

The Daily Tar Heel

WEATHER
Clear and mild.

VOLUME LIX

United Press

CHAPEL HILL, N. C. WEDNESDAY, MARCH 21, 1951

Associated Press

NUMBER 107

PENEGAR, JAMES IN PRESIDENTIAL FIGHT

Harden Is In DTH Race; Both Parties Back Davis For Veep

Shades Of Georgia! 2 Editors Claim Daily Tar Heel Position

Georgia may have had two governors at one time, but that sovereign state to the south has nothing on The Daily Tar Heel, which has two editors at the present time.

When Roy Parker, Jr., chosen as editor at a special election early in the fall quarter, was told by his doctors that he should leave school during the spring quarter, he submitted a resignation to the Publications Board.

Parker recommended the appointment of Managing Editor Chuck Hauser to take over the editor's slot until spring elections April 12. But the Board appointed its chairman, Zane Robbins, to the post.

Parker, however, has returned to the University for the spring quarter and says he is resuming his editorial duties, since his resignation was based solely on the assumption that he could not return to school.

At the same time, Robbins claims the editorship on the basis of the Board's decision, which he says, stands regardless of whether Parker returns or not. Members of the Board attending the meeting at which Robbins was chosen were Frank Allston, Jr., Bill Skinner, faculty member Jack Riley and Robbins. Not present were Buddy Vaden, Herb Nachman and faculty member Gerald Barrett, although Barrett cast a vote by telephone.

Parker's letter of resignation to the Board, dated March 9, read: "For reason of health, I am submitting my resignation as editor of The Daily Tar Heel. There are approximately four weeks of my term remaining. I would strongly recommend to you that any appointment you make to fill the position be made before the beginning of the spring quarter.

"Although realizing you will not be bound by this suggestion, I would recommend that the Board not appoint anyone who is currently a candidate for the Daily Tar Heel editorship in the spring election. My personal selection would be Mr. Chuck Hauser, who is not a candidate, and as you all realize, is the person most qualified for the job. I believe his long and good service on the paper entitle him, as a reward if nothing else, to the job."

In a prepared statement yesterday afternoon, Robbins commented: "I have no high and mighty (See DTH, page 4)

IFC's Greek Week Will Begin Sunday

The second annual Greek Week, an Interfraternity Council project designed for the promotion of inter-fraternity unity and to replace traditional "Hell Weeks," will begin Sunday when pledges from all over the campus attend Easter services.

Monday and Tuesday nights, exchange suppers between pledge classes will highlight the evenings. Also on Tuesday, the pledges will assist Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, in its project of cleaning up Battle Park.

A national officer from each fraternity or some other prominent speaker will be a guest at fraternity houses Wednesday night. Thursday afternoon, a Field Day with competitive sports between the pledges will be held at Navy Field.

Controller William D. Carmichael, Jr., will speak that night at a Lenoir Hall pledge banquet climaxing the end of Greek Week. Other guests will include Interfraternity Council representatives, national fraternity officers, and University officials.

Greek Week was instituted last year with the idea of replacing the traditional Hell Week. Several fraternities did not join in last year and it is reported there are some this year who, although participating in the IFC project, will continue to hold Hell Weeks.

Saltonstall Talks Here Tomorrow

Republican Senator Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts is scheduled to arrive here early tomorrow afternoon prior to a speaking engagement in Memorial Hall tomorrow night at 8:30.

Bob Evans, chairman of the sponsoring Carolina Forum, said the Senator would arrive at Raleigh-Durham Airport at 1:58 p.m. He will be met by Assistant Dean of Students Bill Friday, Leighton Johnson of the Chapel Hill Junior Chamber of Commerce, and Evans.

Saltonstall will spend part of the afternoon sight-seeing on the campus, and he is scheduled to see President Gordon Gray before nightfall. At 6:30, he will speak at a Jaycee dinner in Morehead Planetarium.

Doors to Memorial Hall will be opened at 7:45 tomorrow evening, and the Senator's speech will begin 45 minutes later. The topic of the address will be "Our Number One Problem—Our Security."

