Commiss Flee In General Rout

BLACK ARROWS ON THIS MAP locate the three prongs of the Allied assault that has liberated the city of Seoul, capital of South Korea. American and South Korean Marines and Army infantrymen are now engaged in fiery mop-up fighting. Thousands of North Korean troops fled to the northeast. The map locates strategic points in the recaptured city.

Annihilation Faces Reds; Border Bound Allies 18 Miles From 38th Parallel In Seoul Sector

TOKYO, Friday, Sept. 29—(AP)—Red invaders of South Korea scurried in headlong flight today for their homeland north of the 38th parallel. Their last resistance inside the war-torn old capital of Seoul was at an end. Their army was smashed and in imminent danger of annihilation.

SEOUL, Korea, Friday, Sept. 29—(UP)—President Syngman Rhee returned to Seoul today with Gen. Douglas MacArthur in a triumphant parade along the dusty road from Kimp'o Airport and the rubble-strewn streets of the city.

A U. S. Tenth Army Communique issued early Friday said the last of the Reds in Seoul withdrew along roads leading north to Uijongbu. Uijongbu is a highway hub 12 miles north of Seoul and 18 miles south of the 38th parallel dividing line which the North Koreans crossed early June 25 in their surprise assault on the Southern Republic.

The communique said the U. S. First Marine Division cleaned out the final pockets of resistance in Seoul and moved onto high ground north and northwest of the city.

In southeastern Seoul, held by the U. S. Seventh Infantry Division, Red resistance also ceased. American troops sauntered, relaxed, through the debris-littered heart of the city. They had won it from the Reds in a seven-day siege and assault.

Associated Press Correspondent Don Whitehead quotes Col. Lewis (Chesty) Puller, commander of the First Marine Regiment, that the last Reds pulled out of the city at 6 P. M. Wednesday (4 A. M. Wednesday EST). The Tenth Corps communique indicated some minor resistance may have been cleaned out later than that.

The Reds' political commissars long since had made a slick withdrawal, leaving hardly even a scrap of paper behind.

Residents of the shattered old city of 1,000,000 emerged from their hiding places and poked in the rubble on their peaceful old capital. They were looking for odds and ends with which to start life anew.

There were small, sporadic flashes of action elsewhere in South Korea as stubborn North Korean Reds, some trapped and some fleeing, fought briefly but ineffectually.

Squar' Dance In Y Court Is Tonight

The first fall quarter square dance on campus will be held tonight in the Y Court from 8:30 to 11:30.

Sponsored by the Graham Memorial Entertainment Committee, the dance will provide an opportunity for new students to get acquainted and have a lot of fun, according to Rosalie Brown, GM entertainment director.

Harold Cummings, member of the GM staff and caller for the highly successful summer session dances, will call for tonight's sets. During the summer, large throngs enjoyed the square dancing provided by the GM committee.

The committee hope that many girls will be present. Hostesses will be on hand to introduce girls and boys and see that everyone gets partners.

Music will be supplied by string band recordings. Between sets there will be round dancing with popular records.

20,000 Hostages Taken From Seoul

SEOUL, Korea, Sept. 28—(UP)—Seoul residents reported today that the Communists took more than 20,000 hostages with them when they fled the city.

The hostages included the city's most prominent residents, these sources said—politicians, lawyers, teachers, publishers and doctors.

Cavaliers Can Come North

Virginia Students Are Forgiven; Penn Hotels Welcome Them Back

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 28—(AP)—University of Virginia students, all if forgiven! Philadelphia hotels will welcome you with open arms this weekend if you plan to come north for the Penn-Virginia football game.

That's straight from the Hotel Association. All the hotel wrecking done last year when Virginia beat Penn 26 to 14 has been forgotten. Bennett Tousley, manager of the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel and president of the Association, says he's sure Virginia students will act like Southern Gentlemen.

Tousley was reminded of his remarks after last year's heavy damage. Although the exact amount never was officially reported, it was enough to prompt Tousley to say: "The next time Virginia plays football here they'll have to stay in hotels south of Chester." (Chester is 15 miles south of Philadelphia.)

Legislature Hears 3 Speak At First Meet

Mitchell Assails Missing Meetings, Promises Expulsion

At their first meeting of the fall quarter in Di Hall last night Student Legislators were told in no uncertain terms by Speaker Herb Mitchell there are going to be some changes made.

Mitchell was one of three speakers who addressed the more than 40 members for the meeting in New West Building.

Also on the program were Dean of Students Fred Weaver and John Sanders, President of the student body.

Mitchell promised the law makers he is going to "crack down on the absentees." He told them the Rules Committee will be required to take appropriate action after Legislators have more than one unexcused absence.

