Herman Concert Starts Weekend; Rally 7:30

Pep Meeting Will Include Several Skits

By Don Maynard
Tonight's "Beat William and Mary" pep rally in Memorial Hall will be an all-star event, according to University Club member Fred Prescott, with the UC itself, Woody Herman, and Coach Bob Fetzer sharing top billing.

Scheduled to begin at 7:30, the gathering will be sandwiched between a Herman concert at 4 p.m. and a Herman-German formal dance tonight beginning at 9 o'clock.

There will be a gala program at the rally, according to producer Prescott. The University Club members will present a set of skits aimed at deflating the William and Mary Indians.

The University's squad of cheerleaders and the University band will be on hand to add to the color, Prescott said. He expects that Herman and Fetzer will step onstage to say a few words to the student body.

Bob Green, of the Card Board, will display and explain the 20 card stunts scheduled for tomorrow's Kenan Stadium halftime demonstration.

With a capacity crowd of some 1,850 students expected to cheer their way into Memorial, Prescott smilingly advised that students attend the concert and hold their seats while the University Club stage crew shifts scenes for the rally.

Riley Named Publications' New Adviser

Professor Jack Riley of the School of Journalism has been named as a faculty member of the Publications Board, Board Chairman Zane Robbins said yesterday.

Riley, who came here this fall, fills a seat left vacant after the resignation of Dr. John T. O'Neal, assistant Dean of the School of Business Administration.

Board member Riley came to the University faculty this fall after serving for several years as Sunday Editor of the Raleigh News and Observer. He is currently teaching newswriting, country journalism, and feature writing in the Journalism School.

Robbins, in announcing the appointment, said "the board believes that Mr. Riley will give the same loyal and continuous service as was rendered by Dr. O'Neal."

Riley was appointed by Chancellor R. B. House upon recommendations of the Publications Board. Dr. O'Neal was forced to resign because of "pressing duties" in his job in the Business Administration School.

Professor Gerry Barrett of the School of Business Administration is the other faculty member of the Board.

Where's Jim?

Not where's Charlie, but where's Jim? That's what Herb Mitchell, speaker of the Student Legislature wanted to know last night.

It seems the Carolina Solons were scheduled to have their Yackety Yack pictures made at 8 o'clock. At 9 o'clock, Mitchell announced he'd discovered that the picture-taking was to be at Graham Memorial, not in the meeting place—Di Hall.

"So Editor Jim Mills gets a second chance next week," Herb good naturedly cracked.

Train Tickets Still On Sale For Tenn. Trip

Plans for the "trip of the year" were reaching final stages this week, and students yesterday were reminded to purchase reserved seats on the "Tennessee Special" at the special $13.11 price.

Jerry Sternberg, president of the University Club, said the round-trip train tickets will continue to be sold during most of next week. However, he cautioned students to purchase tickets as early as possible in order that the number of train cars necessary may be determined.

Plans call for two club cars to be included in the train. The train is scheduled to arrive in Knoxville well ahead of game time. It will leave the Tennessee city late Saturday night.

"Tennessee will undoubtedly be one of our toughest opponents," Sternberg said. "We will need to give the boys plenty of backing to win. This is going to be the trip of the year and the best away game on our schedule."

Other plans call for a pep rally in downtown Knoxville Saturday morning followed by a parade.

The game will be Tennessee's homecoming.

Snook, Pace Debate Voting

A Daily Tar Heel columnist and an unsuccessful candidate for the State Legislature will oppose each other in a discussion on "Vote for 18 Year Olds?" to be held at 8 o'clock Sunday night in the Grail Room of Graham Memorial.

Nonplus writer Harry Snook will take the negative side in the weekly Carolina Political Union discussion. Recently, in editorial page column, Snook came out against 18 year olds voting.

Pace, who ran for the Legislature last year but was disqualified because he was too young, will speak for the 18-year-old voting. In Durham two weeks ago, Pace said he was circulating petitions to present to the Legislature to pass a bill to allow 18 year olds to vote. Also, he declared he would run again for a legislative post.

The public is invited to attend.

Red China Protests Americans In Korea

LONDON, Oct. 26—(UP)—Communist China in its fifth and strongest protest to the United Nations accused the United States today of trying to "extend aggressive war" to Manchuria through attacks by U. S. military planes on Chinese territory.

The protest, announced by the Communist New China News Agency, cited nine alleged instances

Memorial Hall Concert Will Begin At 4

By Andy Taylor
The year's first big weekend, combining the highlights of German Club dances and Homecoming, gets underway on campus this afternoon with the Woody Herman concert from 4 to 6 o'clock in Memorial Hall.