Gray Talks In Raleigh

Special to The Daily Tar Heel RALEIGH, March 20—Americans must work to expose Communists and curb inflation to combat the two chief menaces against this nation, President Gordon Gray of the Consolidated University of North Carolina said here last night.

Communists in government must be sought out, Gray told a dinner meeting of the Raleigh chapter of the National Office Management Association.

There could be some Communists on the faculty of the University, the president admitted. "I certainly know of none," he said, "but I could not swear there are none."

Gray said he was not sanctioning statements of Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.), and he cautioned that "we must always exercise restraint and tolerance and avoid unfounded charges."

Former Phi President

Umstead Will Speak Before Phi At Tuesday Inaugural Ceremonies

State Senator William B. Umstead will speak at the inaugural ceremonies of the Phi chapters of the Phi chapters on the fourth floor of New East.

Often mentioned as "the next governor of North Carolina," Umstead will talk on the current state political scene and the national situation as related to North Carolina. The public is invited to attend the ceremonies.

Umstead graduated from Carolina in 1916, working his way up from student to a member of the Board of Trustees and president of the Alumni Association in 1944.

During his undergraduate days he was president of the Phi, member of the Golden Fleece, and winner of the Mangum Medal for Oratory.

When Senator Josiah W. Bailey died in 1946, Umstead was appointed to replace him, serving until he was defeated by Senator J. Melville Broughton in 1948.

Umstead has been mentioned

Coed In Fight For Editorship Independently

Now 4 Candidates Vying For Paper's Top Edit Position

By Rolfe Neill
Glenn Harden, a pretty, honey blonde journalism senior from Greensboro, yesterday tossed her Easter bonnet into The Daily Tar Heel editorship race as an independent to become the fourth candidate for the job to be decided in the general campus election April 12.

At the same time it was announced that Bunny Davis is assured of becoming the new vice president of the student body since the Student Party doubly endorsed him in a vote taken just before the end of last quarter. The vice president's job is to preside over the Student Legislature.

Glenn filed a 125-name petition with the Elections Board. Only 25 names are actually required to file as an independent.

