Jr. Class Day Slates Meet Monday Night

Shirt-Tail Day In Final Stage, To Be April 28

The officers of the Junior Class will meet Monday night at 9 o'clock in Roland Park Lounge 1 to discuss final plans for the class straw hat and shirt-tail day set for the Spring Germans weekend, April 28-29.

President Ned Dowd yesterday said an committee should be prepared to make reports. He invited an interested persons to attend.

All juniors will be asked to wear straw hats to class with their shirt-tails out on Friday, April 28. Dowd pointed out, "This was innovated this year to correspond to the seniors' Barefoot Day."

Hogan's Lake will be the scene of a picnic beginning at 10 o'clock Saturday morning. The holiday is scheduled to run late into the evening, with refreshments—barbecue, hush puppies, and cold drinks—served free.

Dick Bunting and Frank Hooper are in charge of the recreational activities. Softball, horseshoes, volleyball, swimming, and other games have been planned, they said.

Straw hats, badges of the class fling, will be sold by the Junior committee at Lenior Hall and the YMCA. All third-year students are urged by Dowd and the committee to take part in the activity, in order that it may become a traditional event, comparable to the senior barefoot blow-out.

Dowd said that most juniors were enthusiastic about the plans put forward so far. Dowd, who is also president-elect of the senior class, has been working on the project since he took over the class reins.

UNC, Duke Will Sponsor DP Meeting

Carolina and Duke faculty members will be on hand to answer questions, give brief addresses, and interpret the various languages. Both universities are sponsoring the conference which is the first of its kind in the state.

According to Emmanuel M. Gitlin of Duke, chairman, the program is being "carefully geared to the problems and the questions of the D. P.'s and their sponsors. This is just what these people have been wanting. There will be no registration charge and refreshments will be free. Children will be entertained in a separate room with games and movies, and following the program there will be a social hour so that everyone will be able to get acquainted."

Joyce Richert Is Chosen 1950 'Miss Modern Venus'

By Wuff Newell

Joyce Richert, blonde Pi Beta Phi from Raleigh, was acclaimed Miss Modern Venus of 1950 at the sixth annual Sigma Chi Derby yesterday afternoon in Kenan Stadium.

Joyce won not only the votes of the judges but also the loudly-voiced approval of the several hundred men who braved the cold weather to see the afternoon's activities.

Arden Boisseau, Delta Delta Delta, placed second in the contest. Chi Omega Elynn Pell and Alpha Delta Pi Jackie Merritt tied for third place.

The cold weather failed to harm the spirits of the girls from the seven participating coed organizations, and each group put up a fight until the end.

Overall winner was Pi Beta Phi sorority with 22 points. Second place went to Alpha Delta Pi sorority, which had 21 points. The Stray Greeks and Chi Omega sorority with 14 points each tied for third place.

Other groups in the Derby were CICA with nine points, Alpha Gamma Delta with eight and Delta Delta with eight.

The winners were presented loving cups.

The Derby got underway a little after 3 o'clock with a banana-eating contest entitled National Claiming. The other races followed in close order with coeds doing everything from carrying live goldfish in their bare hands to digging in a 75 pound barrel of flour for a hidden key.

Sigma Chi Ben Tyson scored the upset of the afternoon when he thoroughly plastered the face and hair of Chi Omega Ellen Turlington with chocolate pie and flour after she had won the pie throwing contest.

It was difficult to determine, however, who was the most entertaining—the contestants or the masters of ceremonies Norm Sper and Mark Barker. They kept up a line of chatter the entire time and kept the crowd in high spirits.

Robert Bock received the biggest surprise of the day when he was presented with a box of dusting powder from the Chapel Hill Merchants Association. It was one of the 30 door prizes given during the afternoon.

Two Czechs To Be Given Prison Terms

WASHINGTON, April 14—(AP)—The United States accused Communist Czechoslovakia today of launching a "deliberately planned propaganda attack" against the American official information service in Prague.

A statement by the State Department denounced Czech spy charges against the U. S. Information Service as "demonstrably false."

Two Czechs, former employees of the information service which is operated by the U. S. embassy, were sentenced yesterday to long prison terms for spreading hostile propaganda and supplying state secrets to the embassy press chief.

Earlier, the State Department noted, the Czech regime circulated widely statements attributed to two former embassy employees who had been held by security police.

"The U.S.I.S. activities in Czechoslovakia," the State Department said, carries on "activities departing in no way from those which nations are accustomed to regard as a normal and legitimate function in diplomatic relations and in the maintenance of friendly contact between countries throughout the world."

And There They Go!

'Darby Day' Attracts Over 100 'Fillies'; Realistic Surroundings Add Interest

By Don Maynard

It was "Darby Day" at Kenan Memorial Stadium as over 100 strong fillies from the Carolina Coed Stables vied for win, place and show at the annual Sigma Chi Derby.

High-spirited, all the mares pranced and clamped at their bits as head handler Norm Sper, formerly of cheerleader fame, read off the colors and blueblood entries.

As each stable was introduced, the fillies whinnied and the stands cheered. It was a banner day. The setting was the green grass of Kenan against the warm, blue skies of Carolina. The skies were blue, and so were the spectators' noses by the time the Derby had reached its climax, the crowning of Miss Modern Venus.

No bugler was available to herald the first feature on the card, the banana race, but Charles Ginsberger, renowned New York playwright, saved the face of the day by parading and serenading with his bagpipes. Ginsberger, a mystery celebrity—no one knew exactly who he was or what his strain—paraded at the head of the procession of mares which began at the Chapel Hill High School.

On hand as official timekeepers and judges of form were Art Weiner, Huck Holdash, Dean of Students Bill Friday, Dean of Women Katherine Carmichael and the most celebrated cimnitycoon of them all, E. Carrington Smith.

