Choral Group Gives Concert Here Tuesday

200th Anniversary Of Sebastian Bach Will Be Celebrated

One of the biggest choral concerts of the year will be held in Hill Hall next Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. when the Music Department presents the first of two programs in celebration of the 200th anniversary of the death of Johann Sebastian Bach.

The program will feature the Chapel Hill Choral Club in a performance of "The Magnificat," one of Bach's choral masterpieces. With 80 mixed voices composed mostly of faculty members and townspeople, the Club will give its annual Christmas program under the direction of Joel Carter, head of the vocal department at Hill Hall.

Carter also will be heard in a Cantata No. 56, "Ich will den Kreuzstab gerne tragen," for solo bass.

Efrim Frutchan, graduate assistant in cello will play two airs arranged by Dr. Jan Philip Schinhan, member of the music faculty. "Bist du bei mir," and "Komm, süsser Tod," are the two Bach works which Frutchan will play. Dr. Schinhan will accompany him.

Soloists in "The Magnificat" include Doris Fowler, soprano; Elizabeth Hardee, mezzo-soprano; May Marshbanks, contralto; Carl Perry, tenor; George Muns, bass; David Serring, oboe, and Dorothy Alden, violin. The work will be accompanied by Dr. Schinhan at the organ and Thomas Nichols at the harpsichord.

People Spend $19.8 Billion During Year

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20—(AP)—Consumer spending shot up by an unprecedented $13,200,000,000 a year rate during the July-September period to reach a record annual volume of $19,840,000,000, the Commerce Department reported today.

This mass assault on retail counters netted a $14,000,000,000 spurt in the gross national production—total output of goods and services—to an historic high of $284,300,000,000.

It came close to the $300,000,000,000 a year total output goal President Truman spoke last January of attaining "within five years," but there was a hitch in it.

The President said he meant $300,000,000,000 worth of goods and services valued at the prices prevailing at the start of 1950. Much of the $30,500,000,000 a year rise since then has been due to increased prices.

The Commerce Department said, in fact, that one-third of the $13,200,000,000 jump in consumer spending in the third quarter of this year, compared with the previous quarter, "stemmed from higher prices."

Purchases of greater quantities following the outbreak of the Korean War on June 25 accounted for the other two-thirds of the increase, but the Department saw a price angle in that, too.

Scott Coming

Special to The Daily Tar Heel
RALEIGH, Nov. 20—Governor Kerr Scott will see the Duke-Carolina game Saturday, after attending a meeting of the North Carolina Business Foundation in Chapel Hill that morning.

On Sunday, following his Chapel Hill visit, the governor and Mrs. Scott will leave for Charleston, S. C., to attend the Southern Governors' Conference opening there that day.

Yack Beauty Dance Set This Weekend

63 Coeds Enter Pictures For Queen Title; Cecil de Mille Is Judge Of Annual Contest

King Football, 1950, winds up his home stand on the Carolina campus Saturday night with the Yack Beauty Ball in Woollen Gymnasium and the crowning of the 1951 Yack Queen, who was chosen by Cecil B. de Mille, Hollywood producer-director.

The Queen, whose name will not be announced until Saturday night, and a court of 15 were chosen from 63 candidates sponsored by various campus organizations.

Untouched proofs of the candidates were sent to Hollywood by Yack Editor Jim Mills. De Mille made the selections on the basis of "natural beauty."

The winners will be awarded with a full page portrait in the 1950-51 yearbook.

The Beauty Ball is being sponsored by the Graf and is an annual affair. Dancing will be to the music of the Cavaliers and will last from 8 p.m. until midnight.

The affair will be semi-formal, with evening gowns prescribed for the girls and coats and ties for the men.

Admission is to be $1 for stags and $.75 for couples.

Tentative arrangements are under way to have President Hollis Edens of Duke University officiate in the crowning of the Queen. Nothing has been heard from Edens as yet, however, and plans are still indefinite, Mills said yesterday.

The dance will mark the last of the fall's five big football weekends and the close of the home season for the Tar Heels who meet Duke in Kenan Stadium Saturday afternoon.

It will also bring to a close a week of "Beat Dook" preparations for the traditional gridiron clash.

NPA Slowup Is Suggested By Symington

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20—(AP)—W. Stuart Symington today issued a mild go-slow warning to the National Production Authority, which is considering the possibility of imposing an all-industry materials control system next July 1.

The Defense Coordinator told a news conference that if the government uses "too heavy a hand" on controls before military production hits full stride it "might hurt the economy."

Symington suggested that it is too early to talk in terms of specific control plans for many months ahead. Rather than to say that a "control material plan" may go into effect, he said it would be better to state that the government will take whatever measures are necessary at that time.