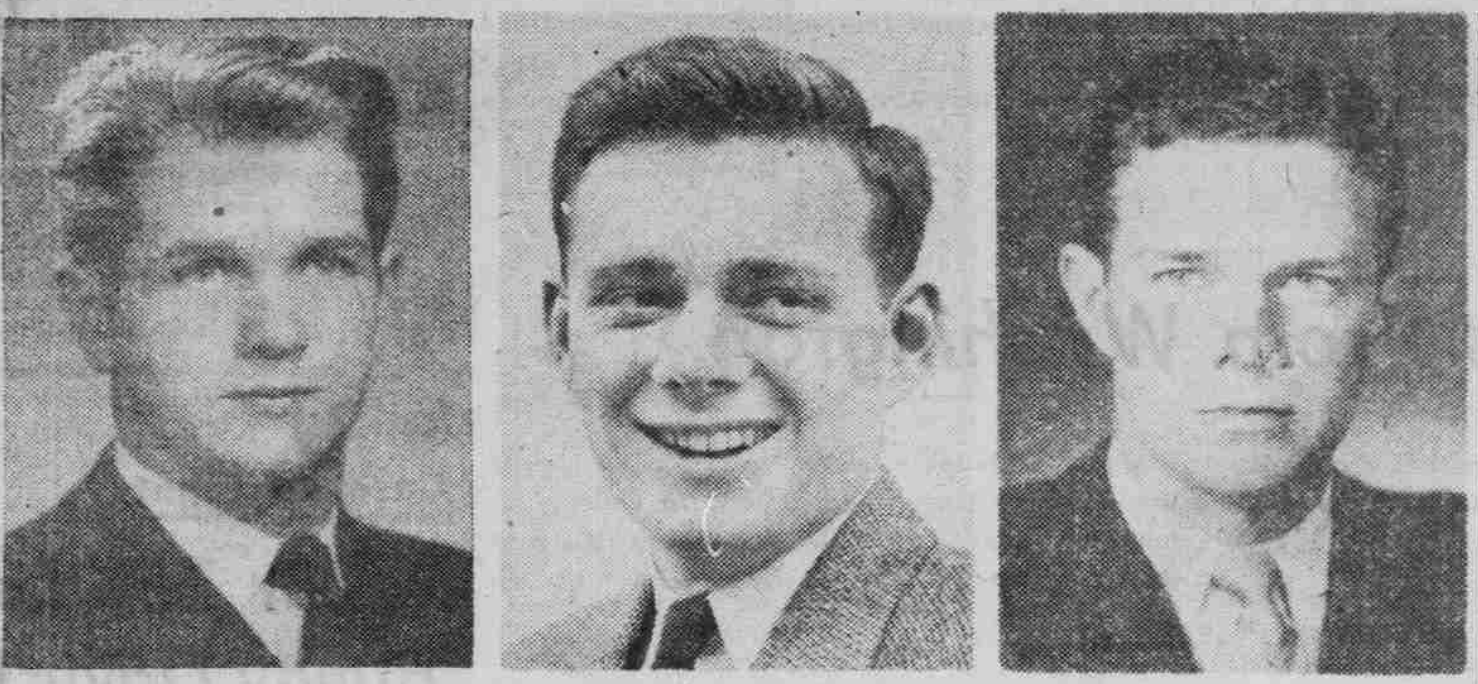

She has worked on the paper's staff for two years and served spring quarter during 1950 on an Editorial Board instituted by former Editor Graham Jones.

She lists other publications experience as work on Tarnation, managing editorship of Bud, a student writers' magazine, and work with The Carolinian at WC in Greensboro.

In a statement released yesterday, Glenn said in part: "I believe most firmly in the tradition of the daily morning newspaper on this campus, and as editor I would do my utmost to uphold that principle, if necessary, at the expense of page size or wire services. . . . The Daily Tar Heel should inform and entertain all groups; it should not cater to small segments or distort the wishes of the Student Body."

Other positions in student activities held by Glenn include past service on the Greater University Student Council, twice a delegate to the State Student Legislature, and a past member of the Young Democratic Club's Executive Committee.

Davis, a mild mannered, soft spoken fellow who scoffs at party lines, will take over one of the most important positions in campus politics. Davis has served in the Student Legislature for two years and as senior member of (See HARDEN, page 4)

YOU PAY YOUR MONEY AND YOU TAKE YOUR CHOICE. The three gentlemen above are running for president of the student body. From left to right they are Dick Penegar, nominated by the University Party, Henry Bowers, backed by the Student Party, and Ben James, running as an independent. See story at right for more information on the political race for the top campus post.

Penegar Gets Backing Of UP For Major Job

James Joins In Three-Way Race As Independent

By Chuck Hauser
The University Party announced yesterday that its candidate for president of the student body in spring elections April 12 would be Dick Penegar of Gastonia, and Ben James declared his candidacy for the post as an independent to make it a three-way race.

The third man in the battle for the top position in student government is Henry Bowers, nominated late in the winter quarter by the Student Party after presidential nominee Bill Prince was declared ineligible to run.

Penegar, who is present president of the junior class, won the UP nomination in a close vote over James. The vote at the UP meeting, held in the Sigma Chi house, was Penegar 14, James 11, and Bunny Davis 1. Davis subsequently received the party's nomination for vice president, and was doubly-endorsed by the Student Party the next night.

James indicated he would run as an independent immediately following UP selection of Penegar. The independent candidate refused to let his name be considered as a possible UP vice presidential candidate.

In addition to heading the junior class, Penegar is president of Kappa Sigma fraternity, a member of the Dialectic Senate, and a former member of the Naval ROTC unit here. He has played two years of varsity football.

In a statement released yesterday, Penegar said he was "very appreciative of the honor that the University Party has bestowed upon me in giving me the nomination for president of the student body. It is an additional pleasure," he continued, "to have the chance to run on a slate which includes such a fine list of candidates as Bunny Davis, Allan Tate, Frank Allston and Sue Lindsey."

