Grail, Braswell Scholarships Are Announced

Awards Are Made On School Record And Activities

The 1950-51 winner of the Grail Scholarships and the Braswell Scholarships were announced yesterday by W. H. Flemmons, Chairman of the University Scholarship Committee and Dean C. P. Spruill, Chairman of the Braswell Scholarship Committee.

The Order of the Grail has donated funds sufficient for six scholarships of $150 each for this school year. The awards are made on the basis of high scholastic record, participation in outside student activities, and contribution to the welfare of the student body.

The winners of the Grail Scholarships are Bobby Byrd, Edward Coley, Luke Corbett, Edwin Dixon, John Duke, and Thomas Ennis, Jr.

The endowment of the Grail Scholarships is added to net receipts taken in at the Grail dances given here for students each year.

The winners of the $200 Braswell Scholarships, which are awarded to freshmen on the basis of achievement in scholarship and all-round worthiness, are Marvin Berry, Donald Hendren, Henry Lowet, and William Seacare.

The Braswell Scholarships are provided by the income from a $21,000 fund set up in memory of Dr. Mark R. Braswell of Rocky Mount.

Grid Contest, Hoomin Race Set Tomorrow

Have you been longing to be a Shmoo, kick a Kigmy, chase a man, or just act crazy? Then Sadie Hawkins Day is your chance.

One of the highlights of the traditional Doo-patch holiday will be the great football clash between Phogbound and Fortescue Universities tomorrow at 2:30 p.m. The gala celebration will include several contests for those of the "high society", such as hogcalling.

Also there will be prizes for the best floats and costumes. The day will be climaxed by a Be on guard, men, for the law is:

$50 Prize Is Offered In Short Story Contest

A prize of $50 is being offered for the best work submitted in a short story contest sponsored this year by the Carolina Quarterly, the only literary publication on campus. Editor Lynn Miller announced today.

The contest, which is in effect now, will close on March 1, 1951, with the award to be presented in May. The prize winning story will be published in the spring issue of the Quarterly.

The stories must be between 1,500 and 5,000 words in length, according to the editor. Anyone enrolled in a college or university in the United States, including graduate students, is eligible to

Dr. Knight 'Fair'

Reports from Waits Hospital in Durham indicated last night that Dr. Edgar W. Knight, Kenan Professor of Education at the University, was in fair condition and "not on the danger list."

Dr. Knight suffered a heart attack here Saturday.

Marines Advance To Chosin Reservoir Despite Blizzard

TOKYO, Thursday, Nov. 16—(UP)—Blizzard-chilled U. S. Marines struck to the great Chosin Reservoir yesterday as allied forces all across Korea advanced in the wake of a general Communist withdrawal up to 10 miles.

The Leathernecks seized ridges commanding the south shore of the basin, whose power plants are one of the richest prizes of the Korean war. Front reports said the Communists had fallen back 10 miles, or to the north shore, indicating that they were giving up the whole vast hydroelectric system without a fight.

United Nations troops swung forward a cautious few miles in nearly all sectors of the front. The Communist forces, Chinese and North Korean alike, had faded back. Only in narrow sections of central Korea around Tokchon and on the extreme northeastern front were they making a fight of it.

A battalion of some 1,000 Communists hit the South Korean Eighth Division lines four miles northeast of Tokchon and knocked the Republicans back four miles. There they braced and dug in on the south bank of the Taedong River, four miles east of Tokchon, 50 miles inland from the northwest coast.

The shoe was on the other foot practically everywhere else. The U. S. 24th Division advanced 3½ miles east of Pakchon in the Chongchon River bridgehead. The Yanks found no enemy there.

The U. S. 1st Cavalry Division seized a chain of hills north of Won on the Chongchon east of Pakchon. British troops on the west coast moved forward a mile. South Koreans to the east pushed northward more than a mile beyond the Tokchon-Kuni Highway, and set out to retake Tokchon.

