

Kenan To Be Scene Of Sigma Chi Derby

Five Sororities Are Invited To Participate In Affair Fashioned After Kentucky's Own

And they'll be off in a billowing cloud of Carolina dust—if it doesn't rain—at the annual Sigma Chi Derby next Friday.

The opening gun of the Battle of the Coeds is scheduled to go off in Kenan Stadium at 3 o'clock that afternoon—run on the theme of the Kentucky Derby—and all the fillies from all five sororities have been invited to attend. Mares from among the Stray Greeks and Carolina Independent Coeds Association will be invited to the open.

First held in 1945, the Sigma Chi Derby has reached phenomenal proportions, the excitement of it reaching even to the townspeople of Chapel Hill. In addition, chapters all over the nation make it a point to hold their own Derby sometime in the spring, according to Derby chairman Len Butt.

There will be a parade around the campus next Friday featuring the Chapel Hill High School band, a Scotchman on horseback, presidential candidate Toby Selby's Derby band, and a Miss Modern Venus, to be selected during the day.

Miss Venus will be judged on the curvature of her figure, length of her mane and legworks this year, Butt said. Her facial expression and beauty will not sway the judges one way or the other. Three or four fillies will be entered by each organization, Butt explained.

Four events will be held in addition to Miss Venus and coed skits: The Grand National, Kentucky Derby, Pimlico Special and the Laurel Marathon.

The stables will be vying this year for the prizes won last year by Miss Claudia Lee as Miss Venus, Chi Omega sorority for the finest skit and Alpha Delta Pi as overall winner of the entire Derby. Seven loving cups will be on display at the Varsity next week for the prospective entries to inspect and approve.

They'll be out to break the record of Delta Delta Delta as the group which has won most Derbies since 1945. The Tri-Deltas have taken two Derbies since that time.

Judges for the coed battle will be Carl Snively, Dean of Women Katherine Carmichael, Mayor Ed Lanier, footballers Art Weiner, Huck (Irving) Holdash, and prominent New York playwright Charles Ginsberger who will fly here for the festivities.

Home Clubs Elect Prexy

Mrs. W. K. Cuyler of Durham was elected chairman of the 14th District Federation of Home Demonstration Clubs at a district meet which drew up to 500 delegates to the University of North Carolina today.

The district takes in Wake, Chatham, Orange and Durham counties.

As chairman Mrs. Cuyler will represent the entire Northwest District of Home Demonstration Clubs at the international congress in Copenhagen, Denmark, next September. Representing her at the national meeting in Gulfport, Miss., in September, will be the first vice-chairman, Mrs. Hart.

Reports were made from the four counties on work done during the past year in such fields as citizenship, music, education and community education.

FPG Manager

RALEIGH, April 6—Worth B. Folger of Sparta has accepted the appointment as manager of Senator Frank Graham's campaign in Alleghany County, State Campaign Manager Jeff D. Johnson, Jr. announced today. Folger is the son of B. F. Folger of Dobson, Surry County.

Legislature Gets Measure On Elections

Special Session Will Be Called To Consider Bill

By Roife Neill

In a short session lasting only 45 minutes, the Legislature last night attended to routine business and prepared for a special session Tuesday to consider changes in the election laws.

Speaker Ted Leonard appointed Gene Shaw, Ed Loe, and Harry Horton to a committee to meet with representatives from the Graham Memorial Board of Directors to set up a permanent Planning Commission for a new student union building. Horton is to serve as chairman of the group which will include Ben James, Pete Gerns and Dean Bill Friday from the Graham Memorial Board.

Leonard said if Tuesday's meeting did not conclude discussion and voting on the election laws changes, Thursday night's regular session would be devoted to it. Also scheduled for Thursday's meeting is the budget for the coming fiscal year.

There is a possibility of another session week after next to work on changes in the by-laws, Leonard said.

Bootsie Lyons was appointed secretary until the new legislators are sworn in. J. K. Richardson, regular secretary, has moved into a town district and will not be able to assume her position until then.

CICA, TGA Make Rope For Maypole

Ninety-six feet of rope are going to be covered with multi-colored crepe paper flowers Monday night by the members of CICA and Town Girls Association.

The girls will get together at 7 o'clock in the Town Girls Room in the YMCA to make 16 garlands six feet long for the traditional garland dance, which will be a part of the May Day pageant on May 7.

The dance will be performed by Ruth Price's Folk Dance Group, when the identity of the May Queen, who was chosen by secret ballot several weeks ago, is revealed at her crowning in the Forest Theater.

Career Meet Set To Hear Mag Editor

Panel Discussion Set At 10 O'Clock In Faculty Lounge

Miss Mary Campbell, Job Editor of Glamour Magazine who spoke to coeds at a special Careers Conference in the Faculty Lounge of the Morehead Building last night, will take part in a panel discussion at 10 o'clock this morning.