The statement went on, "At the same time I am also fully aware of the responsibilities that go with such a position, especially in these times. If elected to the presidency I shall try to serve the campus to the best of my abilities in any and every situation that presents itself and shall try at all times to be a credit to the student body."

Meanwhile, independent candidate James commented that the presidency "is a position that I have been interested in for some time, and I have tried to prepare myself for the job. My hopes faded at one time when I was criticized for working toward the position."

James continued, "Recently, however, I was given a chance to (See JAMES, page 4)

New Negro Admission Policy May Be Decided Here Today

While University officials await a decision from the Federal courts on whether four Negroes must be admitted to the Law School, a special committee of the Board of Trustees assigned to study the racial angles of the admissions problem will meet here at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

It was understood that a new policy on the admission of Negroes to graduate and professional schools may be a result of the meeting today. Any action taken at the meeting will be reported to the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees meeting in Governor Scott's office in Raleigh tomorrow morning.

The Federal Court in Richmond heard arguments for and against admitting Negroes to the Law

School on March 15, and adjourned to meet again April 2. However, a decision could come when the court is not actually sitting. This court is considering an appeal from the Federal District Court to meet again April 2. However, a decision could come when the court is not actually sitting. This court is considering an appeal from the Federal District Court of North Carolina. An injunction had been asked there to force the Law School to admit the four Negroes.

Last week, Albert Whitaker, 26-year-old Raleigh Negro high school teacher, filed a suit for admission to the University Medical School. Whitaker received a letter from the University stating that his application, filed last December, had been rejected, attorneys C. O. Pearson and Herman Taylor said.

Taylor, Whitaker's lawyer, said Whitaker is "well qualified," and in his opinion, Whitaker had been rejected because of his race.

A Raleigh Negro woman says that she will join the suit if her bid for admission is turned down. She is a dental technician.

In the case pending in the Federal Court at Richmond, the Negro counsel argued that it is nearly impossible to provide equal opportunities in any separate school for Negroes.

North Carolina was represented by Attorney-General Harry McMullan and L. P. McLendon of Greensboro.

National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said that one of the intangibles to be considered is whether separate schools equal in age and prestige of the University could (See NEGROES, page 4)

University officials await a decision from the Federal courts on whether four Negroes must be admitted to the Law School, a special committee of the Board of Trustees assigned to study the racial angles of the admissions problem will meet here at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

It was understood that a new policy on the admission of Negroes to graduate and professional schools may be a result of the meeting today. Any action taken at the meeting will be reported to the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees meeting in Governor Scott's office in Raleigh tomorrow morning.

The Federal Court in Richmond heard arguments for and against admitting Negroes to the Law

Spring Festival Set For April 27-May 5

The second annual Spring Festival of the University yesterday was designated by Chancellor Robert B. House as April 27 to May 5.

The purpose of this event is threefold: to exhibit the work of the University during the past year; to foster among the students, faculty and administration a feeling of common purpose, and to provide an opportunity for the people of the state to visit and become acquainted with their University.

A special effort is being made to arrange a program which will encourage visitors from all over the state to visit the University at this time.

The Festival will open on Friday, April 27, with the University Club Campus Carnival on Navy Field. Various campus groups will operate concessions and booths.

The University will be the host to 6,000 high school seniors from throughout the state on Saturday, April 28. They will take a guided tour over the campus and witness the annual Blue-White football game in Kenan Stadium. That night there will be a big open-air square dance.

Throughout the week numerous concerts, plays and other forms of entertainment will be open to the public. Exhibits have been arranged by many departments and other University groups, showing phases of their work. Various dormitories and fraternity and sorority houses plan to hold open house during the week. Open house days will be staggered so that there will always be at least one hall open to visitors.

The May Queen and her court will be honored during a pageant on Saturday afternoon, May 5, in the Forest Theater. They will be presented in a formal ceremony at the May Day dance that night in Woollenen Gymnasium.

