

The Daily Tar Heel

WEATHER

Fair and continued cold, but not so windy.

PROBLEMS

Problems that have come out of the Dance Committee investigation are analyzed in today's editorial column on page 2.

VOLUME LIX

Associated Press

CHAPEL HILL, N. C. FRIDAY, JANUARY 26, 1951

United Press

NUMBER 81

Draft Physicals, Mentals Eased In New Policy

Many 4-F's Going In Expanded Call; 150,000 Required

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25—(UP)—Assistant Defense Secretary Anna M. Rosenberg disclosed today that the armed services are lowering their mental and physical standards to raise an extra 150,000 draftees—including many now classified 4-F.

She said some of the 799,000 men now in 4-F will be taken as "full members" of the armed forces and "we hope" to put others in limited service jobs. A "reappraisal" of induction standards is being made, she said, and will be announced "in the near future."

Mrs. Rosenberg said the services also are drawing up a policy which will give the Army its fair share of top-quality men. There have been complaints the Navy and Air Force get the "cream of the crop."

She revealed the plan in testimony before the House Armed Services committee on the Defense Department's bill to draft 18-year-olds and extend the term of service to 27 months. She assured the committee she will "put on the pressure" to lower physical and mental standards.

"We'll put the pressure in the bill," replied Chairman Carl Vinson (D.—Ga.).

Vinson said "the country and I have been concerned about the 'liberality' with which 4-F classifications are handed out—particularly to baseball and football players and prizefighters 'able to draw $10,000 a year.' He thought many are able to carry a rifle, throw a grenade or do 'kitchen police work.'"

Mags Swipe Tarnation's Rare Humor

Tarnation, Carolina's humor magazine, has been receiving a great deal of national recognition, according to Herb Nachman, editor of the publication.

Nachman's poem, "My Nose," was reprinted in the Ohio State Sundaes, the magazine of that college.

A pin-up photo of Addie Williamson, Woman's College student, which was printed in the spring issue of Tarnation, was reprinted in the January issue of the Penn State Froth. Nachman said. That issue also contained a column of UNC jokes as previously printed in Tarnation, he added.

Party Needs Stag Women

Officials issued a call for "more stag women" at the get-acquainted party to be held tonight at 8 o'clock in the Y building.

All students are invited with the emphasis on stags, male and female, to foster a wider circulation of acquaintance on the campus.

The party will be similar to other parties held during the past few weeks, with square dancing, games, and group activities provided.

New Opening

The management of the Vets Club has announced a new opening tonight with a complete change of records of the juke box, waxed floors, and a new job of interior decorating. Veterans, Air and Navy reservists, and their guests are welcome. The club is open every night except Tuesday.

THE NINE OLD MEN ON THE "Supreme Court" bench shooting crap? That's exactly what they are doing in the musical comedy, "Of Thee I Sing," to be presented by the Carolina Playmakers in Memorial Hall tomorrow and Sunday nights at 8:30. The roles of the Justices are being played by University professors. Reading clockwise, beginning at lower center, the Justices are: Prof. E. J. Woodhouse, Joel Carter, W. H. Hartung, R. H. Wettach (who was for a number of years Dean of the Law School), John W. Parker, E. L. Mackie, Walter Creech, Samuel Selden and Arthur Briskin.

New Draft Policy Is In Effect: Students Get Service Choice

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25—(UP)—The Defense Department and Selective Service tonight put into effect a new program which will give college students a better chance of being assigned to the military service of their choice.

The aim is to halt a mass exodus of male students from the nation's colleges and universities and to meet complaints that thousands of students have lost interest in their studies because they expect to wind up in the Army anyway.

Under the new policy, originally disclosed last Friday, college students will be able to complete their academic year and still enlist in the branch of their choice provided openings are available.

Defense Secretary George C. Marshall originally had said the plan would enable college students to take pre-induction physicals, receive induction orders and then enlist in the service of their choice within 30 to 90 days before the end of the school year.

The new policy will take advantage of a section of the draft law which permits Selective Service to reopen the cases of college students who want to complete their academic year. This automatically cancels their induction order and gives them a right to enlist.

Marshall had said college students would be required to enlist in the period beginning 90 days before the end of the school year and ending 30 days prior to that time.

Under the revised plan, students may wait until the final 30 days of the school year to make their choice.

There are also 141 other contact offices, with larger staffs, which would not be affected.

VA is spending about $12,800,000 for contact services during the current fiscal year. President Truman has recommended cutting that fund to $10,947,000 in the fiscal year starting July 1.

