Barefoot Day Is Set For Campus Seniors All Day Tomorrow

Nimble footed seniors are destined to dodge mud puddles, campus construction booby traps, and the shoes of indignant juniors come tomorrow and the advent of the annual Senior Barefoot Day.

Class President Ned Dowd yesterday issued an ultimatum and warning to all would-be senior shoe-wearers that such orthodox antics would not be tolerated and delinquents would not only be displaying their lack of sporting blood but would be snobbed as social outcasts.

A 15-year-old tradition at Carolina, Barefoot Day was designed to give members of the graduating class a last fling at careless youth before assuming the dignities and troubles of the grown-up world they will face when handed a diploma.

But present day seniors have it better than their predecessors who originated the barefoot idea. In the days of a decade ago the naked-footed seniors had not only to deal with the sneers of prematurely dignified undergraduates, but had to tread daintily on the hard gravel paths.

Nowadays, however, most of the campus' main thoroughfares are well bricked and there should be no excuse for bruised tootsies and epsom salt foot baths come the end of it all.

History has it that the day began as the result of a boast by Tar Heels that Carolina students had the biggest and best feet of surrounding schools.

Last year the name of the day was nearly changed with the suggestion that it be tagged "Barefoot Day, because so much is brewing." This was quickly voted down, however, and the day carries on with its traditional monicker.

Barefoot Day is all a part of the big Senior Weekend which features a free movie for seniors tonight at the Carolina Theater and a picnic scheduled for Hogan's Lake Saturday morning.

Many Entries Are Expected At Dog Show

Entries are coming in at a good clip for the Jaycee-Humane Society Third Annual Chapel Hill Area Dog Show, to be held on Emerson Field Sunday afternoon.

Dr. L. L. Vine, in charge of the affair for the sponsors, has predicted that nearly 200 dogs would be entered in the show, some from as far away as Wilmington and Charlotte. However, he pointed out, the affair is primarily for pure-bred canines from Chapel Hill and immediately surrounding towns.

Two large bronze trophies will be awarded for the best all-around animal in the competition and the runner-up. In addition about 75 prizes, ribbons, and smaller trophies will be given out. As a special feature attraction, Mrs. Betty Theis, professional dog trainer of Mebane, will present an exhibition of obedience by her championship canines.

Entry blanks are available through veterinary hospitals and sporting goods shops in the area, and should be mailed in to Dr. W. T. Kohn, Box 718, Chapel Hill.

Master of ceremonies will be William M. Alexander, former Durham radio announcer and president of the Chapel Hill Jaycees.

Senior Movie

"I Can Get It For You Wholesale" is the special senior movie scheduled to be shown at the Carolina Theater tonight. Show time is 11 o'clock.

Susan Hayward plays the leading role in the feature and all seniors will be admitted free upon showing their ID cards. Coed seniors will be granted late hours to attend the movie.

YMCA Prexy Announces 3 Appointments

Bill Hogshead, recently elected president of the YMCA, yesterday announced the appointment of Jack Prince as chairman of the Y Commission of Christian Heritage, Bill Wolf as chairman of Community Affairs, and Gill Marsh to the chairmanship of the Commission on World Relations.

The Y will hold its annual Cabinet Board supper Monday evening at 5:45 in Lenoir Hall.

The program at the supper will include a report from Ed McLeod, past Y president, a report from the new president, and reports from the different Commissions.

Bill Burkholder, YMCA vice-president, is to represent the Y at Cleveland, Ohio, in the YMCA Centennial Convention to be held in July. Burkholder is also a member of the National Intercollegiate Christian Council, and is president of the Southern Area Student Council of the YMCA.

Final Concert By Symphony Set Sunday

The Department of Music will present a concert of chamber and symphonic music in connection with the University Symphony Orchestra's final concert of the year on Sunday in Hill Music Hall at 8:30 p.m.

