

Army Rated First In AP Poll As Notre Dame Skids To Tenth

Carolina Ranked 23rd In Nation

NEW YORK, Oct. 9—(AP)—Army's Black Knights took over the No. 1 spot among the nation's college football teams today, as Notre Dame dropped to 10th place, its lowest position in the memory of the younger generation.

Purdue's 28-14 upset of the Fighting Irish last Saturday shook up the football ratings like an earthquake. There were other form reversals on "Black Saturday," including Maryland's 34-7 thumping of Michigan State.

When the debris had cleared away, the pigskin experts from coast to coast had to start from scratch in figuring their top 10 teams. Putting Notre Dame at No. 1, 2 or 3 had been a must for so long. Today the Irish received only one first place nomination.

Army, with an unbeaten string of 22 games, vaulted from fourth to first. The West Pointers received a total of 2,101 points by a national panel of 241 sports-writers and sportscasters. They were named first on 115 ballots.

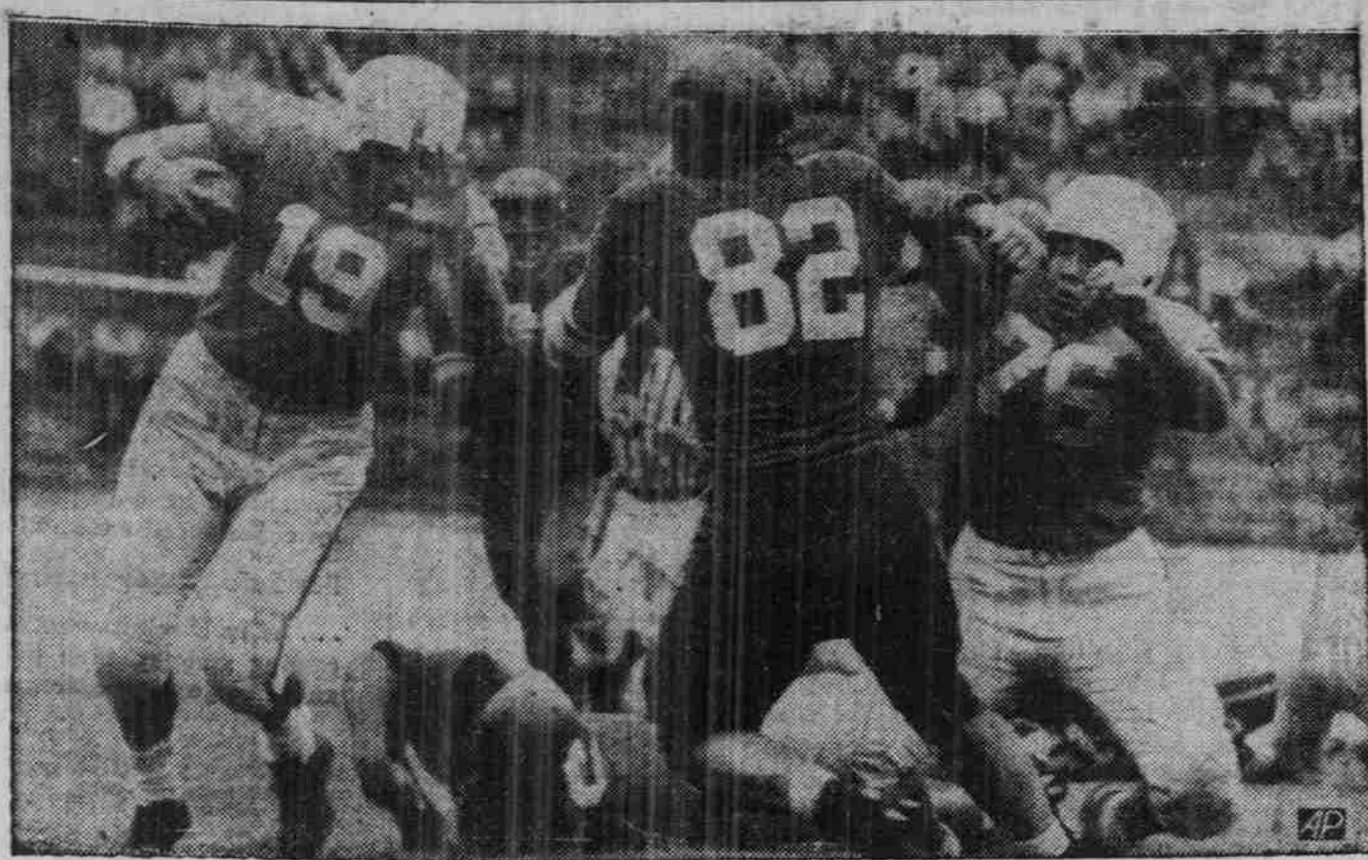

Following its 0-0 deadlock with Georgia, Carolina tallied only 46 votes and wound up in 23rd position—one of the lowest it has had in recent years.

The Georgians followed right behind the Tar Heels in the ratings with 39 votes and 24th place.

Wake Forest, Carolina's next foe, had 25 points, good for 27th place. Mississippi, 54-0 victor over Boston College, was given only 22 votes. Washington and Lee, the Southern Conference pacesetter, tallied eight votes, and Virginia collected five.

The top teams (numbers in parenthesis is first place votes):

1. Army (115)	2,101
2. SMI (83)	1,950
3. Oklahoma (29)	1,387
4. Texas (9)	1,212
5. Kentucky (11)	837
6. Stanford (4)	795
7. California (2)	754
8. Maryland (8)	684
9. Purdue (1)	616
10. Notre Dame (1)	554
11. Washington (2)	444
12. Ohio State (2)	254
13. Clemson (4)	211
14. Tennessee (2)	205
15. Rice (1)	178
16. Wisconsin (1)	174
17. Cornell (2)	174
18. Michigan (1)	142
19. Vanderbilt (1)	142
20. Michigan State (1)	101

TENNESSEE POWER—W. C. Cooper (19), University of Tennessee back, races around right end for a gain of 45 yards in the Vols' 28-7 victory over Duke. He was brought down by Mike Souchak (82), Blue Devil end. William Jasper (76), Tennessee center, was also in on the play. Carolina will have to face both Tennessee and Duke, two of the best in the South, this year.