"It is obvious that something will have to be done," a VA spokesman told a reporter.

Any closings ordered probably will start by April.

The VA also is facing the prospect of reducing some of its medical services to veterans because its doctors are being called back to military duty.

"Since the outbreak of the Korean War last June, we have lost 300 of our doctors to the Armed Services," A. W. Woolford, director of VA's information service, told a reporter.

He is an author and public speaker and spends about 50 per cent of his time traveling to between 25 and 50 colleges from coast to coast each year to discuss Socony-Vacuum opportunities with seniors.

In addition, Boynton lectures before 20 to 30 school groups each year in various parts of the country on "Six Ways to Get a Job," the title of one of his books. Other publications include an article entitled "Recruiting for Industry," a booklet, "So You Want A Better Job," and a book published in

Dr. Edgerton Of Penn State Talks Monday

Speaker Travels Through Europe In Various Jobs

Prof. William Edgerton of Pennsylvania State College, who has traveled extensively in Europe as a representative of the American Friends Service Committee, will speak on "Christianity and Communism" in Hill Hall Monday night at 8 o'clock.

His address is being sponsored by the YMCA and the public is invited.

A native of Winston-Salem, Professor Edgerton grew up in Greensboro and attended Guilford College. He taught at Guilford from 1939 to 1947 when he began work on his Ph. D. in Russian at Columbia University.

During 1944-46 he was on leave from Guilford to do relief work for the American Friends Service Committee, which included seven months in an UNRRA camp for Yugoslav refugees in Egypt; three months as a deputy director and interpreter for an UNRRA escort team repatriating refugees from Egypt to Yugoslavia; six months working with displaced persons in Germany, and five months in the Poland-American Quaker Relief Mission.

In 1949 Professor Edgerton was director of a summer international seminar sponsored by the American Friends Service Committee in Geneva and last fall he was a member of a Quaker mission to the Balkans where he spent seven weeks studying conditions in Yugoslavia and Greece.

Cosmo Club To Hold Tea On Sunday

The president of the Cosmopolitan Club, Shaben Haroutunian of Iran, yesterday invited all students to attend an open house tea in the Rendezvous Room of Graham Memorial between 4 and 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon and become acquainted with some of the foreign students here.

Students from the various countries will be wearing their native garb and will exhibit books, pictures, sundry products, and articles of their own countries.

"The overseas members of the Cosmopolitan Club, who are united in their affection for Chapel Hill, desire to contribute their share to campus life by holding this informal get-together," Haroutunian said.

To Speak Monday

Oil Executive Has Interviewed 75,000 People For His Firm

Paul W. Boynton, employment supervisor of Socony-Vacuum Oil Company, who will discuss "Six Ways to Get a Job" Monday at 8 p.m. in Gerrard Hall, has interviewed at least 75,000 persons for positions with his organization.

He is an author and public speaker and spends about 50 per cent of his time traveling to between 25 and 50 colleges from coast to coast each year to discuss Socony-Vacuum opportunities with seniors.

In addition, Boynton lectures before 20 to 30 school groups each year in various parts of the country on "Six Ways to Get a Job," the title of one of his books. Other publications include an article entitled "Recruiting for Industry," a booklet, "So You Want A Better Job," and a book published in

PAUL W. BOYNTON

Full Legislature Votes For Abolition Of HPB

Body Approves Allman Beaman As Cheerleader

Special Session Called Monday For Tuition Bill

By Chuck Hauser

In a fast-moving session last night, the Student Legislature unanimously passed a constitutional amendment abolishing the long non-functioning House Privileges Board and approved the executive appointment of a new head cheerleader.

In other action, the Legislature called a special session for Monday night to consider an anti-tuition raise resolution introduced by Student Party Floorleader Bill Prince. It tabled a measure establishing a special committee to investigate the student self-help situation which was clarified by Dean of Students Fred Weaver earlier this week.

The amendment erasing the House Privileges Board from the Constitution was originally introduced by Prince. It was passed without discussion. To go into effect it must be ratified by a two-thirds majority vote of the student body in the spring.

The HPB, set up to serve as negotiating agent for coed visiting privileges between the Interfraternity Council and the Dean of Women's office, ceased to function with the adoption of a permanent visiting policy last fall.

The presidential appointment (See LEGISLATURE, page 4)

All-Men's Average Tops Fraternities

Tau Epsilon Phi Leads Fraternity List As Alpha Gamma Delta Tops Sororities

The all-sorority scholastic average for the fall quarter topped the all men's average while the fraternities made the lowest average, the Dean of Students office announced yesterday.