The program will open with a trio consisting of Dorothy Alden, violin, Edgar Alden, viola, and Ernst Peschel, cello playing Dohnany's "Serenade," op. 10. The next composition will be the Debussy Sonata in A minor for cello and piano featuring Mary Gray Clarke and Wilton Mason as soloists.

After intermission, the University Symphony will play Mozart's Concerto in E-flat for two pianos and orchestra with Thomas Nichols and Melvin Bernstein as soloists. Both Mr. Nichols and Mr. Bernstein are instructors in piano in the Music Department.

Book Ex Cashier Is Back After 10 Weeks Leave

By Walt Dear
After a 10-week absence from her job as cashier of the Book Exchange in the YMCA Building, Mrs. Mary Maultsby has returned to her job of doling out money to financially embarrassed students.

She has been recuperating from a broken wrist in which both bones were fractured and which required a week's hospital stay and a recuperation period of more than two months.

Mrs. Maultsby was attending an Eastern Star meeting in Durham when she fell down a stairway.

The reddish-gray haired lady, who handles almost $4000 a day from her desk in the Y, thought about the students and said she "could hear students 'cussing her out' because they had to cash their checks elsewhere."

Henderson Portrait Unveiled In Dialectic Senate Ceremony

A handsome oil portrait of Dr. Archibald Henderson, professor of mathematics emeritus in the University was unveiled in the Dialectic Senate Hall last night.

Two of Dr. Henderson's grandchildren, Patricia, daughter of Mrs. Claude C. Ramsey of Spartanburg, S. C., and James Graham Ramsey, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. James Graham Ramsey, Sr., of Washington, N. C., unveiled the painting.

Charlotte Boy Awarded Memorial Scholarship

The Marvin B. Smith, Jr. Memorial Scholarship (valued at $1600 for the four-year tenure in the University) has been awarded to James W. (Slug) Claiborne, who will graduate from Central High School, Charlotte, next month.

The announcement was made today by Dr. W. H. Piemmons, chairman of the University's Scholarship Committee.

The Marvin B. Smith scholarship was established in 1946 in memory of Marvin B. Smith, Jr., class of 1926, by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin B. Smith, his sister, Alyce, and brother, Harold, of Burlington. A second scholarship was established in 1947, a third in 1948 and a fourth in 1949. With these four, one Smith scholarship awarded for a four-year tenure is made each year.

Marvin B. Smith, Jr., was a leading young business man in the textile industry when he died several years ago.

The recipient of the scholarship is selected on a basis of scholarship, ability, character, and financial need.

Two Students Are Booked By Patrolmen

Carmen Anullo, 20 year old student from Union City, N. J., was booked by the police Tuesday night on the charge of riding a horse on the public sidewalks. He had borrowed the horse from H. S. Hogan while on an AROTC party at Hogan's Lake.

He rode the black saddle horse to town and proceeded to trot up and down the sidewalks.

Patrolmen C. J. W. Simpson and G. R. Creel made the arrest about 9:30 and then returned the horse to Hogan.

Carmen is a fullback on the varsity football team and a member of the AROTC unit here. He lives in 116 C Dorm.

A Kappa Sig, William C. Goley from Graham, was arrested by Patrolmen Durham and Bush Tuesday night about 1:30 on the charge of public drunkenness.

Phi Defeats 6-Day Week

By Mac White
A bill calling for six-day classes at Carolina was defeated by a 16-10 vote in the Phi Assembly Tuesday night. Members of the Assembly stated that the debate was the most spirited of the entire quarter.

Several guests and prospective members spoke during the debate. Jim Wallace pointed out that the lack of Saturday classes was possibly responsible for the general lack of interest in campus activities. Tom Donnelly spoke in favor of the Bill stating that he had attended foreign universities where six-day classes were quite successful. Both Wallace and Donnelly were guests of the Assembly.