Major League Cagers Due Here Monday To Open Fall Drills; Exhibitions Are Set

The Tar Heel cagers have been active on the hardwood for the past two weeks, but come Monday Coach Tom Scotts charges will be joined by George Gramack's major league professional basketball team from Grand Rapids, Mich.

Glamack, former All-America cage star for the White Phantoms, is president and player of the Grand Rapids team of the National League. Coach of the pros is Bobby McDermott, an all-time great in the game.

Purdue Students Take Holiday Following Win Over Irish

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Oct. 9—(AP)—Purdue officials tried — not very hard and with no success whatever — to promote "education as usual" today on the campus that produced the first conqueror of Notre Dame's football team since 1945.

But, the no-celebrating idea was a lost cause from the time the first underclassmen came whooping out of his dormitory this morning.

President Frederick L. Hovde, himself a former quarterback at Minnesota, took one look at 7,000 screaming students packed into the Hall of Music age gave unofficial approval to the holiday.

"Officially," Hovde said, "the university is in session. Unofficially, it is yours!"

Emotion was so intense in the spontaneous celebration that Coach Stuart K. Holcomb broke all precedent and promised that his team will win another ball game—from Iowa Oct. 21. That will be Purdue's first Western Conference contest. The school (See PURDUE, page 4)

The Grand Rapids team will arrive at Chapel Hill Monday, following 10 days of preliminary drills at their Michigan base. This will be the first professional basketball team from the Midwest to train in the South.

The major leaguers will play a series of exhibition games in this section, beginning at Norfolk, Va., on Saturday, Oct. 21, against Carolina's White Phantoms. The schedule closes Tuesday Nov. 7, at Raleigh's Reynolds Coliseum against the State College Wolfpack.

The pros' exhibition schedule follows:

October 1, Carolina at Norfolk, Va.; 5, aster All-Stars at Rocky Mount; 27, Carolina at Asheboro; 23, McCrary Eagles at Asheboro; 30, Lenoir Rhyne at Hickory 31, Elon College at Elon.

