

MISS JEANNE MITCHELL, violinist of Wilmington and New York, will be presented with the North Carolina Symphony Orchestra in Memorial Hall tomorrow night at 8:30. The orchestra under the direction of Benjamin Swalin.

Swalin's Tenth Year With Symphony Begins

By Edward Teague

The 1950 season of the North Carolina Symphony Orchestra marks one decade under the leadership of Benjamin Swalin.

The rise of the North Carolina Orchestra under Dr. Swalin's leadership has been rapid, progressing from 6 concerts in 1940 to 130 concerts in 1950. When the Orchestra was rejuvenated in 1940 by Dr. Swalin, its season was limited to a few weekend concerts.

Mackall Strip Is Big Airfield

FORT BRAGG, April 29—(AP)—A mile-long airstrip in the pine topped Carolina sandhills was probably the busiest airport in the nation today.

The airstrip, located at Camp Mackall, was handling the heavy flow of traffic which is supplying the fighting troops being used in Exercise Swarmer.

Capps To Give Record Show Here Tonight

Program Begins At 8:15; To End Germans Weekend

By Wuff Newell

There'll be music in the air and under the stars tonight when Jimmy Capps, complete with records and dedications requested exclusively by University students, presents his second edition of "Music Under the Stars." The program, based on WPTF's "Our Best to You," will begin at 8:15. The porch of Graham Memorial will serve as Capps' studio, and his audience, instead of listening in bed will listen from blankets spread on the grass in front of the student union building.

Sponsored by the University Club, the program will bring to a close the German Club weekend.

Last year, the University Club invited Capps to take over the first "Music under the Stars" program since the war, and the show, according to University Club president Jerry Sternberg, was so successful the group decided to ask him to give it again this year.

Always ready to be of service to North Carolina students, Capps spent one afternoon in Chapel Hill helping plan the show, and then returned Sunday night for the program. Despite dark clouds that hid most of the stars, the show went on as scheduled, and the area from Graham Memorial to BVP was filled with students who had come to see in person their favorite disk jockey.

Capps, who may easily be called the favorite radio announcer in the state as far as students are concerned, is usually partial to soft, smooth music rather than loud, fast songs, but several days ago he said he would probably bring a few special records with him that he will not use on his WPTF program.

Most of program, however, will consist of what he calls "Lydian music," and dedications will be made for those students who requested them earlier this year.

Last year's show lasted two hours, and tonight's edition is scheduled to be about the same length.

Capps has been broadcasting "Our Best to You" five nights a week for nearly three years. "Often people write and ask for a special number just to be played and not be dedicated," Capps said. "I like to receive requests such as this, because I know that these people are listening for the music and not for the dedication."

Identity Is Secret

May Day Queen Will Be Crowned Next Sunday Afternoon At 4 O'clock

By Glenn Harden

The identity of the girl picked by the coeds as the prettiest senior on campus will be revealed next Sunday when she is crowned in the Forest Theater, at 4 o'clock.

Two of the ten girls of her resort picked several weeks ago from a roster of all senior girls, in an election by all coeds, will be maids of honor.

The traditional entertainment of the court will consist of an untraditional original farce, written by Chi Delta Phi with the assistance of John Ehle of Radio and called "Cupid's Courtesy." The setting of the story is to be in Olden, England, a small village. Nancy Curtis, of Chi Delta

Phi, explained that "Every year in Olden, in the month of May, they have a celebration, with the silly old Mayor in charge. An even sillier old scrubwoman takes it into her head this particular May that she wants to be May Queen."

The romantic element is provided in "Cupid's Courtesy," too, when a young man accosts a little boy in the woods, and accuses him of running away from home. The little boy insists that his mother's name really is Venus, but Hugh, the young man, refuses to believe him, finally getting the child so irate that he shoots Hugh with a bow and arrow he just happens to have

Free Show Begins Sr. Week Program

Barefoot Day Will Be Held Friday; Class Is Reminded To Wear Identification Tags

A free movie at the Carolina Theatre Tuesday night is one of the features of senior week, Don VanNoppen, class president, yesterday said.

Only those wearing the senior 'identification label' will be admitted, VanNoppen said. The tags will be distributed at booths in the Y and Lenoir Hall this week. VanNoppen pointed out the tags are to "help get the class members better acquainted with each other."