The panel discussion, which will feature five career women, will be held in the Faculty Lounge.

Miss Twig Branch, former personnel adviser to women in Dean Katherine Carmichael's office, will lead the discussion. Others taking part in it will be Miss Campbell, Miss Dorothy McCuskey, Miss Margaret Barrow and Miss Anne Garrett.

During the two-day conference, job literature has been on display in the Faculty Lounge for the benefit of women who are graduating in June and are interested in learning what type jobs are available.

The literature was collected by Miss Betsy Parker of the University Placement Service.

Mina Lamar is chairman of the YWCA-Coed Senate committee which is sponsoring the conference. Also on the committee are Miss Gay Currie of the YWCA, Mrs. Betty Denny of the Dean of Women's Office, Midge Parker of the Placement Service, Jane Faison, Wuff Newell, J. K. Richardson, Ellen Rixey, Susan Trumbo, Effie Westerveldt, and Sally Cox.

Today's panel discussion will close the conference.

lands will be under the direction of Louise Walker, CICA representative to the May Day Committee, Janet Ellington, President of TGA and Hilda Pekarsky, Chairman of the props committee. Co-sponsoring May Day with CICA are the Pan-Hellenic Council, and Chi Delta Phi, women's literary society.

Y' Officers Vote Casting Ends Today

Deadline Is 4:30 For All Ballots; Polls In YMCA

The deadline for ballots on next year's YMCA officers is 4:30 this afternoon, John Eason, chairman of the Y Nominating Committee said yesterday. The poll, located in the Y office, will close promptly at that hour.

A. C. Mangum and Ed McLeod are candidates for the presidency, and Charlie Bartlett and Al Milledge are running for vice-president. Vying for the secretary position are Jack Prince and Jim McIntyre, and Rod Glasgow and Bill Hogshead are treasurer candidates.

To fill two vacancies on the Advisory Board, the nominating committee named William Po-teat of the Philosophy Department and Donald Hayman of the Institute of Government. Po-teat is a past General Secretary of the Y and Hayman has been active on the board of the Wesley Foundation.

The student candidates have all been members of the YMCA Cabinet during the past year. McLeod has been chairman of the Membership Committee and Mangum served as treasurer. Bartlett was co-chairman of the Montreat Conference and Milledge has held several chairmanships throughout the year.

Orientation Train Meets Are Planned

Plans for a training school for prospective orientation counselors were announced yesterday by a special committee formed to make them.

A series of three lectures will be held. The first is scheduled for Monday night in Hill Hall at 7:30. Former student body president Jess Dedmond and Dean of Students Bill Friday will give a joint lecture.

Harry Sherrill, chairman of the Orientation Committee, said the training program will be concerned with the problems of orientation counseling. Monday night the problem to be discussed is morale.

"All men who are interested in being orientation counselors should attend the lectures," Sherrill said. "Attendance does not assure a student of a job as counselor." (See ORIENTATION, page 4)

Music Recital Set Tuesday

A chamber music recital featuring music for small ensembles will be presented by the Department of Music Tuesday night at 8:30 in Hill Hall.

The program will feature several members of the Department of Music as soloists, Earl Slocum, flutist, will play Kent Kennan's "Night Soliloquy" for flute and strings and the Beethoven Trio Serenade in D Major, for flute, Violin, and Viola.

Herbert Livingston will be heard in the piano part of the "Concerto Grosso" for piano and strings by Ernest Bloch.

The major work on the program will be the Ravel "Introduction and Allegro" for harp, string, quartet, flute, and clarinet. Miss Dulcie Dimmette Barlow, harpist, will be joined by the University String Quartet, Slocum, flutist, and Allen Garrett, clarinetist, for this performance.

The concert is sponsored by the Department of Music and is open to the public without charge.

Candidates Give Statements; Jones, Hauser Ask Big Vote

Ed Candidates Issue Remarks For Runoff

DTH Job Seekers Make Assurances Against Mudding

Chuck Hauser and Graham Jones, University Party and independent candidates for the editorship of the Daily Tar Heel, yesterday asked that a large vote turn out in Tuesday's runoff election to decide the DTH editor and the president of the student body.

"My campaign strategy," Jones said, "is simply to try to get out the vote so that the real majority of the students will decide who they want to edit their paper."

Hauser commented, "This newspaper operates on a $45,000 budget, and at least half of that is paid in the form of involuntary subscriptions by students. For that reason they have the right and privilege to select the editor of their paper each year. I hope everyone takes advantage of that right and privilege."

Jones' statement continued, "The past six days have proved conclusively that the most important question to be decided by the students in this campaign is how they want the Daily Tar Heel run. I have said nothing against my opponent, I have tried to conduct a clean campaign and I certainly will go nothing politically to hurt our respect for one another."

Hauser also cited the clean campaign in the runoff editorship race.

