Red Reserves Take Stations Before Seoul

Allied Offensive Is Slowing Down To Bloody Crawl

TOKYO, Thursday, Feb. 1.—(UP)—Thousands of Chinese reinforcements fresh from Manchuria poured into battle stations before Seoul yesterday and slowed the week-old Allied offensive in West Korea to a bloody crawl.

American troops and their allies of nine nations inched forward in furious hand-to-hand fighting with bayonets and grenades at some points along the 50-mile western front.

A patrol jabbed into the hills nine miles north of Suwon for the deepest northward penetration of the offensive. But it was a hit-run feeler, and the gains below Seoul generally were measured in hard won yards. (Nine miles north of Suwon is seven miles south of Seoul).

Reinforced Chinese divisions lashed back at the U. S. 9th Corps and stilled its new attack along a 25-mile line southeast of Seoul. An American battalion was under heavy fire northeast of Kumyangjang late Wednesday. Two U. S. companies were pinned down in fierce fire fights north of Kumyangjang.

Western front dispatches said American riflemen fighting hard for the seventh straight day found four Chinese armies resisting more stubbornly than ever. The U. S. 5th Army reported that it inflicted 3,742 casualties on the (See KOREA, page 4)

Brooke Robinson coyly converses with Hermann Coble in the University Theatre's "The Second Man," a two-act comedy opening tonight at 8:30 in the main lounge of Graham Memorial.

University Theatre Gives Play Tonight

The University Theatre's first production, S. N. Behrman's "The Second Man," will open tonight at 8:30 in the Graham Memorial main lounge. A second showing is scheduled for tomorrow night.

The play has been re-styled for the "round-theater," the spectators being seated all around the playing area.

Herman Coble of High Point is featured in the cast as "Clark Storey," an aspiring writer, while Brooke Robinson of Portsmouth, Va., plays his youthful girl friend. Both students are graduates.

Babs Wooten Is Elected Coed Leader

Barbara Wooten of Gastonia was elected chairman of the 1951 women's orientation program at a meeting of the Coed Senate Tuesday night.

One of the three top women officers on campus, the orientation chairman sets up the orientation program for women. She works with the men's orientation chairman in planning Orientation Week.

It is her job to select the women senior advisers and to lead in welcoming the incoming women students.

The Senate also selected Edna Matthes of Wilmington as chairman of the Leadership Training Program. She will have the responsibility of planning the leadership training for the new officers chosen this spring.

Scotty Everett, Richmond, Va., was chosen chairman of May Day. She will lead Chi-Delta Phi, the honorary women's literary fraternity, Pan Hellenic Council, and the Coed Independents' Association in working out the May Day program.

New Air Force Enlistee Portrays Famous Tar Heel Ace Of WW 1

By Wait Dear

The part of one of the most famous flying heroes to come out of North Carolina in World War I will be portrayed by another Air Force man, one who has just enlisted, on the University Hour's weekly program today.

Jim Heldman of Durham plays the part of James Henry Baughman, a member of the Lafayette Escadrille, France's renowned flying squadron. Heldman recently enlisted in the Air Force but was able to star in the show because production time was in November.

The eighth program in a series of 13, "The Final Decision" is a dramatization of the final moments of Baughman's life as he battled enemy planes.

For his heroic action while in a French plane fighting the Germans, Baughman received the Harmon Trophy, awarded posthumously by the International League of Aviators. The award was sent to his mother as a token of recognition given only to those who have won international fame in aviation.

On July 1, 1918, Baughman engaged in aerial combat with three German planes. He managed to outmaneuver the enemy aviators and flew his plane over to France lines. Nevertheless, he had been mortally wounded by machine-

Cost Of Crime Ticket Club Is Hauled Into Court

Warrants have been served on some 20 students for failure to pay $1 parking fines, Police Officer Coy Durham announced yesterday. All those involved must appear in court Tuesday morning to answer to the charges.

Durham said all the defendants had previously been sent letters warning them action would be taken if they did not pay their parking fines. The violators had been issued from three to 10 tickets each.

Additional warrants to appear in Recorder's Court will be served on all future delinquents, Durham emphasized. He said students who receive the warning letters and fail to pay their fines can expect to face a court trial.

Most of the ignored tickets, for which warrants have been issued, were for parking overtime and in restricted areas, he added.

In the past Judge John Manning has fined offending traffic delinquents $10 and court costs—about $18 in all—upon finding them guilty of failing to pay off tickets. On top of this, defendants in every case must in addition pay off their original fines, Durham said.

Montreaters Start Plans

18-Year-Olds Not Needed, State Salons

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—(UP)—Key members of the House Armed Services committee said today that military leaders have failed to prove they need an 18-year-old draft to meet President Truman's goal of 3,462,000 men in uniform.