The stands cheered as the blinders were placed on the mares' muzzles for the first event. And they cheered when they were taken off. As a matter of fact, as one sports fan put it, (See DARB, page 4)

Job-Seekers To Hear Talk By Buffington

Address Is Set For Monday Night In Bingham Hall

"What the Employer Looks For in Selecting College Graduates" will be the subject of a talk Monday at 8 o'clock in 103 Bingham Hall by Carl Buffington of the Personnel Department of the Vick Chemical Company. Students who hope to enter business after college are urged to attend.

Buffington will be introduced by Professor Richard Calhoun of the School of Commerce. Representatives of several departments of the Vick Chemical Company will participate in an informal discussion following the main talk.

According to Joe Galloway, Director of the Placement Service, "Our students are finding jobs hard to get. There are jobs to be had, but the large number of persons graduating each quarter is making competition much keener than in the past."

Moscow Talk Between Lie, Stalin Seen

LAKE SUCCESS, April 14—(AP)—Secretary-General Trygve Lie will talk with high Russian leaders, perhaps even Prime Minister Stalin, in Moscow next month if Lie feels at that time a Kremlin conference can help the hard-pressed United Nations.

Lie told his weekly news conference today he would talk about all the big problems facing the world and the U. N. if he finally decides to go to Moscow. But the top-priority question, and the issue most likely influencing his decision to seek a conference in Moscow, is China's representation in the U. N.

Stalin's U. N. delegate, Deputy Foreign Minister Jakob A. Malik, is boycotting meetings here because U. N. organs refuse to oust Nationalist China and make room for the Stalin-backed regime of Red China.

Lie feels the Russian boycott and the general attitude caused by the Soviet action is serious and that he must do everything he can to restore normal relations in the U. N.

Lie recently talked briefly with U. S. Assistant Secretary of State Dean Rusk in Washington. Lie plans to talk in London and Paris with western foreign ministers or their top assistants. And his trip to Moscow—if he finally goes—will cap the round of the big four capitals.

Reports by the Associated Press two days ago that Lie was thinking about going to Moscow were discounted by U. N. spokesmen then, although Lie himself said he had not ruled out such a visit on his trip to Europe starting from New York April 22.

Damage Cost

The Thursday night fire that destroyed a contractor's shed at the medical school and hospital site caused damage estimated at $4,500, officials of the electrical contracting firm which owned the shed said yesterday.

The razed structure contained supplies and electrical equipment being used on the construction of the new buildings. Its loss will not slow up work, however, since the company has enough supplies and equipment on hand at the library addition site to make up for the loss.

No cause for the fire has yet been uncovered. It started at approximately 8:30 Thursday night.

Gen. Bradley Predicts Big N. Atlantic Forces

CHICAGO, April 14—(AP)—Gen. Omar Bradley said today the United States may have to sacrifice a bit of sovereignty and furnish North Atlantic area defense a navy or air force greater than "we would normally be willing to provide."

Thus, he said, it may become necessary in future years to upset the theory of a balanced army, navy and air force, and to tie the size of each unit to the joint defense plans of North Atlantic nations.

The possibility arises from a suggestion by a small nation that a central body within the Atlantic Treaty framework should decide how fast and how much each nation's armed forces must be expanded, he said.

"Traditions will have to give way to reality," Bradley declared. "We must accept the more difficult alternative" as worth while.

Bradley is chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff. He did not name the small nation or say what was done about the suggestion.

He addressed more than 1,000 Chicago business leaders, including Charles G. Dawes, former vice president, at a luncheon of the executives club.

Later, answering a question from the audience, he said Alaska is a weak spot in American defense, but "undercover agents" are the greatest menace to U. S. security.

Wild Spring Causes Loss In Millions

By The Associated Press

Power-mad spring is on one of her worst binges of modern times.

Flexing her unladylike muscles, she took a multi-million dollar swipe Friday at peach buds and strawberry blossoms, dumped snow on ball parks that just opened for the season and froze up earth that should be feeling the bite of the gardener's spade or the roll of a golf ball.

All time records for cold this late in the spring tumbled in seven states—Missouri, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Georgia, Alabama and New York. Spring fever gave way to spring shivers in the east, mid-west and south.

The Army and Air Force rushed weasels to North Dakota to reach families and cattle isolated by snow and ice.

Spring's Jekyll-Hyde antics sent the mercury plunging to zero in Bemidji, Minn., and to 10 above in the Pennsylvania mountain area. The freeze line dipped into South Carolina, northern Georgia, northern Alabama, northern Arkansas and Kansas.

'Moonface' And His Moonshine

Feds Arrest KC Mobster In Haul On Illegal Booze

KANSAS CITY, April 14—(AP)—The government moved today against Kansas City's underworld, seizing a thousand cases of contraband liquor and arresting Charles (Moonface) Carollo, a former gangland chief and Charles Binaggio's predecessor as north side political boss.

E. E. Ahlfeldt, head of the Federal Alcohol Tax Unit here and close friend of President Truman, and a dozen of his agents took Carollo and three other men by surprise as they were unloading a truck of whisky.

The spot was just a mile from the Truman Road Democratic Club headquarters where Binag-gio and his top henchman, Charles Gargotta, were slain a week ago. Binaggio took over the northside when the government sent Carollo to prison in 1939.

Ahlfeldt, who often holds chili dinners for the President on his trips here, estimated the value of the contraband liquor at between $45,000 and $50,000.

Also arrested in the raid on the two-story frame house on Kansas City's north side were Tony (Stringbean) Marcella, Sam Tor-torice and Mike Arnone. Government agents, on the raid, said the home was that of Arnone, identified by them as Carollo's son-in-law.