All ticket holders will enter through one front door, which will open at 3:30. There will be ticket punchers on either side of the door and students are asked to form two lines and not form a crowd in front of the entrance.

From 9 until 1 o'clock tonight, Woolen Gymnasium will be the scene of the first two scheduled formal dances. The second will take place tomorrow night from 8 until 12 o'clock. Herman's 15-piece band will provide the music for both affairs.

Tomorrow morning, displays featuring the theme of "Beat the Indians" and "Welcome Alumni" will be sported by the various campus dormitories, fraternities, and sororities.

Judging of the displays will get underway at 9 a. m. Winners in the various divisions will be awarded cups.

The organizations are also sponsoring candidates from among the coed population for Homecoming Queen. The winner will be the girl sponsored by the organization with the best judged display.

All candidates for Queen must gather in the main lounge of Graham Memorial at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning. The winner will be crowned queen in Kenan Stadium just before game time tomorrow afternoon.

Among those who will act as judges for the displays are Assistant Dean of Students Bill Friday, Charlie Teague, Dr. J. B. Linker, Dean of Students Fred Weaver, and Dean E. L. Mackie.

The highlight of the weekend will be the Carolina-William and Mary football clash in Kenan Stadium at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

14th Air Force CO Visits Reserve Units

Maj. Gen. Charles E. Thomas, Jr., Commanding General of the 14th Air Force, was on campus yesterday to visit the AROTC and Air Reserve Units at the University.

He was welcomed at a luncheon with the University officials in the afternoon and spent the remainder of the day visiting various offices on the campus.

Today and tomorrow he will visit the Duke and State campuses before returning to his headquarters at Warner Robins Air Force Base, Ga.

Candy, Girl, And Couch

Having Tough Time With The Gal? This Candy Might Make Her Sweet

NEW YORK, Oct. 26—(UP)—All a young man needs today to psychoanalyze his girl friend is a couch and a box of candy.

Both patient and doctor sit on the couch and he hands the gal a freshly opened box of candy as recently revamped by a New York expert on sweets, George T. Sweetser.

"We decided to change what I call the 'Roadmap' that comes on top our boxes of candy," George explained, "it's the diagram that customarily tells whether a chunk of candy in the box is cream-filled, chewy or with nuts."

Sweetser said he figured people were getting bored with such

Play Is Slated Admission Free By Playmakers

'String Concerto' To Be Criticized After Performance

Martha Nell Hardy's three-act play, "First String Concerto," will be presented free of charge tonight and tomorrow night in the Playmakers Theater at 7:30. The play is a fastmoving, action-packed comedy involving football players, psychologists, and professors at a small midwestern college. Disagreement arises between students and teachers as to whether an All-America candidate should devote himself to music or football. The conflict is resolved in laugh-a-minute fashion, by the psychologist.

Mrs. Hardy, the wife of William Hardy, general manager of "The Lost Colony," has never written a full-length play before.

After each night's performance there will be an open discussion on the merits of the play led by Samuel Selden, Chairman of the Department of Dramatic Art. The author will be present to explain her ideas, and printed forms will also be distributed for written comments.

Rockefeller Makes Gift To College

HANOVER, N. H., Oct. 26—(UP)—A $250,000 student scholarship gift from John D. Rockefeller, Jr., was disclosed today by Dartmouth College President John S. Dickey who said the money was for the use of sons of Dartmouth men killed in World War II.

Dickey said the funds would be added as a permanent endowment to the Ernest Martin Hopkins Scholarships which were established by the College trustees in 1945 when Hopkins retired as the institution's president.

The Hopkins Scholarships provide full tuition, room and board for sons of Dartmouth men who died in service during the war. When there no longer are eligibles for these scholarships, Dickey said, the Rockefeller gift, actually made last June, would be used for General Scholarships for worthy students.

UNC Student-Merchant Plan Explained Before Legislature

GUY B. PHILLIPS

Dean Phillips Will Explain School Issue

Dean Guy B. Phillips of the School of Education and Dr. E. C. Belmeier of Duke will lead discussions before the League of Women Voters Wednesday, at 8 o'clock in the Chapel Hill Town Hall.

The talks will concern administration of schools and the functioning of school boards. The discussion will be followed by an open forum.

The meeting is one of three being sponsored by the League for the study of Orange County schools.

Dean Phillips is one of the leading figures in public education in North Carolina and is head of the University summer school sessions.

The public and students are invited to attend the meeting.

Men's Interdorm Officers Named

Officers were elected at the second meeting of the Men's Interdormitory Council, representing 19 dormitories, Monday night.