In northeast Korea the U. S. 7th Division vanguard, pushing forward within 20-odd miles of the Manchurian border, scored another 2½ mile advance north of the Ungi River above Rungam.

Field dispatches reporting the modest but widespread advances for the most part said the Allies ran into little if any resistance.

All Politicians Need Ethics, Says Solon

One of the great needs in politics today is for more leaders with a high sense of ethics and morality, Congressman Brooks Hays of Arkansas, a noted Baptist layman, asserted here yesterday.

Speaking in Memorial Hall in one of a series of meetings being held at the University as features of Religious Emphasis Week, Congressman Hays said "we need leaders who can see their responsibility to a Higher Power in politics."

The Congressman also emphasized the need for the "unpurchasable man" in politics.

Speaking as a churchman and also a practical politician, Hays called for "clean" politics and denounced "ballot box tampering" and "incorruptible machinery." Those are things that Christian communities must be concerned about, he declared. He cautioned against "identifying righteousness with either a political party or a candidate for office."

Hays' advice to political aspirants was "don't become cynical." In government, he said, there are great opportunities for service.

Dr. Arthur L. Kinsolving, Rector of St. James Church, New York City, told the students that in order to have harmony in one's life there must be "consent." He said to have harmony in everything, from colors, to furniture, to personal relationships, there must be a consent between the two, "and to live a full and complete life, there must be a consent within yourself to accept God first."

Curb Stores, Signs On Dual Highway

A local Kiwanian has instituted a move to place restrictions on the erection of commercial signs and businesses on the new four-lane highway to be constructed between Durham and Chapel Hill.

Grady Pritchard, speaking as a member of the club, told the Chapel Hill Community Council here Tuesday night that he hoped to gain the co-operation of civic groups in both towns.

"If some restriction is not placed on the roadway, it soon will become a midway," he said. For a comparative project he pointed out the Blue Ridge Parkway in the Smoky Mountains.

He said he hoped the restrictive measures could be brought about by civic organization backing but said he was prepared to go to the State legislature in January if necessary.

A five-man committee, formed of Chapel Hill residents, will meet this week to formulate a letter to other local groups asking their support. The committee is made up of Carl Durham, Collier Cobb, Thomas D. Rose, R. J. M. Hobbs, and Louis Graves.

One of the immediate measures to be placed in action, Pritchard said, would be the extension of the road's right-of-way. In addition to the road proper, he said, the planning would call for similar restrictions on the by-pass around Chapel Hill.

The by-pass matter calls for immediate attention, he said. "If it is not considered before grading gets underway, it will be too late for residences will spring up shortly after road construction gets started," he said.

Road Grading Jobs Include Local Project

Special to The Daily Tar Heel RALEIGH, Nov. 15—Bids were advertised yesterday for the new four-lane highway between Durham and Chapel Hill, which would clip nearly four miles from the route now in use.

Part of 20 projects involving 177.34 miles of road work, the new highway work calls for 8.35 miles of grading and structures from the end of the curb and gutter on Franklin Street in Chapel Hill northeast to Booker Creek, thence east crossing N. C. 751 and U. S. 501 and tying into University Drive at the Durham city limits.

Bids will be opened Nov. 28.

Quarterly Staff Will Meet Today

There will be an important meeting of all members of the staff of the Carolina Quarterly in the Quarterly office at 2 p. m. today.

Plans for the promotion of the first issue will be considered, and also material for the second issue. Editor Lynn Miller asked that all staffers attend the meeting.

JERRY HENRICK

Jerry Henrick Enters Fresh Election Race

Freshman elections, usually the dull and most uncontested of them all, became a mad scramble yesterday when Jerry Henrick, a 17-year-old from Raleigh, declared as independent to make it at least a four-way race for Thursday, Nov. 30.

Young Henrick was graduated from Hugh Morson High School where he was a member of the Student Council and on the staff of the school publication. At present, he is Secretary-Treasurer of Lewis Dormitory.

