'A Tremendous Success'

AN OLD FRIEND SAID goodbye to Carolina and Chapel Hill yesterday afternoon. Ex-Tar Heel All-America George Glamack packed his basketball togs and left here around 4 p.m. yesterday for Raleigh where his team played the Wolfpack of N. C. State in its final Southern exhibition game of the year. From Raleigh Glamack's Grand Rapids professionals were to drive to their Michigan home where the team will open its championship schedule Thursday night against Kansas City.

The pro Hornets had won all 14 of its exhibitions when it went against ever-powerful State last night, and Glamack has high hopes of seeing his team in the thick of the fight for the National Basketball League title. "This trip to the South has been a tremendous help to us," Glamack said before leaving yesterday. "We've been primarily concerned with conditioning the team and the young boys have really helped us in that respect." After pausing a moment George continued, "These college teams run a lot and you have to hustle to keep up with them. That's the best way I know to get into top-notch physical condition."

GEORGE GLAMACK

... says goodbye ...

Smiling a bit, Glamack added, "And you know I'm always glad for an opportunity to get back here."

Thinks Carolina Will Do Okay

GLAMACK AGAIN EXPRESSED HIS belief that "Carolina will do okay this year." Although the Hornets had not played Coach Everette Case's Cow College Terrors before last night, Glamack had seen the Wolfpack in action in exhibition games and had this to say about the Carolina-State series: "I think Tar Heel fans have something to look forward to this year. Both clubs are good, and State is probably a little better because it is more experienced, but I feel sure Carolina will win at least one game from State this year."

George has been working very closely with Tar Heel Coach Tom Scott during his four-week stay here and has nothing but praise for the Carolina mentor. "Tom has not had much to work with during the past few years," Glamack smiled, "But he has the material this time, and I believe he will put a good team on the floor. I can tell the boys are well coached by the way they have shown up against us."

In leaving Chapel Hill Glamack thanked all those who have worked with him during his stay and expressed his regret that he was unable to see all his old friends here in the village. "I wish to express my sincere thanks for the reception and hospitality accorded the Grand Rapids Hornets and myself as an individual. I am sorry that I didn't get to see all my old friends here, but my work with the team has kept me pretty well tied up. The boys have remarked time and again about the wonderful treatment they have been given here. Everyone was swell to us and I am grateful for that."

Gwynn Boots Goal On Pass

By Ken Dorton

Carolina's soccer team scored its first goal in ten quarters during the second period of yesterday's contest with the Duke booters to defeat the Blue Devils, 1-0, on Fetzer Field.

Jim Gwynn took a pass with two minutes left in the period from Right Wing Fred Lurie and Carolina's left wing placed the ball past the goalie, Olie Zervetnik, who was charging Lurie.

The goal enabled the Tar Heels to avenge an earlier 3-0 loss to Duke in Durham last week and now gives the Carolina Booters a 4-2 record as they approach the climax of the Conference race.

New Front Line

Carolina played more than half of the opening quarter with a new front line that charged well but was unable to score. Bill Rhoades played center forward in place of Eddie Foy.

Lurie started at right wing and, along with Art Winsor and Bud Sawyer, pummeled the Duke goal until late in the period. It was actually a break in the second period that enabled Carolina to finally break the scoring ice. The Duke fullbacks were expecting the referees to blow the whistle and the officials disappointed them, making way for the Tar Heel wings to overpower the Duke goal.

Strong Defenses

Both teams played a hard game in the second half but couldn't quite score either because the defenses were too strong or the offenses in the scoring zone too weak. It was a toss up.

Both goalies, Buck Blankenship and Zervetnik, timed the ball well, making several sensational saves during the second half.

Tatum Displeased

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Nov. 7—(AP)—Coach Jim Tatum, visibly displeased, put his Maryland football squad through its longest practice session of the year today.

And it was "one of the worst," Tatum grumbled when they turned out the lights in old Byrd Stadium.

Maryland's freshman and junior varsity squads made like North Carolina. What disturbed Tatum was the ease with which their single-wing attack tore through the varsity.