Nov. 1 Carolina at Charlotte; 2, Carolina at Woollen Gymnasium; 4, Carolina at Shelby 5, Western All-Stars at Asheville; 6, Piedmont All-Stars at Statesville; 7, State College at Raleigh.

Several tentative dates may be filled later.

Future Carolina Opponents Fail to Win In Weekend Battles; Past Foes Fail To Win

By Frank Allston, Jr.

Carolina's seven remaining gridiron opponents turned in a record of five wins and two losses in games played last weekend.

Wake Forest, Carolina's opponent for Saturday, Maryland and mighty Tennessee were the most impressive in their wins.

The Demon Deacons unleashed a pulverizing ground attack and mixed in a little passing with it to down William and Mary (here, Oct. 28), 47-0. Guido Scarton and Bill Miller were the big ground gainers for the Deacs.

Meanwhile over in Durham, Tennessee (Knoxville, Nov. 4) smashed Duke (here, Nov. 25), faking a late start and finally ending up on the long end of a 28-7 count. Fullback Hank Lauricella and Fullback Andy Kozar led the Vols on the attack while All-America end candidate Bud Sherrod stood out on defense. Duke's Billy Cox was completely stalled.

Maryland (here, Nov. 11) turned in one of the nation's biggest upsets, romping over highly-touted Michigan State, the nation's number two team last week, 34-7, at East Lansing. Ed (Mighty Mo) Modzelewski paced the Terps to their one-sided triumph.

South Carolina (Columbia, Nov. 18) had little trouble in knocking off tiny Furman, 21-6, on Friday night.

Virginia (Charlottesville, Dec. 2) crushed Virginia Tech, 45-6, at Roanoke. Johnny Papat, Jimmy Barkeley, Jimmy Lesane and a host of sophomore backs paced the Cavalier rout.

A pair of rivals whom the Tar Heels have already met this year went down in defeat.

Mighty Notre Dame had its winning streak abruptly snapped when unheralded Purdue blasted its way to a rousing 28-14 triumph over the Fighting Irish in Notre Dame Stadium. The loss marked the Irish's first setback in 39 games.

All-America Bob Williams was almost completely bottled up by a hard-charging Boilermaker line, and completed only seven passes in 20 tries.

N. C. State took a 27-0 shellac-ing from underrated Clemson. The Tigers scored freely with Calvert and Radcliffe shouldering the main offensive burden.

Wolfpack To Play Exhibition Match

RALEIGH, Oct. 9—(AP)—Outdoor basketball will be ushered in tomorrow night at Winston-Salem when N. C. State's Wolfpack opens a six-game exhibition schedule in a game against the Rochester Royals of the National Basketball Association.

A pre-game clinic will open the program at 7 o'clock with the game booked for 8 p.m. in Bowman Gray Memorial Stadium. The two teams will meet again in Raleigh Thursday night.

Track Meet Slated Here Saturday

Coach Dale Ranson expressed confidence yesterday as he ran his Tar Heel cindermen through a rugged workout on Fetzer Field in preparation for the three-way meet with VPI and Wake Forest Saturday.

Coach Ranson said yesterday that he is well satisfied with his squad, which includes six returning lettermen and several promising sophomores. Returning letterman Gordon Hamrick leads the pack in time trials on the four-mile course with a 22:14 mark, followed closely by sophomore Bobby Bird with 22:17.

The results of the time trials follow:

Frank Hooper, 22:21; Otis Honeycutt, 23:17; Jerry Lewis, 23:45; Tom Norman, 24:30; Bobby Webb, 24:39; Jack Bennett, 24:47; Bill Burgess, 24:51; John Ross, 24:52; Roy Solaski, 25:30; Clem Johnson, 25:34; Burkhalter, 26:15; Roger Peele, 26:26; Harley Jones, 28:00; Buck Matthews, 28:00; Tickle, 28:33; McCurdy, 29:22; and Smith, 29:22.

Frosh Meet Today

The frosh cindermen get their initial test today when they meet the Duke freshmen in Durham at 4 p. m.

