American Force Moves Toward Soviet Border

Troops Are Within 38 Miles Of Line On Eastern Coast

TOKYO, Wednesday, Nov. 1.—(UP)—American forces rolling up the east and west coasts of Korea made non-stop drives toward the Manchurian and Soviet borders today in an effort to seize as much territory as possible before the revived enemy army has a chance to make a last stand.

The commanders of the U. S. 24th and 7th Divisions ordered their men to drive toward the northern border of Korea as fast as possible.

The 24th's deepest thrust was made to a point within 25 miles of Manchuria on western Korea's "lifeline" highway. When last heard from, the U. S. 7th Division was within 38 miles of the border on the east coast.

The weary 24th Division veterans of more than four months of bloody Korean warfare were ordered to keep going, without pausing to sleep, throughout last night. Their commander expected them to reach the border tonight.

Maj. Gen. Edward M. Almond, commander of the United Nations 10th Corps, of which the 7th Division is a part, instructed the Americans to spear north as far as possible before the enemy's well-organized new defense army has a chance to counter-attack.

Tanks Repel Puerto Rican Rebel Force

SAN JUAN, P. R., Oct. 31.—(UP)—National Guard units led by planes and tanks fought today against the last remnants of a two-day anti-American nationalist revolt labeled officially as "lunacy."

Latest police casualty figures were 30 persons killed and dozens wounded. Unofficial estimates placed the fatalities at approximately 40.

There were new scattered nationalist outbreaks in San Juan and Arecibo. The Island Capital and other cities were turned into armed camps, alerted for possible new attacks.

Gov. Luis Munoz Marin whom nationalists assassins narrowly missed yesterday, said Jayuya, one of the last rebel strongholds, in the center of the island, was "under complete control," with guardsmen and police in full charge.

National Guard reinforcements then moved on to Utuado, northwest of Jayuya, where 34 guardsmen were besieged by nationalists and latest word indicated that the situation there was in hand, Munoz said.

The island's first popularly-elected Governor described the uprising an act of "lunacy." He said the worst was over and estimated the island would be completely normal in a day or two.

Munoz said that as far as he knew no bombing was done by National Guard planes and that except for one bridge that was strafed by one plane, there was no strafing.

He denounced the nationalists as "gangsters" with a "fanatical desire to become some kind of martyrs in accordance with their strange ideology."

LSU Admits First Negro Under Ruling

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 31.—(AP)—Louisiana State University today accepted a Negro student for the first time in its 90-year history.

He is Roy S. Wilson, 30, of Ruston, La., who expects to live in a campus dormitory and attend his first class tomorrow. Wilson registered today as a student in the LSU Law School after a Federal Court ordered his admission.

The three-judge court in New Orleans yesterday ordered the admission of qualified Negroes to the school, but left the way open for an appeal direct to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Wilson, who holds a Bachelor of Science degree from Grambling College, near his home, arrived here by airliner from New Orleans today. He was accompanied by an Orleans Negro lawyer.

The LSU Board of Supervisors recently rejected applications for enrollment by Wilson and 11 other Negroes. The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People accepted Wilson's request for legal aid and his suit for admission was then filed.

"The university must abide by the court's decree. He can attend classes as soon as he has finished registering, although it is not completely practical to enter law after a term has begun," according to George McMahon, an LSU official.

Tureaud, speaking for Wilson, said he is scheduled to pay his fees and get his books tomorrow morning. He will attend his first class in the LSU Law Building then, Tureaud said. He described their reception at the LSU registrar's office as "very friendly, very courteous."

Last Day

Tomorrow is the last day for general college students to sign preregistration appointment books in the South Building lobby.

After then appointments will have to be made in Room 308, South Building.

The official preregistration begins next Wednesday and ends Nov. 22.

Two Kenan Rioters Arraigned In Court

Post-Game Mixup Brings Charges Of Assault With Deadly Weapon

By Don Maynard

Two men arrested at the Kenan Stadium riot following the Carolina-Wake Forest football game Oct. 14 were called into Recorder's Court yesterday morning to answer charges of assault with a deadly weapon and secret assault.