Carolina Eleven Scrimmages; Hayes, Holdash Drill Light

While the defensive team went through a heavy scrimmage against a freshman team running Maryland plays, the Tar Heel offensive eleven tried some new plays against a freshman team at practice on Navy Field yesterday.

Assistant Coach George Radman, who scouted the Terps against George Washington last Saturday, directed the defensive scrimmage. The freshman combination, which ran Virginia Split-T plays last week in preparing their teammates for the game with the Cavalier frosh, executed the Maryland Split-T plays well.

In the early part of the afternoon, the line spent time working on pass protection and downfield blocking. The backs also worked on polishing up their plays with Billy Hayes taking part in the signal drills.

The offensive scrimmage in the late afternoon continued until after dark. The lights were turned on as the drills were concluded.

Huck Holdash was in light equipment, but said he would "be ready" for the game this weekend. Glen Nickerson and Dub Hord were also in light togs and did not take part in the drills.

Part of the defensive assignment for yesterday included goal line stands, checking of alignments and checking the type of defenses to be used in various situations.

Coed Hockey Game Slated Here Today

The Carolina Coed Hockey Club will play its first inter-collegiate game of the season today, when it meets Guilford at 4:30 in Kenan Stadium. Carolina's game with Guilford ended in a 1-1 deadlock last year.

The Tar Heel coeds have a three-game schedule this year, meeting Duke at Durham next week and Elon at Burlington following that.

Carolina's front line will be composed of Mary K. Jones, Evelyn McNeil, Sylvia Newsom, Jackie Merritt and Nina Norvell. The halfbacks will be Mel Strubling, Theresa Shelton and Mary Vinson. Debbie Ettinger and Carolyn Guthrie will man the fullbacks, and Dot Teague will play goalie.

Ohio State Leads In Scoring

NEW YORK, Nov. 7—(AP)—Ohio State's rampaging Buckeyes "slumped" to a mere 32 points against Northwestern last week, but the scourge of the Big Ten still leads the nation's major college teams in scoring with an average of 42.8 points in six starts.

Arizona State's Sun, Devils continue to show the way both in total offense, 471.9 yards per game, and in rushing, 357.4, while the Southern Methodist Mustangs, despite their bitter loss to Texas, still show the way in passing offense with an average gain through the air of 253.8 yards per contest.

At the moment, however, the hottest offensive unit in the country is Nebraska, according to figures compiled by the official NCAA News Bureau. The Cornhuskers, beaten by Colorado and tied by Indiana, have really gone to town in their last two games.

Tar Babies Hold Drill For Deacons

Carolina's freshman football team went through a rugged scrimmage yesterday, in preparation for the game with the undefeated Wake Forest Frosh Thursday night at 8 o'clock in Burlington.

The Tar Babies stressed pass defense and ground attack, which they plan to use against the strong Wake Forest team. The Baby Deacons boast convincing victories over William and Mary, State and Duke.

Carolina Coach Jim Camp expressed satisfaction with his team's improvement since its first game; the game with State which the Tar Babies lost, 7-0. The Tar Babies so far have a won 1, lost 2 record. Coach Camp said the best game to date was the Virginia game last Friday, which the Tar Babies won, 34-0.

The Wake Forest Frosh use the T-formation, and have several outstanding players in Left Half B. Hillenbrand, Quarterback J. White and End B. Ondilla. The game was to have been played in Kenan Stadium Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, but was changed to Burlington.

Tar Heel Swim Team Drills For Opening Meet Nov. 23-24

The Carolina swimming team is slowly rounding into shape for its first meet, which will be the Thanksgiving Invitational held here Nov. 23-24. The team has been holding daily workouts in Bowman Gray Memorial Pool for the past three weeks.

Some outstanding men are returning from last year's Southern Conference championship team. All-America backstroke artist Jim Thomas will lead the Tar Heels. He will be helped in the backstroke by Buddy Baercke. The breaststroke men are Wall, Davis, Leighton, and Bartlett. The sprinters are Levy, Ambler, Williams, Evans, Kennedy, Cates, Gaves, Brown, Howard, Fountain, Snow, and Hein. Milton, Edmunson, Heyen, and Tinkam are the distance swimmers.
