Dr. LaBarre To Be Guest Here Tonight

Dr. Weston La Barre of Duke University, noted anthropologist and specialist in the analysis of the Peyote cult and culture and personality studies among the Indians of Latin America and the peoples of Japan, will be the guest speaker of a jointly sponsored meeting of the Anthropology Club and Alpha Psi Delta fraternity tonight at 7:30.

The session is to be held in 407 Alumni Building and the public is invited.

Dr. LaBarre's subject will be "The Nature of Human Nature."

Phi Delt's Honor Orphans At Hunt

Phi Delta Theta Fraternity held its annual Easter Egg hunt for a group of orphans at its house Monday afternoon.

Some 30 children from the Christian Orphanage at Elon College, Elon, were guests of the Phi and their housemother, Mrs. W. B. Tanner. Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Truitt and a matron of the school were chaperons for the children.

After hunting for eggs hidden in the yard about the house, the children were awarded prizes. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served also.

Harry Buchanan was in charge of arrangements for the hunt.

The children's ages ranged from three to 10 years.

Police Had Busy Time For Easter

The local police force really had a time of it over the past weekend.

Following the tragic Good Friday slaying of George Bennett and prior to the subsequent suicide of Len Smithey, the Chapel Hill police were kept busy with the usual run of things—reckless drivers, public nuisances, and the like.

One of the most interesting sidelights on the weekend of crime, however, was the theft of an automobile from in front of the Chi Psi Lodge on West Cameron Avenue.

Tom Clayton of Roxboro left the Chi Psi house at approximately 11:15 to take his date home, but when he went for his car he found it missing. He returned to the house, accused some of his fraternity brothers of playing a practical joke on him, and when all pleaded innocent, walked his date home and called the Police Department.

The gendarmes went to work on the case, and reported the car found about 6:30 the following morning. After rousing Clayton out of bed, a policeman drove him to a place approximately two miles out of Carboro where they found the car, a 1947 tan Plymouth coupe.

The right side had been side-swiped and both the fenders on that side were smashed. A closer inspection revealed that the two rear tires, the front seat, and the battery were missing. A total of approximately $150 worth of damage was done.

each afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock.

Only students who accept the invitations in person will be initiated.

Watching them work on the stand, listening to their expert backing of the Monroe baritone on records, and talking to them in person, one gets the impression that these girls aren't just talking for publication.

They're getting a big boot out of singing with the country's top band attraction. As a result they give it every ounce of their energy and talent.
