Parker Named ME; Solons To Consider Budget Tonight

Robbins Sports Ed

Editor-Elect Jones Names New Staff;
Neill, Newell, Maynard Get Ed Posts

Roy Parker, Jr., sophomore from Ahoskie, was named Managing Editor, and Zane Robbins, sophomore from Winston-Salem, was named Sports Editor of the Daily Tar Heel yesterday by Editor-elect Graham Jones.

The appointments of Rolfe Neill as News Editor, Wuff Newell as Society Editor, and Don Maynard as Feature Editor were also announced.

The new ME is a two-year veteran of DTH work, serving before appointment as News Editor, and as Managing Editor of the summer Tar Heel last summer.

Robbins has also been on the campus daily two years, serving last year on the sports staff and recently as Desk editor. He is a member of the Publications board.

Parker replaces Chuck Hauser, Robbins replaces Buddy Vaden.

In a statement yesterday, Parker promised "general improvement in both coverage and content" of the DTH and issued a call for new staffers.

"As is the case every spring," Parker said, "the DTH staff is down to a bare working minimum, and there are several desk and reporter jobs open to qualified newsmen, or women."

In announcing the appointments Editor-elect Jones, who will be sworn in at inauguration ceremonies tonight, asserted, "I believe the two men chosen for the top positions, and the other staff appointees, are the best available persons for the jobs, and am sure they will render excellent service in top DTH jobs."

Giles, Wife To Represent University

Dr. I. V. Giles, alumnus of the University, will represent the University on April 29 at the inauguration of Harold Wellington Richardson as president of Franklin College of Indiana.

By coincidence, Mrs. Giles has been asked to represent her alma mater, the Woman's College on the same occasion.

Dr. Giles, who is chief chemist of the Barbasol Co. of Indianapolis, Ind., received the B.S. Degree in Chemical Engineering in 1918 here, remaining to take the M.S. degree in 1920 and the Ph.D. in 1922. Mrs. did graduate study at the University of Chicago and here.

Bridge Group Sets Meeting

The weekly Graham Memorial Bridge Tournament will meet tonight at 7:30 in the Horace William Main Lounge. Prizes will be awarded and refreshments served.

Anyone interested in bridge is invited to attend and it is open to all whether amateur or regular players. This is a regular Tuesday night feature on the Graham Memorial series of entertainments.

Brush Fire

The Chapel Hill Fire Department was called out yesterday afternoon at 5:30 to fight a brush fire, the fourth in as many days, which broke out in a wooded gully near North Street.

Aided by townspeople and the Fire Patrol of the Chapel Hill Boy Scouts, the firemen brought the blaze under control after a smoky half-hour in which it burnt over half an acre of land owned by Obie Davis and Collier Cobb.

JAN PEERCE

Peerce's Son Says Father 'Dad First'

By Charlie Brewer
"He has always been Dad first and singer second," Larry Peerce, son of Metropolitan Opera star Jan Peerce, said yesterday.

Larry is now majoring in dramatic art at the University of North Carolina where his father is scheduled to appear in concert on Thursday night under the auspices of the Student Entertainment Committee.

When asked why he chose the University for continuing his education, Larry answered that he "had always heard a great deal about dramatics at Carolina, and was particularly influenced by the strong recommendation of my father's good friend, Norman Cordon."

"I am having a wonderful time here, and like the people and school very much. It is quite an experience," he confessed, "as I have never been below the Mason-Dixon before."

Larry stated that he is expecting his Mother, Father and his accompanist to arrive on Wednesday. "I imagine that we will have a little celebration that night," he hinted, "as the date of their arrival coincides with my 20th birthday."

Inquiring about plans for his career, Larry said that he plans "to go on with dramatics, although I don't know which branch, yet."

"I love to go to the opera, and go now as much from habit as anything else now, I guess. Like Dad, I enjoy almost any type of good music—from jazz to long-hair."

New Office Holders To Take Oath Tonight

By Rolfe Neill
The legislature will recess at 8:30 tonight from its budget meeting—for a new campus administration to be inaugurated in the Di Hall of

Old West Building. Halting in its financial business long enough to enable outgoing student body president Bill Mackie and outgoing Student Council president Dan Bell to swear in 37 office holders, the legislature will reconvene and finish the budget. Then 27 new legislators will be sworn in.

The incoming campus officers were elected in April 4's general election and the ensuing runoff on the next Tuesday.

