Rule On Visits Is Acted Upon By Coed Senate

All Women Students Are Honor Bound To Obey Standards

The Coed Senate passed a bill on Tuesday relating to the conduct of Women Students in Fraternity Houses.

Since the Coed visiting agreement, as previously negotiated by the House Privileges Board, has been discontinued, the agreement under which coeds may visit fraternity houses is now negotiated between the Interfraternity Council and the Dean of Students. Women students no longer participate in the above regulations, therefore, the Coed Senate inacted, in part, the following:

- 1—No woman student may enter any fraternity house prior to 11 a. m. and may not remain after Coed hours.
- 2—Women students are allowed to enter any room except those used as living quarters, or those closed by individual fraternity regulations.
- 3—Women students are not permitted to consume alcoholic beverages in the houses, nor are they permitted to remain in the presence of any person consuming alcoholic beverages. Women students are honor bound to abide by these rules.
- 4—Fraternity houses are closed to Women students after graduation and will be opened on the third day of classes of the summer session. They may not enter the fraternity houses after the close of the Summer Session until the first day of classes of the fall term. These dates must coincide, however, with those provided for in the Interfraternity Council's agreement.
- 5—Women students may not enter the SAE West House, the Beta Cottage, or the Delta Psi annex.
- 6—This bill is subject to amendment at any time that the Coed Senate deems advisable.
- 7—Violations will be handled by the Women's Council.

Vacation

Herbert Block, noted cartoonist whose pen and ink creations appear on the editorial page of The Daily Tar Heel, is taking a three-week vacation.

Readers will find his place taken by Pulitzer-prize winner Daniel R. Fitzpatrick of the St. Louis Times-Dispatch.

Fitzpatrick and Herblock are recognized as America's two foremost cartoonists.

THIS IS ONE OF THE LATEST pictures of Al Jolson, the famous "Mammy" singer, who died suddenly in San Francisco Monday night. It was taken while he was entertaining front line troops in Korea last month. Jolson was 64. His death was attributed to coronary occlusion. Jolson's family and lawyer also stated that his recent trip to Korea was a major factor in causing his death.

Jolson's Last Rites Will Be Held Today

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 25—Funeral services for singer Al Jolson who stunned the entertainment world with his death last Monday night, will be held here at noon today.

Jewish rites will be conducted by Rabbi Max Nussbaum at Temple Israel on Hollywood Boulevard, not far from the sector where Jolson's name had so often appeared in the glittering theater lights.

The 64-year-old singing comedian died in his hotel room in San Francisco of a coronary occlusion, a form of heart attack caused by either a blood clot or hardening of the arteries.

His body was flown here yesterday afternoon after being viewed by many San Franciscans in a funeral chapel.

Jolson had just returned from Korea two weeks ago where he appeared in 42 performances before GIs.

The weekly theatrical magazine Variety said yesterday that the singer had left more than $4,000,000 and that most of it will go to charity after "certain specific bequests are made."

The money will go to Jewish, Catholic, and Protestant charities and to educational institutions, Variety said.

The publication also reported that Jolson left generous trust funds for his fourth wife and widow, the former Erle Chenault Galbraith, and their two adopted children.

Other money was slated for needy students at New York University, City College of New York, and at Columbia University.

Jolson's death came as a shock to a large part of the entertainment world.

"There can never be another Al Jolson," said comedian Eddie Cantor when he was told of Jolson's passing.

Jack Benny, long time friend of Jolson, was "too shocked and speechless" to comment.

10th Marines Hit Coastline To Back Drive

TOKYO, Thursday, Oct. 26—(UP)—U. S. Marines of the 50,000-man 10th Corps landed at the east coast port of Wonsan today to back up a United Nations drive to the Manchurian border.

The unopposed landings in a city already captured by the South Koreans came as a captured Chinese soldier said 20,000 Chinese troops have moved into defensive positions in North Korea.

The landing by the troops that captured Seoul was delayed by one of the most extensive fields of Russian-made mines in the history of warfare.

Under the new setup, Sanders said, "In cases appealed from the Women's Council and Men's Council, it will be possible for the Student Council to review the actual testimony. Thus, it will be possible for the Student Council to determine whether they should hear the appeal without summoning the people involved before the Council."

But in the words of Maj. Gen. O. P. Smith, commander of the 1st Marines, "History got ahead of us."

