Another Honor for Justice

CHARLIE (CHOO CHOO) JUSTICE, whom Tar Heel fans have considered an all-time All-America since his scintillating sophomore year, has achieved that honor on a team picked for the Associated Press by Pop Warner. Warner picked his team in connection with a poll that the AP is now conducting throughout the nation to choose the first members of the newly-established Football Hall of Fame.

Warner selected two teams—one including the era from 1891 through 1925, the other embracing the 1926-1950 era. Justice was named as one of the four backs on the "modern" team. Other backfield aces named to the modern eleven were Johnny Lujack of Notre Dame, George Wilson of Washington, and Bronko Nagurski of Minnesota. Red Grange of Illinois, Jim Thorpe of Carlisle, Bill Heston of Michigan, and Ernie Nevers of Stanford were named to backfield posts on the "old-time" team.

Otto Graham, the former basketball and football All-America at Northwestern and star of the Navy Pre-Flight teams here during the last war, will be in Chapel Hill from Wednesday through Friday. Graham, the present quarterback on the Cleveland Browns World championship club, will be visiting old friends and will spend most of his time with Orville Campbell, an old friend, and O. O. (Scrappy) Kessing, former commissioner of the All-America Football Conference, where Graham started in the play-for-pay ranks.

Notes From the Grid Front

THE TAR HEELS HELD their first long scrimmage session yesterday afternoon after cancelling a scheduled Saturday intra-squad clash because of inclement weather. Following the scrimmage Coach Carl Snavely expressed satisfaction with the showing of his team. "The squad as a whole is encouraging," the Gray Fox commented. "We think we're going to be stronger—if we can keep the squad together until next season."

Snavely went on to point out that the team has been hampered a great deal by the bad weather and noted that spring practice "may last five weeks instead of four" if any more time is lost. The Tar Heels will wind up winter drills at the end of next week.

Contrary to reports published in other newspapers, Carolina is not planning to use the T-formation next fall. Snavely said that one team ran "T" plays "for about five minutes" after the regular drills one night last week, but added that the formation would not be standard equipment next fall. The Tar Heels might junk the A-formation and use the short punt next fall. That, of course, will be in addition to the conventional Snavely single wing.

Schedule Troubles

IT'LL BE A REGULAR RAT RACE around here in a couple of weeks when the Southern Conference Indoor Track Games and the conference swimming meet get underway in Woollen Gym. The loop swim meet is scheduled for Feb. 22-24, and the indoor games are carded for Feb. 24. The schedule makers ought to get a big kick out of that one, but it's a cinch the gate won't be nearly as big as it might have been had the events been separated. The sportswriters around the State will also have a hard time on that weekend when they start running back and forth from Bowman Gray Pool to the gym floor.

And speaking of schedules, take a look at the Carolina basketball slate. There are two more games remaining on the Tar Heel schedule and they are almost a week apart. The last game Carolina played was Saturday night against The Citadel. The Tar Heels play again this Saturday night, meeting N. C. State here. The finale comes nearly a week later, on Friday night, when Duke plays host to Coach Tom Scott's outfit. It seems that the tail-end of the schedule could have been filled with a few non-conference opponents in order to keep the boys in shape for those last two matches which will make or break Carolina's bid for a Southern Conference tournament berth.

While on the subject of schedules, it might be well to mention the fact that the Intramural Department has also made its share of blunders—or at least a lot of the competing organizations seem to think so. After hearing the gripes from various sources around campus, I would be almost willing to venture a guess that the Mural Department has had more forfeits and calls for postponements of games during this quarter than at any time in the past two or three years.

Tar Heel Teams Show Well Over Weekend In Hanging Up Important Loop Wins

By Ken Barton

Carolina's athletic teams finished well above the 500 mark for the past weekend with two wins, an unofficial victory, and one loss in Saturday contests.