Acting Chairman L. Mendel Rivers, (D-SC) said it is "entirely possible" the goal can be met by taking some 4-F's and others deferred in the present 19-through-25 age groups. Similar sentiments were voiced by Reps. Dewey Short, (R-Mo.), and Charles H. Eilston, (R-O.).

Their statements pointed up growing dissatisfaction within the committee over the Defense Department's proposal to draft 18-year-olds, lengthen the draft term to 27 months and set up a Universal Military Training Program after the present emergency.

The Senate Preparedness Committee apparently was reconciled to some form of an 18-year-old draft. But it is expected to specify that 4-F's and other deferred men be called before the younger men. The committee began drafting sessions today that are expected to last for several weeks.

Only Seven Die

FRANKFURT, Germany, Jan. 31.—(UP)—The United States granted clemency to 89 Nazi war criminals today but ruled that seven others, whose crimes were too enormous for mercy, must hang—the last to die at American hands for war crimes.

Twenty-one major Nazi criminals, including six former storm troopers convicted for the maldred massacre of 142 G.I.'s, were spared the hangman's noose; prison gates opened for 33 others, including munitions magnate Alfred Krupp, and the prison sentences of 35 more were trimmed to as little as eight years.

Bloodmobile To Be Delayed Until 3 P.M.

The arrival of the Red Cross Bloodmobile, scheduled for 11 o'clock this morning, has been delayed until 3 p.m. today because of the icy condition of the roads.

Robert Schenkkan, in charge of donor recruitments, said late yesterday afternoon he had received a telephone call from Charlotte saying the unit directors had been advised to delay departure from Charlotte until the weather improved.

Schenkkan asked that donors who were scheduled for morning appointments appear at the following hours if possible:

- Appointments made for 3 p. m. and 4 p. m. will remain the same.
- Those at 11 a. m. are asked to come at 5 p. m.; appointments for noon are asked to come at 6 p. m.; those scheduled for 1 p. m. to come at 7 p. m. and those appointments scheduled for 2 p. m. are asked to come at 8 p. m.

Therefore, the hours now set for the appearance of the Bloodmobile here will be from 3 p. m. until 9 p. m. on Thursday and on the regular hours scheduled for Friday, Schenkkan said.

Schenkkan also said that many more donors are needed to fulfill the quota of 750 pints that has been set.

University President Gordon Gray and Controller W. D. Carmichael, Jr., will be the first to give their blood for the wounded men in Korea.

Each donor is given a cup of orange juice before he gives his blood, and a cup of coffee or a glass of milk and cookies after the process is finished, Wettsch said. Each donor must take a 15-minute rest after he gives his blood. The entire process is painless since a local anesthetic is given.

Nearly 30 men and women have volunteered their services as helpers during the stay of the unit here, according to Mrs. O. David Garvin, who is in charge of the volunteers.

Local dairies have given the milk for the canteen and housewives have donated home-made cookies, according to Mrs. M. S. Breckenridge, who is in charge of the canteen.

Donors will be given pins which will indicate that they have given a pint of blood.

Variety Show With 8 Acts Set By PTA

Mrs. Norman Cordon, chairman of the local Parent-Teachers Association Variety Show, announced an eight-act program yesterday for the second annual event. The show will feature 250 performers from this area and is scheduled for Feb. 13 in Woollen Gymnasium.

Norman Cordon, former Metropolitan Opera star and present head of the North Carolina Music Association, will serve as master of ceremonies.

Among the featured acts is W. D. (Billy) Carmichael's "Chapel Hill Concerto," which is an original musical number played and sung by the Controller of the University.

The White Cross square dancers, the University gymnastics team and the Doherty School of Dance will take part. Two local school groups will participate with Mrs. Fred McCall's grammar school music group and Mrs. English Bagby's juvenile dance group performing.

Horace Mann will direct a novelty act, while Mrs. Mary Jo McLean and Mike Rubish will stage a dance exhibition. Rubish is a former Carolina football star.

Satisfying Curiosity

Chorine Gives Up Line For Higher Education

WINDSOR, Ont., Jan. 31.—(UP)—A curvaceous blonde chorine said today she is going back to school to become a psychiatrist to "satisfy my curiosity about the guy with the drink in his hands and eyes all over his head."

"I'll be on the school's doorstep next fall," said Alma Zivic, 23. "It will take another seven years of study to become a psychiatrist, but it will be worth it. I want to see what makes front-row Charlies tick."

