Tar Heels Out To Pluck Gamecocks Today

Race Relations Have Improved, Says Daniels

Political Scientists Hear Noted Editor At Annual Meet

Jonathan Daniels, Raleigh editor and author, in addressing the 19th annual meeting of the Southern Political Science Association at a luncheon session yesterday, told the group, "During the last half century the South has seen a great improvement in race relations."

"There has been great progress in fair play for the Negroes, notable gains in industrial democracy exemplified by the improvement of life in the mill villages, and in the conditions of labor everywhere, and in the steadily increasing wealth and enlightenment," he added.

"Although the South, the cradle of revolution and democracy, has made great progress materially and in enlightenment, it is in danger of losing the very heritage of freedom it struggled so hard to attain," he pointed out.

Daniels added: "The South still harbors a sense of mistreatment that reminds us of the plaint, 'The South, the Poor South,' uttered by John Calhoun exactly half a century ago. We continue to lament, but we resent lamentations from across the Mason and Dixon line."

"The task of the South today is one of continuing revolution for all the people of the world. The cradle of democracy—still the most revolutionary doctrine in the world—must not become the stronghold of tyranny and intolerance. To revert to our old faith—the faith of Jefferson and Madison—is the only basis for the (See CONVENTION, page 4)

YW, YMCA To Hold Joint Feast Monday

The YWCA and the YMCA will hold a joint dinner for members Monday night at 6 o'clock.

Regional secretaries Rosalie Oakes and Ed Driscoll will be guests of honor at the banquet. The secretaries will bring members up to date on the Y movement in the South and other parts of the country.

Plans for the National assembly to be held during the Christmas vacation at Miami University in Oxford, O., will be made. The YW and YM sent 14 delegates to the assembly last year.

The assembly convention will be held for student Christian Association delegates. They will determine policy and programs for the future. The national group meets every four years. Members that plan to attend the banquet Monday night should sign up at the Y office.

Pigskin Winners

WAKE FOREST, Nov. 17—(UP)—Student election officials reported today that football players swept a special runoff election for Wake Forest freshman class officers.

James Bland of Raleigh won over Joe Durham of Kannapolis as president and Craig Blackburn of Reidsville beat Bill Hedrick of Raleigh and Eleanor Geer of Boone for the vice presidency.

Both Bland and Blackburn are leading members of the college's freshman football team.

Hawkins Day Is Dud

Cold Winds, Game Exodus Play Havoc

By Don Maynard

Cold, blustery winds and an away-football game spelled disaster yesterday for the University's annual Sadie Hawkins Day, but part of it went through anyway as two girls were "hitched" as Lil' Abner and Daisy Mae in a Y Court ceremony.

There were that few men. And Phogbound and Fortescue Universities fared no better in their game played on Fetzer Field at 2:30 p.m. There were only 50 people in the stands, but this handful hardly seemed aware of the comical ball clubs. Instead they watched soccer practice.

A float parade scheduled at 4:30 p.m. fizzled. Only one car came.

Ruby Benjamin, a smiling junior from Brooklyn, N. Y., was Daisy Mae, Mike McDaniel, Maryin' Sam, seemed somewhat perplexed on being asked to tie a man's knot, but he dutifully joined Ruby and Pat Griffin from Carrollton, Ga.

P. J. Waren, president of the Carolina Independent Coed Association, said she was sorry "events turned out as they did. I guess the bad weather and the South Carolina game were just too much."

A dance was held last night in the Tin Can.

Last year's Sadie Hawkins Day turned out very successful. A large float parade was held and everything came off in fine style.

UMT For Security, Says NSA Prexy

A spokesman of some 1,000,000 American students called yesterday for universal military service and said students must make a leading role in fighting Communism.

Allard Lowenstein, President of the National Students Association which includes some 325 American colleges and universities, said the United States must work out a draft program "to keep the armed forces of the nation strong without impairing for a long period of time the training of leadership in all fields of public service."

"We must work out a formula which provides a certain amount of security for students unless total mobilization becomes necessary," the 22-year-old Carolina graduate and former aide to Sen. Frank Graham (D-NC) said.

