Solons Will Debate By-Laws Tonight

TMA-TGA Measure Asks Representation On Dance Group; PB Probe Bill Slated

By-laws and constitutional codification are expected to be the business of the Student Legislature as it meets for the last time this quarter tonight.

The solons got only half-way through a new set of Legislative by-laws at last Thursday's session. The 18-page document was largely the work of former Parliamentarian Dave Sharpe, but legislators were reluctant to pass some sections — mostly stiffened absence and removal clauses.

A bill to allow the Town Men's and Town Women's Associations representation on the Dance Committee and a bill setting up a Publications investigation committee are the only measures slated to come up for consideration.

The TMA-TGA bill would give the groups seats on the Dance Committee, returning them to constitutional representation taken away with the passage of the

No bills are expected to be introduced tonight, since this is the last session of the body for this quarter.

Duff Emerges Winner In Penn GOP Primary

PHILADELPHIA, May 17—(P)—Governor James H. Duff piled up the biggest primary vote in the state's history today in trouncing Pennsylvania's "Old Guard" Republican organization and winning the party's nomination for the U. S. Senate.

With a better than two-to-one victory in yesterday's state-wide primary Duff emerges as a major power in charting the future of the party.

But Duff admonished his backers not to "gloat" over the victory and his enemies not to "sorrow."

"What we must do now," he said, "is to defeat the Democrats."

To win the Senatorial candidacy the 67-year-old governor tackled and defeated the political organization headed by former U. S. Senator Joseph R. Grundy, 87, spokesman and top strategist of the party in Pennsylvania for the last 30 years.

With returns still unreported in 72 of the state's 8,347 precincts, Duff had 947,062 votes, the biggest primary vote in Pennsylvania history. It was nearly 10,000 more than the previous high of 937,592 polled by Arthur H. James when he defeated Gifford Pinchot for the Republican gubernatorial nomination in 1938.

For the two major offices, Republican returns from 8,275 precincts gave:

For Senator: Duff 947,062; Rep. John C. Kunkel, the Grundy candidate, 425,537.

Major Change Is Affected In Dance Plans

Beaux Arts Ball Will Take Place In GM Saturday

A major change in plans for Saturday night's Beaux Arts Ball was announced yesterday by the Spring Festival Planning Committee. The dance will be held in Graham Memorial Hall rather than in Woollen Gym as originally scheduled.

All other plans pertaining to the affair will remain in effect, the committee stated, including intermission entertainment by Sound and Fury and members of the faculty and administration.

The new plans call for the ball to be held on all three floors of Graham Memorial, with music to be furnished by Roy Cole and his orchestra.

The committee re-emphasized the fact that virtually everyone, students, faculty and townspople, is invited to attend the costume dance. The time is from nine to 12 o'clock.

Four prizes will be given for costumes. The outfits may be either very simple or extremely elaborate.

In the meantime, the first annual Spring Festival Week continued into its fifth day today with table tennis tournament finals in Graham Memorial's main lounge at 7:30 and the Sibyl Moholy-Nagy Art Department lecture in Person Hall at 8:15 listed as the top attractions.

A bible study group will meet at 5 o'clock in the YMCA library.

Atomic Plans Stolen, Returned In Flatbush

NEW YORK, May 17—(P)—A government car carrying 10 non-secret atomic energy commission blueprints was stolen from a Brooklyn street corner today and abandoned two hours later with contents intact.

Police said they believed the car had been taken "for a joy ride" by persons bound for a good time at Coney Island. It was abandoned on the Belt Parkway near the famous playground.

None of the AEC blueprints were missing from a brief case that an atom plant inspector left in the car while he went to lunch.

John Burt, a public relations man at the Brookhaven National Laboratories for research in peacetime atomic energy use, located at Brookhaven, said the blueprints would not have been "particularly dangerous in the hands of an unauthorized person."

In Washington, a spokesman for the Atomic Energy Commission said the missing papers were simply routine blueprints for non-secret atomic work. The spokesman said a check with Brookhaven showed there was no cause for alarm in the loss.

The worst thing is that the government still is out one automobile," the spokesman added.

Brooklyn police sped radio cars to all bridges, ferry slips and main highways leading out of the borough to Manhattan, Staten Island and the rest of Long Island.

Atomic Energy Commission officials said the blueprints dealt with construction work at Brookhaven on a new nuclear reactor. This is a pile of fissionable atomic material used for research in controlled chain reactions.

Most of the flooded area is residential, with mud and debris seeping through many of the city's finest homes. Unofficial estimates of damage in the business districts ranged from
