

The Daily Tar Heel

WEATHER

Cold and cloudy

VOLUME LIX

Associated Press

CHAPEL HILL, N. C. WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 31, 1951

United Press

NUMBER 83

'I QUIT!'

Says Robert Ruark, "when a semi-naked woman, wearing a stuffed rooster under one arm, walks in and blinks three separate colors of eyes at me." Read him on page 2.

Blood Quota Raised Here To 750 Pints

50 More Donors Are Now Needed, Says Local Crew

The Chapel Hill Red Cross Chapter's quota for the Bloodmobile unit which arrives here tomorrow has been increased from 575 to 750 pints, it was learned here late yesterday.

Although the number of volunteers was previously sufficient, about 50 additional donors will now be needed, according to Robert Schenkkan, commanding officer of the local volunteer Naval Reserve Research Unit, which is in charge of recruitment.

Anyone willing to give a pint of his blood should telephone F-471 immediately, since the schedule must be filled today. The additional donors will be accommodated by adding another team to the Red Cross staff so that about 20 persons can be processed every 20 minutes.

Chapter Chairman R. H. Wetach emphasized that the entire procedure will be absolutely painless, and takes up only about 45 minutes, less than five minutes of which is consumed in taking blood. A thorough physical is given everyone beforehand, and a 15-minute rest period is required afterwards.

All volunteers are being notified of the time of their appointments by telephone and postal. Mass donations have been pledged from the Air ROTC Unit and the Chapel Hill Jaycees.

Movie Group Shoots Pix At Old East

When most Carolinians were enjoying the height of their weekend on Saturday afternoon, a man dressed in Revolutionary War costume and carrying several logs into Old East dorm was shot—by a two-man crew of the Motion Picture department of the Communications Center.

The crew, headed by Charles Seward, assistant to Director Edward E. Freed, were taking pictures for the forthcoming production of "In The Name Of Freedom," a 40-minute documentary film on Carolina life.

The victim, dressed in full 18th century attire, was Vernel Williams, a member of the cast. In the first part of the movie, life at Carolina is portrayed showing early students bringing in their own water and firewood for their dormitory.

Final work on shooting will be completed this week and showing of the film will probably be ready sometime in February according to Freed.

Umstead Speaker At AAUP Meeting

John Umstead, representative from Orange County to the General Assembly, will speak on "The 1951 Assembly and the Needs of the University and the State" tonight at 7:30 in the Faculty Lounge of the Morehead Building under the sponsorship of the American Association of University Professors.

Di Meets

The Dialectic Senate will meet tonight at 9 p.m. in the Di Hall, New West, to discuss a bill to be introduced by Bob Clampitt calling for the establishment of international law.

President Toby Selby assured all Di members that the Student Legislature would not be meeting in the same place at the same time, as was the case Monday night.

UNC Quarter System Is Ideal For Speed Up Plans-Phillips

University students desiring to take advantage of a speed-up program and graduate in three years will be able to do so by enrolling in the summer session, director Guy B. Phillips announced yesterday.

The summer session bulletin, just released by Director Phillips, provides information regarding a wide variety of opportunities in a flexible program of studies designed to meet the needs of students from the freshman program through graduate work.

"For the last 10 years the University has offered extended programs for a speed-up purpose through its quarter system which operates easily on a 12-months'

Flexible Program Designed To Meet War Student Aims

basis," Director Phillips pointed out. Dean Corydon J. Spruill of the General College has arranged for an adequate course for beginning freshmen who register for the first summer term, June 11. A full orientation plan will be put into effect.

Roy Armstrong, Director of Admissions, said he will process applications from high school senior boys promptly. New students may also enter at the spring quarter in March. Adequate dormitory space will be available during the summer, and this will enable students who are here to retain space, to a large extent, through the regular year, Director Phillips said.

Other students than freshmen who are eligible for summer work are college students from other institutions in which there may be no summer school, women students in all university classes, teachers holding regular state certificates, graduate students and special mature students who do not necessarily plan to work for a degree. The attendance in the Summer Session for the first term of 1950 was 3,886.

Georgia Bans Masking By Ku Klux Klan

ATLANTA, Jan. 30—(UP)—Gov. Herman Talmadge, who was openly supported by the Ku Klux Klan in his 1948 campaign, signed a rigid anti-masking law today, making Georgia the sixth Southern state to outlaw hooded terrorism.

Sponsored by the 37-year-old governor's legislative floor leaders, the law forbids the burning of crosses on private property without the owner's consent. The fiery cross touched off on the lawn of someone who has fallen into ill-favor with the Klan is the traditional warning of the sheeted order.