Carolina's basketball team won its ninth conference game in 15 tries to hold onto eighth place in the loop. The Tar Heels romped to a 71-53 win over The Citadel Saturday night in Charleston after losing a 65-63 thriller to South Carolina the night before. Bud Maddie scored 22 points to pace the Saturday victory. Jack Wallace had 18 points and Hugo Kappler had 14.

Saturday afternoon in Woollen Gym Carolina's wrestling team lost to Washington and Lee, 25-8. Barry Farber won his 157 pound match while Ken Stuckey fought to a draw with Charlie Sipple in the 130-pound match for the Tar Heels' only points.

In the Tin Can Saturday afternoon Carolina's track team ran a practice meet against Duke that played an important role in preparing both teams for the Southern Conference Indoor Games scheduled here Feb. 24. Dave Willis and Garrett Fitzgibbons won the 60 yard dash and 70 yard high hurdles respectively. Frank Scott, Cecil Pless, and Merle Norcross swept the 70 yard low hurdles for Carolina. George Verchick threw the shot put 44.8 yards while Roscoe Hansen and Tom Higgins finished second and third in another Tar Heel clean sweep. Duke won the broad jump and Jack Nichols tied Carolina's Bob House in the pole vault at 12.6 feet.

Hayes New OSU Grid Head; Athletic Board

Buckeye Head Not Approved By Trustees

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 12.—(UP)—The Ohio State University Athletic Board today picked Woody Hayes of Miami (O.) to become its head football coach, but the Buckeye Board of Trustees balked at approving him because only four of its members were present.

The Board of Trustees announced after a three-hour session that it would meet again next Sunday in hopes that all seven members could be present to make the decision that has embroiled this Big Ten football "hotbed" since Wes Fesler resigned Dec. 9.

Hayes was the top choice from a seven-man field, the United Press learned on high authority. The big stumbling block, which the University Trustees have refused to hurdle without all its members present, may have been Paul Brown. The Ohio State Coach from 1941-43 has coached the Professional Browns to five championships.

There was some question whether Hayes, whose team won the Mid-American Conference Title and defeated Arizona State (Tempe) in the Salad Bowl last season, would ever be appointed. "The Board of Trustees' action was very unexpected," a University spokesman said. "I imagine there is something under the surface besides the fact that only four members were present."

It was the first time in history that the Board of Trustees had balked at confirming a nomination by the Athletic Board. Fesler, now coach at Minnesota, quit his $15,000 a year job because he said the demands for winning teams weren't worth the headaches.

The Trustees issued a brief statement after the meeting which said:

"Because three members of the Board of Trustees found it impossible to be present at this meeting, and feeling that a matter of this importance should have the consideration of a larger representation from the Board, a special meeting has been called for Sunday afternoon, Feb. 18, at 4 p.m."

The Screening Committee, which has been conducting interviews for some six weeks, and the Athletic Board met prior to the Trustees' session.

Tar Heel Swim Team Cops Ninth Loop Title

By Art Greenbaum

Carolina's tankmen copped their ninth Southern Conference championship in Lexington, Va., on Saturday by trouncing VMI team, 59-16. The Tar Heels set one conference mark and broke three VMI pool records in the course of the afternoon.

Led by Barry Wall, a promising sophomore from Washington, D. C., the local swimmers captured eight of nine first places. Wall swam the breaststroke leg of the record-setting medley relay and won another first in the 200-yard breaststroke.

Both teams were unbeaten until Saturday as the Tar Heels annexed their ninth straight dual meet victory of the season. Since 1939, Carolina has won 48 dual meets in the Southern Conference.

Sophomore Donnie Evans again had to share the limelight. Although the Charlotte speedster won both the 220 and 440-yard freestyle, Wall's triumph in the 200-yard breaststroke was tops for the afternoon.

VMI's only first place came Dick Tafener splashed home ahead of Carolina's Buddy Heins in the 100-yard freestyle. Cecil Milton took two second places in the distance events to aid the local cause.

Captain Jim Thomas won the 200-yard backstroke in 2:16.1, six seconds above his best time this season. Thomas was also a member of the medley relay team along with Wall and Stan Tinkham.