John Kroeger and Russell Glatz lead the yearlings with Neal Lenon, Lloyd Bostian and Carlos Surratt close behind. Others on the squad are: Herman Dormire, Albert Troutman, Charles Higgans and Sam Blackwood.

Intramural Golf Entries Close Today

With tag football and tennis under way, the mural office announced yesterday that entries for Intramural golf close today with play beginning Thursday, October 12. Entries may be made by turning in a qualifying score for 18 holes to Ed Kenny at the Finley Golf Course.

Play in the novice singles division of the fall intramural tennis tournament, got under way yesterday, with 72 players expected to compete before the end of the tournament.

Results of each match are to be turned into the mural official in charge at the courts, or to the mural office.

The mural office has requested that it be notified before scheduled changes are made by the contestants.

The badminton and fencing clubs will meet at 7:15 tonight on the main floor of Woollen Gym. Everyone interested in either of the two sports is invited to attend. No experience is necessary.

Tar Heels Begin Work For Deacs; Miketa Out Of Action Indefinitely

With a win, a loss, and Saturday's rugged 0-0 tie with Georgia on the record books, Coach Carl Snavely and his Tar Heels squared away yesterday afternoon for another busy week in preparation for the important Big Four and Southern Conference clash with the Demon Deacons of Wake Forest in Kenan Stadium Saturday.

The Deacons, who were tied by Boston College, 7-7, in their opener have been building up steam as the season has progressed. They blasted Richmond, 43-0, two weeks ago, and Saturday unleashed what has been tabbed as one of the most powerful attacks in the South in swamping a fairly strong William and Mary eleven, 47-0 at Williamsburg.

Cavanaugh Present

Father John Cavanaugh, president of Notre Dame University, visited the Tar Heels at practice during the afternoon. Father Cavanaugh was in town for the inauguration of Gordon Gray as president of the University of North Carolina.

Carolina's offensive hopes were dimmed when it was disclosed by the University infirmary that Center Andy Miketa, who received a fractured cheekbone and a bad cut about the right eye Saturday against the Bulldogs, probably won't see any more action until the first of November.

Miketa, who has been handling the offensive pivot duties for the Tar Heels, received a nasty gash above his eye in the third quarter of the Georgia game. After having his eye stitched up on the sidelines, he was sent back into the game, only to have his cheekbone fractured a few plays later.

Andy Shveda, Tom Stevens, and Captain Huck Holdash, Tar Heel defensive anchor, were alternating at center in yesterday's drills. There was no word from the high command about who will do the centering Saturday against the Deacs. Holdash was sent in against Georgia when Miketa was hurt and handled both offensive and defensive chores for the remainder of the game.

With the shadow of the Wake Forest T-formation shutting out most of the sun from Navy field, Coach Snavely had his gridders working on defense against Deacon pass patterns, and in addition had the Tar Heel offensive unit brushing up on its own aerial attack.

Then, with the lights of Navy Field on, the Tar Heels worked late and hard on their running attack, with the offensive teams running against the freshmen. As usual, Billy Hayes, Dick Bunting, Paul Rizzo, and Bob (Goo Goo) Gantt were running in the first string backfield.

Blackerby to Play

Wake Forest, Oct. 9 — (AP) — Wake Forest's Demon Deacons worked on defense today against North Carolina plays as run by the third stringers.

New Carolina Sailing Team Is Winner In First Outing

The new Carolina sailing team won its inaugural meet Saturday by defeating St. Johns, Drexel University and Catholic University at the St. Johns Invitational Regatta.

Sailing in Tempest class dingies, Carolina won six out of 11 races to beat second place Drexel by five points.

Gib Schaeffer and Brad Cantwell sailed in Division A, and John Teigland and Ken Hoffman sailed in Division B. Skipper Schaeffer and Teigland started off with a bang by winning the first five races. They were ahead on points from the beginning and their initial lead was never threatened.

The racing was done on the Severn River, near the Naval Academy.

The standings ended as follows: Carolina, 45; Drexel, 40; Catholic University, 38; and St. Johns, 28. Schaeffer had the highest individual score with 26 points.

Each race was slightly more than a mile in length, and the wind was light to medium and fluky. The crews changed boats each race so that any slight difference in the speed of the boat would be eliminated.
