student will turn out and let the players know that we'll be behind them all the way when they take on Duke tomorrow night."

Aged Convict Gets In Again

MEMPHIS, Tenn. Feb. 15—(AP)—Isaac Richardson, tall and bent, has tried out life in the U. S. Penitentiary and, frankly, he likes it.

The 61-year-old man, who looks even older, likes it so well that he deliberately added two more years to the 26 he has spent inside prison in the last 30.

He got the newest term yesterday for mail theft. A witness in U. S. District Court said he calmly bashed a postoffice lock box with a rock, took out two letters and asked to be arrested.

Ode To Odor

WAYCROSS, Ga., Feb. 15—(AP)—City Manager S. L. Ruff responded in kind to a citizen who mixed garbage and rhyme in a comic valentine. Said the valentine:

"Roses are red . . . violets are blue . . . the garbage pickup . . . is two weeks overdue."

Said the City Manager today in reply:

"Your rhyme smells . . . your garbage does, too . . . I have sent for your . . . hog feed P. D. Q."

Pan Hell Olio Is Scheduled For Tonight

Five Sororities Set To Present Skits For Fund

The Rendezvous Room will take on the atmosphere of a Hollywood night club tonight when the five sororities on campus present their second annual Olio at 8:30.

Sponsored by Pan Hellenic Council, the Olio is being given for the purpose of raising money to help a group of girls living in one of the cottages at the Methodist Orphanage in Raleigh. There will be no charge for admission, but members of the Stray Greeks will take up a silver offering which will be used in the Pan Hel project.

Each sorority will present one act, and most of them will be amusing. Pan Hell President Lucille Rights said.

The Alpha Gams are giving a musical act entitled "Ragtime Gal," which is supposed to be a take off on the singing commercial. Doodle Williams will be the announcer, Moe Huntley will be the accompanist and members of the chorus will be Rachael Sutton, Peggy Neal, Beth Edwards, Kitty St. John, Helen Boone and Jean DeWitt.

"The Harpies Sing" will be the title of the Chi Omega skit, and it will poke a little good natured fun at sororities. Taking part in it will be Ellen Turlington, Toodie Sykes, Nelle Clark, Lou Carmichael, Louise Robbins, Peggy Williams, Meia Eure, Bootsie Lyons, Polly Rudolph and Mary Lou Rice.

Clara Jane Burroughs and her ukelele will be the featured star of the Tri Delta skit which will be entitled "The Uke's the Thing." June Crockett will be the announcer and Tink Gobble will accompany Clara Jane on the piano.

"Lower Slobovia" is the title of the Pi Phi skit which will star Joyce Richert, Iris McEwan and Marguerite Burton.

The AD Pi's will give a skit entitled "Hillbilly Talent Show." Taking part in it will be Anita Gates, Emily Bostwick, Lu Danjels, Jackie Sharpe, Helen Joyce Bell and Charlotte Wilson.

SOS-PDQ, Sadowski!

SUNDERLAND, Mass., Feb. 15—(AP)—Calling all Sadowskis! Want a cop? Call Chief of Police William R. Sadowski.

Need a fireman? Call Assistant Fire Chief William R. Sadowski.

Want a new sidewalk—or a hole fixed in the road? Call Superintendent of Streets and Roads William R. Sadowski.

Need a summons served? Call Constable William R. Sadowski.

The 44-year-old Sadowski's multiple jobs, which also include Superintendent of the Town Dump, Superintendent of Flood Control and Fence Viewer, net him about $4,000 a year.

YDC School's Second Meet Set Tonight

Compus Politicos Invited To Attend; UP To Lead Talks

Carolina's YDC Political Action School goes into its second session tonight with an open forum of student and University Party leaders scheduled to lead a discussion on "How to Turn out the Campus Vote, and How to Win Campus Elections."

YDC acting President Graham Jones said yesterday that the top candidates of the UP and the SP have been invited to attend tonight's gathering and make brief statements on their campaigns. John Sanders and Don van Noppen, presidential candidates, and Herb Mitchell, Bill Prince, and Dick Murphy—vice-presidential nominees—will be recognized.

Jones said that the local YDC has taken as one of its projects a large turnout in the spring elections. In connection with this, he stated that Paul Roth, UP chairman; Dave Sharpe, UP legislator; Pat Bowie, Women's Orientation chairman; Gran Childress, former chairman of the SP; Student Body President Bill Mackie, and past President Jess Dedmond have been invited to participate in a discussion on getting out the campus vote.

Party Planned By Vet's Club This Evening

The University Veterans Association will hold a party for all members tonight at 8:30 with two door prizes to draw a large crowd.

President Charlie Foley said yesterday that the UVA would also give a prize for the winner of a dancing contest scheduled for the evening's entertainment.

Daisy Bell Anderson making with the vocals, Frank Groseclose on the 88 keys and Forrest Covington giving with his usual assortment of American ballads will round out the program.

