cumulation of up to eight years in the first refund.
Payments so far have averaged $175 this year.
After next year's special issue, dividends will be paid annually—when there are any—in a routine fashion on the anniversary date of each policy.

VA said no applications will be necessary for the forthcoming dividends, in the case of veterans who have received the first one. Holders of lapsed policies would be wise to apply, however. The forthcoming payment will be for all policies kept in force at least three months—not necessarily three consecutive months—between the anniversary dates in 1948 and 1951.

Schedule Released By Debate Council

Chairman Paul Roth of the Debate Council yesterday announced the schedule of pre-season practice debates planned for this week.

Today two teams from the University will go to Durham to debate against Duke, Carolyn Stallings and Virginia Glasser will take the affirmative, and Bruce Manger and Curtiss Meltzer the negative.

This year's topic is "Resolved,

Wade was found, of course, but was not in a particularly bad mood. "We were outplayed and licked, that's all," he sighed in summing up the game. Referring to that bad break that came after Cox' punt from his own end zone, Snively said, "I think it was (Bob) Page who hit the ball as it bounced. He went in to block for (Bud) Carson but it was a bad play."

Asked about the Duke tailback, the "Grey Fox" commented, "Cox is a fine passer." Someone asked if he were glad to see Cox graduate and Snively smiled, replying, "Well, they'll have someone else in there, I suppose, but we'd like to have another crack at him."

Commenting on the game in general, Snively said: "Well, it wasn't one of our best games. We had our chances but didn't capitalize on them. A team that can't capitalize on its chances can't win." Pausing a moment, he added, "There were dozens of plays that hurt us. You just can't narrow it down to one play or one individual."

All in all, it was a pretty sad day for Tar Heels, but as one enthusiastic alumnus put it in the dressing room after the game: "Wait 'til next year! We're all behind King Carl and he'll have a great team with Billy Williams and all those other boys out there next year."

cess of Duke's card stunts one single tad.

But the stunts are improving. Last year, when Carolina hauled its stunts to Duke Stadium and showed them off, the publicized Devils' stunts never materialized.

This year, however, color cards were passed out and instruction sheets distributed. But then something went haywire. As the Carolina stunts were being flashed, the Duke stunts literally went into thin air as the student section on the north side seemed to flutter in many colors. The "Dooksters" heaved their cards away without trying.

Carolina lost the victory bell it had been so proudly tolling for each UNC point scored since the Tar Heels won the bell from Duke year before last. After the field had been cleared, Carolina's cheerleaders hauled the bell to the Duke side, and the folks from 12 miles away cheered as the bell clanged out the seven-point victory. They'll keep it until the next Carolina victory.

It was no warmer in the Kenan President's box than anywhere else. Gordon Gray, Duke President Hollis Edens, Gov. Kerr Scott, Thad Eure, Mayne Albright, John Motley Morehead Senator-Elect Willis Smith, and a host of other guests shivered and chattered in unison.

E. Investigation of the realization of dormitory social rooms.

F. Striving for a more liberal class cut system.

G. Lowering the rent in two-person dormitory rooms to the level now paid by those in three-person rooms.

H. Removing class nominations from the political parties to the classes concerned.

I. Continued support of NSA.

J. Any other tangible expression of benefit to the student body, if such expression be feasible to put into effective operation.