"I am in favor of a national service plan whereby each male spends two years in military service at the end of his undergraduate college days or at the age of 18 if he does not go to college."

Lowenstein, represented the NSA as the only student organization in the American Council of Education when it was asked to make draft deferment recommendations to Selective Service Director Louis B. Hershey. He will go to Stockholm, Swe. (See UMT, page 4)

Bradley Says U.S. Not Set For Attack

ATLANTA, Nov. 17—(UP)—Gen. Omar N. Bradley said today that our commitments in Korea left us without a military safety margin with which to meet the enemy to any other specific point. "Certainly we were left without the strength to meet a general attack," he said.

Radio Station Plans Told To Merchants

Asheboro Group Seek 1,000 Watt Unit; Decision Rests On Merchants' Support

Chapel Hill soon may get its first radio station, according to a report issued by the Chapel Hill-Carrboro Merchant's Association at its regular meeting this week.

Roy Cox, owner and Editor of The Asheboro Courier-Times, made a proposal to the group with plans for establishing a 1000 watt station that would be in operation 12 to 14 hours a day. Cox also operates a similar type station in Asheboro.

The primary concern at the present time, according to Cox, is the cooperation that would be received from the merchants in this area through the medium of advertising to support the venture. The consensus of reports made Monday night is that the businessmen are in favor of the project being put into actuality, and that they would give full-bodied support to the station.

Cox stated that he and Bob Marlow, an associate, are operating the station in Asheboro with both an FM and AM frequency. However, the two men were undecided as to whether the station here would carry both frequencies or just AM.

Gov. Kerr Scott said he thought it would take at least six weeks before the state could call for bids on the project.

He added that the Budget Bureau had reported the appropriation was from $150,000 to $200,000 short of the amount necessary to complete the project because of rising costs.

But the Governor admitted the student union "would be a tremendous help to the institution."

"I don't know any place that needs it more... that's too much like an overgrown factory out there now," he added.

Moscow Likely Stop For Red Delegation

MOSCOW, Nov. 17—(AP)—Diplomatic sources here said tonight it is likely that the Chinese Communist delegation en route to the United Nations from Peiping will stop off in Moscow.

The Peiping delegation took off from their capital Tuesday.

Bigger And Better Yet

Evelyn West, Birthday Suit Lady, Makes With Comment On Bosoms

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 17—(UP)—Evelyn West, who is 39½ inches around the bosom, advised a British contemporary tonight to make her own bathing suits if she can't find a ready-made suit to fit her.

The contemporary, 24-year-old Irene Whitworth of London, complained she searched the United Kingdom in vain for a properly fitting one-piece suit. She appealed to U. S. manufacturers.

Miss Whitworth, who is 38½ inches around the bosom, said her future as a beauty contest winner looked bleak unless she can find a one-piece suit that accommodates her. "I make my own and that's

BULLETIN

WILMINGTON, Nov. 17—(AP)—A former University of North Carolina Political Science professor and his entire family were killed in a car-train accident in Alabama today, relatives here reported.

The dead were identified by the Alabama Highway Patrol as William Bragaw, 28; his wife, Helen, 25; their two children, Lulie, 5, and Margaret, 4, and the mothers of the couple, Mrs. Helen G. Bragaw, 59, and Mrs. Frank M. Niernse, 60.

Bragaw recently resigned as Political Science professor at the University to take a job with the State Department in Washington. It was understood that he would go to Brazil with the Department in another year.

The six left Southport last Friday to visit friends in the southeast.

The elder Mrs. Bragaw's only other son, Churchill, an Army Captain, was killed in Italy during World War II.

Funeral arrangements had not been completed tonight, but it is expected the bodies will be shipped to Southport.

North Korean Suicide Drive Waylays UN

TOKYO, Saturday, Nov. 18—(UP)—A fanatical Communist ambush in a snowy mountain defile of northeast Korea checked a U. S. 7th Division spearhead yesterday and upset its plans to reach the Manchurian border by Monday.

An armored task force demolished the suicide band of Communist expendables in a bloody battle just south of Kapsan, transport hub 21 miles below the frontier. Then it struck out again, planning to seize Kapsan today and pitch camp on the bank of the Yalu River by Tuesday.