"I look back now and wonder how it all came about," the Mayor stated. How it did come about was through the insistence of numerous Carrboro residents. Born and raised in Bend, Texas, Gibson has been teaching at the University for the past three and a half years. He attended Abilene College, received his master's degree at the University of Wisconsin, and took his Doctorate at Clark University in Wisconsin.

It's rumored that no geography student ever registers for a Gibson course as a crip. However, they might tell you of the interest he takes in his students. If you drop in at his office at lunch time, you will see it filled with graduate students nibbling on sandwiches and verbally tossing around soil erosion and the tropical rainforest.

Gibson felt, "It's gratifying and stimulating to see students take an interest in their work, and to be able to help them."

His teaching has taken him far and wide, having taught in Texas, Kentucky, Wisconsin, and presently in North Carolina. During the last year, he spent three years as a civilian instructor for the armed services, teaching meteorology and planetology for the Army and geography for the Army.

During the 1930's, he spent three years working for the Tennessee...

Small Program On Tap Tonight In Legislature

Solons End Quarter With Last Meeting Scheduled Thursday

The new Student Legislature convenes tonight for the second time this quarter at 7:15 in the D Hall, New West, to approve several presidential appointments, make committee appointments, and take up any new business.

Spokesmen for both the Student and University Parties said last night that no new bills would be introduced tonight because of the lateness in the quarter. The solons meet for their last meeting next Thursday.

The legislators will approve the appointments made by President Henry Bowers in the last two weeks. Bowers appointed new members to the executive branch of student government and also appointed the chairman and members of the Orientation Committee.

Vice-President Bony Davis said yesterday that he would make appointments to the Graham Memorial Board, the Carolina Forum, and the Summer School Traffic Committee. No announcement of the new members was made.

No committee reports will be heard tonight.

Prior to the meeting both parties will hold caucuses. The University Party will elect a new floor leader.

Dr. Hotelling Of Math Dept Goes Abroad

Dr. Herald Hotelling, professor of mathematical statistics and associate director of the Institute of Statistics of the University, left Chapel Hill Tuesday to go to Europe to deliver a series of lectures at the Universities of Paris, London and Cambridge.

He will address the Institut Henri Poincare at the University of Paris early this month. His subject will be the "Behavior of Standard Statistical Tests Under Non-Standard Conditions."

He will deliver the same series of lectures at the University of London from May 30 through June 6. He will visit Cambridge and from there will go to Edinburgh, Scotland, as guest of the British Association for the Advancement of Science, August 8-15, to be presided over by the Duke of Edinburgh. He will return to Chapel Hill August 29.

Dr. Hotelling, who was professor of economics at Columbia University before coming to Chapel Hill, is a specialist on the incidence and economic effects of taxation and has published technical studies in the field in professional economic journals.

Soil Specialist Turns Talents To Community Government

Dr. J. Sullivan Gibson of the University Geography Department not only discounts himself as a politician, but claims that no one in his family has held a public office for 40 or 50 years.

Yet, Dr. Gibson was installed as mayor of Carrboro Tuesday night and presided over his first meeting with the Carrboro Board of Aldermen.

Gibson defeated his opponent, I. F. Hardee, with a landslide margin of 328-48. He said, "The vote of confidence given me was a complete surprise. I feel that this shows the people will give me solid backing."

"I look back now and wonder how it all came about," the Mayor stated. How it did come about was through the insistence of numerous Carrboro residents.

Carolina Delegates To Student Council Of GU Announced

Student Body President Henry Bowers yesterday announced the appointment of the Carolina delegation to the Greater University Student Council.

In addition to the ex-officio members, Bowers and Bunny Davis, who hold their positions by virtue of their offices in student government here, nine other members were named.

They are Joanne Page, John Harris, Dick Penegar, John Vincent, Tom Sully, Johnny Robinson, Bill Hogshead, Bob Vaughn, and Peggy Stewart. Dick Penegar was elected by the delegation to head the group and to be manager of the Greater University Day activities.

