

Drama Festival Is Scheduled For Tomorrow

40 One-Act Plays Will Be Presented By 500 Students

Nearly 500 of North Carolina's high school and college students will take part in the 27th annual State Drama Festival of the Carolina Dramatic Association starting here tomorrow and lasting through Sunday at the Playmakers Theater.

Forty original and professional one-act plays are scheduled for production during the four-day festival, and awards will be presented by Chancellor R. B. House on Saturday night.

Many of the student actresses will be competing for the Parkway Playhouse Acting Scholarship, which will give the winner an opportunity to study at the Playhouse and Burnsville School of Fine Arts this summer, and the students entering the Theater Arts and Design exhibit will be competing for the Playhouse Technical Scholarship.

Winners of the preliminary playwriting contests will have their plays presented at the festival, and the judges will select the winners of the Betty Smith Awards for Playwriting.

The productions of professionally written plays will be judged against a common standard for excellence, and awards will be given to the groups whose productions are rated as excellent.

College groups that will take part in the festival include Mars Hill College, Woman's College at Greensboro, Lenoir-Rhyne College, Salem College, Catawba College, Montreat College, Atlantic Christian College, Flora MacDonald College, and the Plunk School of Creative Arts, Asheville.

Dr. Newman Will Present Piano Recital

Dr. William S. Newman, head of the Piano Department, will present in his Hill Hall recital tonight at 8:30 one of two programs prepared for a spring recital tour which he has just completed.

Dr. Newman was heard in ten recitals in the New England states, including programs in Boston, the University of Maine, and Dartmouth College.

Dr. Newman will play sonatas by Bach, Beethoven, and Arthur Shepherd. The initial work, the Bach Sonata in D minor, is an arrangement by Bach himself of an earlier work written originally for unaccompanied violin.

The performance of the Second Sonata of Arthur Shepherd coincides with an appearance in the April issue of the Musical Quarterly of a feature article by Newman on Mr. Shepherd, who is head of the Music Department at Western Reserve University, and with whom Newman studied composition for several years.

Surprise!

A black convertible filled with Carolina cruised through the Duke University campus Saturday afternoon.

Its occupants were singing at the top of their voices "Here Comes Carolina, lina" and shouting "Beat Duke in '50." During the entire 10 minutes that they were on West Campus, however, they received no response from Duke students. The campus, in fact, was quiet and empty.

Suddenly the bitter truth dawned on one of the Tar Heels. Duke's spring vacation began Saturday morning!

Greek Week Talks To Be Held Tonight

Group discussions, under the auspices of the Interfraternity Council, Greek Week sponsors, are scheduled tonight for five campus fraternity houses, it was announced yesterday.

George Grover, IFC spokesman, said that well-versed guest speakers will be present at all five houses to deliver pre-inauguration addresses to the pledges. After-dinner talks will begin at 7 o'clock at each host fraternity, he said.

The IFC devised the plan as the best method for getting members of the various pledge classes together where selected guest speakers will be available. Topics will be chosen by the speakers.

The speakers will be entertained at dinner by the host fraternities, and the visiting pledges will arrive at the designated houses shortly before 7 o'clock.

Alpha Tau Omega will entertain the pledges of Lambda Chi Alpha, Tau, Epsilon Pi, Delta Kappa Epsilon, Zeta Beta Tau, and Theta Chi fraternities. Alumni Association Secretary J. Maryon (Spik) Saunders will be the guest speaker.

Beta Theta Pi will be host to the pledges of Pi Kappa Phi, Sigma Phi Epsilon, and Sigma Nu fraternities. R. B. Cox, assistant Dean of Students at Duke University will be the guest speaker.

Chi Psi will entertain the pledges of Chi Phi, Phi Delta Theta, Delta Psi, and Phi Kappa Sigma fraternities. Archibald Henderson, professor of mathematics, retired, will be the guest speaker.

Kappa Alpha will be host to the pledges of Zeta Psi, Kappa Sigma, Alpha Epsilon Pi, and Phi Gamma Delta fraternities. Chancellor R. B. House will be the guest speaker.

Sigma Chi will entertain the pledges of Pi Kappa Alpha, Pi Lambda Phi, and Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternities. Dr. Clayborne Jones of the University public relations department will be the after-dinner speaker.

The Greek Week program will continue all this week, ending Friday night with a banquet at the Carolina Inn. Major L. P. McLendon, Greensboro political leader, will speak.