Other first places were garnered by R. S. White in the diving, Rick Levy in the 50-yard freestyle, and Herm Heyn, Levy, Kirby Ambler, and Tinkham in the 400-yard freestyle relay.

Coaches Dick Jamerson and Bob Ousley will spend the remainder of the week readying the squad for the Saturday clash with the Princeton Tigers at Princeton. Scheduled as one of the biggest inter-sectional contests of the season, a win for the Tar Heels would boost their national ranking considerably.

UNC Eighth In Circuit Standings

Carolina's cagers held onto eighth place in the Southern Conference standings by splitting a pair of loop games over the week end.

A 66-65 loss to South Carolina and a 71-53 win over The Citadel gave the Tar Heels a 9-6 win-loss record in the conference.

N. C. State administered a 75-65 loss to Duke and the defeat dropped the Blue Devils to 10th place, a few percentage points behind Wake Forest.

Carolina has only two games left to play and an even split would probably guarantee the Tar Heels an appearance at the Raleigh affair three weeks hence. If Carolina drops both the remaining two games, the Tar Heels chances of being in the tourney would be remote.

The standings:

Team	Won	Lost	Pct.
N. C. State	11	1	.917
West Virginia	8	3	.727
South Carolina	10	4	.714
Wm. and Mary	10	5	.667

Conference Indoor Games Set

The 16th annual Southern Conference Indoor Games are scheduled for Woollen Gymnasium Feb. 24 and you might say the loop track meet will have something of a "new look" this year.

Bill Albans, the ex-Tar Heel sensation, will be missing from the colorful affair for the first time since 1949 when he made his track debut for Carolina by winning blue ribbons in five events.

Carolina copped the indoor title with ease that year and repeated as circuit champions last year as Albans again turned in the outstanding individual performance by winning three first places and ending in a two-way tie for second in another event.

Albans, along with a number of other Tar Heel aces, is gone this year, but the Carolinians are still favored to retain their indoor title.

The "new look" is expected to feature a closer race for first place honors with the competing teams fairly evenly matched for the first time since Albans' surprising freshman performance.

Kentucky Still Leads UP Basketball Rating

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Kentucky retained its ranking today as the nation's No. 1 basketball team, but the runner-up Oklahoma Aggies were closing in with Kansas State and Columbia also moving into challenging positions.

For the fourth time in a row, and the seventh time this season, the Wildcats of Coach Adolph Rupp were voted the top team in the United Press ratings.

The 35 outstanding coaches from whose selections the ratings are compiled gave Kentucky 23 first place votes and a total of 335 points—only 15 points short of perfection.

But the Aggies, who were 55 points behind in the No. 2 spot last week, narrowed the Kentucky advantage to 38 points, coming up with six first place ballots and a total of 297 points.

Kansas State, fourth last week, moved into third place and Columbia, the nation's only undefeated major team, jumped to fourth as Indiana and Bradley, challengers last week, dropped in the ratings, although still staying in the top 10.

The coaches based their selections on games played through Saturday, Feb. 10, which saw the teams with these records:

Kentucky, 19-1; Oklahoma A-&M, 21-1; Kansas State, 17-2; Columbia, 15-0; Indiana, 13-2; St. John's, 18-2; St. Louis, 18-4; Brigham Young, 20-4; Bradley, 21-4 and N. C. State, 21-4.

The top 10:

TEAM	Points
1—Kentucky (23)	335
2—Oklahoma A&M (16)	297
3—Kansas State (3)	233
4—Columbia (2)	197
5—Indiana	163
6—St. John's	162
7—St. Louis (11)	151
8—Brigham Young	129
9—Bradley	128
10—North Carolina State	127

Second 10—Southern California, 44; Illinois, 36; Villanova, 30; Cincinnati, 13; Long Island, 12; Washington, 11; Arizona, 10; New York University, 5; Kansas and Oregon, 4 each; New York and Texas, 2 each; Iowa, Toledo, UCLA and Washington State, 1 each.