Plans for the year's activities of the Council include the sponsorship of Greater University Day. This annual event is held on the opening day of football season when Carolina plays N. C. State.

Another projected activity is the organization of a roster of exchange lecturers. This will be set up on an individual department basis with exchanges between respective departments in the three branches of the University. Arrangements are also planned for other exchanges if the initial program proves successful.

The Council is the official organization for promoting closer cooperation between the separate branches in student affairs, and in order to make its actions more effective, it limits itself to actions which involve the entire Greater University rather than matters which affect only one branch.

To prepare itself for the forthcoming general meeting, the Carolina delegation held a preliminary meeting yesterday afternoon in the Student Government offices to establish policy. Bowers exhibited high hopes for the coming year and expressed his desire for suggestions from the student body to augment their usual activities.

No Shortage In Housing Is Foreseen

"As far as we can see now there should be no housing shortage at the University next fall," Housing Director James E. Wadsworth stated yesterday.

Asserting that at this time he could not be entirely sure of what the situation would be next fall, Wadsworth said that although there was a possibility of a shortage it was not anticipated.

Present plans are for proportional cutting of the number of occupants per room in all dorms except those in the lower quad, Old East and Old West. Space in all the dorms will be reserved for possible installation of social rooms, to which Wadsworth will give his full support.

"In case there should be a shortage, it would only be temporary as the new "H" Dormitory is scheduled to be completed by winter quarter," the housing director said.

Facilities to house 448 students will be provided with the opening of the new dorm. There will be 165 rooms for two occupants each, 36 triple rooms, and 10 rooms for single occupants.

UP Chooses Dalt Ruffin New Leader

Dalton Ruffin nosed out two long-time party supporters Tuesday night to win the post of University Party chairman. Ruffin, although not present at the meeting, defeated Allan Tate and Jack Owen.

The job of vice-chairman went to Biff Roberts, who defeated Frank Daniels and Ralph Craver, also nominated for the post.

Louise Kloster received the secretaryship over Anne Goben by a nine to eight vote, and Frank Daniels, treasurer, and Ed Cleary, publicity chairman, both were appointed by acclamation.

One seat in legislature, that vacated by the new vice-president of the student body, Bunny Davis, was filled by John Boushall, who defeated Jimmy Adams for the post.

Pre-nomination discussion indicated that many of the party members were dissatisfied with the results of the last election as well as the organization of the party itself.

It was brought out that there is too little dormitory interest in the University Party, and that the fraternity interest was not great enough to compensate for the loss of votes in the dormitories.

Diplomas for all students who graduated in March are now on hand in 302 South Building and may be picked up at any time. Ray Jeffries, assistant to the Dean of Students said yesterday. Jeffries also said that all those intending to graduate in June and who have not filed for a degree should see their Dean immediately.

Business Fair Closes Tonight; Croom Speaks

W. D. Croom, Vice President of the First Securities Corporation in Durham, will speak tonight in Gerrard Hall at 8 o'clock as the final day of the first annual Alpha Kappa Psi Business Fair comes to a close.

Yesterday's activities were highlighted by an address by Mr. John J. Sheehan, Public Relations Director of the New York Curb Exchange.

Croom's topic tonight will be "Your Opportunities as a Small Investor." He graduated from Carolina in 1935 with a degree in commerce. He immediately went into the securities field and has remained in this business since then. Some of his activities outside normal business duties include. Member of the National Securities Traders Association; Treasurer of the Securities Dealers of the Carolinas; and member of District Committee Number 11 of the National Association of Securities Dealers.

Sheehan's lecture yesterday was devoted to the growth and development of the American security market and its contributions to the American economic system. He described the commercial development of the New World and post-Revolutionary financial factors that led to the birth of the first American security market.

The public relations director was introduced by Dr. James T. O'Neil, Assistant Dean of the School of Business Administration.