Discussion of the control material plan—known as "CMP" during World War II—was prompted by last week's remarks of Manley Fleishmann, NPA's general counsel. If the military budget for the year starting next July 1 is $50,000,000,000 or $60,000,000,000 as now seems likely, Fleishmann, the overall control system seems inevitable.

"CMP" involves the allocation to all industries of three metals—aluminum, steel and copper—in terms of the supply of each and the essential nature of the industries concerned.

Regulations Are Effective Fall Of 1951

By John Noble

Students now in residence who are planning to transfer from General College after the end of the summer session, 1951, will have to produce a minimum .75 average before their transfer can be certified to the college of their major, according to a resolution passed Friday by the general faculty.

The resolution was introduced Nov. 10 by Dean William Wells, School of Arts and Sciences, at a meeting of the deans of the various undergraduate schools. It is designed as a "precautionary measure to prevent seniors from having their degrees held up due to a lack of General College credits."

However, students with an average slightly under the required C will get a break through an amendment passed by the group. Introduced by Dean C. P. Spruill, General College, the amendment gives students the option of going into their major on probation until they completed the required General College work.

The delinquent student's Dean would have to approve his advancement on probation.

The amendment is designed to permit students to continue an uninterrupted program of study, Dean Spruill pointed out. But a student in General College will not, under any circumstances, be (See GRADES, page 4)

Paul Green 'Looks Home' With Wolfe

ASHEVILLE—(AP)—Paul Green, Chapel Hill Playwright, took members of the Thomas Wolfe Memorial Association by the hand here this weekend and led them to the shrine erected by the novelist in his books.

"Tom Wolfe went looking for the unknown, hunting with hungry eyes for truth and beauty—a gigantic human spirit the like of which this state has never known. He was always trying to discover himself and to discover others," Green said.

"I have just completed a 4,200-mile trip and I am getting ready to start on a 24,000-mile trip. I am going to all the countries of the world to learn, if I can, what people are thinking."

U.S. Tanks Smash To Korean Border

SEOUL, Nov. 21—(AP)—A tank-paced column of the U. S. Seventh Division Monday smashed to the threshold of Manchuria in a northeast Korean sector where Communist resistance had virtually collapsed.

A U. S. 10th Corps spokesman said the spearhead reached within two miles of the frontier city of Pyesanjin by late afternoon against light resistance which dwindled away to "practically none."

Because of darkness and bitter cold, however, it was expected that Maj. Gen. David G. Barr's troops would wait until this morning before entering the road and railway city.

Thus to comparative newcomers in the Korean War went the honor of making the closest American approach to the Manchurian frontier—an objective since mid-October. In World War II the Seventh Division had fought and won the rugged Aleutians campaign in snow and ice conditions similar to what it now is meeting.

Weaver Represents UNC At Conference

Fred Weaver, Dean of Students, will represent the University at a three-day Conference on General Education being held at Florida State University in Tallahassee this week.

The meeting, sponsored jointly by the United States Office of Education and the National Education Association, has been planned to discuss the problems of General Education on the junior and senior college levels.

PHILLIPS RUSSELL, noted author, will discuss his book, "The Woman Who Rang the Bell," at a meeting of the YWCA Book Club Committee at 5 p.m. today in the Y Library.

Rally Is Late For Tar Heel Sack Hounds

Be sure you get out of the sack Saturday morning for the big Carolina Pep Rally to be held at 11:30.

Jerry Sternberg, president of the University Club, sponsors of the rally, has stated that his organization hopes that students will attend this rally, the last home gathering of the current football season.

Sternberg added: "Duke is giving a big rally this week, and we certainly don't want to be outdone by those Devils, so we are hoping that the real Tar Heel spirit will be shown Saturday."

The club has planned many big surprises for the event. Most of these will be announced in tomorrow's Daily Tar Heel.

The pep rally will be held on the back steps of South Building. The University band will be there, and Joe Chambliss and the cheerleaders.

"Beat Dook" buttons will be on sale this morning, tomorrow morning and Saturday morning in the Y. The traditional Carolina Blue Victory hats also will be on sale at the Varsity during the week, at the pep rally and at the game Saturday.

Many special stunts have been arranged for the rally and it promises to be a gala affair.

Visiting Hours

Open house will be held in all dorms again on the Duke weekend. Hours for visiting are from immediately after the game on Saturday until 6 p.m., and on Sunday from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Ray Jeffries, assistant to Dean of Students, yesterday reminded dorm residents that only parents, members of family, and friends accompanying parents are invited to the dorm.

Dorm advisers will be present during the visiting hours.

'Beat Dook' Parade Is Today At 3 P.M.

Duke Devils Will Sponsor Big Pep Rally

Special to The Daily Tar Heel
DURHAM, Nov. 20—Hundreds of yell-happy Duke students will hold a gigantic pep rally and light a 60-foot high bonfire here Friday night prior to the football game with Carolina in Chapel Hill the next day.

