

Blue Devils Ruin Tar Heel Soccer Record With 3-0 Win

Schaefer Hits For Two Goals In 2nd Half

By Ken Barton
 DURHAM, Oct. 31—Hopes for an unbeaten season for the Carolina soccer team burned out this afternoon under a hot sun that hung over the Duke soccer field, as the Blue Devil Booters dumped the Tar Heels, 3-0.

Duke outgained and outplayed a listless Carolina team which had not been blanked since the Navy game last year when it lost by an identical score. The victory was the first for Duke over a team coached by Marvin Allen in three years.

Both teams looked on an even par throughout the first period and fought to a standstill. However, from there on Duke monopolized the play to score in each of the remaining periods. Mal Lindstrom kicked one past Buck Blankenship who came out to get a loose ball in the first minute of the second quarter.

Left Wing Bill Schaefer sent one in from quarter field in the third period and scored again on a loose ball that he knocked past the charging Blankenship.

Only on occasion in the second half did the Tar Heel Booters press for any length of time at all and then their shooting was erratic. It was a far cry from the games played previously this season.

Carolina-Tennessee Battle Is Expected To Produce Brilliant Offensive Plays

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 31—(UP)—That bugaboo of defensive-minded coaches—the long distance scoring sprint—could add several gray hairs to the respective pates of Carolina's Carl Snavely and Tennessee's Bob Neyland this Saturday as the two teams meet for their annual inter-conference rivalry.

It will be the 20th time since 1893 that the SEC's Volunteers and the Southern Conference's Tar Heels have clashed, but the offensive spotlight has seldom shone brighter than during the four times they've met since 1946. And last Saturday, both teams warmed up for the annual battle with long scoring jaunts.

Tennessee, although just squeezing past Washington & Lee, 27-20, shook loose Bert Rechichar for a touchdown sprint of 100 and 50 yards and Jimmy Haun for 82 yards.

The Tar Heels didn't do so bad as they rocked William & Mary, 40-7. Halfback Bob Garitt snatched Rechichar's 100-yard jaunt. And the track meet didn't stop there as little Dick Bunting sparked for 80 and a score, fullback Dick Weiss went for a 78-yard tally and Benny Waiser steamed 58 on a pass from Bunting.

CARL SNAVELY more gray hairs?

Going back to 1946, when the bitter rivalry was billed as Choo Choo Charlie Justice versus the Volunteers, hot-shot Charlie scampered 72 yards to score. But Tennessee Captain Walt Slater did the Carolina flash one better as he shot 76 yards on a punt return to steer his team to a 20-6 victory and an Orange Bowl bid.

Next year, the Tar Heels bounced back with a 20-13 win, but Ronnie Bernhardt romped for a 78-yard touchdown on a pass from the Orange and White's Hal Littleford.

Littleford traveled overland for a touchdown in 1948 with a breath-taking dash of 94 yards, but it was recalled on a clipping penalty which is still a prime topic of conversation among Vol fans. The boys from Chapel Hill took that one, too, 14-7.

Tennessee collected revenge the following year as the lads from the Dixie Dozen Conference blasted the Choo Choo and his followers, 35-6.

Rough Work Marks Drills On Navy Field

Special emphasis was placed on passing yesterday, as the Tar Heel gridders went through a spirited and determined drill in preparation for the game with the Tennessee Volunteers at Knoxville Saturday.

Practice opened with a passing drill with Dick Bunting and Skeet Hessler standing out in the throwing department. Bob "Goo Goo" Gant displayed his usual talent as a receiver.

There has been no official release on the condition of Fullback Billy Hayes, who was injured in the William and Mary game last Saturday, seconds after releasing a touchdown pass to Blockingback Barry Rizzo. At present Hessler is operating from the fullback slot.

With the exception of Hayes and a few other men who are suffering minor bruises, the squad appeared in excellent condition.

The practice ended with a lively scrimmage with Coach Carl Snavely giving personal attention to the passing attack.

Oklahoma's Bud Wilkinson Says Team Will Carry Own Air To Colorado For Tilt

NORMAN, Okla., Oct. 31—(AP)—Most football teams take their own drinking water when they hit the road, but Oklahoma's Sooners go 'em one better. They take along their own air.

And the Big Seven Conference champions will have along an extra large quantity when they risk football's longest winning streak against Colorado Saturday in mile-high Boulder.

Somewhat dazed by conflicting suggestions from well-meaning fans on the best ways to combat the altitude, Coach Bud Wilkinson disclosed today that tanks of oxygen are standard equipment for his club.

Here are a few of the suggestions which have poured in from followers in recent days:

Make all players wear nose guards because they'll bleed to death if they get hit in the nose.

Bring the team in at the last minute so the players will have good old Oklahoma air still in their lungs.

Take the team to Colorado a week ahead of time so the boys can become accustomed to the climate.

Bring along iron lungs that they can crawl in to recuperate after long runs.

will not be enough difference in climate to bother his team.

"I think it's all psychological," he said. "Our main job right now is to convince the boys they can breathe just as well in Colorado as here."

Cagers Meet Pros Tonight In Charlotte

Carolina's basketball team will take the floor tonight in Charlotte for the third game with George Glamack's Grand Rapid Hornets. The Tar Heels are looking for their initial victory in the current exhibition series. The pros took the first game 55-52, rallying late in the last quarter. They won the second one 73-59 in Roseboro.

Coach Tom Scott will probably use the same method that he has used in the past. That is a two-team system with a special sophomore-studded five to relieve the number one varsity throughout the game. This has worked very well as those who saw the game at Woollen Gym on Oct. 21 will Wallace and Vince Grimaldi, almost upset Glamack's pros.

Young Democracy

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 31—(UP)—It was third down and Coach Bill Leconby sent in word for his Lehigh football team to punt.

To his surprise, the next play was a run—which made a first down.

After the game, he asked the players what happened. "Oh," came the quarterback's reply. "We took a vote in the huddle and you were voted down."

SMU Is First, Army Second In AP Poll; Both Play Major Opponents Saturday

NEW YORK, Oct. 31—(AP)—Southern Methodist and Army are one-two again this week in the Associated Press Football Poll—and "X" marks the big, tough spot they're on.

These two unbeaten, untied leaders for national honors go against what stacks up as their toughest assignments of the season in Saturday's games.

SMU's swift-striking Mustangs, who have rolled up 184 points on five foes, will meet a big, fast Texas team at Austin. Texas' only defeat was a 14-13 decision to Oklahoma.

Army will risk a 25-game unbeaten streak against formidable Pennsylvania, beaten only by California and 30-7 conqueror of Navy last week-end. The game is at Philadelphia.

The SMU-Texas game is the only one matching two members of college football's first ten, chosen for the fifth week today by the nation's sports writers and broadcasters. Texas is No. 7.

Here is the new ranking, hardly disturbed at the top but given a good shaking down below:

SMU, Army, Oklahoma, Ohio State, Kentucky, California, Texas, Miami (Fla.), Princeton and Illinois.

Ohio State leaped from sixth to fourth on the strength of its awesome 83-24 rout of Iowa, dropping Kentucky and California down a notch.

The rankings, with first place voter in parentheses and points awarded on the basis of ten for first, nine for second, etc.:

1. Southern Methodist (155)	2,574
2. Army (34)	2,144
3. Oklahoma (25)	2,137
4. Ohio State (30)	1,922
5. Kentucky (17)	1,823
6. California (12)	1,544
7. Texas	1,236
8. Miami (Fla.) (12)	462
9. Princeton (2)	382
10. Illinois	352
11. Tennessee	331
12. Washington	291