Only children and carnival participants are exempt from the anti-masking provision. Violation of both the hooding and cross-burning sections are punishable as a misdemeanor.

A similar measure failed to win passage a year ago when it was opposed by some administration leaders. But public sentiment has been growing stronger against Klan activity in Georgia.

Talmadge, who never acknowledged his Klan backing, was boosted for governor in 1948 by the late Samuel Green, Grand Dragon of the Georgia Klan.

Nation In Shivers As Cold Wave Hits

The nation shivered from coast to coast yesterday in one of the worst cold waves in years.

Sub-zero weather extended from Oregon to New England across the top of the country and shattered long-standing records at many points.

The frigid air mass pushed south to the western gulf coast and was moving into southeastern states, already plagued with a glaze of ice.

Only scattered local relief was in sight, chiefly in north central states. Forecasters said another mass of cold air hung over Canada, ready to push southward on a number 15.

A United Press survey showed that cold and ice caused 130 deaths since arctic weather set in Saturday. Most of the fatalities occurred on icy highways.

Texas feared for its lush vegetable and citrus crop.

Negro Issue Didn't Affect New Set-Up

RALEIGH, Jan. 30—(UP)—Governor Kerr Scott said today the question of Negro applications had not influenced the setting up of a special admissions board by the trustees of the Greater University of North Carolina.

The Governor said the committee would have been named anyway. He said the committee, proposed by University President Gordon Gray, was set up primarily to outline a 20-year policy of development of the University.

Scott said the University is not pushing for more money for its building program but is waiting until it has the 20-year plan set up.

Quarterlies Still On Sale At Y Booth

Students who have not had the opportunity to purchase their edition of The Carolina Quarterly may do so at the booth that has been set up in the Y building.

The magazine will be on sale every morning for the remainder of the week, according to Lyn Miller, editor of the only literary organ on campus.

"Since we have had many requests from students who have not been able to obtain an issue during our regular office hours, we have decided to keep this booth in the Y for the remainder of the week," Lyn said yesterday.

Latrine Permission Long In Coming

Lackland Air Force Base Recruits Aren't Happy About Greasy Mess Kits, Cold, Long KP Duty

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Jan. 30—(UP)—Life in the tents at Lackland Air Force Base isn't comfortable, but like the little guy from Alabama said, "It ain't Korea, either."

"Who the hell said this was supposed to be Korea?" piped up a New Jersey youth. "This is supposed to be the reception center."

"That's right," Alabama agreed. This was a tent in the 3722nd Training Squadron area T Lackland Air Force Base. There were dozens of rows of tents just like it stretching for on each side.

The north wind was strong, the temperature was in the mid-20's, and sleep clicked down.

There was no stove in the tent

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 30—(UP)—An Air Force trainee wrote to his mother today to deny official reports of "only two deaths" at the Air Force base at Lackland, Tex.

"The boys are sure sore over that story about only two deaths here in 28 months, especially those who have had several of their buddies die, or have been in the hospital themselves when several died," the letter said.

The writer said that the men at Lackland are spelling it "bassick" in their letters home, meaning "sick of this base."

because of the fire hazard, and it's a considerable distance from water supplies. Neither was there a light. The floor was the dusty ground. Back in the tent the darkness was inky black. Up front, in the half-light at the entrance flap, a handful of the 14 men gathered to talk about their 18-day stay in the camp.

The north wind was strong, the temperature was in the mid-20's, and sleep clicked down.

They volunteered for the Air Force because they thought it was a better deal than the draft. They still think so, but they are anxious to get to another base.

"We've got all of our clothing issued now," the Alabaman said, "But the first six days we drilled in the clothes we wore here."

"Yeah, and you know what? All that time I was wearing cowboy boots," chimed in a Floridian. "I didn't bring any other shoes and they didn't give me

BROOKE ROBINSON assumes a sophisticated pose. She appears in "The Second Man," the first production of the University Theater being presented tomorrow and Friday nights at 8:30 in the main lounge of Graham Memorial. Admission is free.

Allied Force Bumps Main Enemy Line

TOKYO, Wednesday, Jan. 31—(AP)—The Allied drive in western Korea bumped into what appeared to be the main enemy line Tuesday but ground ahead as much as six miles.

On the east coast a South Korean spearhead behind naval and air bombardment stabbed to within 20 miles of the 38th parallel.

Farther north an Allied naval task force, led by the U. S. battleship Missouri and cruiser Manchester, all day Tuesday shelled the east coast town of Kansong. Kansong is 25 miles north of the parallel that divides Red North and Republican South Korea.