"I am convinced," he said, "that Graham will wage nothing but a positive campaign, and I will continue to do the same. There is no need to inject raise issues and misleading statements into a political battle to get support. The voters will make their decision on the basis of truth and the facts they know of the candidates concerned."

Jones said he appreciated the support from Bill Kelam, third-running candidate on the first ballot. He continued, "I have said from the beginning that I do not pretend to know all there is to know about the newspaper business. I can only put out the kind of paper Carolina deserves through the cooperation of the student body, student government leaders and the staff."

Hauser, present DTH Managing Editor and staff-backed candidate for the editorship, indicated. (See DTH, page 4)

'Most Distasteful'

Car Restriction Bill Defeated By Di Senate

The Senate of the Dialectic Literary Society overwhelmingly defeated a bill to restrict freshmen, sophomores and juniors from keeping cars in Chapel Hill at a regular meeting Wednesday night in New West.

A final vote on the bill showed that three senators favored passage of this bill and 20 were against it. There was one abstention from the voting. A vote of the senators and guests showed a 23-3 vote against passage of the measure.

The measure, "Resolved that certain students be prohibited from having automobiles at the University of North Carolina" was presented by Senator Joe

Selby Issues Thanks Note, Takes No Side

Independent Says Past Vote Battle Was 'Most Lively'

Toby Selby, third-high candidate in Tuesday's race for the student body presidency, took no stands on the runoff in a statement yesterday as he thanked those who supported him.

"My heartfelt thanks to those who supported me," Selby said. "It was one of the most lively and colorful campaigns ever waged on this campus."

In not supporting either of the candidates in next Tuesday's runoff, Selby commented "may the best man win." He assured "the man who comes in first" that he would be "willing to serve the students and student government in any way that he sees fit."

Selby, who garnered 558 votes Tuesday, said he knew that "Everyone of those persons who were actively engaged in the campaign enjoyed it and even in the throes of defeat, we can still smile and say—it was a good try."

Running as an independent, Selby ran third to University Party nominee Don VanNoppen and Student Party candidate John Sanders.

Chest Letter Will Go Out To Pledgers

Students who made pledges to the Campus Chest will receive a letter Monday night reminding them of the amount pledged and the date the pledges are due, Chest Treasurer Ted Fussell said yesterday.

"We have already collected a lot of the pledges," Fussell said, "but there are several hundred dollars still unpaid." The deadline for payment of Chest pledges is April 15, and students are asked to clear their names from the ledger before that date.

Payments should be mailed in cash or checks to the Campus Chest, P. O. Box 1058, Chapel Hill. "It is very important that students give their address, as well as their name, and the fact that it is a Chest pledge payment," Fussell said.

Both Re-Affirm Old Platforms In Prexy Race

Two Parties Get Runoff Campaigns Into High Gear

By Roy Parker, Jr.
Swinging their campaigns for a runoff victory into high gear, presidential candidates John Sanders and Don VanNoppen both issued platform statements yesterday, essentially re-asserting previous stands.

Sanders, Student Party candidate who was second in Tuesday's voting, citing his record of service to student government, said "the office of president demands of its occupant a wide knowledge and experience in all phases of student government, coupled with a firm determination to work ceaselessly for the betterment of student life."

"My decision to run," Sanders said, "came from a sincere desire to bring to that office such experience as I have gained as acting president last summer, as Attorney-General, as a legislator, and in the other capacities in which I have had the opportunity of serving my fellow students."

VanNoppen, University Party candidate who ran first in Tuesday's four-way battle, asserted "in entering the race for the presidency, I assured the campus and my opponents that I would wage a clean, constructive campaign and work for the good of student government. I have every intention of abiding by that promise."

Assuring voters that he would continue to campaign on the basis of his previously-announced platform, UP candidate VanNoppen asserted he would continue to seek full participation in, and economic operation of, student government, "working at all times for the welfare of the students."

Sanders said he would seek installation of the National Students Association-backed purchase card system, a general modernization of the campus courts system, improved and expanded recreation facilities, and improved orientation program, and several other programs "aimed at the improvement of the life of everyone on the campus."

VanNoppen said he wanted, if elected, to provide more adequate recreation for dormitory residents, to seek a solution to the current parking "impasse," to expand the student entertainment series, to give student a voice in the selection of such programs, and to bring about more satisfactory seating arrangements at football games.

He also said he would "strive to be effective and representative agent of student opinion in all relations with the administration and with the trustees."

Sanders said that "the coming year will be one of extraordinary significance in the history of UNC, and particularly student government, and a year" (See CANDIDATES, page 4)

Easter Egg Hunt

Phi Delta Theta Fraternity will hold its annual Easter Egg Monday afternoon at the house, home.

Some 30 children from the Christian Orphanage at Elon College, Elon, will arrive at 4 o'clock to be guests of the Phi and their housemother, Mrs. W. B. Tanner.

Refreshments will be served and entertainment has been planned. Harry Buchanan is in charge of arrangements.
