Robert Shaw Chorale To Be In Memorial Hall Tonight

ROBERT SHAW

Doors Open At 7 O'Clock For Students

By Charlie Brewer
Sponsored by the Student Entertainment Committee, the 32-voice Robert Shaw Chorale, augmented by a chamber music ensemble, makes its first appearance on campus tonight at 8 o'clock in Memorial Hall. Doors will be opened for the free admittance of students with ID cards at 7 o'clock, tickets for any remaining seats will go on sale to non-students at 7:40.

The chorale is the third presentation of a six-program series arranged by the Student Entertainment Committee this school year.

They will offer a program of classical music, folk songs, hymns, and spirituals.

Robert Shaw, who learned how to conduct, by conducting, is recognized by the New York Herald Tribune as "having no equal in the choral field today." His chorists have repeatedly won the highest praise from discriminating musicians for the accuracy and clearness of their ensemble, the delicacy and expressiveness of their interpretations and their wide range of dynamic levels.

A specialty of the Shaw system is diction. When choruses trained under Shaw perform one can understand the words. As a rule this is unheard-of in choral work.

Robert Shaw has been closely affiliated with choral work since his college glee-club days at Pomona College, California, in 1938. He has worked extensively with the Fred Waring radio glee club. During the war he organized and trained a chorus at the Sampson Naval Training Station while in the service.

Shaw, in addition to his radio work, trained choruses for Billy Rose's Aquacades in New York and San Francisco, and also for the Broadway shows, "Carmen Jones" "Laughing Room Only", and "The Seven Lively Acts."

Appearing on their second national tour, the Robert Shaw Chorale will demonstrate to Carolina students the outstanding achievement of a conductor capable of combining the perfectionism of a young Toscanini with the uninhibited gusto of a college

Complied With Athletic Aid Requirements

Suggests Group Return To Status Of Advisory Only

By Zane Robbins

In a recent letter to Clarence P. Houston, chairman of the Constitutional Compliance Committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, President Gordon Gray again stated Carolina's stand on the controversial "Sanity Code," and declared: "We have complied completely with the NCAA 'Sanity Code' in the administration of all scholarships and financial aid controlled by our Faculty Scholarship Committees."

President Gray wrote Houston last Saturday and yesterday released to the press a complete copy of the letter. He indicated that colleges and universities must, under the sanity code, choose between hypocrisy and frank admission of and non-compliance which must eventually lead to non-membership.

"We believe," Gray stated, "that a university's educational integrity may be most effectively safeguarded against any threat from professionalism in intercollegiate athletics by: (1) rigid admissions requirements; (2) high academic standards; and (3) a high quality student citizenship."

Gray asserted that "Sanity Codes" are not new to the Southern Conference, and described the 1936 code drawn up by the conference and later modified after a few months' trial. That code was highly similar to the present NCAA code, Gray pointed out, and was modified by the conference because "Opponents... asserted that morally it makes no difference whether a student's expenses are paid by his parents, the state, the federal government, an endowed scholarship fund, a

University Party Will Meet Today

The University Party will hold a combination steering committee meeting and caucus today at 2 p.m. in one of the Roland Parker Lounges of Graham Memorial. Party Chairman Bill Craft said yesterday.

The meeting is for steering committee members and UP-endorsed Student Legislators only. Craft added.

Enrollment Is Down 800 Since Fall, Says Admissions

Director of Admissions Roy Armstrong estimated yesterday that University enrollment had dropped by some 800 students since the beginning of the fall quarter, and probably between 500 and 600 of that number left because of the international situation.

Approximately 300 students left for the armed forces over the Christmas holidays, Armstrong figured.

Since enrollment was listed at 6,860 in the fall, the present enrollment is around 6,000 students.

The registration drop will hit hardest in the field of finance.

Present student government budgets were set up on the basis of an average enrollment for this academic year of 6,800, while the University budget for the present biennium was based on an average 7,000 enrollment.

Other schools of North Carolina's Big Four also suffered drops in registration, but Carolina and N. C. State suffered most since they operate on the quarter system.

W. L. Mayer, State's Director of Registration, reported yesterday that approximately 200 students eligible to return to school for the winter quarter never showed up. At least half of these were attributed to the national emergency.