In announcing his platform yesterday, Henrick said:

"I feel we could better look out for the wishes of the class if not tied down to a party. I also would like to work on improving social functions for the class as a whole."

Duke Queen To Be Chosen

The Queen of the "Beat Dook" Float Parade will be chosen tonight at a dinner given by Pi Kappa Alpha, the sponsoring organization, for the contestants and their escorts.

Selection of the Queen will be made by judges Dean Katherine Carmichael, Dean Fred Weaver, E. Carrington Smith and James Davis.

The announcement of the winner will be made the day of the (See QUEEN, Page 4)

Debate Teams To Attend Tourney At S. Carolina

Six University debate teams will leave here this afternoon to attend a pre-season practice tourney at the University of South Carolina.

This will be the first time this year that the group has engaged in contest debate, and they will compete with 12 other colleges from throughout the South.

"Resolved: That the Non-Communist Nations Should Form a New International Organization" has been chosen as the National Intercollegiate Debate Topic for 1950-51. There will be three affirmative teams and three negative teams from Carolina.

The affirmative teams are: (1) Carolyn Stallings and Virginia Glasser; (2) Richard Ham and Lacy Thornberg; and (3) Paul Roth and Bill Evans.

The negative teams are: (1) Ken Myers and Jack Rock; (2) Bruce Marger and Curtiss Melzer; and (3) Mitchell Novitt and Art Einstein.

Persons interested in taking part in debating or other speech activities should contact Paul Roth, Bob Hutchinson or Carolyn Stallings, officers of the debating council.

Unique Auction Brings Results

If You Save Confederate Money, Boys, You May Win Television Set

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—(AP)—For what may be the first time since the Civil War, it now is possible to buy merchandise with Confederate money.

A local radio station, WRC, had the idea it would make a nice stunt to auction off a $525 television set.

But the buyer would be the person who could pay off with the most Confederate bills. The denomination of the bills didn't count. One hundred $1 bills were rated 100 times as valuable as one $100 bill.

The results have been surprising. So far, with the auction winding up Friday, more than 21,000 bills have been bid.

This may be due to the fact that Washington is, to a large extent, still a southern city. And Virginia is just across the Potomac.

At any rate, here are a few of the letters that have turned up: A fellow in Benedict, Md., said he found his bills in a neat bundle in the attic. He said the bills were wrapped in a newspaper dated April, 1865, and that the paper had the details both on the assassination of Lincoln and the surrender of Lee.

An oldtimer at the Soldiers' Home said he has 505 bills, whose face value is $50,000. "They belonged to grandpa," he wrote.

Carroll Simms, whose great grandfather was William Gilmore Simms, the South Carolina writer, said he had some bills and might have had more if you-know-who hadn't burned up great grandfather's house and $10,000 in money.

"You see," he wrote, "if THEY hadn't burned his home I may

Solons Get Report On Library Problem

Probably one of the most interesting things to come before the Student Legislature at its meeting at 7:30 tonight will be a report on a bill passed last spring.

John Hazelhurst, acting as a committee-of-one, will tell the Legislators of progress made in an effort to get the University Library to remain open on Sunday night rather than Saturday night.

The solons passed the bill last year so that "more people will be able to benefit." It was pointed out at the time of the act's passage, that the Library is used sparsely on Saturday. While most students would prefer to have use of it on Sunday.

Also, Speaker Herb Mitchell will report on whether or not he will appoint a Legislature committee to work with the student-merchant plan executive group. In last week's session, Mitchell said he would appoint a group if it was the will of the Executive Committee. The committee met Monday night.

Several bills are scheduled to come before the solons tonight. One would amend the election laws and another would give the head cheerleader membership in the University Club as a voting member.

UP Releases Slate Election Platform

The University Party in an open meeting yesterday afternoon completed its slate of candidates for the fall election on Nov. 30 and simultaneously released a platform for its nominees.

