THIS IS THE U.S. SUBMARINE PICKEREL which remained under water 21 days on a 5,200 mile cruise from Hong Kong, China, to Pearl Harbor. Naval officers said it is the longest under-sea run they had ever heard of, but they didn't claim a record. The Pickerel was commanded on the cruise by Commander Paul R. Schratz (right) of Pittsburgh. The long stay under water was made possible by a "Snorkel" device.

Presidency, DTH Editor Are Decided

Student Party, Independent Are Winners In Vote

By Roy Parker, Jr.
John Sanders, senior from Four Oaks, became president of the student body and Graham Jones, junior from Winston-Salem, became editor of the Daily Tar Heel in yesterday's runoff election.

Sanders, Student Party candidate for the top campus job, beat University Party nominee Don VanNoppen 1,508 votes to 1,051.

Defeated DTH editor candidate Chuck Hauser, in a statement last night conceding to winning candidate Graham Jones, wished Jones luck and promised "to cooperate in any way he desires to give the student body a good Daily Tar Heel."

"I wish Graham all the luck in the world in the hard year ahead of him as editor," he said.

"I hope the staff will give him their wholehearted support in fulfilling his duties. I think the job is the most important single function in Carolina student government and I am sure energy to it."

"Graham and I have been friends throughout the campaign. I hope we will continue to be friends, and I will cooperate with him in any way he desires to give the student body a good Daily Tar Heel for the coming year."

Jones, running independently for the DTH post, beat Chuck Hauser, UP candidate, by a whopping 1,702 votes to 874. The polls were closed.

He also thanked candidates VanNoppen, Toby Selby, and Joe Borello for waging a "clean" campaign. Selby and Borello were independent candidates who were eliminated in last week's election.

VanNoppen, in a statement, extended congratulations to Sanders, and to "those who gave untiringly their energies in my behalf during the campaign."

He asserted that he hoped the interest created in student government during the campaign "would not be allowed to wane," and declared: "It is very vital to our system of self-government that we have an interested, participating student body. The opportunity for such a group is at hand. I hope it is not allowed to slip from our grasp."

Sanders, who ran second to VanNoppen last week, carried seven of 12 districts yesterday, including all dormitory districts but one, one town district, and both coed dorm precincts.

Jones, who also ran second to Hauser in last week's balloting, came through in every district except Town Men's 4 and Town Women's.

Nine Women Take Office In Large Vote

Nine coeds won campus posts in the runoff balloting yesterday. Six were defeated in the largest runoff turnout in University history.

In balloting—among the coeds—for seats on the Woman's Honor Council, Sally Cox (218) and Toodie Sikes (183) won at-large seats. Judy Sanford (233), Jean Bloom (217) and Mary Wood (210) won junior seats. Princess Stellings (175) was defeated for the at-large post, Rosalie Varn (197) for the junior post.

Kash Davis (186) beat Peggy Wood (161) for the Coed Senate speakership. Dot Teague (186) beat Nina Norvell (133) for the vice-presidency of the Woman's Athletic Association.

In races for Student Legislature seats in two coed precincts, independent Fay Masengil (66) beat UP candidate Anne Campbell (43) in dorm 2 and Carolyn Stallings (Ind-105) beat Eovalyn Harrison (UP-72) in dorm 1.

Total vote in the runoff was 2,550, with clear skies aiding a record runoff turnout. Election Board officials had the total tabulated within three hours after polls were closed.

Claims Clash About Plane Over Latvia

LONDON, April 11—(AP)—Moscow reported today a U.S. bomber disappeared over the Baltic Sea Saturday—the day an American Navy patrol plane vanished with 10 aboard—after entering Russian territory and exchanging fire with a Soviet fighter.

High defense officials in Washington indicated they believed the Navy plane, unarmed, is the aircraft to which the Russians referred. A four-engine Privateer, it dropped out of sight after leaving Wiesbaden, Germany, on a round trip flight to Denmark.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky protested that a U.S. bomber of the Super Fortress type flew over Latvia that day and opened fire on a group of Soviet fighters that went up and ordered it to land. Vishinsky said one fighter returned the fire, "after which the American plane turned towards the sea and disappeared."

The Defense Department in Washington issued statements by Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, Air Force Chief of Staff, denying any Air Force plane was involved, and by Adm. Forrest P. Sherman, Chief of Naval Operations, stating the missing Navy plane carried no guns and was under standing orders to stay well clear of Russian territory.

Sherman said the patrol plane, therefore, "could not have fired on any other aircraft or returned the fire of any aircraft."

U.S. Air Force officials at Wiesbaden said they knew of no change in the search area as a result of the Russian announcement, but the searchers will fly in "ever widening circles" from the Baltic island of Bornholm, which would take them gradually nearer to Russian territory.

They speculated the Navy plane may have been shot down or disabled so it could not reach a safe landing.

Walter Anderson, director of the State Bureau of Investigation, made the report today after ballistics tests were made on the weapon.

George Lemuel Bennett, Jr., of Ansonville, was shot to death.

The Interdormitory Council said yesterday it would strictly enforce a rule forbidding the keeping of firearms in dormitories.

The announcement came as the result of the murder of student George L. Bennett here Easter weekend. The killing was in a private home, however.

The Council said in a statement that it understood the interfraternity council would pass a similar rule next week concerning firearms in fraternity houses.

last Friday afternoon at the private home where he roomed in Chapel Hill.

Soon afterward, a warrant was sworn out by Chapel Hill police charging Len Broughton Smithey, 30, with murder. Smithey, a (See BENNETT page 4)

Tryouts Set In Stadium At 4 Today

Tryouts for the 1950 cheering squad will begin this afternoon at 4 o'clock in Kenan Stadium, Head Cheerleader Joe Chambliss said yesterday.

To be chosen are two 10-man squads, one for freshman contests, another for varsity. Chambliss, who took over the top yell job from Norm Sper last week, emphasized that experience was not necessary to try out.

"All we will do for the first couple of days," Chambliss said, "is learn the yells that will be employed."

Actual picking of the squads will start later this week. Chambliss said the squads had to be ready for the Blue-White intrasquad football game on May 6, when they will make their debut, along with UNC's 1950 gridiron crew.

Chambliss, who was elected to the head cheerleader job in last Tuesday's election, has said he intends to institute a revamped schedule of yells and make yelling more snappy.

New Election Laws Adopted In Last Legislature Meeting

By Rolfe Neill

The Legislature last night in special session unanimously passed revised General Election Laws, and Speaker Ted Leonard cancelled the regular meeting scheduled for tomorrow night because "of a lack of business."

With only a bare quorum present, 23, the law making body spent some two hours debating and amending the 13 articles brought from the Elections Committee by Chairman Sheldon Plager.

Instead of tomorrow's meeting, another special session has been scheduled for Tuesday night at 7:30. The budget, which was to have been taken up tomorrow night, has not been received from the Budget Committee, according to Finance Committee Chairman Ben James. James said it would be "Tuesday at the earliest" before the bill is ready for legislative consideration.

Few major changes are involved in the new laws. A proposed section which would have permitted duly elected legislators to change their residences to another district and still remain in the legislature was defeated.

Parliamentarian Dave Sharpe read a decision by the Student Council which declared the section unconstitutional. The Constitution specifies legislators must reside in the districts from which they are elected.

An outgrowth of spring elections brought an amendment which forbids that "no person shall station any sound mechanism within hearing distance of the polls for the purpose of advancing the interests of any candidate."