The Legislature by-laws provide for automatic expulsion should a member have more than one unexcused absence.

He urged committee chairman to hold one meeting a week for their groups at a definite time. "And we want to hear those reports at the next Legislature meeting," he added.

Sanders said the present world situation brings new and increased responsibilities to the Legislature.

He pointed out that Student Government has worked successfully with the Dean of Students office throughout the year.

"However," he asserted, "we hope the Dean of Students will soon have the power to help students. Not just something commendational, but positive action."

He cited the housing situation as a matter the South Building office could help on if given the power.

Mickey Cohen Denied Use Of Armored Car

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 28—(AP)—Mickey Cohen, who several times has been a target for gunfire from supposedly rival gangsters, today took delivery on a $16,000 custom-built armor-plated Cadillac, but promptly was denied permission to operate it.

Yack Pictures Free, Frosh Are Still Shy

It is like a rainy election day at the polls to see the scarcity of freshmen who have turned out to have their "free for nothing" Yackety Yack pictures taken.

Yack Editor Jim Mills bemoaned yesterday.

Today, the last day for freshmen pictures, shows a total of not quite half the freshman class of 1,300. Photographers will be on the job from noon until 8 o'clock. Yesterday afternoon, a hand full of students dropped by the Yack

Sluggish Pep Rally Booms Into Big Spirit Demonstration As 'Beat Irish' Parade Is Held

By Rolfe Neill
What began as a small, listless, shuffling crowd boomed into a thousand chanting Carolina warriors who danced around a towering bonfire on Fetzer Field last night to the tune of "Beat Notre Dame."

Led by the University Band and the cheerleading squad, a small group of about 200 left the Y Court shortly after 7 o'clock. However, the group gained momentum after it turned down Raleigh Street between the upper and lower men's quadrangles. By the time it reached Fetzer Field, it was a howling, flag-waving, Dixie-singing mob.

Cheerleader Joe Chambliss led the crowd in several yells before Coach Carl Snavely came out of Woollen Gymnasium to speak.

Deliberate and smiling, the old football master waved his hat to the crowd.

"Our boys are in good shape," he said. "They're in extraordinarily fine spirit and have practiced hard all week."

Then, almost as an afterthought, Snavely said: "We're not going up there to get licked."

Chambliss led the pep rally in a special yell, "Old Notre Dame Is Going To Get Beat"; the band played "There'll Be A Carolina Victory," and bedlam broke loose.

Someone in the crowd clambered atop a pickup, hauled out a large Confederate flag, and the crowd sang "Dixie" once again.

The rally ended with the singing of "Hark the Sound."

UNC Suit Unaffected By UT Negro Decision

RALEIGH, Sept. 28—(UP)—Atty.-Gen. Harry McMullan today said a ruling that the University of Tennessee must admit Negro students would have no bearing on the suit brought dents were admitted because the state maintained no facilities in Negro colleges for instruction in law or biochemistry.

"We maintain a separate law school for Negroes in North Carolina," he said, "and so our position is different from the one in Tennessee."

Special to The Daily Tar Heel
DURHAM, Sept. 28—Federal Judge Johnson J. Hayes, to rule next week on whether Negroes will enter the University of North Carolina graduate school, today visited North Carolina College Law School here as a final step in preparation for his decision.

"There is just no basis for comparison," McMullan declared.

He pointed out that in the Tennessee case, the Negro stu-

A suit recently brought by four Negro students in Durham claimed the facilities at North Carolina College Law School were inferior to those offered white students at Chapel Hill. McMullan said a decision from the Federal court is due next week.

The Attorney-General also claimed that a Federal order admitting a Negro to the University of Virginia Law School could not be used as a basis of comparison with North Carolina's case.

Hey! Sign Your Name To Beat Notre Dame

Carolina students will get a chance today to wish the team well in its Notre Dame game tomorrow. And it only costs a nickel.

The University Club last night launched a drive for students to participate and contribute toward a telegram to be sent to the team at South Bend.

There will be a table in the Y Court this morning from 9 until 1 o'clock this afternoon. From 3 p.m. until 6 p.m., there will be a table in front of the Carolina Theater.

Students pay only a nickel, partial payment for defrayment of the telegram's cost, and get their name added to the list which will be presented to the team at half time.

Jerry Sternberg, president, when asked what the goal was for the telegram, replied: "Everybody. All of Tar Heelia."

There will be a parade of cars to leave the Y Court at 11 or 11:30 this morning to escort the team to the airport, Sternberg said. He urged everyone who could to accompany the motor caravan.