In its Graham Memorial meeting, the UP promised to work for:

1. Increased emphasis on freshman and junior class social functions.
2. More parking space on the campus for students, with consideration being given to creating more space for cars in the area east of the Bell Tower and on Emerson Field.
3. Opposition to any movement which would unduly restrict or abolish fraternities and sororities at Carolina.
4. Better student relations with the merchants of Chapel Hill.
5. The creation of new social rooms in all dormitories.

The UP slate for the Student Legislature:

Dorm I, Ken Penegar, Duke Hoffman, Kemp Clendenin, and Jimmy Adams.

Dorm II, Luther Hartsel, Ty Boyd, Don Evans, Dick Magill, and Walter Tice.

Dorm III, Kenny Smith, Roddy Dowd, Bobby Goham, and Sol Cherry.

Dorm IV, Sherrill Shaw and John Robinson.

Dorm V, Dick Kinnebrew.

Town I, Dan Olsen and Bill Rhodes.

Town II, Bill Bostic, Bunny Davis, and Charlie Harrell.

Town III, Sheldon Plager and Ben James.

Town IV, Don Carroll, Davis Byrd, Charlie Dwiggins, Bill Carr, Biff Roberts, Bill Boling, and Dick Schwartz.

Group Meets Today On Sixth Sorority

A special committee will meet this afternoon to discuss the question of whether or not Carolina will get a sixth sorority.

Recently, a cued poll indicated Carolina women undergraduates favored a new Greek society by a seven to one majority.

REW Finishes; Last Program Offered Today

200 Sessions Held In Fifth Convocation Of Religious Event

Religious Emphasis Week comes to an end today at the University with a full program of activities on tap for all students.

The five day religious event, which is being celebrated for the fifth time here, will have held over 200 sessions of various discussions and services. Today marks the last day students may take advantage of the special week emphasizing religion and "deepening the roots of our faith."

Nineteen nationally prominent religious leaders ranging from a Congressman to labor authorities have been speaking at the different convocations, church services, seminars, and other programs.

Co-sponsored by the University Christian Mission, a unit of the Federal Council of Churches, and the Carolina Council of Religion, the REW services have reached out to many students to discuss problems and questions facing college men and women.

An executive committee of 100 students and several faculty members have worked throughout the week to bring "more religion and understanding of campus problems" to students of all denominations and beliefs.

According to REW spokesmen, the high points in the week's activities have been the church services and convocations.

Student Party Meets Today

The Student Party will meet this afternoon in the Roland Parker Lounge of Graham Memorial at 3 o'clock to complete party nominations for the fall elections.

Candidates will be nominated for freshman class secretary; junior class vice-president, secretary, treasurer, and social chairman; and three 1-year terms in the Student Legislature from Men's Town District I, and three 1-year terms and four 6-month terms from Town District 4.

Everyone interested is invited to attend.

Marine Band Concerts In Duke Stadium Today

Two performances will be given by the United States Marine Band today in the Duke University Indoor Stadium under the auspices of the Junior League of Durham.

A matinee program at 3:45 p. m. has been designed for the benefit of students and children. "At the Circus," which will be narrated by Dale Harpman, a member of the band, will be the program feature, with all the sounds and color of a circus.

Also on the afternoon agenda will be "Rhapsody in Rhumba,"

Yackety Yack Meets Today

The Yackety Yack will hold a meeting today at 4 p. m. in the Yack office in Graham Memorial.

Jim Mills, editor of the yearbook, urges that all members of the organization be present at the meeting.

Mills said that important business will be done at the meeting and that it is pre-eminent that members attend.

Candidate Deadline

Students who have been nominated as candidates for the fall elections have until midnight to turn in their names to the Chairman of the Elections Board.

Julian Mason, chairman of the board, urges that all candidates clear through his office in Graham Memorial immediately.