The sororities made an average of 2.4606, the all-men's average was 2.9966, and the fraternities average was 3.1192, according to the report.

The men's average was determined by the sampling method. Averages are computed on the basis of rosters submitted by fraternities and sororities and include pledges as well as active members.

Values for the letter grades are assigned as follows: A—1.00; B—2.00; C—3.00; D—4.00; E—5.00; F—6.00. Excused absences and incompletes are not computed.

Tau Epsilon Phi led the fraternity field with an average of 2.4921 while the sororities were led by Alpha Gamma Delta with a 2.3548 average.

The complete list of averages is as follows in order of name of fraternity, number of members, and average attained:

Tau Epsilon Phi, 55, 2.4921; Pi Lambda Phi, 40, 2.6815; Delta Psi, 21, 2.7246; Zeta Beta Tau, 31, 2.8510; Phi Gamma Delta, 67, 2.8684; Delta Kappa Epsilon, 45, 2.9579; Lambda Chi Alpha, 77, 2.9975; Sigma Alpha Epsilon, 46, 3.0310; Alpha Tau Omega, 70, 3.0352; Kappa Alpha, 69, 3.0630; Sigma Phi Epsilon, 65, 3.0857; Sigma Chi, 94, 3.0942; Chi Psi, 61, 3.0962; Beta Theta Pi, 57, 3.1223; Phi Kappa Sigma, 91, 3.1756; Chi Phi, 60, 3.2565; Phi Delta Theta, 83, 3.2574; Pi Kappa Phi, 56, 3.2701; Pi Kappa Alpha, 96, 3.3313; Zeta Psi, 44, 3.3636; Kappa Sigma, 64, 3.3982; Theta Chi, 41, 3.5194; Sigma Nu, 70, 3.5446.

Sorority Averages: Alpha Gamma Delta, 48, 2.3548; Pi Beta Phi, 64, 2.3806; Chi Omega, 58, 2.3915; Alpha Delta Pi, 51, 2.4303; Delta Delta Delta, 57, 2.4456.

Navy Shells Seoul; Patrols Head North

TOKYO, Friday, Jan. 26—(AP)—U.S. warships shelled Seoul's port of Inchon on the west coast of Korea Thursday as Allied ground patrols wheeled freely through a deepening no-man's land, looking for an enemy that seemed to have vanished.

General MacArthur, the United Nations commander, said in a pre-birthday interview:

"We're going to give the Chinese a bloody nose somewhere in the south."

A Naval spokesman said the heavy cruiser St. Paul and two destroyers shelled dock and harbor facilities at Inchon, which the Allies abandoned the night of Jan. 4-5. No further details were given.

For the second day in a row, a tank-led Allied patrol rumbled ten miles north from Wonju on the central front. It entered the village of Hoengsong, 33 miles south of the 38th Parallel boundary of South Korea, against no opposition.

Hoengsong is 55 miles due east of Seoul. It represents the northernmost Allied thrust since United Nations troops abandoned the South Korean capital of Seoul on Jan. 4.

Allied troops first reoccupied the town Wednesday then pulled back south Wednesday night.

In Thursday's chief air action, Allied bombers wrecked the rail hub town of Chunchon, 30 miles northwest of Hoengsong and about eight miles south of the 38th Parallel.

The roving Allied ground units reported only a screen of North Korean troops holding the Communist front along the Han River south of Seoul.

Allied intelligence officers speculated that the strong forces of Chinese once manning the western front had pulled back for these possible reasons:

1. To set a trap for the Allies.
2. Because of the pounding Allied warplanes were giving their supply lines.
3. On orders from Peiping pending U.N. negotiations.

SP To Begin Nominations

Nominating for campus-wide offices at stake in spring elections will begin at the Student Party's regular meeting in Graham Memorial at 9 p.m. Monday.

Names of prospective candidates will be received from the floor and through nomination sheets issued to party members. All interested students are invited to attend the meeting.

At a recent policy meeting, SP leaders discussed weaknesses of the University scholastic program in an attempt to analyze slumping scholarship on campus.

The present faculty rating system and a proposed curriculum evaluation program were considered, along with student loans and aspects of academic freedom.

Jones Speaks

Dr. Claiborne S. Jones of the Zoology Department will speak to the Lutheran Student Association Sunday at 6:30.

The meeting will be held at the Lutheran Parsonage, 300 East Rosemary Lane. Supper will be served at 5:30.

Dr. Jones will talk on "The theory of the impact of evolution on Christianity."