Revengeful Tar Heels Face Irish Today

Caravan Rolls Into Territory Of Notre Dame

Small Contingent Welcomes Team After Plane Trip

By Roy Parker, Jr.
SOUTH BEND, Ind., Sept. 29—It was a long, hard thousand-mile trip, but we made it.

Our small caravan rolled into South Bend today about the same time the team flew in, 2 o'clock this afternoon, and we joined the small contingent of Tar Heels greeting the players before they were hustled 15 miles away to Elkhart.

The trip up was what you'd call completely uneventful. The only familiar faces we saw on the entire route belonged to two freshmen burning north in Roanoke, Va.

Tar Heel cars piling into South Bend were anything but nondescript. Confederate flags, blue and white streamers, and booster flags fluttered from every one to let local residents know they had officially been invaded from the South.

We've already won the hearts of the cops.

By game time tomorrow, an estimated 2,000 North Carolinians will be packed into this industrial city of more than 100,000. Most of the University and state bigwigs are staying at the downtown Oliver Hotel.

Probably the most unusual thing we noticed on the Notre Dame campus (unusual to us) was the ample parking space available. And we saw the rest of the campus, with student guides meeting us at the main gate to escort us and point out the scenery.

The Daily Tar Heel delegation joined wire service and newspaper sports writers from all parts of the country this evening at a press party for visiting members of the Fourth Estate. We thought possibly the festivities would make the waiting for game time tomorrow pass a little faster.

But K-hour, kickoff time, still seems a long way off for us Tar Heels.

South Koreans Halt At Line, Shell Reds, Await UN Decision

TOKYO, Saturday, Sept. 30—(AP)—Advancing South Korean forces slammed artillery fire into fugitive Reds crouched on the 38th parallel boundary of Communist North Korea today, but they were under orders of the Allied command to halt the chase at the parallel and regroup.

Whether the victorious Allied forces, having smashed the Red invasion of South Korea, will eventually go after the Red Army leftovers in North Korea was a question not yet answered by the United Nations supreme command.

The order to halt for regrouping went out from U.S. Eighth Army Headquarters Friday night just as the South Korean Third Division -chased retreating Red troops to the parallel on the east coast and shelled them squarely astride the line.

The 38th parallel, originally the dividing line between American and Russian occupation forces at the time of the Japanese surrender five years ago, is not recognized by either side.

Both the United Nations-sponsored Korean Republic and the Soviet-sponsored Red regime always have claimed sovereignty over all Korea, but until the Red invasion of June 25, the parallel was a real, even though unrecognized boundary.

Associated Press Correspondent

Leif Erickson looked down on the east end of that line from an airplane Friday. He reported he saw Allied artillery shells hitting ridges almost exactly on the parallel.

The Reds, he said, apparently were trying to dig in along the line four or five miles south of Yangyang and about two miles inland from the sea of Japan.

Erickson also said he saw an Allied cruiser and four destroyers idling close to shore where the line runs to the sea. The warships had the coastal highway under observation, but fired no shots while Erickson's plane circled several hours over the parallel.

Hershey Wants Draft For Fathers And Vets

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29—(AP)—Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey today urged that the draft be thrown open to veterans and men with dependents—and that the length of service be stretched to 30 months. It is now 21 months.

Hershey, Director of Selective Service, also suggested that three months of basic training be given youth before they reach the draft age of 19.

The official, appearing before the House Armed Services Committee, talked of reaching a 1,500,000-man Army in two or three years (apparently about doubling the present force). The committee is studying possible changes in draft regulations.

Hershey said his pool of men under 26 years of age and eligible for the draft under present regulations is down to 1,500,000 and that the rejection rate under Defense Department standards of men called before draft boards runs about 50 per cent.

He recommended:
1. Extending the period of draft service, with six months to be spent in training and 24 months in service. This would require an act of Congress.

2. Changing the rules for deferment because of dependency so that collateral dependents wouldn't count. Selective Service officials said that their use of the term "collateral" does not apply to wives, children, parents, brothers and sisters. It does apply to aunts, cousins, uncles and the like.

2,000 Sign ND Telegram

Some 2,000 victory-hungry Carolina students, as well as President-Elect Gordon Gray, yesterday signed their names to a "pep telegram" which will be delivered to the Tar Heel footballers at halftime in South Bend today.

The telegram, outgrowth of an idea originated last year by Chapel Hill merchants, was sent last night from Western Union here. While no official account was available early last night, it was estimated that nearly 2,000 signatures were attached.

Jerry Sternberg, president of the University Club which helped push the event, termed the "nickel-a-name-drive" successful.

He thanked Wilton Stone, manager of Western Union, Daily Tar Heel columnist Harry Snook, and officials of Lenoir Hall and the Carolina Theater for helping the two-day whirlwind campaign.

"And my deepest appreciation," Sternberg added, "to the dozen coeds who gave a lot of time and effort to the telegram."