But one was acquitted and the other failed his bond. Billy Lloyd Ritter, 21-year-old mill worker of Greensboro, appearing on the assault with a deadly weapon charge, was declared not guilty through lack of evidence by Judge John Manning.

Thomas Biddle, 37, of Laurinburg, S. C., was released on $500 bond following his arrest on the secret assault charge, but failed to appear in court. Judge Manning set his bond at $1,500 and issued a writ of habeas corpus. The case was continued to next Tuesday.

The State charged in the Ritter case that the accused threw a soft drink bottle into a milling mob of about 1,000 people rioting in the stadium. The bottle struck Elliott Hole, a 15-year-old Carrboro lad, in the head, the state maintained.

There was only one eyewitness available in the Ritter case, police here said. He was 56-year-old Ralph Copeland of White Cross. It was learned yesterday that Copeland died of a heart attack a week ago. The only other witness was Hole, who said he did not see who threw the bottle.

Seven Carolina students were brought before Judge Manning in the mornings' session. The docket:

Johnnie Gay, affray, $5 and costs.

Woodson Fearing, public drunkenness, costs.

Robert G. Fowler, passing red light, costs.

Robert Rogers, speeding, $10 and costs.

Edward S. Williams, speeding, costs.

Aubrey C. Darr, Jr., no operator's license, passing on right, $15 and costs.

Mrs. J. M. O'Hare, no operator's license, $10 and costs.

Students Burn Protest Cross At 'Ole Miss'

OXFORD, Miss., Oct. 31.—(AP)—A flaming cross lit the University of Mississippi campus last night as a group of students protested a school newspaper editorial calling for admission of Negroes to state colleges.

Thomas Guion, a senior at 'Ole Miss' and a correspondent for a Jackson newspaper, said the burning cross drew a curious crowd, estimated at 2,000.

Students who circled the cross chanted "We want Krebs' resignation. We want a new editor."

Harry Krebs, editor of the Mississippian and writer of the editorial, was blocked in his room by students who jammed the hall of his dormitory.

The editorial appeared in the Mississippian in last week's issue.

Rep. John Rankin (D-Miss) in a talk yesterday in Tupelo, said it was "shocking."

Chancellor J. D. Williams said the editorial did not represent the school policy.

"State law requires the segregation," he said.

Stubbs Is SP Candidate For Freshman President

Cam Stubbs, freshman from Sumter, S. C., and a member of the Student Legislature, was nominated by the Student Party Monday night to run for president of his class in the fall elections to be held this month.

At its weekly meeting in Graham Memorial, the SP also considered nominations to run for the vice presidential post. Ken Myers and Gene Cook, with the votes on three separate ballots, will be in a runoff next Monday to choose the candidate for this position from the party.

Peggy O'Neill and Sue Ambler were nominated for class secretary.

Bill Prince, chairman of the Orientation Committee, gave a Student Legislature report to the group. Dick Murphy, attorney-general of the student body, gave a summary of the aims and ideals of the National Students Association.

At the party meeting this Monday, other nominations will be made for campus positions, Chairman Bob Evans said.

Tibet Boy Dalai Lama Seeks Refuge In India

NEW DELHI, India, Oct. 31.—(UP)—The Boy Dalai Lama of Tibet has asked the Indian government for asylum for himself and his government and is preparing to flee his capital to escape the invading Chinese Communists, well informed sources said today.

Latest advices said the Communists were within 150 miles of Lhasa, the capital, advancing slowly through heavy snowdrifts along the age-old silk caravan route from China.

The report that the 15-year-old Dalai Lama, spiritual and temporal ruler of the little Himalayan country, was preparing to flee came as the Chinese Communists replied to the strong protest of Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru against their invasion. Well-informed sources said that the Peking government told Nehru:

1—Tibet is an integral part of China. The invasion is a domestic operation.

2—The invasion was ordered as a security measure to defend Chinese territory and thwart "military intervention by foreign powers."

3—The Communist government still intends to settle its problems with Tibet through peaceful negotiation, and awaits the arrival of a Tibetan mission which is now in India.