Allied troops slugged northward along most of the 250-mile front for gains up to six miles despite numbing cold and billowing snow clouds that deprived them of stout air support.

The U. S. Marines pushed five miles north on both sides of the ice-rimmed Chosin Reservoir, half completing the envelopment (See KOREA, page 4)

Annual Battle Of Carolinas Makes UNC 14-Point Favorite

Hayes Stays Home; Kuhn May Not Play

By Frank Allston, Jr. COLUMBIA, Nov. 17—The annual "Battle of the Carolinas" will be renewed here tomorrow afternoon when the University of South Carolina gridders are hosts to the North Carolina Tar Heels in a game scheduled for 2 o'clock in Memorial Stadium on the Palmetto State Fair Grounds.

A crowd of around 25,000 is expected to witness the second post-war renewal of this old series. Carolina won last year's tussle here by a 28-13 count.

The crippled Tar Heels, who arrived here late this afternoon by air, have been installed as 14-point favorites on the theory that the Tar Heel line is stronger. Local gridiron fans here in town have a different opinion of tomorrow's outcome, however, and large sums of money are expected to change hands before the weekend is over.

Fullback Billy Hayes didn't even make the trip and Tackle Bill Kuhn is expected to see little, if any, service at all for the Carolina team. Hayes received a bad hip bruise in last week's Maryland game and Kuhn hurt his shoulder in practice two weeks ago. Center and Captain Huck Holdash and End Ed Bilpuch are suffering from injuries, but will play.

The off-and-on Tar Heels will still be seeking their third win of the campaign. To date, the Carolina eleven has won two contests, dropped three, and endured two ties.

South Carolina, sporting a 3-2-2 mark, is expected to be in top spirits for tomorrow's clash. The Gamecocks dropped a surprise 19-7 decision to The Citadel in Charleston last Saturday and will be out for the upset tomorrow. Carolina, on the other hand, was "up" last week for a surprise 7-all tie with Maryland.

Tomorrow's game will be the 26th in the series. Carolina has won 17 while the Gamecocks have taken four. There have been four ties. The last South Carolina win was a 6-0 victory recorded in 1944.

Running from a tight-T formation, the Gamecocks have one of the most feared ground attacks in the Southern Conference. One of Dixie's better backfields has given the Gamecocks the rushing edge over almost every opponent played to date although the passing game is definitely lacking.

Drive Is Extended By N.C. Symphony

Although the campaign officially ends today, the drive for memberships in the North Carolina Symphony Society will continue unofficially through next Wednesday, it has been announced by officials of the society.

More than $1,000 has been reported from workers to date. Many reports have not been turned in as yet and the total amount of money as well as memberships is expected to be much higher when a final tabulation is made.

Student memberships have not been selling as well as last year, officials said, but the drive was late getting underway. More memberships are expected from the campus before Thanksgiving.

Price of the student memberships is $1.20. They entitle the bearer to attend any society-sponsored concert in North Carolina.

Memberships will be available at Symphony headquarters all next week. They also can be reserved by calling F-471.

Five Named To Run For Honor Group

The Non-Partisan Selection Board yesterday named five men to run in the fall elections Nov. 30 for the two seats open on the Men's Honor Council.

After holding interviews for three days, the Board selected Bill Walker and Allen O'Neal for the freshman seat, and Bill McLendon, Ed Love, and Bob Strickland for the junior post. The men's names will appear on the ballot as the only candidates and students will select one for each post.

The Board's duty is to select students through interviews to run for campus judiciary positions. Also, it handles the nominating of cheerleader candidates the same way.

Winston Clubs Hold Banquet To Fete Gray

WINSTON-SALEM, Nov. 17—(AP)—Gordon Gray, President of the Consolidated University of North Carolina, came home Thursday night to be honored at a banquet attended by 375 civic leaders.

Gray, former Secretary of the Army and Special Assistant to President Truman before becoming President of the University last October, was praised by several speakers before he was presented with a silver bowl.

In an address to the members of the 16 civic clubs and Chamber of Commerce who sponsored the event, Gray gave the "grass roots of our country" the real credit for forming and maintaining the real character of America today.