Already publicized as one "to outdo last year's," plans are practically complete for the rally. They call for Blue Devil Coach Wallace Wade to talk, for a 15-minute broadcast over Raleigh radio station WPTF, and the bonfire on the Duke freshman field.

The rally will be held in the indoor stadium prior to the bonfire.

Carolina won't be alone when it hauls out the colors for its renowned card stunts. Dukesters are planning something "special," according to Bill Wood, head cheerleader. He refused to elaborate.

Saturday's score will decide something other than who wins the ball game. The Victory Bell, that sought-after token of a winning team, will go to the victor. Carolina now has it.

Tickets to the Carolina-Duke tilt went on sale here today. Athletic officials said only 1,000 are available and the ducks will go on a "first-come, first-served basis."

'Romeo And Juliet' To Feature Staging

A composition of brilliant settings, costumes, lighting, and music will take over the stage at the Playmakers theater for six nights, Nov. 28-Dec. 3. Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet" will be the center of the spectacle.

Lynn Gault, technical director for the group, is putting the finishing touches on his unit setting of arches and platforms. It consists of only four reversible screens and arches, permitting many effects through their various combinations. Gault's problem is to design a setting which will emphasize the basic themes of romance and violence, enhance the lyric poetry, and give great freedom of movement for the actors.

A dazzling array of costumes has been executed by Irene Smart. The bright costumes reflect the glory of one of the most colorful periods in history. All are appropriate to the period and the poetry.

Ed Fitzpatrick, in charge of lighting the play, has been busy overhauling all the lighting equipment, getting it into top shape for some imaginative mood effects.

Game Ticket Deadline Set For Tomorrow

Athletic Association officials yesterday reminded students that tomorrow will be the last day for them to pick up their coupons for the Duke game to be played in Kenan Stadium Saturday.

Business Manager Vernon Crook expressed concern over the fact that response has been so poor. According to Crook, only 2,000 students have presented their passbooks to pick up their Duke tickets.

Crook pointed out that the reason this method has been initiated is to determine in advance the number of students who plan to return to Chapel Hill for the game.

The seats reserved for the students which are not claimed by tomorrow will be sold to alumni who were unable to otherwise obtain tickets to the game.

The ticket office in Woollen Gym will be open from 9 o'clock in the morning until 5 o'clock in the afternoon today and tomorrow for students to pick up their coupons.

Coed Queen, 6-Girl Court To Be Named

By Edd Davis

Today is the big day for the "Beat Dook" float parade. The mammoth spectacle is scheduled to get under way at 3 p.m. in front of Woollen Gymnasium.

The parade will be led by an escort of local police. It will begin at the Gym, proceed down Raleigh St., pass the women's dorms, up Franklin St. to Columbia St., to Cameron Ave., then by South Building to the Arboretum, where it will end.

The Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity, sponsors of the parade, chose a queen at a dinner last Thursday night. She will ride on a float built by the PiKAs and will take her place in the middle of the procession.

Surrounding the Queen on her float will be the six members of her court. The Queen's Court also has been chosen from among the 30 candidates for the royal title. However, the identity of the queen will not be revealed until the parade begins.

The 34 participating floats will present a colorful array. Gold trophies, now on display in the Y, will be presented to the winners of each of the entering divisions: the women's dorms, sororities, men's dorms, and fraternities.

The presentations will be made at the Carolina-Duke football game Saturday.

The floats will be lined up in strict order for the parade. First will come the creations of the women's dorms, then the men's dorms, then the sororities' entries, and finally the exhibits created by the fraternities.

The UNC band will be on hand along with the cheerleaders. Both of these groups will lead the spectacle on its journey through the town and campus.

This is the last big football parade of the year. A large crowd of both students and townspeople is expected to witness the colorful exhibition.

Guy Rawls, contest chairman for the PiKAs, yesterday reminded all entrants their floats must be in front of Woollen Gymnasium at 2:30 p.m. today. The judging will start at that time.

Judges for the festivities will be John Sanders, Norman Cordon, Dean Thomas H. Carroll, and Rev. David Yates.

Gray Feast Ducats On Sale In Town

Tickets for the banquet tomorrow night honoring Gordon Gray, sponsored by the Merchants Association of Chapel Hill and Carrboro, are now on sale, according to an announcement by Wilbur Kutz, president of the group.

Tickets may be purchased at Jack Lipmans, the Merchants Association office, Wentworth and Sloans, and at the Varsity.

All students and townspeople are invited to attend the affair.

Mass Meeting

A required meeting for all candidates in the fall election Nov. 30 will be held at 7:30 tonight in Roland Parker Lounges No. 1 and 2 in Graham Memorial.

Party chairmen, members of Elections Board, poll tenders, and the candidates must be present. Julian Mason, Chairman of the Elections Board said yesterday, Mason warned that failure to attend may result in disqualification.