Some Wake Forest students left school to enlist, college officials said, but there was "no flood of withdrawals."

R. B. Cox, Dean of Undergraduates at Duke, said only 15 students withdrew there over the Christmas holidays. He added that others have discussed with him plans to leave at the end of the current semester.

The students generally are "upset and are wondering what to do," Cox said.

$1 Million Under Sum Asked Here; Up To Legislature

Special to The Daily Tar Heel
RALEIGH, Jan. 8—Gov. Kerr Scott and the Advisory Budget Commission tonight asked the 1951 General Assembly to appropriate $1,917,748 to run the University at Chapel Hill for the next two years, an increase over the present biennium appropriation but more than a million dollars under the figure requested by the University.

The University is operating under a $3,256,989 budget for this fiscal year. It requested $4,380,-

For the Consolidated University and other state-supported colleges some $13,049,510 was recommended for the first year and $13,131,480 for the second year of the biennium. A total of about (See $8 MILLION, page 3)

Mrs. E. Rives, Born Here, Dead At 46

GREENSBORO, Jan. 8—(AP)—Funeral of Mrs. E. Earle Rives, 46, of 405 West Greenway North, who died early today, will be held at the West Market Street Methodist Church at 3 p.m. Wednesday.

Mrs. Rives was the wife of Judge E. Earle Rives of Municipal County Court.

Mrs. Rives, the former Mary Wheaton Tankersley, was born in Chapel Hill. She moved to Greensboro shortly after her marriage to Judge Rives, who was then a student at the University of North Carolina.

Survivors in addition to her husband include one son, Edwin E. Rives, Jr., a graduate student at the University of North Carolina, and two daughters, Mary Rosella and Frances Adele of Greensboro.

Sunday Papers

Most students went out Sunday looking for their Daily Tar Heels from force of habit.

But because of a budget cut necessitated by a drop in student fees, the Publications Board last fall was forced to eliminate all Sunday issues of the campus paper for the rest of the school year.

Students are reminded that those who usually bring notices of meetings and similar news up on Saturday should now bring it on Friday for Saturday morning publication.

AROTC Men Exempt From Army Draft

The commandant of the local AROTC yesterday issued a clarification of the draft status of the unit's 397 members. Lately there has been talk that freshman and sophomore members of the Air Force groups are not deferrable from the Selective Service Act.

L. Col. Jesse J. Moorhead, PAS&T yesterday announced that all cadets enrolled in the program have been deferred from the draft, with the exception of those who are not deferrable because of underage or membership in a reserve component.

The deferment of junior and senior cadets is automatic, Col. Moorhead pointed out. He explained that for sophomores and freshmen, a deferment quota is assigned by the Fourteenth Air Force which has jurisdiction over the AROTC in this geographical area.

At present, due to a large number of cadets being dropped for academic deficiencies and others for underage registration, or not deferrable because of membership in the National Guard or other reserves, it has been possible to defer all eligible members of the cadet corps, Col. Moorhead added.

If in the future it should happen that the deferment quota would not cover all eligible cadets, the selection of those to be deferred would be based upon (See AROTC, page 4)

Ring Sale

Bob Hutchinson, Grail ring chairman, will be in the Y lobby from 1 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. tomorrow to accept orders for class rings.

Hutchinson advised students to place their orders early as there might be some delay in delivery.

The Grail is the sole campus representative of L. G. Balfour Co., makers of the official University ring.

Gray Leaves To Address Association

President Gordon Gray left yesterday for Atlantic City, N. J., where he has accepted an invitation to address the opening session today of the Association of American Colleges.

Gray, Chairman of the Committee on Manpower of the American Association of Universities, will share speaking honors with Raymond Walters, president of the University of Cincinnati.

Gray will have as his topic, "The Colleges and Military Services."

Cold Wave To Continue

Frosty The Snowman's Icy Breath Gives Sunny South Taste Of Winter

By Don Maynard

Only Frosty the Snowman could tell us where the Canadians get all their cold weather, or why they manufacture so much of it that they have to ship it across the border in such quantities that it reaches Chapel Hill.