Mackie yesterday said there will be little speech making, keeping the ceremony brief. He said plans are being made for the annual Frank Porter Graham Student Government Banquet to be held in the Carolina Inn April 27.

Officers slated to make short addresses are incoming president John Sanders, incoming vice president and legislature speaker Herb Mitchell, and Kash Davis, incoming speaker of the Coed Senate. The other top student body officer to be inaugurated is Banks Talley, secretary-treasurer.

Women's Honor Council members Jean Bloom, Sally Cox, Judy Sanford, and Mary Wood.

W. T. POLK

Fleece Tapping Set For Monday Night

The Order of the Golden Fleece, highest men's honorary organization, will conduct its 47th annual tapping of new members Monday night, April 24, at 7:45 in Memorial Hall.

W. T. Polk, Editor of the Greensboro Daily News, and member of the class of 1917, will address a private banquet for the newly tapped and old members to be held in the Carolina Inn following the ritual.

Following the tapping, the annual Valkyrie Sing will be held.

Polk, himself a member of the Golden Fleece and a Phi Beta Kappa graduate, left the University in 1917 and attended the Columbia School of Journalism. From Columbia, he went to the Harvard Law School.

A Warrington lawyer, and then Warrington mayor in 1920, Polk left the mayorality in 1934 to join the staff of the Daily News. He accepted the post of editor in 1941.

While at the University, in addition to membership in the Fleece, Polk was active in the Order of the Gimgoul Omega Delta professional fraternity, and Zeta Psi social fraternity. He served as editor-in-chief of the Daily Tar Heel and assistant editor of the old Carolina Magazine.

In 1930, Polk's name was engraved on the Best Short Stories Roll of Honor for that year. An annual award, Polk's selection was among 20 entered on the roll for that year, being selected from among thousands read by E. J. O'Brien, compiler of the roll.

In its 47 years of existence, the Fleece has tapped 469 outstanding members of the student body, inducting 17 last year. Judge John J. Parker of Charlotte was retapped at the ritual last year, and Dr. Walter Reece Berryhill was the faculty member tapped last spring.

In past years, the Fleece has inducted such outstanding men as the late O. Max Gardner and J. C. B. Ehringhaus, former North Carolina governor; Sen. Frank P. Graham; President-Elect of the Greater University Gordon Gray; Horace Williams and Chancellor of the University at Chapel Hill Robert B. House.

Also on the Fleece rolls are Robert M. Hanes, Pulitzer Boushell, bankers; Thomas Wolfe, author, and Hatcher Hughes, Pulitzer Prize dramatist; Wallace Winborne, Supreme Court Justice; Sheppard Strudwick and James (Kay) Kiser of the movies, radio and television and Thor Johnson, youngest conductor in history of the Cincinnati Symphony orchestra.

June Grads Must Apply For Diplomas

All students who expect to receive degrees in June should immediately see the Dean of the school in which they are registered.

Only students who do this will receive diplomas, June 5, as arrangements for the diplomas must be made at once.

City Planner Speaks Here At Institute

The time will come, perhaps in the near distant future, when every community of any size will have a master plan for development, Hugh R. Pomeroy, distinguished American city planner and director of the Westchester county, N. Y., Department of Planning predicted in an address here yesterday.

Speaking at a luncheon session of the Institute and Workshop on "The Role of Health Agencies in the Community Housing Program," Pomeroy, who is visiting lecturer in the Department of City and Regional Planning of the University, said that in recent years there has been a sharp increase in the number of communities formulating master plans.

He stressed the point that planning projects must have adequate budgets and staffs.

Two From NC Get Honors

NEW YORK, April 17—(AP)—Two North Carolina residents were among the 158 scholars and creative workers named today to receive awards of the John Simon Guggenheim Foundation.

They are Dr. George Willard Wharton, Jr., Associate Professor of Zoology at Duke University, and Peter Hillman Taylor, Assistant Professor of English at Woman's College at the University of North Carolina.

The fellowships are established by the Guggenheim Foundation to permit recipients to pursue work in those chosen fields.

Taylor's project will be creative writing in the field of fiction. He was born in Trenton, Tenn., and attended Southwestern and Vanderbilt Universities, and in 1940 was graduated from Kenyon College.

'Angels Full Front' Author

Francis M. Casey, author of the new play, "Angels Full Front," recently toured throughout North Carolina by the Carolina Playmakers, will be resident playwright and instructor in playwriting at the Parkway Playhouse of the Burnsville School of Fine Arts here this summer.