All veterans and members of the University ROTC units are eligible for membership in the Vets' Club.

Naming Of Constellations Explained In Morehead's Show, 'Winter Stars'

"In ages long past, according to the oldest complete description of the sky that we know of, men named the groups of stars. These names have come down to us from at least a time 3,000 years ago," and they will be told and explained in "The Winter Stars" in the current showing in the Morehead Planetarium at the University, according to Dr. Roy K. Marshall, the director.

"Many people think that astronomers must be possessed of very vivid imaginations, to see these pictures in the sky," Dr. Marshall says, "while as a matter of fact the professional astronomer is likely not to think at all of the rich heritage of tradition and history that lies behind the constellations. The astronomer thinks of a constellation as a named area of the sky, and not at all

Block Fee Raise Referendum Goes To Legislature Tonight

The Student Legislature will get one-half of its double-barreled solution to the fee raise question tonight when a bill calling for a student body referendum hits the floor.

Another bill, asking a raise in undergraduate fees of $5.00 and a graduate increase of $1.15 per quarter, is still hung in the Finance Committee of the Legislature. It will come out next week.

The referendum bill has a strike against it when it comes to the floor. It will be reported out of Ways and Means Committee unfavorably, which means the committee voted against it.

Introduced by Student Party leader Graham Jones, the referendum bill would make any raise of student fees contingent on the approval of a majority of the students voting in a special election.

Skepticism over what the extra money from the raise asked would go for, held up the Finance Committee report on the Leonard-Cornish-James fee raise bill, Committee Chairman Ben James said yesterday. He said certain committee members had asked for detailed figures on the effect of the raise.

The holdup seemed to be a moot one, however, since James, in introducing the bill, and student body Treasurer Andy Cornish, in supporting it before the Legislature last week emphasized the fact that the raise was necessary to continue operations at present budget levels, and said there would be no raise in budget appropriations.

Both James and Cornish pointed out that the enrollment figure used to estimate fee income has dropped from 7,200 last year to 6,500 this year, and that the raise asked would bring in approximately the same revenue as the present fees under the old enrollment estimate.

Present fees are $5 per quarter for undergraduates and $3.85 for graduate students.

Eleven Enter Beauty Race For Collier's

"Eleven campus beauties now are entered in the Collier's Cover Girl Contest," said Clyde Smithson, committee chairman yesterday. "Several more applications are coming before the Friday deadline, according to information from campus organizations," continued Smithson.

Displays containing the pictures of the entrants will be set up in the lobby of the YMCA building indicated Smithson. Voting will begin on Monday.

"So far they have been pleasing and personable," said Smithson. "However there is still plenty of room in the contest for many more of Carolina's Coeds who qualify for 'Phi Beta in Beauty.'"

Organizations who intend to sponsor an entry into the contest are urged to get in their applications at the earliest date. The contest committee will allow time after the submission of applications for obtaining and submitting photographs.

All applications should be brought to Room 202 of the YMCA building which will be open each day from 1:30 until 5 o'clock.

Board Will Choose Council Men Today

The bipartisan Selection Board will meet this afternoon to select nominees for appointment to two temporary seats on the Men's Honor Council.

Chest Drive Plans To End 8:30 Tonight

Carolina's Campus Chest solicitation ends today, and Board member Ralph Hebb asked all students who have not contributed to come by the Y between 8:30 and 1 o'clock tonight.

He reminded solicitors this is their last day to make reports. Hebb said reports should be in the Chest's office no later than 7:30 tonight.

The booth in the Y, to be maintained by members of Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, is to especially give town students a chance to contribute.

ly 190 out of an estimated 800 have given, but their $2.12 average per donor is one of the highest compared to other organizations," Hebb said.

Fraternity contributions have reached a high, Hebb said, as far as total contributions and percent of contributions are concerned, but dormitories have almost equaled the fraternities in individual monetary donations.

Student body President Bill Mackie and former Council Chairman Roy Holsten, whose seat, but not office, will be filled by one of the appointments, announced yesterday the composition of the Board.

The board is composed of four representatives from each campus political party, one man appointed by the Council, and Holsten, the chairman, appointed by Mackie.

University Party representatives are Bunny Davis, Anies Daye, Edgar Love, and Dick Rozen. Student Party representatives are Pat Bowie, Charlie Fox, Banks Talley, and Fred Thompson. Bob Evans is an SP alternate. Bob Payne will represent the Council.

Open are one senior seat and one at-large seat. Any senior is eligible for the senior post, any sophomore, junior or senior for the at-large appointment.

The resignations of senior member Ben Jones and Holsten make necessary the appointments. President Mackie will appoint the two replacements from the Selection Board recommendations. The Council will elect its own chairman.

The Board meets at 3 o'clock this afternoon in the Grail Room of Graham Memorial.

