New IDC Experiment To Permit Visiting In Men's Dormitories

Special Hours Outlined For Weekends

By Walt M. Dear II

The Men's Interdormitory Council passed a precedent-setting measure Monday night calling for visiting hours in the dorms for the Maryland and Duke weekends, on an experimental basis.

The action was taken after Chancellor R. B. House and a Student Welfare Committee, headed by Fred H. Weaver, Dean of Students, had approved recommendations for visiting hour program.

"At the request of the IDC, we have approved the program for opening dormitories to parents and friends accompanying parents for the weekends of Nov. 11 and 25," an administration spokesman said. "We are willing to try the program as an experiment, hoping that it meets the approval and gains the support of all quarters," he continued.

Providing for open houses in all men's dormitories, the report specifically names the visiting hours on Saturdays as immediately after the football games until 6 p. m., and on Sundays from 2 p. m. until 5 p. m. The report further emphasizes that "parents along with other members of the family and friends who are accompanied by the parents will be permitted to visit the rooms."

The report recommended that if the visiting hour program is successful, visiting hours may be extended to all weekends. Ashby pointed out that the reports of dorm advisors concerning the experiment would determine the future policy of the plan.

The program, which will go into effect immediately, is the first one that the University has had, according to Ray Jeffries, assistant to the Dean of Students.

Before the committee's report was passed, the Council debated on the proposals for an hour, Ed Williams, adviser to B. Dorm, proposed an amendment to have the visiting hour program "subject to the approval of the individual dorms." However, this amendment failed to pass. Supporters of the committee's report said that such an amendment would make the whole plan ineffective.

Another proposal by Doe Berry, president of Graham Dormitory, was to pregame visiting hours, to be voted down. Berry proposed the amendment for the benefit of football players who would be unable to see relatives after the game.

Brooks Patten Called By AF

Rev. Brooks Patten, Director of the Methodist Church Wesley Foundation here, recently received his orders to report next Monday to the Air Force Station at Carlisle Barracks, Pa.

Mr. Patten will attend the Chaplain School and then will report to the 8th Infantry Division at Fort Jackson, S. C.

In World War II, Mr. Patten served in the AF for three years, later serving in occupied Japan. He came here in May, 1949, to become director of the Methodist group, a position he has held since that time.

Candidates

Prospective candidates for the State Student Legislature who have not yet been interviewed must appear before the interviewing committee today, between 4 and 7 p. m. to be considered for the UNC delegation. The delegates will be selected tonight, and the list of selectees will be carried in The Daily Tar Heel tomorrow.

Mentally Ill Increasing, Says McNair Speaker

More Psychiatric Care, Long-Term Thinking Plea of Dr. Lewis; Speaks Again Tonight

The number of mentally ill persons has increased 12 times during the last 60 years, Dr. Nolan D. C. Lewis, Director of the New York Psychiatric Institute and Hospital, said in the first of the annual series of three McNair Lectures.

"There are differences of opinion, however, as to whether this increase is relative to the increase in population," he said.

"It would be difficult to ascertain the actual facts, but the situation is one that calls for more treatment by psychiatrists and more research, intelligence, and long-term thinking," Dr. Lewis continued.

The noted specialist will speak again tonight at 8:30 in Hill Hall. His topic will be part of the general theme, "Psychiatry and Religion." The concluding lecture will be tomorrow night at the same time and place.

The McNair lectures, a series established by the late John Calvin McNair, class of 1849, are to "show the mutual bearing of science and theology upon each other and to prove the existence and attributes, as far as may be, of God and nature."

Dean William Wells of the College of Arts and Sciences presided and introduced Dr. Lewis. Citing the increase in mental ailments, Dr. Lewis said that "before World War II there were 700,000 patients in mental hospitals in the United States, and about 19 or 20 outside for each one in the hospital. At induction board examinations, about 37 per cent of the total number rejected were disqualified for nervous and mental reasons. This per cent was of all candidates examined. This offers some indication of the share of sufferers in this special field," he declared.

The Board is scheduled to meet monthly and hear and discuss possible solutions to certain problems outside of the academic realm.

The Board is open to suggestions from students and the administration and may discuss problems dealing with any phase of campus life.

UNC Artist' Painting Is In Metropolitan

An assistant professor in the Art department, Kacheris has exhibited a number of paintings during the past year, and recently was awarded a $300 purchase prize from the High Museum in Atlanta.