He praised officials in Lenoir Hall for keeping a table set up last night to take names for the telegrams. Also, Sternberg thanked Wilton Stone, manager of the local Western Union, and Bill Johnson, student, who painted several posters.

Girls helping in the affair are Mary Nell Hawkins, Faye Culpepper, Madeline Caldwell, Liz Dockery, Debbie Ettinger, Louise Klaster, Carol Cantrell, Jane Jenkins, Ruth Osmer, Lee Woolfolk, and Jane Goodman.

Sternberg said the theme for the drive is: "Sign your Name, Beat Notre Dame."

Last year, a group of Chapel Hill merchants carried out the idea when Carolina played the Irish in New York City. This telegram carried over 2,000 signatures.

Commiss Ready To Smash 'Agressors'

LONDON, Friday, Sept. 29—(UP)—The Communist New China News Agency warned today that Red armed forces were being strengthened "to smash any act or challenge of American aggressors."

The agency, in a broadcast reviewing Communist military achievements, said the Chinese communists "wiped out" 8,368,000 Nationalist troops during the Civil War.

60 Commiss Get The Boot In West Raid

FRANKFURT, Germany, Sept. 28—(UP)—Truncheon-wielding West German police ousted 60 delinquent Communists from their 10-room luxury party headquarters building in Duesseldorf today as thousands of police prepared for possible widespread weekend violence.

The British had requisitioned the building to house newly arrived troop reinforcements, and the ouster was carried out at their request.

The Communists remained inside for 48 hours after they were ordered to get out, and yesterday they said they "never" would move out. Their defiance melted when the police entered today.

Meanwhile other police get set for possible trouble in connection with a series of Russian-inspired Communist "peace" demonstrations ordered for the weekend.

Tens of thousands of German police armed with pistols, rubber truncheons and tear gas bombs stood by at Nuernberg, Munich and the Ruhr cities of Duesseldorf and Dortmund to break up forbidden Red demonstrations set for Sunday.

The Ruhr state of North Rhine-Westphalia, where the main trouble was expected, mobilized 22,000 policemen, cancel all police leave and ordered the men to remain in uniform over the weekend.

In Berlin, the British, with plea barge traffic in the Soviet zone by imposing the same restrictions that the Russians had placed on the movement of western barges.

British military police backlogged some 45 eastern barges at canal locks while they slowly made minute checks of travel documents.

Tumbling Down

With all the rumpus that has been raised in the building over the past years, the South Building ceiling finally came down yesterday.

It all happened because the heat was put on. When wintry gusts heralded the approach of cold weather, authorities ordered the steam heat to be run through the radiators. It was run through, but also ran out several of them because someone had left the valves open.

Consequently, water ran out on office floors, seeping through to the office ceilings below, so weakening the plaster that it began to crumble and fall down.

It was rumored that several of the office occupants were plastered to their offices this morning. No one was hurt, however.

Army To Draft 300,000 During Next Six Months

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28—(UP)—The Army will draft 300,000 more men in the six months from October through March and also call up 3,200 doctors and 1,400 dentists, it was disclosed today.

World In Brief

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28—(UP)—President Truman announced today he has chosen George J. Bott, long-time attorney with the National Labor Relations Board, to succeed Robert N. Denham as NLRB General Counsel.

The President fired Denham 12 days ago following months of feuding between Denham and the five-member board. Denham had long been under attack by organized labor, which accused him of siding with employers.

FLUSHING, N. Y., Sept. 28—(UP)—The United Nations Security Council tonight defeated a move to extend an invitation to the Chinese Communists to come here Nov. 15 to join debate on their charges that the U. S. committed "aggression" in sending its Seventh Fleet to guard Formosa.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28—(UP)—No immediate decision will be announced on emergency wage-price controls, President Truman indicated today as government production experts worked on problems of shortages of synthetic rubber and aviation gasoline.

RALEIGH, Sept. 28—(AP)—Reservists being called to active duty threatens to leave some gaping holes in Wake Forest's town life.

Recently, the police chief, one of the town's two dentists, and a doctor all have received calls to report for duty.

Bra Bandits Again In Hands Of Law

MIAMI, FLA., Sept. 28—(UP)—Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Co. regained a measure of its dignity today as eight members of the "Brassiere Brigade" were re-arrested and authorities pressed charges against four others.

The 25-cent pieces from the thousands of telephone pay stations were going into county machines, too, instead of being tucked away in the underwear of female employees.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28—(UP)—Radio Corporation of America and several other television manufacturers today rejected the Federal Communications Commission's proposal for a sudden change in the design of their TV sets to make ready for the coming of color video.