New Recorder Will Be Used For Councils

Machine Suggested For Trial Hearings At Summer Session

By Paul Barwick
John Sanders, Student Body president, has announced that the Student Council has received a tape recorder which will be used in trials before the Men's, Women's, and Student Councils. The Summer Student Council purchased the machine after much consideration as to the need of a recorder in improving the efficiency of the Council's operation.

The idea of such a recorder has been considered in the Student Council for some time. Dan Bell, Summer Student Body chairman, and Dan Ashby, sec-treasurer of Summer Student Body, took the initiative and purchased the machine last summer.

Ashby said that "too much vagueness in some of the trials this summer revealed the pertinent need of a tape recorder." The machine will be used by both the Men's and Women's Councils in order that all cases being appealed can be reviewed by the Student Council.

In the past, the inadequacy of the record-keeping system of the lower Councils has needlessly complicated the hearing of appeal cases by the Student Council.

Under the new setup, Sanders said, "In cases appealed from the Women's Council and Men's Council, it will be possible for the Student Council to review the actual testimony. Thus, it will be possible for the Student Council to determine whether they should hear the appeal without summoning the people involved before the Council."

Honor Code Debated By Phi Group

At a meeting Monday night the Philanthropic Assembly discussed the Judicial System, on the campus.

The Assembly was introduced to a bill providing for every student violating the Honor Code to be granted a public trial, and the right to confront his accusers.

After deliberated debate the bill was finally defeated on the grounds that counsel was unnecessary since there is no prosecution in the real sense of the word.

The Phi Assembly has changed its hour of meeting for the fall quarter to 8:30 p. m.

"The singing of Rise Stevens holds a winning fascination that is hers alone . . . everything she sings is fresh and appealing," said one critic.

Tonight the multi-field artist will present a program in six parts, embracing many of her most famous selections.

Mr. Smith is her concert accompanist on the piano.

Since her operatic debut in 1936, Miss Stevens has also gained prominence in other realms. She appeared in "The Chocolate Soldier" opposite Nelson Eddy, co-starred with Bing Crosby in "Going My Way," and played in the musical extravaganza, "Carnegie Hall."

With such prominence as attained by this famous star of opera, concert, radio, screen and recording, it is no wonder that the American public want to see and hear Rise Stevens.

NSA Report Tonight Might Cause Blast

By Rolfe Neill
The Student Legislature, well from a plague of vacancies and possessed with the urge to do some concrete legislative work this year, wades into one of its most controversial topics tonight—the National Students Association.

The law-makers will meet at 7 p. m., 30 minutes earlier than customary, in the Di Hall in New West Building, Speaker Herb Mitchell said yesterday.

Actually, the NSA subject is slated to come up in a report by Herman Seiber, former campus chairman. However, discussion is expected afterwards.

Seiber's report will discuss the outcome of a student committee's talks with Chapel Hill merchants about better merchant-student relationships.

Ben James, campus financier and reported student body presidential aspirant, has been one of the main leaders against the NSA program at Carolina. In last week's meeting, he criticized the organization sharply, comparing it with the high school honor society.

As far as it can be learned, no bill on NSA is to be brought up tonight, though.

Mitchell said yesterday he had appointed nine persons to vacancies in the Legislature and would ask their confirmation tonight. Usually, the approval is no more than a formality. The final power balance in the 50-member body will give the Uni-

U.S. Fighter Is Shot Down

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25—(UP)—An American F-51 fighter plane patrolling the Korea-Manchurian border was shot down Tuesday, apparently by Chinese Communist ground batteries, the Air Force disclosed today.

The pilot, who was not immediately identified, ditched his craft in the Yellow Sea and was rescued immediately by a United Nations Naval vessel.

Officials said reports reaching here did not give full details, but indicated the plane was on a specific reconnaissance mission along the Yalu River which divides North Korea and Red Manchuria. Except for specific missions, U. N. planes normally are ordered to remain at least 20 miles south of the border.

Swedish Professor Talks Again Tonight

Dr. Otto Andersson, noted folklorist and musicologist, will present the second lecture of his current visit to the University at 8:30 tonight in the faculty room of the Morehead Planetarium.

Dr. Andersson is a professor at the Swedish University of Abo, in Finland, and is visiting the campus through the auspices of the University Folklore Council, the North Carolina Folklore Society, and the Graham Memorial Student Union.
