20-25 miles per hour. Yesterday's mercury reading was by no means low. Max Saunders Filter Plant superintendent and supervisor of the weather station here said, but the cold wind caused people most discomfort and drove heat from homes. Monday's low was 17 degrees in the morning, and Tuesday's reading was 22.

No relief is in sight, according to U. S. Weather Bureau reports. Today should see the mercury down around 18-20 degrees with a brisk wind. The sudden shift from the spring-like temperatures which reached as high as 77 on Feb. 1, and 54 on Feb. 26—to the winter lows which have averaged 21 degrees this week, has had its effects on the student body.

Yesterday's list showed the infirmary almost filled to capacity, mostly with cases of colds and mild influenza.

manager in order to get supplies to keep you going? Before the war—and after—did you ever have to slip the price of a new suit to the purchasing agent of some concern with which you wanted to do business?

"Did you ever send your Congressman a box of cigars? Did he send 'em back? Is all the liquor in your cellar paid for or did some of it come from guys who you hardly knew but who wanted to do business with you? How do you know but that you may need someone some day, like General Vaughn, to soften up your 'Command Performance' with the collector of Internal Revenue?"

"Moreover, it's about time we re-examined our attitude towards the so-called 'Five Percenters.' The fact is that the Government needs certain supplies, that there are small businessmen who have the stuff for sale, and that the man who brings them together is performing a service to the Government and to the taxpayer. After all, booking agents get 10 percent for their services, lecture agents get even more, so why should anybody kick at a reasonable figure like 5 percent to keep the wheels of business turning, to make as many people satisfied as humanly possible, and to lighten the crushing burdens upon the President?"

Call Girl

COLUMBUS, O., March 2—(AP)—An attractive young woman passed out perfumed invitation cards to convention delegates in a hotel today.

They read: "I'm in room 5. Come up and see me. Nellie."

A lot of the delegates visited room 5.

There they found a display of granite tombstones. It was the idea of L. M. Kanuckie, a delegate to the convention of Monument Builders of Ohio. He operates a granite business in Nellie, Coshocton County.

second and third night after the spring quarter begins. The reserved seats are expected to go fast tomorrow and as long as they last next week.

"Students, we would like to re-emphasize, will benefit and not suffer from this new policy. Since Memorial Hall has only 1,850 seats, 1200 downstairs and 650 in the balcony, under the previous system, only that number of students could see Miss Scott.

"However, proceeds from the sale of reserve tickets both nights will make the second recital possible, and enable 2,400 students to enjoy the performance downstairs. As always, students will be admitted free at 7 o'clock upon presentation of their I. D. cards.

'Angels Full Front' Advance Sales Reveal Near-Sellout Through Sunday

With three performances of "Angels Full Front" already given by the Playmakers, advance reservations indicate that the remaining performances here of the new American comedy tonight, tomorrow and Sunday nights at 8:30 will be near-sellouts.

The play, which is the first original script The Playmakers have ever accepted for a regular season performance and statewide tour, was written by Francis Michael Casey, a graduate assistant in the Department of Dramatic Art.

His play concerns the Sullivan family and the difficulties Pa Sullivan has with the four women in his family. Scene of "Angels Full Front" is the front porch of a small two-family house in the latter part of May about 25 years ago.

The cast members, who will double as technicians on tour, are familiar to Playmaker audiences. Playing the role of Mammie Sullivan is Josephine Sharkey, Chapel Hill, who has been a favorite here for many years.

Anne Martin, Cherokee, portrays the part of Maggie Sullivan, a very vigorous young lady who is interested in marrying the boy next door. Miss Martin has appeared in every subscription performance this season and is an accomplished actress.

Others having featured parts are Bruce Strait, Cincinnati, O.; Elizabeth Kearney, Louisville, Ky.; Eugene Jousse, Montreal, Canada; Robins Simons, Lawrenceville, Va.; Bradford Arrington, Greenville; Virginia Hamilton, Manhasset, N. Y.; and Melvin Hosansky, New York.

The play is directed by Harry E. Davis, and Lynn Gault, technical advisor for the Playmakers, did the set. Irene Smart, designed the authentic costumes.

parthment here," Carolyn Stallings reported. "Organized hikes should be held regularly with visits made to historic or interesting places."

The average student, according to the survey made on the town of Chapel Hill, spends 50 percent of his time in such forms of negative recreation as drinking beer and participating in bull sessions.

The students who were questioned on this subject suggested that there should be for the use of students a bowling alley, a pool hall, a skating rink and a place in town to dance.

The biggest conclusion drawn by the survey is that the University itself has a sufficient recreational program, but that the town of Chapel Hill, which is really part of the University, is falling down in its job to help the students spend their leisure time in worthwhile recreation.