Alma, daughter of professional boxer Pete Zivic of Pittsburgh, and niece of former welterweight champion Fritzie Zivic, was graduated from the University of Pittsburgh last June.

Because medical schools were

UP Opens All Meets, Drops Selection Unit

In two precedent-shattering decisions, the University Party has abolished its traditional policy of "closed" steering committee meetings, and has decided to junk last year's non-partisan board for selection of candidates for the position of head cheerleader, Chairman Dick Jenrette revealed yesterday.

The moves were made at a meeting Tuesday night in the Delta Kappa Epsilon house. The two decisions marked a continuation of the party's current campaign "to rejuvenate campus interest in student government and political parties at Carolina," Jenrette said. Last week the UP inaugurated its program by voting to rotate its meeting places over campus in an effort to demonstrate the workings of a political party to more students.

The UP, subject to criticism in the past for designating its meetings "closed" or "open," gave unanimous assent to a statement by Chairman Jenrette that "as far as I am concerned, we can forget the concept of open and closed meetings."

Publicity Chairman Frank Daniels added, "We have nothing to hide in our meetings. From now on every student interested in student activities is welcome in the UP."

The next UP meeting will be at Pi Beta Phi Sorority house, with the following tentatively slated for McIver dormitory. Daniels reported that nominations for sophomore class officers and Carolina Athletic Association officers will be held.

The UP decision to junk the head cheerleader non-partisan board was unanimous. The party at the same time wholeheartedly approved the present system of bi-partisan nominations for membership on the Men's Honor Council.

Explaining the retraction of UP support from the non-partisan head cheerleader board, Jenrette said that he felt "the University Party is perfectly well qualified to nominate a candidate for the head cheerleading job."

"I think this idea some people have of a campus run by non-partisan boards and bureaus, if unchecked, will eventually kill all interest in student government. I believe that political parties are an integral part of any healthy campus government, and the UP's protest against this trend should be a welcome note on campus."

The UP's decision to go along with the present system of selecting members of the Men's Honor Council was also unanimous.

Benefit Cage Game Slated At 8 O'Clock

DICK BUNTING

HUCK HOLDASH

Charlie Justice and Art Weiner, Carolina's two recent All-American football players, have been engaged to officiate at the March of Dimes basketball game slated tonight at 8 o'clock in Woollen Gymnasium.

The game will pit the backfield men of last year's football squad against the linemen in a classic thriller from which proceeds will be turned over to the polio fund.

As an added attraction, a double surprise has been planned for the half-time ceremonies, according to officials of the Monogram Club which is sponsoring the event.

This is the first time that such a contest has been staged here. Dick Bunting and Huck Holdash will be captains of the two teams.

Other notable stars of the Carolina eleven to appear will be Carson, Port, Gantt, and Wallace. Hansen, Higgins, Bestwick, Norris, Dudeck, and King also will participate.

Tickets for the game will be sold at the door and are 50 cents apiece.

"We hope that a large crowd will turn out for this game," a Monogram spokesman said yesterday.

Spectators are in for a fair share of thrills in the comical game, he added. These boys have guaranteed that they will put on a good show for the worthy fund.

Justice and Weiner sparked the Carolina football squad to national recognition during their

ROC Opens 1951 Spots

Applications are now being accepted for enrollment in the Navy's Reserve Officer Candidate Program (ROC) for the summer of 1951, Comdr. R. E. Cutts, the Navy's Inspector-Instructor for the Durham area, announced today.

Those accepted will undergo a six weeks' course at Newport, R. I., he said. To be eligible, applicants must be students at an accredited college or university, between the ages of 17-27, and affiliated in some capacity with the naval reserve at the time of their enrollment in the program. Women are also eligible, he stated.

Full details can be obtained at the Durham Naval Reserve training center on Foster Street.

Bipartisan Board

The newly-appointed Bipartisan Selection Board will meet at 2 o'clock today in the Men's Council room to make plans preparing to interview candidates for the two vacant seats on the Men's Council.

Students interested in applying to the board should watch The Daily Tar Heel for an announcement telling when applications will be accepted.

BULLETIN

A Department of Industrial Medicine has been approved for the Medical School here, University officials announced last night.

President Gordon Gray and Chancellor Robert B. House revealed that the Medical Foundation of North Carolina has agreed to underwrite this new field of training and service. No such department now exists in this area of the nation.

The offer of the Medical Foundation was transmitted by its President, Major L. P. McLendon of Greensboro, to University officials and was approved by the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees of the University at its meeting last Monday.

Commenting on the proposal, Dean W. Reece Berryhill of the Medical School said, "There is a definite need in North Carolina and the South for study in industrial medicine. The Medical School can render a distinguished service by inaugurating a Department in this field."