An athletic field day is also on the program for Thursday afternoon. Exchange suppers and other interfraternity activities are also planned.

The Greek Week plan is being presented here for the first time. It has been approved by all 23 campus fraternities, and it is expected to become a yearly activity.

Selby Slams Tuition Rate, Hike In Fees

Independent presidential candidate Toby Selby lashed out at the cost of student living yesterday and called for the "lifting of the burden" of the present tuition rate.

Selby charged that both the present tuition rate and the recent raise in block fees were "noxious thorns in the side of desirers of an education," and called on students to put an end to "such nonsensical action."

Pointing out that "the number of self-help students has risen to over 1200 applicants in the past few years," Selby said the tuition rate and the block fee raise had made student government a "farce."

He called for a "university campus where a person may receive an education and not be held back by the impossibility of procuring funds."

Selby urged the student body to "put a man in office who is not afraid to take a chance on having these burdens lifted."

The candidate also charged that campus political parties had "railroaded" the block fee raise,

Debate Team Rated At Top In Tourney

Lillian Wilson and Carolyn Stallings, the University's negative debate team, ranked among the top 10 teams at the Blue Grass Debate Tournament in Georgetown, Ky., this weekend.

The girls scored victories over Georgetown, University of Illinois, Detroit Tech and Butler. They lost only to Wooster in the 54-team tournament.

The affirmative team of Allan Tate and Ed Love won victories over University of Louisville, Vanderbilt and Centre College.

The subject of the debate was the national collegiate question for this year, "Resolved: that the United States should nationalize the basic non-agricultural industries."

Dave Pittman, president of the University Debate Council, accompanied the debaters and served as a judge for the tournament.

Saturday night the negative team of Wilson and Stallings will meet Princeton University in a debate in the Phi Hall at 8 o'clock. This debate will be open to the public.

Russia Would Still Use Modern Weapons-Hart

"There is considerable reason to expect that the Soviet rulers would be able to launch an atomic blitz against American cities," Dr. Hornell Hart, professor of sociology in Duke University, said in an address to the Chapel Hill and student chapters of the United World Federalists here last night.

The director of the Cooperative Consensus Project for World Law and Order added that "the Soviet government is extremely unlikely to accept any of the current plans for preventing the aggressive use of modern weapons."

Dr. Hart's speech was sponsored by the UWF. Dr. N. J. Demarath, professor of sociology here, introduced the Duke professor.

Don't Show FBI Files, Says Chief

Showing Of Files Might Jeopardize Informants' Lives

WASHINGTON, March 27—(P)—FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover told Congress today that disclosure of the FBI's secret files would cripple the agency and "smear" innocent persons.

It might also jeopardize the lives of confidential FBI informants, besides tipping valuable information to foreign spies, he said.

Hoover was joined by U. S. Attorney General J. Howard McGrath in an ardent plea against opening up the FBI loyalty records to Senate Communist hunters.

McGrath said a public airing of the records would seriously impair the government's loyalty program and declared the files should be preserved in strict confidence.

Hoover and McGrath testified at a jam-packed hearing before a Senate Foreign Relations Subcommittee which has been investigating charges by Republican Senator McCarthy of Wisconsin that the State Department has become infested with Communists and fellow travelers.

Their refusal to open the records capped a day of rapid-fire developments.

Smith Backer To Be Speaker At Phi Meet

Blucher Eringhaus Will Be Guest At Inauguration

Blucher Eringhaus, son of former Gov. J. C. B. Eringhaus, will present the case of Willis Smith for senator at the inauguration of Phi Assembly officers in Phi Hall at 7:30 tonight.

The 37-year-old Raleigh attorney was secretary to his father when the latter was governor. During undergraduate days here at the University, he was president of the YDC, and also active in DKE. He was also football manager.

At present he is representing North Carolina in the Harold Epps vs Carmichael case.

Graham Jones, speaker-elect of Phi, declared that tonight's meeting will be open to the public.

Jones, who resigned as President of the Young Democratic Club here last week when he announced as independent candidate for the editorship of the Daily Tar Heel, will be installed as Speaker for the Spring Quarter. His home is Winston-Salem.

He was Speaker during the Fall, and was reelected to succeed Herman Sieber, retiring head of the Phi. Until he announced his candidacy for the editorship, Jones was Student Party Floor Leader and SP Publicity Chairman. He is a staff member of the Daily Tar Heel staff and Phi Eta Sigma honor society.