Take 'Cautious Approach'

U.S. Delegate Confers With Council On Korea

LAKE SUCCESS, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Ambassador Ernest A. Gross, No. 2 U. S. delegate on the Security Council, conferred today with the U.N. Korean Committee as diplomats sought accurate information on the Chinese Communist forces and intentions in Korea.

The general feeling of most diplomats at the U.N. was that the U.N. should take a cautious approach to what appears to be one of its worst problems. The Security Council will meet tomorrow at 10:30 a. m. on the situation. Informed sources said the United States, Britain, and France were expected to be among the sponsors of a resolution being

Jurisprudence Visiting Profs Are Announced

Drs. Coker, Robson Are In Residence For Winter Quarter

The Department of Political Science announced yesterday that Dr. Francis W. Coker, Professor Emeritus of Political Science of Yale University, and Dr. William Alexander Robson, Professor of Public Administration in the London School of Economics and Political Science, will be in residence during the Winter quarter, 1951, as Craige Visiting Professors of Jurisprudence.

Professor Coker, who served as Craige Visiting Professor in the Winter and Spring Quarters, 1950, will offer Political Science 166, a course for seniors and graduate students in Recent and Contemporary Political Thought, and Political Science 361, a seminar for graduates only in the same field.

Professor Robson will teach Political Science 121, a course for seniors and graduate students in The Government of England, and Political Science 331, a seminar for graduates only in Problems in Public Administration.

Professor Coker, who holds both his bachelor's degree and an honorary Doctor of Laws from the University of North Carolina, received his Doctor of Philosophy degree from Columbia University in 1910 and has had a long and distinguished career as a teacher and author, chiefly at Yale University.

There he was Cowles Professor of Government and Head of the Department of Political Science from 1929 until his retirement in 1947. In 1935 he served as the President of the American Political Science Association.

Professor Robson is one of the leading British scholars and teachers in the fields of law, public administration and political science.

'Aggression' By Allies Denounced In Moscow

MOSCOW, Nov. 7.—(UP)—Russian military might massed in Red Square today on the 33rd anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution as Cavalry Commander Marshal Semon Budenny denounced American aggression and aligned the Soviet people with the Korean Reds.

Flanked by Deputy Premiers V. M. Molotov and Marshal Nikolai Bulganin, speaking from atop Lenin's red granite tomb, Budenny declared the Soviet desire for peace and international cooperation had been thwarted by the Anglo-American imperialists. (Premier Josef V. Stalin was not mentioned in the dispatches). "The Anglo-American imper-ialists have now passed from preparations for aggression to direct acts of aggression, evidence of which is the bandit intervention of the U. S. A. in Korea," he said.

"The Soviet people together with other freedom-loving peoples of the world, brand with shame the American aggressors and express their sympathy for the Korean people who are conducting a heroic struggle for the freedom and independence of their motherland."

American Ambassador Alan G. Kirk and British Ambassador Sir David Kelly listened from special logs built just below the government stand.

Preliminary arrangements have been made with the Pine Room to have special food prepared for students who, because of ulcers or other illnesses, should be following a strict diet, it was announced yesterday.

Unfortunately there are no facilities on campus or in town for special diets and many students run the risk of recurring trouble. This is the first time that a solution has appeared to this long-standing problem, and those concerned are asked to take advantage of the proposal.

Everyone interested in the program is asked to leave his name and address with Mrs. Harter at the Information Desk in South Building. Final arrangements cannot be made until the number of people involved is known.

Gray Accepts Post As Head Of Committee

Gordon Gray, who expects to conclude his "Dollar-Gap" project in the near future, yesterday announced he had accepted the post of chairman of a committee to study universal military service.

He said the committee would be involved in a study of the position of the universities in the nation under such military training and what contributions they should make.

The committee, made up of four other college and university presidents, held its first meeting in Rochester 10 days ago, Gray said.

Members of the committee besides Gray are: Presidents Sterling of Stanford, Bronk of Johns Hopkins, Darden of the U. of Virginia, and Du Bridge of California Tech.

On Monday Gray was appointed State chairman for the 1950 Christmas Seal campaign. Plans for the campaign in North Carolina are now underway. Announcements as to the local chairman for the drive will be made soon.

Friday Deadline To Select Proofs

All students who have not selected their proofs for The Yackety Yack, are asked to do so by Jim Mills, editor of the yearbook.

Mills said the deadline is Friday, and the Yack staff will select poses of all students who have not done so by that time.