Special to The Daily Tar Heel BURNVILLE, April 15—Francis M. Casey, author of the new play, "Angels Full Front," recently toured throughout North Carolina by the Carolina Playmakers, will be resident playwright and instructor in playwriting at the Parkway Playhouse of the Burnsville School of Fine Arts here this summer.

His first publication was "The Axe in My Head," a volume of verse, in 1946. Since then his plays "John Shanahan, Me Boy," the announcement, disclosing that the Playhouse will stage one of Casey's new plays as their final production in August.

At present serving as assistant technical director of the Carolina Playmakers, Casey studied at the University of Notre Dame and was an instructor in drama at Williams College, Mass. His home is at Turner's Falls, Mass.

Special Session Set For Money Measure; Fight May Develop

Appropriation Bill Totals $96,772; Debaters, PB Will Seek Adjustments

The 1950-51 campus budget bill—totaling $96,772—will go to the floor of a special session of the Student Legislature tonight, and a stiff battle looms over Debate Council and publications items.

Hooperating Will Awaken Folks Early

The University will become one of four colleges in the nation to conduct a radio appreciation Hooperating survey when 42 volunteers dial seven hundred Chapel Hill numbers this morning.

But the price of glory is expensive. And this morning the poll will be taken at the expense of students' and town-people's sleep. The pollsters will call between 7 and 8:30.

The University takes its position along with Northwestern, Columbia and Michigan State Universities when it determines just how many students and residents of a college town give a "whoop" for radio programs.

Each volunteer will be assigned a page in the telephone directory from which to dial numbers. The callers will ask authentic Hooper questions, compiled by the famous pollster himself, of the called parties.

With this poll, conducted under the auspices of the Radio Department, the University will become the first Southern college to sponsor such a survey. Its purpose is to help radio major graduates select the most popular programs according to public opinion, a radio department spokesman said.

According to the spokesman, the Hooperating is "educational, informative, and entertaining."

But when a sleepy-eyed student answers his dormitory phone early this morning and asks "Well, what's up?" the answer will be "You, brother, you."

Staff Meeting

There will be a DTH staff meeting this afternoon at 2:30. All staff members are required to attend and all students who are interested in working with the paper this year are invited to come to the meeting.

The measure will come out of the Legislature's Finance Committee with $455.45 pared off the Budget Committee's proposed $97,227.45.

Still completely cut from the budget is the Debate Council item. The Council is asked to operate on a surplus of nearly $4,000, but Chairman Dave Pittman yesterday declared the Council believed the cut to be "unwise, unthoughtful and hasty" and said the Council would seek reinstatement of its appropriation at tonight's session.

Publications Board Chairman Chuck Hauser yesterday said he would present facts and figures to the solons seeking reinstatement of several publication items cut from the budget. All three student publications, as well as the Board itself, had budget items reduced by the Finance Committee.

The Legislature is meeting in special session so that the present body will handle the budget bill. It will convene at 7 o'clock, adjourn for the inauguration ceremonies, and reconvene to consider the measure. The swearing in of the new Legislature will be held over until the budget consideration is complete.

Raised above Budget Committee recommendations in the budget bill is the executive department of student government appropriation, the Student Entertainment Committee appropriation, and the Carolina Forum appropriation.

Cut below budget Committee recommendations are appropriations to the legislative and judicial branches of student government, three campus publications and the Publications Board, and the Men's Interdormitory Council and the University Club.

Added to the executive department budget was a $600 appropriation for the National Students Association, and $420 to the Orientation Committee. Its total is $2,075.

The SEC appropriation was raised from $8,685 to $9,185.

Cut were student fee appropriation recommendations for the Publications Board, from $2,528.45 to $2,335, the Yackety-Yack from $26,925 to $26,165, the Daily Tar Heel from $22,425 to $21,900, and Tamation from $4, (See BUDGET, page 4)

Daniels For FPG

RALEIGH, April 17—(AP)—Jonathan Daniels made it clear today he is supporting Senator Frank Graham in the current primary campaign and that he has no intention of resigning as North Carolina's Democratic National Committeeman because of his activity.

"I certainly am not," was Daniels' reply when he was asked if he was going to resign his party post.

"If anybody wants to know, I'm for Frank Graham," was his answer when asked if he is supporting Graham in the race among Graham, Willis Smith and former Senator Robert Rice Reynolds.

"If I ever planned to resign it would not be at a time when the Democratic National Administration is being attacked in this state," said Daniels.