Capt. Cooper Back At Job With NROTC

Capt. J. E. Cooper, commandant of the Naval ROTC here, has returned from a special assignment in Washington, D. C., after spending almost three weeks in the nation's capital.

Capt. Cooper served as a member of an interview board for ROTC regular student applicants, contract students who wished to become regular students and students already in school who wished to join the program. The students the Captain interviewed will enter the program in the fall of 1950, he said.

The Captain came to the University as NROTC commandant in the middle of August, 1949, after serving as commander of destroyer group two of the Atlantic fleet.

He is a 1926 graduate of the Naval Academy at Annapolis and, in addition to Chapel Hill, makes his home in Columbus Ga.

Leonard Turns Up In Race; Warriner Defeated For Veep

The University Party nominated Don Van Noppen and Herb Mitchell as candidates for the presidency and vice-presidency respectively of the Student Body yesterday afternoon in the Roland Parker Lounge of Graham Memorial.

Van Noppen, a senior from Morganton, edged out Student Body Vice President Ted Leonard in a nip-and-tuck battle that saw speakers representing both factions praise the respective candidates.

DON VAN NOPPEN, senior from Morganton, was nominated by the University Party yesterday to run for the presidency of the student body in spring general elections April 4.

Nichols Will Give Recital This Evening

Thomas Nichols, pianist and graduate assistant in the Music Department, will present a recital this evening at 8:30 in Hill Hall.

For his program, Nichols has chosen various forms of the sonata, including "Three Sonatas" (Soler); "Sonata" (Sessions).

Nichols has attended Baylor University, University of Tulsa, and Eastman School of Music. While at Tulsa, he was assistant professor of Theory and Piano, and a member of the University Trio, which did a series of concerts annually.

He has been soloist on the following occasions: with the Rochester Civic Orchestra in Symposium Concerts during the 1940-41 season, playing first performance of a Frank Hruby concerto; with the Tulsa Orchestra in concertos of Bartok, Brahms, Rachmaninoff; and on four contemporary music festivals.

The recital is admission-free and the public is invited.

Meeting Set On Handbook

A meeting to solicit help in putting out the freshmen handbook is being held this afternoon at 4:30 in the YMCA building.

The Y council has decided this year to have the freshmen work on this handbook under the supervision of Frank Allston, who will act as editor of the book.

The Y feels that since the book is for freshmen, the ones who can best realize the needs of a freshman would be those who have just started here at Carolina. Any freshmen interested in helping out this publication in anyway is urged to come to this meeting which will be for the purpose of organizing the staff.

Fletcher Harris, former UP Chairman, opened nominations by placing Leonard's name before the party, and Bill Rhoades followed, nominating Van Noppen.

The entire group of 75 committeemen and guests that turned out for the open nominating meeting was held in suspense for nearly an hour as the body discussed the merits of each candidate before finally selecting Van Noppen by a 13-12 majority.

Following the voting, Leonard congratulated Van Noppen, saying, "I'm sure the party has picked an excellent and thoroughly capable candidate."

The UP presidential aspirant, who is currently serving on the Student Council and is vice-president of the Senior Class, cited "failure to reach the student" as the biggest fault in student government, adding that it is the "individual's responsibility."

Along these lines, Van Noppen promised a better orientation program and a unified court system. He also made clear the fact that he favored an increase in the block fee.

In closing, the UP candidate said, "I realize that the presidency of the Student Body is a great responsibility, and if elected I will be fully aware at all times that that responsibility is mine." Van Noppen is a member of Zeta Psi fraternity, a former fraternity officer, a former member of the University Club, and a member of the NROTC.

Following Van Noppen's acceptance speech, UP Chairman Paul Roth asked for vice-presidential nominations. George Rodman gained the floor and nominated Herb Mitchell, who pulled one of the big surprises of the afternoon by not entering the presidential race, and Bill Skinner placed Dorch Warriner's name in nomination.

Another long discussion period followed the closing of nominations before a vote was finally called for. The final count saw Mitchell, a junior from Asheville, nominated by a 16-9 margin.

Mitchell, a member of Chi Phi fraternity, has served in the Student Legislature for three years, twice as Speaker Pro Tem, and once as Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee; is a three-year veteran on the varsity debate team; a former chairman of the Carolina Forum; is a member of the Order of the Grail; and has served as president of the freshman class and dormitory president.

After his victory, Mitchell made the following statement:

"In three years in the Student Legislature I have seen that body at its best—and at its worst. The (See VAN NOPPEN, page 4)

Phonies!

CONCORD, Feb. 15—(AP)—The ends were all right, but the rest a big phoney.

That's what a Harrisburg grocer told the sheriff's office today.

The grocer said several men came in his store. They gave him what he thought was a $10 packaged roll of quarters. He gave them a $10 bill.

The grocer found only two quarters, one at each end. Washers made up the rest.