Out Front By One Half Inch

Second Chapter Battle Of Busts: Here's Suit With Room To Grow

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 7.—(UP)—An international battle of the bosoms—"busted" here today as actress Marie Wilson charged that British Beauty Queen Irene Whitworth had nothing to be chasty about.

Miss Wilson contended that she puts up a better front by one half inch than the 24-year-old British girl who moaned in London that her livelihood was threatened because she could not win beauty contests for lack of a big enough bathing suit. She said austere England produces none ample enough for her generous proportions.

But out of the bigness of her heart, Miss Wilson offered a suit large enough not only for Irene's measurements but with room to grow.

Ground Troops Move Forward In Korean War

Leaders Puzzled By Enemy Attacks Which Don't Come

SEOUL, Wednesday, Nov. 7.—(AP)—U. S. planes battled new type Russian-built jets at the Manchurian border Tuesday and ground troops advanced slightly on two major fronts after Chinese and North Korean resistance eased abruptly.

U. S. Commanders were puzzled by failure of the Reds to press a drive which General MacArthur told the United Nations Council was made possible only by entry of Chinese Communists into the action.

There was nothing to indicate the Reds were withdrawing. In fact, Chinese Communists were reported reinforcing in northeast Korea. They were supported for the first time by heavier type Chinese Red artillery.

U. S. and British troops on the crucial northwest front advanced more than two miles.

U. S. Fifth Air Force fighter planes, fought for an hour and 25 minutes Tuesday over the north-west Korean border city of Sinuiju with enemy jets which flew across from Manchuria.

Three of the speedier Russian-built MIG-15 jets were reported hit but may have returned safely to Manchurian bases. A Fifth Air Force spokesman said none of the slower, propeller-driven F-51 Mustangs was damaged.

At least 10 more MIG-15's were seen aloft over Antung, Manchuria city across the Yalu River from Sinuiju. The Mustangs carefully observed orders not to violate the border. Mustang pilots said they saw six of the jets take off from Antung's air field.

In limited ground actions, U. S. infantrymen and troops of the British Commonwealth 27th Brigade, advanced two and one-fourth miles near Pakchon.

This was a line-straightening near the west end of the new U. N. defense line along the Chongchon River about 50 miles north of the fallen Red capital of Pyongyang.

Vesper Rites Here Tonight

First Gray Address For UNC Students Given To Freshmen

Support Of University, Administration Offered Students In 'Search For Truth'

By Don Maynard
Before a near-capacity audience of freshmen in Memorial Hall yesterday morning, President of the Consolidated University Gordon Gray re-dedicated himself to the cause of education and promised "the support of the University administration in all reasonable efforts to enjoy the fruits of your labor as students."

"You shall have the encouragement of the institution in making full use of all the opportunities offered you," he told those attending the freshman assembly. "We will attempt to guarantee the search for truth and the protections which an open mind should enjoy," Gray promised.

The appearance marked Gray's first formal talk to any group of students representing the University at Chapel Hill. With the exception of several excerpts from his inauguration speech given in Raleigh last month, and Gray's rereading of one of the three oaths he took in the ceremonies, his 40-minute talk yesterday was an off-the-cuff, get-acquainted chat which was enthusiastically received by the students.

Gray reminded the students that the "effectiveness of student government must be finally measured by student conduct, the extent of student responsibility and the excellence of student character," and stated that they will be the standards by which the quality of student life will be judged.

He said the administration recognizes that the capacity for self-discipline is essential to the educated man or woman and listed six qualities necessary in a student to insure "good student citizenship."

"Open-mindedness is an indispensable quality, he declared, and added that loyalty, integrity, dependability, honesty and self-restraint are all necessary traits. He said the six could be summed up with one word: "character."

Students should not only have a loyalty to themselves, to their parents, relations and the University, but also to "the principles you think should be defended by you."

"I want you to remember that wherever you are, you are the ambassadors of the University, whether you are an alumnus or a student," he charged. "You will be remembered as a student at the University. Your obligations do not cease when you leave here."

Gray good-humoredly referred to himself as a newer freshman to the University than those who entered last September. "I only came here officially in October," he pointed out.

Introduced by Chancellor House as "our leading freshman of this year," Gray replied, "I am glad to come home again, and this is home to me."

"Life begins at 40," people say," Gray reflected. "I am happy the trustees waited until I came to life before they elected me to this office," the 41-year old former Secretary of the Army jokingly said.

Gray advised the freshmen not to believe what was told them without first searching for evidence and thinking the problem out.

"You have embarked on what should be to you a glorious adventure," he said.