Nehru, who has long sponsored the admittance of the Chinese Communist to United Nations membership, expressed his "surprise and regret" to Peking last Friday at reports of the invasion.

Beat Duke Floats To Vie For Cup; Coed To Be Queen

Plans for the annual Beat Dook float parade, to be sponsored by the Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity on Tuesday, Nov. 21, got underway yesterday with the mailing of entrance blanks to all campus fraternities, dormitories, and sororities.

Rules for the affair require that these applications be returned to the PiKA House by 4 o'clock on Thursday afternoon, Nov. 16.

Any organization may enter a float in the parade as well as select a candidate for Float Parade Queen. There is no entrance fee for any of the activities.

The parade will begin in front of Woollen Gymnasium at 3 p.m., immediately after the judging has been completed. Coeds being sponsored for Float Queen and their dates will be guests at dinner at the PiKA House that night and the Queen will be chosen by judges afterwards.

Deadline for turning in names of Queen candidates is Tuesday, Nov. 14.

Winners in the four divisions of the competition — dormitory, (men's and women's), sorority, and fraternity—will be awarded silver trophies, which are now on display in the Y.

Entry blanks should be filled out and returned to Guy Rawls, contest chairman, at the PiKA House.

Former FDR Son-In-Law Is NY Suicide

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—(UP)—John Boettiger, 50, the former son-in-law of Franklin D. Roosevelt, overpowered a male nurse and dived to his death at sunrise today from a seventh floor hotel window.

Boettiger succeeded in killing himself after failing in a suicide attempt last Saturday when he took an overdose of sleeping pills which made him unconscious for two days. His physician tried to persuade him to enter a psychiatric hospital yesterday but he refused.

The former newspaperman, who wooed and won the late President's only daughter, Anna, while covering the White House for the Chicago Tribune, left two notes to his third wife, the former Mrs. Virginia Lunn. One said: "Good night, darling. We love you."

At the time of her husband's death, Mrs. Boettiger was flying here from California because of his first suicide attempt and to be with him on their first wedding anniversary tomorrow. She shrieked "Oh, no!" and fell sobbing to her knees when told the news at La Guardia Airport shortly before noon.

Joseph Payne, a 24-year-old nurse who struggled in vain to prevent Boettiger's death plunge, told police the story of his patient's last hours.

Paynes said Boettiger ordered some ice cream about 10 o'clock last night and then spent two hours talking about his family.

"We talked of his wife and how charming she was," Payne said. "We talked of the Roosevelt family. He said Mrs. Roosevelt was one of the sweetest women in the world."

Then Payne said, Boettiger asked for stationary and wrote his wife a letter. Then he asked Payne to raise the window as far as it would go. Payne obeyed, to humor his patient, placed an overstuffed chair by the sill and gave Boettiger a sedative.

Fire Danger At Colleges

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—(UP)—A safety engineer said tonight that "colleges and universities are woefully unprepared for the existing dangers of residence hall fires."

John J. Ahern, director of fire protection and safety engineering at Illinois Institute of Technology, said "College students have become the step-children of the safety movement."

"Many colleges are not aware of the hazards they are harboring," he said. Except in the larger state-supported universities, even minimum precautions for the protection of students are sadly and dangerously lacking," Ahern said.

He said the traditional dormitory, fraternity and sorority type of building was "built to burn and to burn quickly."

Nov. 16 Set For Further Discussions

21 Delegates To Be Chosen From UNC For State Student Legislative Meet

Students desiring to be selected as delegates to the annual North Carolina Student Legislative Assembly to be held in Raleigh at the end of this month, should attend a meeting at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon in the student government office.

Dick Murphy, UNC student president of the Interim Council, yesterday in making the selection announcement, said there will be 21 delegates and seven alternate delegates chosen from Carolina.

The assembly composed of students from colleges and junior colleges all over the State, will meet at the capital Nov. 30 through Dec. 2.

Murphy asked that students attend the meeting whether or not they are chosen as official delegates.

The assembly each year introduces and votes on bills to be passed on to the State Legislature. Last year these bills included provision for supervision and control of the state penal institutions, a declaration of human rights, and a provision for inspection of motor vehicles in North Carolina.