Mobilize Opinion, Lowenstein Warns

American student opinion must be mobilized in the effort to combat the growth of Communism throughout the world, Al Lowenstein, president of the National Students Association, told members of the Student Legislature Monday night.

Lowenstein, former Carolina student who graduated last year, spoke to the Legislature on the work of NSA and reviewed the International Student Conference which took place in Stockholm, Sweden, Dec. 18.

As president of the organization in this country, Lowenstein represented the United States at the 21-nation conference.

The International Union of Students, a Communist-sponsored organization, is at present winning the battle for the minds of students in such foreign countries as South America and Africa, Lowenstein said.

He asserted that the reason for this is that American students are failing to stand behind NSA and the group is sorely lacking in missionaries to work in other countries.

Lowenstein asked that interested persons on campus form groups to discuss current world problems and let the NSA, as their representative, know their opinions.

He also outlined plans for another international conference to be held soon. More nations are expected to participate and plans are now under way to provide for a closer knit functioning of the body.

The job ahead, Lowenstein stated, is one of combatting Communist propaganda and winning the minds of men to the cause of freedom.

They complained of a lack of recreation facilities, of grease on their mess kits, of 18-hour tours of KP duty, and of their flight leader who wouldn't let them go to the outdoor latrine "until I say you can go."

And then they complained about the food. "Lousy," called a voice from the darkness.

Alabama laughed. "...s back there in his bunk trying to get warm," he said. "The food wasn't so good, but it's been getting better the last few days. No, we didn't miss a meal."

Where did they shave? That brought laughter.

"We don't. We only had four shower baths in the 18 days," said Alabama.

Dorm Visiting Agreement Referred To Coed Senate

Rule, If Passed, Would Allow Coeds To Visit Dormitories Unchaperoned

A Coed Visiting Agreement for men's dormitory social rooms similar to the present fraternity house visiting agreement has been referred to the Coed Senate and will probably be taken up at the Senate meeting next Tuesday, Paul Somerville of the Interdormitory Council said yesterday. Somerville, chairman of the Social Room Committee of the IDC, said his group had discussed the agreement with Dean of Students Fred Weaver after it was passed unanimously by the IDC. It provides for unchaperoned visiting by women students.

The proposed regulations are: 1. It is understood that each dormitory social room is for the benefit of the residents of that dormitory, and their guests.

2. There shall be no consumption of alcoholic beverages at any time in the social rooms.

3. No boisterous or ungentlemanly conduct shall be tolerated.

4. No women guests shall be allowed in the social rooms before noon or after coed hours.

5. All women guests shall enter the building through the nearest doors and shall not be allowed in any part of the building except the social room and the entrance-way thereto.

6. No furnishings shall be removed from the social room for any purpose whatsoever.

7. Violations of these rules shall be considered violations of the dormitory social rules and as such shall be dealt with by the Interdormitory Council Court.

Dean of Women Katherine K. Carmichael had only one comment on the rulings:

"It has been our experience in the women's dormitories," she said, "that it takes one and one-third women to make a gracious home in the women's social rooms, and I assume that it would take the same in the men's social rooms."

Weaver said he expected that Miss Carmichael would give a report of her findings to him today. He also said that processing and consideration of the regulations are still continuing.

Kash Davis, Speaker of the Coed Senate, said last night before the Senate met that the regulations would not be taken up until next week or possibly the week after. Miss Carmichael wanted the Senate to give their opinions on the proposed regulations.

Pleven addressed a National Press Club luncheon after conferring with President Truman for an hour and 36 minutes. It was the second meeting of the two chiefs of state on plans for anti-Communist strategy.

The White House announced that the President and Premier are in "complete accord" on European unity and defense. They met for another—and probably final—talk later in the day and arranged for a joint communique later.

Dr. Bernard Boyd of the Department of Religion will be the main speaker at the North Carolina Student YWCA Conference to be held in Greensboro Feb. 2 and 3.

"Gods of the Campus" will be the topic for discussion Friday night, while Dr. Boyd will speak on "The God of the Campus" at the Saturday afternoon session. Events of the interracial Conference will include reports from the National Assembly and discussion of the World Student Service Fund. Sessions, which will help Y workers plan programs, projects, finance and leadership, will be held in the College Place Methodist Church in Greensboro.

The delegates will stay in Woman's College dormitories, with meals provided on the campus. Total cost for the conference per delegate will be $3.50. The group representing Carolina at the Conference will leave the Y office at 6 o'clock Friday night. Delegates will return to Chapel Hill by 8 p.m. Saturday.