Those elected were Ted Leonard, Dormitory adviser, president; Bod Creed, a hold-over member, vice-president; Bill Roth, C Dormitory adviser, secretary, and Bill Branch, Lewis Dormitory president, secretary.

These men will represent the Council for the coming year.

UN Rok Regiment Reaches Manchuria

Chinese Reds Encountered In Korea; Prisoners Claim 20,000 Now Fighting

TOKYO, Friday, Oct. 27—(UP)—South Korean troops reached the Manchurian border Thursday and there were growing reports today that Chinese Communists were fighting the United Nations forces in Korea.

A spokesman for the U. S. Korean military advisory group at Seoul said the 7th Regiment of the Republic of Korea 6th Division stabled to the Yalu River boundary at 5:30 p.m. (3:30 a.m. EST).

The South Koreans drove the thin wedge through enemy lines after a drive overland of 375 miles from their old positions in the former Pusan beachhead.

They reached the border six weeks and one day after start of the war as enemy defenses stiffened across the northern part of Korea and as the 10th Corps—Marines and Army infantrymen—grouped on the east coast for a knockout punch.

Maj. Gen. Edward M. Almond, commander of the 10th Corps, said the landings at Wonsan meant the drive toward Manchuria was on in force. Arrival of his 50,000 men brought to 170,000 the total UN forces now arrayed against the enemy.

Spearheads of the 6th ROK Division which has been in the thick of fighting throughout the campaign stabled up the main road 18 miles from Kojang and sent patrols to the river three miles past Chosan, 100 miles inland from the west coast.

This unit was reported meeting no opposition, but the rest of the division ran into heavy resistance, Korean headquarters reported in Seoul.

A field dispatch from Anju said the 2nd Regiment of the 6th was surrounded by either North Koreans or Chinese Communists in Red uniforms near Sangwong-dong to the south of Kojang. The regiment previously met almost no resistance.

Students who wish to be recorded for posterity in the Yackety-Yack for 1951 have their last chance today.

Yearbook Editor Jim Mills said yesterday that the contract with the picture-taking crew ends tonight and all students who have not yet had their pictures taken must do so by 7:30 tonight.

Proofs of all pictures taken during the five-week period are on hand in the Main Lounge of Graham Memorial. Students should check in at the proof table as soon as they receive notice to check the picture they wish to have run in the yearbook. If they don't, the Yack staff will pick the print.

Mills pointed out that fraternity sections are made up of pictures taken for the class pages. He noted that unless more people have their pictures made today, some fraternity layouts will be almost bare.

Largest Audience Attends Funeral

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 26—(UP)—Al Jolson drew his greatest—and a near-riotous—audience in death today.

So huge was the funeral gathering outside Temple Israel that police had to lock hands to keep the throng of more than 20,000 persons in check.

The great mammy singer's funeral was delayed nearly 15 minutes by the pressing, milling crowd which jammed Hollywood Boulevard and kept many of the invited mourners from reaching the Temple.

Rise Stevens Packs House For Concert

By Edd Davis
There are two little words, but words that are completely accurate, that would describe the concert given by Rise Stevens, popular Metropolitan Opera Star, in Memorial Hall last night—super-ter-rific.

More than 2,000 UNC students swelled the hall, taking every bit of sitting and standing room that was available. They sat on the windows, stood in the aisles and yet there remained throngs outside that were not able to squeeze into the overflowing building.

Miss Stevens made an immediate impression on the large audience even before she had begun her first number. Her gracious and overwhelming beauty was magnificently and desirably breathtaking.

Miss Stevens' opening number, "Where'er You Walk," from "Semele," exploited to the fullest her unusual ability as a concert artist.

Probably the most enthusiastically received was the second group on the program, a group of Negro spirituals. This group, expertly performed by (See CONCERT, page 4)

Finale Comes For Absentee After Curtain

GREENSBORO, Oct. 26—(AP)—The young man played his role excellently, a role in which he portrayed a policeman and in a uniform borrowed from the Greensboro Police Department.

He took the role in "Arsenic and Old Lace," a production given by the Playmakers of the Woman's College of the University here. There were three acts to the play, but the fourth—and unscheduled—act which took place behind the scenes as the audience filed from the auditorium, was the most interesting.

The name the actor gave was Richard Devern and he had agreed to play one of the male roles in the production given by the girls at the college.

When he walked off the stage, however, a couple of military policemen from Fort Bragg, who had been waiting in the wings, took him in custody as James Palmer Mattox of Jacksonville, Fla. They said he had been AWOL from the 82nd Airborne Division at Fort Bragg since July 26.