Those on the Carolina committee to select students are George Rodman, Speaker of the Philanthropic Assembly; Jim Lamm, Speaker of the Dialectic Senate; John Sanders and Glenn Harden, Carolina representatives on the Interim Council, and Murphy.

Di Votes For De-Emphasis Of Football

After nearly two hours of debate, the Dialectic Senate Monday night voted 14 to 13 in favor of a bill calling for de-emphasis of football.

Dr. A. G. Enstrom, of the French Department, opened the debate by speaking for the bill. He told of how professional college football "is crowding academics out of the picture."

Dr. Enstrom pointed out that while Carolina has the second best graduate school in the South, there are few people who know of its renown in educational circles. "Instead, each week the people of the state are told in great detail about the accomplishments of the football team," he said.

Several speakers were opposed to the bill, but a final vote of both Senators and visitors showed 27 for the measure and 25 against.

Next week, the Di will discuss a proposal to write in the name of Senator Frank P. Graham on the ballot this month.

Clyde Baker, Harold Schaeffer, and Will London recently were sworn in as new members of the Di Senate, and Archie Myatt has been appointed by Speaker Jim Lamm to replace Walter Allen on the Carolina Forum.

Gene Cook, Dub Graham, and Bill Walker were accepted as conditional members.

Jerry Sternberg, club president, said pledges from Zeta Beta Tau, Delta Chi Alpha, Alpha Tau Omega, and Sigma Chi will lead the parade. Sternberg indicated the club would try to get a famous Carolina alumnus to speak at the pre-game rally.

In other business, the club commended the work of Joe Chambliss, Paul Kenan, and Sternberg for handling the William and Mary game ceremonies.

Announcements of the rally committee for the Maryland game were made. Buddy Herman is chairman and will be assisted by Sonny Cochrell, Jane Neighbors, Meg Snibles, Paul Windslow, John Slem, John Poindexter, and Charlie Highsmith.

U.S. Atomic Submarine Progressing; Cost High

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—(UP)—An atomic engineer indicated tonight that development of an atomic-powered submarine is progressing and that the first model may cost about $40,000,000.

The engineer, K. A. Kesselring, of the Knolls Atomic Power Laboratory, operated by General Electric at Schenectady for the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission, disclosed that the atomic submarine will make obsolete the conventional type submarine of which Russia is said to have at least 350.

Kesselring told the American Society of Mechanical Engineers that the atomic submarine could

NC Solon Hopefuls To Meet Tomorrow

The question of whether or not Carolina wants a sixth sorority received an overwhelming "yes" in results released yesterday from a coed poll in which undergraduate women voted seven to one in favor of a new Greek letter group.

Katherine Carmichael, Dean of Women, reported yesterday that a joint decision by the Special Committee on Sorority Problems, the University's Administration and the Pan Hellenic Council will determine whether a new sorority will be admitted, and if so, what sorority.

In the survey conducted by the Coed senate Thursday night, 480 of 621 undergraduate women voted. Of this number, 363 were for a new organization, 53 were against it, and 64 indicated no preference.

The Special Committee on Sorority Problems will meet on Nov. 16 to issue a report and decide on the question, according to Dean Carmichael, Chairman of the committee.

"The report will be combined with those of the administration and the Pan Hellenic Council to reach the final decision," she said.

The special committee met last Sunday to formulate a procedure whereby another sorority may open a chapter at the University. The rules set up are:

(1) "A sorority wishing to start a chapter should apply by January of the year in question both to the Pan Hellenic Council and to the Special Committee on Sorority Problems, using the form application which will be provided on request."

(2) "If the new chapter is approved by the Pan Hellenic Council, the Special Committee on Sorority Problems, and the Administration, the national organization should send a 'colonizing' group of girls in the spring term."

(3) "During the spring and summer, the colonizing sorority must get acquainted with the campus, find satisfactory housing accommodations, and obtain the charter for the chapter."

(4) "The new sorority may (See SORORITY, page 4)

Henderson Named

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Dr. Archibald Henderson of the University of North Carolina, tonight was elected president of the Shaw Society of America at its organizational dinner.