All YWCA members are invited to attend the conference. Persons interested should register at the Y office, in order for transportation to be provided.

Ann Birmingham is Chairman of the Conference, having been elected at the Berea Regional Conference during the summer. Jean Bloom is also on the Planning Committee.

Students were advised to "make no effort to return to the campus until roads are safe for travel."

Snow, sleet and freezing rain made ice-coated highways dangerous for traveling. Many Ole Miss students are now away from the campus following the end of the first semester last Friday.

Registration was originally scheduled for today and tomorrow.

McCarter, however, emphasized that students shouldn't make efforts to travel until the roads are better.

"We've received scores of telephone calls from ice-bound students," McCarter said. To the students, he said: "Don't risk traveling on dangerous roads."

Post-Korea Hubbies Are Not Draft-Proof

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30—(UP)—Draft-age men were warned today that marriage since the Korean War started is no guarantee against induction into the armed forces.

The statement was made by the Defense Department rejected Congressional proposals to raise the top draft age from 25 to 30 to avoid an immediate 18-year-old draft.

National Draft Director Lewis B. Hershey agreed with Assistant Defense Secretary Anna M. Rosenberg that inducting older men is neither "profitable nor practical" from a military viewpoint.

The warning that draft-age men who have married since June 25, 1950, legally can be classified 1-A and ordered into uniform followed reports that some local boards across the country already are taking such action.

Officials said President Truman's original executive order deferring married men applied only to those who married before the Korean War started. The fate of those who have married since rests with their local draft boards.

Pleven addressed a National Press Club luncheon after conferring with President Truman for an hour and 36 minutes. It was the second meeting of the two chiefs of state on plans for anti-Communist strategy.

The White House announced that the President and Premier are in "complete accord" on European unity and defense. They met for another—and probably final—talk later in the day and arranged for a joint communique later.

Dr. Bernard Boyd of the Department of Religion will be the main speaker at the North Carolina Student YWCA Conference to be held in Greensboro Feb. 2 and 3.

"Gods of the Campus" will be the topic for discussion Friday night, while Dr. Boyd will speak on "The God of the Campus" at the Saturday afternoon session. Events of the interracial Conference will include reports from the National Assembly and discussion of the World Student Service Fund. Sessions, which will help Y workers plan programs, projects, finance and leadership, will be held in the College Place Methodist Church in Greensboro.

The delegates will stay in Woman's College dormitories, with meals provided on the campus. Total cost for the conference per delegate will be $3.50. The group representing Carolina at the Conference will leave the Y office at 6 o'clock Friday night. Delegates will return to Chapel Hill by 8 p.m. Saturday.

All YWCA members are invited to attend the conference. Persons interested should register at the Y office, in order for transportation to be provided.

Ann Birmingham is Chairman of the Conference, having been elected at the Berea Regional Conference during the summer. Jean Bloom is also on the Planning Committee.

Students were advised to "make no effort to return to the campus until roads are safe for travel."

Snow, sleet and freezing rain made ice-coated highways dangerous for traveling. Many Ole Miss students are now away from the campus following the end of the first semester last Friday.

McCarter, however, emphasized that students shouldn't make efforts to travel until the roads are better.

"We've received scores of telephone calls from ice-bound students," McCarter said. To the students, he said: "Don't risk traveling on dangerous roads."

Air Force Officer Visits Campus Here

Air Force 1st Lt. James W. Geiger of Miami, Fla., a Carolina graduate of the class of 1949, now serving as technical supply officer at Norton Air Force Base, Calif., visited the campus yesterday.

Geiger was an honor student in the first graduating class of the University's Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps. He received a Regular Air Force commission as a second lieutenant in June, 1949, and was promoted to his present rank last December.

He is expected to be transferred to Germany within the next few weeks.

Ice-Bound

OXFORD, Miss., Jan. 30—(UP)—Ice-bound students were given ample time today to return to University of Mississippi classes.

Dr. Pete Kyle McCarter, Ole Miss Dean, announced that there would be no penalty for late registration for the second semester or for failure to attend the first classes which begin Thursday.

Students were advised to "make no effort to return to the campus until roads are safe for travel."

Snow, sleet and freezing rain made ice-coated highways dangerous for traveling. Many Ole Miss students are now away from the campus following the end of the first semester last Friday.

McCarter, however, emphasized that students shouldn't make efforts to travel until the roads are better.

"We've received scores of telephone calls from ice-bound students," McCarter said. To the students, he said: "Don't risk traveling on dangerous roads."