Students Leaving UNC Must Order Yacks Now

Students graduating this quarter, or leaving school in answer to Uncle Sam's letters, will have to order their 1951 Yacks today if they want to receive one when the annual is published. Charlie Fox, assistant business manager, said yesterday that mail boxes will not be honored this year because an exact count of Yacks desired is necessary. The ruling came about following the recent budget cut, Fox said. He said that students leaving school this quarter should come by the Yack office in Graham Memorial today and pay the balance of their student block fee, $3, plus a dollar postage, and the Yack will be delivered to their address this spring when the annual is distributed. Ordinarily, the student pays $1.50 per quarter into the student block fee fund for the cost of the Yack, Fox said.

The Yack has on hand some 30 copies of last year's annual, available to anyone wishing one at a flat cost of $5.

Tarnation Will Feature Petty Girl Calendar With UNC Coeds Posing

The second issue of Tarnation, carrying the Christmas theme and a surprise package of 12 luscious coeds in a Petty Girl-type New Year calendar, will be out Monday, Editor Herb Nachman announced yesterday. The featured article in the magazine is by Barry Farber who returns this issue with a story entitled "Inside France." It's a glimpse of his experiences with "les belles dames" while studying in Europe this summer. Other features in the book include the return of the traditional tongue-in-cheek profile. This

Golden Fleece Makes Yates New Member

Rockingham Senior Is 485th Initiate Of Honorary Group

In a pre-dawn ceremony today, black-robed figures tapped Herb Yates, a senior from Rockingham, into the Order of the Golden Fleece, highest honorary organization for men at the University. The mysterious figures with fleeces across their shoulders entered Yates' room in Pettigrew Dormitory, sounding a gong, and tapped him on the basis of character, scholarship, and service to the University.

The Fleece, founded by the University's famous philosopher-scholar, Dr. Horace Williams in 1903, is the second oldest honorary society on an American campus. Skull and Bones at Yale is the oldest.

Chosen for distinctive records in special activities and general all-around excellence, Yates is the 485th member of the Fleece.

Yates, a self-help student, is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Order of the Old Well, and Order of the Holy Grail. He was Chairman of the Grail's Ring Committee for the past year and a member of the Orientation Committee.

He also was elected the President of the Wesley Foundation of the Methodist Church during the past year. He has been active on the Debate Council and was a member of the Phi Assembly for several years.

The tapping usually is done in the spring quarter in conjunction with the Valkyrie Sing.

Alumni Group Makes Offer To Students

The General Alumni Association reminds students who will be leaving the University at the end of this quarter of the benefits of joining its organization.

Membership will include approximately 10 issues of the Alumni Review, in addition to special editions each week during the football season. The publication contains features on the University, faculty, alumni, and students. It is designed primarily to keep graduates informed of the activities of the University and each other.

As an additional service the Association maintains a file of more than 45,000 alumni, acting as a "family Bible" for the University, by keeping up with biographical material on former students.

Fees for membership are $3 annually, but the first alumni year's rate is only $1 to students.

House Advises 'Restless' Men To Stay Here

Chancellor Gives Official Position Of Administration

Chancellor Robert B. House yesterday advised "restless" students to continue their studies "with the assurance that they are acting consistently with the presently declared policy of the government and in the nation's interest."

House made the statement after consulting with President Gordon Gray and more than two hours of discussion with the revamped Student Welfare Board yesterday afternoon.

Present government policy, House emphasized, "allows for completion of the current academic year by all regularly enrolled students and the deferment and reclassification of some. It reflects the judgement of the military authorities that education is a necessary part of a sound program of military preparedness and national security."

The Chancellor said the University administration will "at all times" seek to keep abreast of developments affecting mobilization and training plans of the government. Also, he said, it will try to formulate University programs in such a way as to be of greatest service to the nation and to students here.

"The present stage of mobilization is one of planning and continual adjustment to an uncertain and rapidly changing military situation," House continued. "In this period, as always, students will, of course, feel free to act in accordance with their own judgement of their opportunity and obligation."

House urged students "facing an immediate decision on this important question" to consider it with the advice of their parents and to take advantage of advisory and informational services afforded by the University. He specifically recommended Col. F. C. Shepard, adviser to students on military matters; appropriate officers in the local ROTC units; and deans and advisers.