But gripe as you will about the sudden cold snap, which appeared over the weekend and sent the mercury scurrying down from an abnormal high of 68 last Wednesday to an equally abnormal 18 this morning, it's going to be with us for a few days at least.

According to the Raleigh-Durham office of the U. S. Weather Bureau yesterday, North Carolinians are experiencing a cold wave which originated in Central Canada, and which will continue through this week, it seems.

Forecasts were available only until Wednesday, but that day's prediction of "cold again" can only mean one thing. It's going to be ear muff weather for some time.

Reports from Chapel Hill coal yards and fuel oil distributors indicate that residents will keep warm, however. Unlike early March of last year, there is no coal strike and stockpiles are reported in "pretty good" shape.

The University's power and heating plant now has a six-week supply on hand, and coal shipments are coming in to meet (See COLD, page 4)

Defense Post Forthcoming For Graham

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8—(AP)—Dr. Frank P. Graham, former Senator from North Carolina, will soon be named to an important defense post by President Truman, according to White House officials.

Officials, who asked not to be named, told a reporter today that Graham soon will be named to a position in the organization of Charles E. Wilson, Director of Defense Mobilization.

Mr. Truman previously was reported to be planning to appoint Graham as Director of the National Science Foundation, an organization created by Congress to promote scientific research.

However, it was learned that the foundation board had several other choices for the job. The board was said to object to Graham on the grounds that he was not a scientist.

Decision Is Reversed On Student's Cheating

The Student Council reversed the Men's Honor Council on a ruling that a student had cheated on a final math exam last quarter and exonerated him of the charges.

A second student found guilty by the Men's Council was dismissed from the University.

The student who appealed did so on the grounds that the evidence presented was insufficient to convict. The appeal was granted and the complete trial as conducted by the Men's Council was reviewed.

The Student Council decided that the evidence available was insufficient to convict and the student was exonerated of the charges and the decision of the Men's Council reversed.

Larry Botto, Chairman of the Student Council, made the report for his group.

School Here To Be Sued

Officials of the Chapel Hill Public Schools said yesterday that they had not been notified of a discrimination suit reported to be filed against them by 10 Negro parents living here.

Raleigh attorney for the Chapel Hill Council on Negro Affairs, Herman Taylor, explained yesterday morning that he intended to file the suit today in the Middle District of North Carolina Federal Court headquarters at Greensboro.

He added that he had intended to file the suit yesterday but was diverted by some business in Superior Court in Raleigh.

Paul D. Lubarsky of Quincy, Mass., was released by police yesterday morning to his mother and step-father. Police said the family left immediately for their Northern home.

Eighth Abandons Osan, Wonju Area

TOKYO, Tuesday, Jan. 9—(AP)—The retreating Eighth Army abandoned two important towns on east and west sides of the front in South Korea Monday while Allied warplanes took a heavy toll of the invading Chinese and Korean Communists.

In the west, Osan, almost 60 miles south of the 38th Parallel and 28 miles below Seoul, was given up without a fight. It is on the old "heart-break highway" down which Americans and South Koreans first retreated before the North Korean invaders last July.

In the east, United Nations troops quit the burning road and rail hub of Wonju after a valiant delaying action that brought time for preparation of defenses farther south.

More than 1,750 Reds were estimated killed, wounded or captured in ground actions and air strikes during Monday.

Pilots reported the roads south and southeast of Seoul and north of Wonju were jammed with Reds pursuing the Eighth Army southward. "I've never seen so many people on the roads up there," said one veteran airman. "They were all moving south."

While B-29 Superforts concentrated on the Seoul area, smashing the runways of Kimpo Airfield with bombs, jets and piston-engine fighters and light bombers swooped on troop concentrations near the Han River.

Newman Talks Today At Faculty Lunch

Dr. William S. Newman of the Music department will speak to the men's faculty today at 4 p.m. at the Carolina Inn. After the faculty luncheon, Dr. Newman will talk on "Some Musical Satire."

Runaway Vt. Freshman Returns With Parents

A 19-year-old runaway freshman from Norwich University, Vt., who was taken into custody here Friday with a bottle of poison and several suicide notes among his possessions, returned home yesterday with his parents.

The coed said she only had known Lubarsky for three weeks. She said she did not see him while he was here.