Wallace Asks China Help

SOUTH SALEM, N. Y., Sept. 30—(AP)—Henry A. Wallace today wrote to Chinese Communist Premier Mao Tze-Tung urging him to support friendship with the United States and spurn "slavish obedience" to Moscow.

Declaring that "Americans have been traditionally friends of the Chinese and want to continue to be friends," the former Vice President wrote in an open letter: "Unless the new China is interested in joining with the U.S. S.R. in an insane drive toward world conquest, it is high time that she consider the fundamentals of an understanding with the U. S. as a necessary preliminary to settling the Korean problem, the Formosan problem and entry into the United Nations."

Wallace's appeal was sent by airmail to the Chinese Communist leader in Peiping. "I am writing to you as one farmer to another," Wallace's letter began. "As farmers we are both interested in a world at peace with more food and clothing available for the hungry multitudes."

Oklahoma, winner of 21 straight, is host to Boston College and Army is favored to down Colgate for its 21st straight without defeat. Both (See ROUNDUP, page 3)

Four Hundred S. Koreans Are Murdered

TAEJON, KOREA, Sept. 29—(AP)—Allied troops retaking ground once held by North Korean Reds found the bullet-pierced bodies of about 400 South Korean civilians and police piled in two open ditches near Taejon Prison last night.

An undetermined number of other bodies were discovered this morning in two open wells inside the prison compound.

The bodies of 40 American prisoners of war were reported found earlier in a covered trench at the rear of the Taejon police station.

A South Korean naval commander, Lee Yong Woon, said 200 other South Koreans were slain Thursday night by Reds trapped in Yosu, a port town on the south coast of Korea.

Lee said the victims were South Korean democratic leaders and the families of South Korean soldiers and policemen. The commander said the massacre took place when the Reds realized (See ATROCITIES, page 4)

Irish 38-Game Win Streak Might End On Cartier Field

By Frank Allston, Jr.

SOUTH BEND, Saturday, Sept. 30—The myth of the mighty and invincible Notre Dame Irish will face the vengeful wrath of a determined group of Carolina Tar Heels at Cartier Field here this afternoon in the nation's top gridiron contest of the day.

Carolina's warriors, 40 strong, arrived here yesterday afternoon and established headquarters in Elkhart, 15 miles east of here.

MAY LEAD TAR HEELS—Billy Hayes, ace Carolina passer will attempt to match the All-America quarterback, Bob Williams in today's clash in South Bend. The long awaited Irish opener could be turned into a great passing duel by Tar Heel Hayes. Hayes completed 7 of 14 passes against State last week.

The trip over to South Bend will be made at 10 this morning and the game is scheduled to start at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

The Tar Heels are in excellent spirits and fully expect to be the first team in four years to walk off the field on the long end of the count. The last time the feat was accomplished was back in the last game of the 1945 season when the powerful Great Lakes Naval eleven toppled the Irish. Since then, Notre Dame has rambled through a 38-game slate without defeat.

All Tar Heels well remembers the first Carolina-Notre Dame clash played last season in New York City when Carolina battled bravely for three quarters before bowing, 42-6. The first quarter score stood at 6-0 in favor of the Tar Heels and the Irish tied it up in the second quarter as the count was 6-all.

Many of the heroes of Carolina's valiant struggle last season will be on hand for the conflict today. Dick Bunting, who was both the offensive and defensive standout of the game while filling the shoes of the absent Charlie Justice, will be back to pilot the Tar Heel offense.

Irv (Huck) Holdash, big center and linebacker who played most of the game at tackle, will also be on hand to uphold the Tar Heel defensive line, considered one of the nation's best. Holdash was picked on the Irish all-opponent team last year as a reward for his performance against Notre Dame in Yankee Stadium.

With one game already under their belts, the Tar Heels will have a slight advantage over the big Notre Dame aggregation. Last Saturday's 13-7 win over State showed that Carolina had several weaknesses which would have to be cleared up, but it also proved that Carolina was still a very powerful team.

Irish Coach Frank Leahy, on hand for the Carolina-State clash, remarked after the game that Carolina was much improved over last season and termed the Tar Heels as "great."

Leahy and his eleven will see much of Bunting today and it was little Dick who dashed 76 yards in the opening quarter last weekend to rack up the game's first score.

Another gentleman who will undoubtedly see a great deal of action is Bud Wallace, 200 pounder from Kinston, who scored the game-winning touchdown. Coach Carl Snavely said that the turning point of the State game came when he sent Wallace in with instructions to run with the ball.

Both Wallace and Bunting will see action at the offensive tailback slot although Bunting may be used more on defense. The backfield will round out with Paul Rizzo at the blocking post, Bobby (Goo Goo) Gantt, on the (See CAROLINA, page 3)

Tar Heel TV

Carolina's Tar Heels will perform from South Bend via the television of Greensboro's WFMY beginning at 1:30 this afternoon.

Students that manage to cram themselves into the handful of stores and restaurants downtown that have television will see highly improved reception because of a new coaxial cable running to the Greensboro station.

This will be the first time live television not originating in WFMY-TV's studios is presented to the public.