"A person's chances for advancement in the service," the Chancellor commented, "as well as his usefulness, are improved by obtaining as much formal education as possible."

The statement was the first official word from the University advising students of administration attitude toward the effect of the Korean war upon the student body.

Ellington New Frosh President; Six Candidates Disqualified

By Rolfe Neill

Bob Ellington was chosen president of the freshman class and Bob Strickland named to the Honor Council in the fall runoff election yesterday which saw six disqualifications, including two winners, for failure to turn in expense accounts.

Eunice Bizzell with 33 votes lost to Helen Brundage with only 18 tallies for the six months term from Spencer in the Coed Senate.

In the at large junior terms in the Senate, Frankie Strohsider polled more votes than any other contestant, 85, but lost when she failed to turn in her expense account.

For the freshman class, Ellington (UP) polled 201 votes. Tesler, an independent, got 155. Jerry Hendrick, 171, another independent, lost to Michell Novit, 183, for the veep's job in the frosh class. Hendrick, however, was disqualified anyway for the expense account failure.

Strickland got 337 votes to Ed Love's 294 for the junior seat on the Men's Honor Council.

P. J. Warren (SP) with 49 votes, and Peggy Stewart (UP), 60 votes, beat Jo King (SP) for two Student Legislature seats from Dorm Women's District 1. Jo got 44 votes.

In Dorm Men's District II, Ted Westbrook (SP), Hilliard Stoton (SP), and Mel Krepes (Ind.) each received 119 votes to whip Don Evans (UP) with 98 for three Solons seats.

Adair Beasley, 69; Johnnie McClaren, 67, Sara Ann Proctor, 76, and Winx Wheeler, 68, were elected to the Coed Senate for at large junior seats. Losers were Barbara Chantler, 50, disqualified; Martha Ann Smith, 58, and Mimi Weil, 64, disqualified.

The vote for men was 631; a 168 women, for a total of 799 voters.

Julian Mason, Chairman of the Elections Board, last night thanked the "faithful few who showed up for the ballot counting." The handful who counted finished the ticklish job in little over an hour and a half, he said.

GUNC Prexy Chairs Group Forming Plan

Action Is Taken Monday, Withheld Until Yesterday

Consolidated University President Gordon Gray, chairman of the Committee on Manpower of the American Association of Universities, is expected to fly to Washington tomorrow with an AAU report recommending extension of the draft law for 10 years and universal military training for all men upon graduation from high school.

Contents of the report were released yesterday in Columbia, Mo., according to the United Press. Dr. Frederick A. Middlebush, president of the University of Missouri and head of the Association, said the action came Monday at a special meeting of the Association in New York.

The AAU, composed of 37 leading Universities throughout the country, recommended that in addition amendments should be passed "prohibiting voluntary one-year enlistments and extending the period of service to 27 months, with the proviso that the President may raise this term by three months or lower it, to the extent necessary to bring military manpower demand and resources into effective balance."

The report, submitted to the AAU by Gray's Manpower Committee, asked that all male citizens "be prepared for their critical roles by a system of universal training and service to be undertaken at the age of 18, or upon completion of the 12th grade, whichever is later."

All men trained under the UMT plan would be transferred to reserve status from which they could be called in any time of emergency.

Gray is expected to leave here tomorrow to deliver the AAU recommendations to Defense Secretary George Marshall and Deputy Secretary of State Robert A. Lovett. The president of the Greater University probably will be called upon to testify before a Congressional committee when the report comes up before the 82nd Congress.

"This is a new proposition for a group of college presidents to be taking," Gray told The Daily Tar Heel yesterday. "All expressed regret but thought it was best."

Men serving on Gray's committee were Presidents Coigate Darden of the University of Virginia; Detlev Bronk of Johns Hopkins; L. A. DuBridges of California Tech; Arthur Compton of Washington University in Saint Louis; Henry M. Wriston of Brown University; and J. E. Wallace Sterling of Stanford University.

Association members emphasized in the resolution that "an adequate and continuous flow of trained personnel from all fields of advanced and professional education and training must be preserved, if the nation is to remain strong."

Final Issue

This is the final day of publication for The Daily Tar Heel for the fall quarter.