George Rodman of Washington, N. C., UP legislator and a member of ATO Fraternity, will be inaugurated as Speaker Pro-Tempore. He is a member of the (See PHI, page 4)

FEPC Slated For SDA Talk

The Carolina chapter of Students for Democratic Action will discuss the chapter's stand on the Lodge Constitutional amendment and the compulsory Fair Employment Practices bill at its meeting tonight in Graham Memorial, SDA President John Harris, said yesterday.

The meeting has been set for 9 o'clock in Roland Parker 1 of GM.

Delegates will be elected at the meeting to carry the chapter's recommendations on the two issues to the national SDA convention, Harris said.

Reports on work projects have also been slated for the meeting, Harris added, and he invited the general public to attend.

Glass-Blower Sampson Only Expert Attached To Southern University

By Wink Locklair

Dana E. Sampson gave a glass blowing exhibition in Venable Hall the other evening and whether the audience knew it or not he is the only glass blower attached to a college or university in the South.

"To my knowledge, there is no other blower of research glassware south of here or east of Oak Ridge," the 55-year-old instructor and craftsman said recently in his shop on the ground floor of the chemistry building. "I would even say there are less than one hundred in the entire United States affiliated strictly with educational institutions. Probably a total of ten in colleges on the Atlantic Coast."

In addition to his work for the University's Chemistry Department and any projects the radioisotope laboratory here might want him to undertake, he prepares special equipment for Duke University, State College and Wake Forest. And there are numerous odd jobs for private companies when he can find the time to add them to his schedule.

Mr. Sampson's interest in glass-blowing was developed when, during his youth, he worked at the General Electric Company in his hometown, Lynn, Massachusetts, during summer vacations. When he completed high school, he began a four-year apprenticeship in the GE laboratory.

Then World War I came along and Mr. Sampson joined up and was assigned to the U. S. Army Reserve Division of Chemical Warfare Service at Edgewood Arsenal, Maryland. Before coming to Chapel Hill in 1941, he was associated with the Claude Neon Company in Baltimore.

Since for all practical purpose a blower of laboratory glass must have a knowledge of chemistry and vice versa, Mr. Sampson conducts a class three afternoons each week for chemistry students. The class is offered in the fall quarter of each academic year. He takes eight students at a time, gives them personal instruction, and from this instruction, they have to blow three different items.

Candidates' Mass Meeting In Memorial Hall Tonight

Gwynn Will Address Aspirants At Compulsory 7:30 Gathering

A compulsory mass meeting will hear Elections Board Chairman Jim Gwynn explain election law at the gathering, scheduled for 7:30 in Memorial Hall. Gwynn, whose group handles all preparations for the campus

Junior College Is Now People's College-House

ROANOKE, Va., March 27—(P)—A North Carolina educator said here last night that the Junior colleges of America now stand precisely where the secondary school stood 20 years ago—as the area for the nation's next forward step in education.

Dr. Robert B. House, chancellor of the University of North Carolina, spoke before some 450 delegates at the informal dinner opening the 30th annual convention of the American Association of Junior Colleges.

"The education of all American youth can become a reality if this institution can be developed to its ultimate goal by public and privately supported institutions," Dr. House declared. "It (the junior college) has become the people's college."

Most of the opening session of the four-day conference was devoted to final preparation of reports by the association's standing committees for the convention's official start tomorrow.

At that time, the delegates will be welcomed by Virginia Governor John S. Battle and will hear a keynote address delivered by Dr. Douglas Southall Freeman, Richmond historian.

The report of the legislative committee was the only one completed and endorsed by the association's board of directors at its first session. The committee recommended local control of junior colleges as the best means of making them responsive to the demands of the community.

It was suggested that local administrators of junior colleges be placed under state supervision and that state and local appropriations may be the most effective means of financing junior colleges.

A fight on the convention floor loomed over the administrative committee's study of possible affiliation with the national Junior College Athletic Association. The report is scheduled to be given to the delegates Tuesday afternoon if directors cannot agree on its terms.

Borello Gives Platform; Asks Negro Entrance

Independent student body presidential candidate Joe Borello, latest of four candidates to enter the race, released his platform yesterday, promising a four-point program.

Borello promised, if elected, to work for admittance of Negroes to graduate schools, removal of questions on political affiliation from University employee questionnaires, lowered tuition rates, and elimination of "discrimination against women" in some departments.