A late show, the movie will begin at 11:15 Tuesday night, according to E. Carrington Smith, manager of the Carolina Theater. Smith would not divulge the title of the presentation, saying: "This movie, which I've ordered from New York especially for the seniors has not been shown around this region yet, and everyone would want to see it if I announced the name."

The Women's Interdormitory Council is expected to give late permission to senior coeds to attend the show.

The senior identifications will also admit members of that class to a senior picnic to be held Saturday. VanNoppen prompted class members to "hold on to them (the tags), for they'll be of use for other features of senior week."

Traditional feature of the annual week is Barefoot Day, which will be Friday. Seniors are requested to go barefooted for the entire day, from the first class on.

The identification label booths in Lenoir and the Y will be under the direction of Ted Young.

Anniversary Program To Begin At Morehead

In compliance with many requests, the anniversary showing in the Morehead Planetarium will bear the same title and will have the same theme as the inaugural demonstration which thrilled many thousands when the Planetarium opened last May.

According to an announcement by Dr. Roy K. Marshall, director, "Let There Be Light" will open Tuesday and will continue for three weeks.

The current showing of "The Sun, Earth's Powerhouse" will end tomorrow night at 8:30.

"While the title of our show is the same, and the opening readings from Genesis will be repeated," Dr. Marshall explains, "we have worked up some new effects to help us to tell the story of the

Orchestra Sets Concert, Wednesday

The University Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Prof. Earl Slocum, will present its spring concert Wednesday night at 8:30 in Hill Hall.

The program will feature two soloists: Efrim Fruchtman, who is principal cellist of the orchestra, will play the Beethoven Concerto in B flat Major for Cello and Orchestra, and David Serrins, the first oboist, will play the solo line in "The Winter's Passed," a work for oboe and strings by the contemporary American composer Wayne Barlow.

"The Overture to 'Semiramide' by Rossini, the Mozart Symphony No. 36 in D Major (Prague), and Weinberger's Polka and Fugue from 'Schwanda' will complete the program.

The concert is sponsored by the Department of Music and is open to the public without charge.

Nachman Loses In News Group Prexy Election

Convention Closes With Selection Of New Officers

Special to The Daily Tar Heel GREENSBORO, April 29

Carolina's Tarnation Editor Herb Nachman this morning was defeated in a bid for the presidency of the North Carolina Collegiate Press Association as the group ended its annual conference at the Woman's College with a business session featuring the election of officers.

Paul Foght, State College student from Kenosha, Wis., was elected president to succeed Ellen Metz, Summerfield, of Woman's College.

Joe Spivey from Suffolk, Va., a student at Elon College, was selected vice-president. The secretary's job went to Phyllis Moses, Cullowhee, of Western North Carolina Teachers College. Wake Forest's Harold Walter was named treasurer.

In Friday's full day of activities, the visiting college editors and business managers, numbering over 100, visited local newspaper offices and a television studio.

Chester Davis, feature writer for the Winston-Salem Journal, held a morning feature writing clinic on Friday, while in the afternoon, Professor Lettie Rogers, novelist and member of the Woman's College faculty, led a clinic on analysis of the short story.

Writing awards presented at the meeting went to three Daily Tar Heel staffers. Managing Editor Roy Parker, Jr., received the award for the best feature and the best news story. Zane Robbins was judged to have the best sports column and Buddy Vaden given the title for the best sports story.

Hans To Give Hook Rebuttal

Hans Freistadt will speak Tuesday night at 8 o'clock in Roland Parker Lounges 2 and 3 on "Communist Strategy: A Reply to Sidney Hook."

In the year of operation that will be rounded out on May 9, performances have been given daily except for Dec. 25, according to Dr. Marshall. The average has been almost two showings per day and the total number of visitors for the year will easily reach 180,000.

Performances of "Let There Be Light" are scheduled at 8:30 every evening and at 3 o'clock matinees on Saturday and Sundays.

Visitors will see the planets and sun and moon in motion against the background of the stars, and a short visit will be paid to the Southern Hemisphere, to see the Southern Cross and other groups invisible from North Carolina.