Publication will be resumed on Thursday, Jan. 4, 1951, the second day of classes of the winter quarter. Editorial offices will be closed until the afternoon of Wednesday, Jan. 3. Editorial correspondence may be left in the Graham Memorial office, first floor, GM.

N. Koreans Are Reorganizing As Chinese Start New Attack

U.S. Troops Battle Ice And Chinese

TOKYO, Friday, Dec. 8.—(UP)—A do-or-die convoy of 20,000 U. S. marines and troops fought down an ice-glazed Korean mountain trail to within 25 miles of Hamhung today on the last lap of a bloody push out of a Chinese encirclement.

A relief task force knifed north from Hamhung through the Chinese lines and linked up with a tank spearhead of the beleaguered band, an unconfirmed air report said. Front dispatches said Marine commanders were confident the Yanks would come through.

To the southwest, the vanguard of 110,000 Chinese troops launched the first attack on a new Allied defense arc curving like a half moon 25 to 50 miles below Pyongyang. The initial blow knocked South Korean troops out of their defenses 25 miles southeast of the city.

The U. S. 8th Army braced on a more or less stabilized line curving from just south of Koksan, 53 miles southeast of Pyongyang, up through Yul, 23 miles to the northwest and 28 miles from the Communist capital, and down to the Taedong River estuary across from the port city of Chinnampo, 25 miles southwest of Pyongyang.

Nowhere were the Allied front line defenses, or any Chinese troops, closer to the 38th Parallel than 50 miles, officials reported. The big question of whether the Chinese would stop at the old boundary between North and South Korea remained unanswered.

The U. S. 1st Cavalry Division recaptured Koksan for a time in the first Allied counter-blow since the retreat through Pyongyang. To its left, the U. S. 24th Division and the South Korean 6th Division manned the center of the defense arc. The South Korean 1st Division fought off guerrilla feints around Sariwon, just south of Chinnampo.

GM Travel Agency Offers Ride Service

The Graham Memorial Travel Agency yesterday announced a new service designed to help students in securing rides out of town.

The Agency will begin keeping a master list of all rides offered and students may check for those desired.

'Murder' Trial Ends Without Jury Decision

By Barrett Bouliware
Justice was stalemated by the clock Wednesday night at the Phi Delta Alpha's mock trial of the State vs. Julian Barker when hours of testimony left no time for the judge to charge the jury, and no decision was reached.

Barker was being tried in the Superior Court of the Commonwealth of Manning for the alleged murder of Dick Bunting on the night of Nov. 21 in the Rathskeller.

The crowd who packed the courtroom in the Law Building at 7 p.m. was somewhat relieved when Superior Court Judge Henry L. Stevens decided at 11:45 p.m. that he would not spend the necessary hour and a half or two hours to charge the jury with the law in a capital crime.

Judge Stevens commended both the prosecution and the defense on the presentation of their cases and said, "Your guess would be as good as mine on what verdict 12 men or women would reach in this case."

The judge commented on the excellence of the prosecution's concluding speech by Ike Andrews. He noted that although no decision was reached, the trial served its purpose by providing experience under actual conditions for the law students.

Commie Wins Spur Ko-Reds Into Activity

SEOUL, Korea, Dec. 7.—(UP)—The North Korean Army, wrecked and helpless two months ago, is coming back to life and power in the wake of the Chinese Communist victories.

Three weeks ago insignificant guerrilla bands were plotted on military maps. Now they are listed as Regiments and Divisions. They are attacking more and more boldly along the flanks and rear of the United Nations forces.

At least one North Korean Corps has been reorganized. Its three almost full strength divisions linked up with the advancing Chinese near Songchon last week after assembling in the wilderness northeast of Pyongyang.

The corps was reported to have been in radio contact with the Chinese Communists since the middle of November.

With the Allies in retreat, guerrilla bands blossomed out as military units in many areas south of Pyongyang, and in at least two cases south of the 38th Parallel.

Communist recruiting drives already are going on in towns taken from the Allies.

Between 30,000 and 50,000 North Korean troops were estimated to be active north of the 38th Parallel, with most of them already back in organized military units. Another 40,000 to 80,000 were in by-passed pockets in South Korea.