Charging that student government has failed to make itself an integral part of student life, because of the lack of a "consistent and systematic" program of student body action, the candidate also asked for re-employment of two instructors denied jobs for refusing to sign a non-Communist oath.

He asserted that student government had failed to "protect the student body from encroachment by the administration" in the fields of academic freedom and Negro admittance.

Borello also charged the present student government with failing to present a program that would "encourage social and political expression." In entering the race, he had said that student government should parallel that of the national government in taking stands on national and international problems.

President of the Young Progressives Club, Borello entered the race for president Tuesday by filing a 28-name petition with the Elections Board.

He opposes John Sanders (SP), Don Van Noppen (UP), and independent Toby Selby in the fight for the top campus office. All four will make short speeches in support of their candidates at a political rally in Memorial Hall Thursday night.

Coed Rooms Go Tomorrow

Tomorrow is the last day for coeds to reserve dormitory rooms for next year, Miss Isabelle MacLeod, secretary to the Dean of Women, said yesterday.

Girls already living in dormitories will have priority on rooms for next year provided they pay their $6 deposit to the University Cashier in the basement of South Building by tomorrow.

Upon receiving a receipt from the cashier, they should fill out a card in the Dean of Women's office and apply for a room in a particular dormitory. These cards will be the only record the office will have of the girls who have signed up for rooms, so if they desire living space for either next year or for the first summer session, they should make application immediately.

After tomorrow new students will be assigned rooms.

balloting, said yesterday that any candidates who miss the required meeting will be disqualified from seeking office.

Thursday night the Elections Board will sponsor a mass "present-the-candidates" political rally in Memorial Hall. Candidates for top campus jobs will get a chance to make short speeches, and all other candidates will be present.

Aspirants for Student body president, vice president, secretary-treasurer and Editor of the Daily Tar Heel will make the speeches.

Gwynn said he hoped to have a political parade before the rally, scheduled for 7:30. Plans for it are not completed yet, he said.

Campaign tempo began to pick up over the weekend, and is expected to reach its peak by the end of the week. The usual flurry of campaign poster material began to appear on dormitory walls and other campus buildings.

Interdormitory Council officials have issued warnings to candidates to beware of using any but official bulletin boards for literature purposes.

Gwynn also announced yesterday that all candidates must turn in their campaign expense accounts by Monday night. He also warned each campus political party have a representative, other than candidates, at the meeting tonight.

At the same time, Gwynn released the polling places and voting district boundaries that will govern balloting in Tuesday's election.

Polling places and district include:

Men's Dorm District 1 consists of all residents of Stacey, Aycock, Lewis and Everett. Vote in Aycock.

Men's Dorm District 2 includes Manley, Mangum, Grimes, Ruffin, Emerson Field House and C Dorm. Vote in Mangum.

Men's Dorm District 3 includes Alexander, A and B Dorms, and Quonset Huts. Vote in Alexander.

Men's Dorm District 4 includes Steele, Old East, Old West, B-V-P and B-V-P Trailer Court. Vote in Memorial Hall.

Men's Dorm District 5 includes Miller, Whitehead and Nash. Vote in Whitehead.

Men's Town District 1 includes Victory Village, Pittsboro Trailer Camp and areas through Victory Village. Vote in Memorial Hall or in Service Building No. 1.

Men's Town District 2 includes all students living in the southeastern section of Chapel Hill bounded by South Columbia Street up to the Carolina Inn, then straight out West Cameron Avenue. All fraternity houses facing on Cameron will be included. Vote in Memorial Hall.

Men's Town District 3 includes all students living in northwest section of Chapel Hill to north of Cameron and west of Old Fraternity Row with the exception of those living north of Franklin Street and east of North Columbia Street. Students living in Greensboro, Carrboro, Durham and Hillsboro vote in Memorial Hall.

Women's Dorm District 1 includes residents of McIver, Alderman and Kenan. Vote in Alderman.

Women's Dorm District 2 includes residents of Spencer, Carr, and Smith. Vote in Memorial Hall except for Spencer, which votes in Alderman.

All women living in town will vote in Memorial Hall.

Quarterly Meeting

The Carolina Quarterly staff will meet this afternoon at 5 o'clock in the Quarterly office, on the mezzanine of Graham Memorial.

All staff members must attend, according to Editor Harry Snowden. Anyone else interested in working for the publication is invited to attend.