Va., chairman of Spring Festival Week, announced the following members on his committee: Martha Byrd, Morganton; Jane Jenkins; Pat Bowie, Cumberland, Md.; Hugh Cole, Chapel Hill; Joan Charles, Sea Girt, N. J.; Herb Mitchell, Asheville; Tom Carroll, Charlotte; Charles Bartlett, Chapel Hill; Joan Erskine, Selby, Ala.; Ann Birfingham, Hamlet; Jerry Sternberg, Asheville, and Scotty Everett, Richmond, Va.

University officials await a decision from the Federal courts on whether four Negroes must be admitted to the Law School, a special committee of the Board of Trustees assigned to study the racial angles of the admissions problem will meet here at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

It was understood that a new policy on the admission of Negroes to graduate and professional schools may be a result of the meeting today. Any action taken at the meeting will be reported to the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees meeting in Governor Scott's office in Raleigh tomorrow morning.

The Federal Court in Richmond heard arguments for and against admitting Negroes to the Law

University officials await a decision from the Federal courts on whether four Negroes must be admitted to the Law School, a special committee of the Board of Trustees assigned to study the racial angles of the admissions problem will meet here at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

It was understood that a new policy on the admission of Negroes to graduate and professional schools may be a result of the meeting today. Any action taken at the meeting will be reported to the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees meeting in Governor Scott's office in Raleigh tomorrow morning.

The Federal Court in Richmond heard arguments for and against admitting Negroes to the Law

Gray To Address Di Inaugural Meet

Consolidated University President Gordon Gray will address members of the Dialectic Senate next Wednesday night when new officers will be installed for the Spring Quarter.

Students and the public are invited to attend.

An executive session has been called for Monday night at 7 o'clock in the Di Hall.

'Sweet Jenny Parsons'

Tickets are now on sale for $1 at the Glee Club office in Hill Hall for the double bill of operas to be presented here March 29-31.

Assistant Professor of Music Joel Carter is in charge of the two, a comic opera by Mozart, "Bastien and Bastienne," and Kurt Weill's modern folk-opera, "Down in the Valley."

Maude-Boyer Foy and William Hover play the title roles in "Bastien and Bastienne," which tells of a happy-go-lover who is losing his sweetheart but regains her love with the aid of the village magician.

Tickets To 2 Operas On Sale In Hill Hall

"Down in the Valley" stars Virginia Young and Colbert Leonard with a chorus of 35. It is the story of Brack Weaver, who died on the gallows for the love of sweet Jenny Parsons.

Further information concerning the operas and tickets may be obtained at the Glee Club office or by calling 2-8701.

Beer Again

Beer, that tangy fluid recently in the news via the Curve Inn, is mugging in again.

With Mayor Ed Lanier breaking a 3-to-3 tie, the local Aldermen last week voted to defer action, pending investigation of a neighbor's complaint, on a request for a permit to sell beer at the Legion Hut on Rosemary Lane.

The Post says it wants to raise money for the baseball team if sponsors.

WORLD, NATION, STATE

NEW YORK—Senate crime investigators yesterday heard former New York Mayor William O'Dwyer say there is a growing "national empire" of crime and urge heavy government appropriations to combat it. O'Dwyer is presently ambassador to Mexico.

TOKYO—The Chinese Communist 3rd Field Army three elements into the front lines early today to screen the northward withdrawal of Red troops. Two columns of United Nations forces were reported within 12 to 14 miles of the 38th Parallel.

RALEIGH—Reopening of an investigation into the death of a Chinese student at North Carolina State College Dec. 31 was requested by Governor Scott yesterday when the youth's father said he suspected foul play. The Governor asked the State Bureau of Investigation to reopen the case when the Chinese nationalist ambassador in Washington wrote him that the boy's father was convinced his son did not commit suicide.

WASHINGTON—The Atomic Energy Commission announced yesterday that it is carrying out a "major project" at Eniwetok to determine what kind of buildings stand up best against the A-bomb.