James Appointed Audit Board Head

Richardson, Mason Named Assistants To Attorney-General; Gwynn Chosen

By Rolfe Neill

Campus financier Ben James' appointment yesterday to head the Audit Board nearly completes the selection of students for the top posts in president John Sanders' cabinet.

At the same time, Sanders chose Julian Mason and J. K. Richardson to serve as assistant attorney-generals.

James, one of the top office holders in local activities, is a rising junior from Jacksonville, Fla. Recently elected vice-president of the Sigma Nu Fraternity, James was an unsuccessful candidate for secretary-treasurer of the student body in April 4's general election.

He heads the Graham Memorial Board of Directors and is president of the Town Men's Association. He served as chairman of the Finance Committee in the last Student Legislature and was reappointed in the new session. James is a member of the University Party steering committee. He is also a member of the Budget Committee for 1949-50.

"Ben's grasp of the financial structure of student government is unequalled among the younger members of student government," said Sanders, commenting on the appointment. "I am confident that he will prove himself as thorough, capable, and energetic in the position of Audit Board Chairman, as he has in the numerous and varied jobs filled to date."

All of the appointments are subject to the approval of the Student Legislature.

J. K. and Mason will help Dick Murphy in the office of the attorney-general. The constitution provides that the attorney-general is to assist the president of the student body in the administration of his duties.

J. K. was reelected clerk of the ninth session of the Student Legislature. She is a member of Delta Delta Delta Sorority. Mason is a member of the Elections Board, and has served as secretary-treasurer of the Student Party.

Jim Gwynn was appointed to James' committee with three others yet to be named to the group. He is a member of Sigma Nu Fraternity and was recently tapped into the Order of the Golden Fleece. Gwynn's home is Pasado, Mexico.

The legislature will probably take action in its Thursday night meeting on these and several other appointments previously made. Among them were Dick Ailsbrook, Chairman of the Student Entertainment Committee, and Bill Prince, Chairman of the Orientation Committee.

His completed thesis has already won recognition. Wanda Landowska, famed harpsichordist was impressed by it, wrote him requesting the score, and is studying it for possible use in her concerts. Now his show tunes are coming into their own with the premiere showing here of "Spring for Sure."

Principally a pianist, Dr. Mason has played concerts in England, France and Germany.

Royall Here Tomorrow

Former Army Secretary Kenneth Royall will speak at 7 o'clock tomorrow night in Gerrard Hall in a talk sponsored by the Law School Association.

The Goldsboro lawyer received his AB here in 1914 and LLB from Harvard in 1917. He was admitted to the North Carolina bar in 1918.

Royall served in the first World War as a Lieutenant and rose to the rank of Brigadier General in the last war.

Other governmental positions include Deputy Fiscal Director of the Army Service Forces and special assistant to the Secretary of War. By appointment of President Roosevelt, he defended the saboteurs and presented habeas corpus to special session of the Supreme Court in 1942.

There is no admission and the public is invited.

World, Nation, State News In Brief

By the Associated Press

Turbulent, shifting winds threatened to bring more tornadoes to the southwest today. The twisting black funnels killed eleven people Friday in Oklahoma and West Texas.

WASHINGTON—Gen. George C. Marshall declared last night that Senator McCarthy's charges of Communism in the government "undermine and weaken our position before the world and actually lend assistance to powers that would destroy us."

WASHINGTON—For what it's worth to them politically, Senators Pepper (D-Fla.) and Hill (D-Ala.) could rest assured today that the Senate would not debate any civil rights issues before their primary elections Tuesday.

CAPETOWN, South Africa—The South African government will ask parliament this week for wide powers to outlaw this country's small Communist movement, a ranking member of the cabinet said yesterday.

Air Officers Visit Campus

Col. A. Monroe of Raleigh, Commanding Officer of the 3942 Volunteer Air Training Unit and Colonel George R. Bickell, Deputy for Operations of the Fourteenth Air Force, were guests of the Chapel Hill Flight this week, the unit announced yesterday.

Lt. Col. Mark T. Orr, Commander of the Chapel Hill flight was Chief of the Education Division in General MacArthur's Headquarters, prior to re-entering the University as an instructor in Political Science and candidate for the doctorate degree.
