Coed Group Will Stress Cooperation

The first major attempt to better relations among sororities and independent coeds will be made in a discussion Person Hall at 7:30 Monday night. It will be sponsored by the Campus Affairs Committee of the YWCA.

A panel of four girls will direct the discussion. Following the panel there will be an open discussion.

Preparations have been underway all year for the event. Questionnaires were sent to 100 colleges throughout the country.

Summer DTH

A four-page, semi-weekly, tabloid Tar Heel will be published throughout the first session of summer school and possibly also during the second session. Editor Glenn Harden announced yesterday.

Dean Guy B. Phillips, who will direct both summer sessions, has agreed for the University to supply funds for the publication. Miss Harden has named Oliver Watkins Business Manager for the summer and will appoint a summer editor this week.

'Caesar And Cleopatra' Opens Tonight In Outdoor Theater

A SCENE FROM TONIGHT'S PLAYMAKER PRODUCTION of G. B. Shaw's "Caesar and Cleopatra" finds Caesar, left, played by Frank Groseclose, getting political advice from his friends. In the center is Rufio, portrayed by Bob Thomas, and on the right is Apollodorus, played by William Hardy. The show will open at 8:30 in the Forest Theater, where it will run for three nights. Tickets for the performances are on sale at the Playmaker office in Swain Hall and at the box office at the Playmaker Theater.

By Chuck Kellogg

The colorful production of George Bernard Shaw's "Caesar and Cleopatra" will be unveiled by the Carolina Playmakers in the Forest Theater tonight at 8:30. The performance will be repeated tomorrow and Sunday nights.

It's the Playmakers' last major production of the season. Both the cast and technical department have gone all out to give Shaw's panoramic drama the lavish performance it deserves. They have a big advantage in the broad stage and natural outdoor beauty of the Forest Theater.

A cast of 30, livened by the humor and keen insight of one of the world's greatest social philosophers, have been rehearsing four weeks. Director Kai Jurgenen has expressed great pleasure in the work of Frank Groseclose and Virginia Michalak, playing the title roles.

The clever costumes have been designed by Charles Morrell, Asheville. Morrell is a senior majoring in dramatic art and will graduate this spring. Primarily interested in dancing, he was employed as principal dancer and assistant choreographer for "Unto These Hills," pageant-drama of the Cherokee Indians at Cherokee. Settings are by Lynn Gault, and lighting is designed by Ed Fitzpatrick.

General admission tickets, good for any night's performance, will be on sale all day at Swain Hall and at the theater box office after 7 p.m. In case of rain, and extra performance will be given on the next clear evening.

Legislature Passes Bill To Investigate Book Ex

By Bob Wilson

By a unanimous vote, the Student Legislature passed a bill last night to set up a committee to investigate the operations of the University Book Exchange.

In other actions, the legislative body: postponed indefinitely a measure to form a committee for the investigation of hazing on campus; named the University's representatives to the National Student's Conference, and approved executive appointments made by President Henry Bowers.

The bill setting up a committee to investigate the Book Ex, introduced at last week's session by Paul Barwick, (SP), is primarily designed to make a study of the re-purchasing prices students are currently having to pay for used books. The committee will be appointed and begin functioning next fall.

The hazing measure, which was to "set up a committee to clarify the entire situation regarding hazing on this campus for the benefit of the entire student body, especially such questions as state and campus court jurisdiction," was postponed indefinitely by a 21-17 vote.

The five students named to represent Carolina at the National Students Conference are Barry Farber, Joyce Evans, Henry Bowers, Bunny Davis, and Jim Wallace.

McIntyre Named Prexy

Jim McIntyre, junior from Ellerbe, was chosen recently as Delegata of the Order of The Grail.

McIntyre replaces Bill Roth. He is presently serving as Secretary-Treasurer of the student body. He is a member of the Dance Committee and Phi Beta Kappa. He previously served as secretary-treasurer of the Grail.

Other officers elected by the honorary service are Ed Love, Scribe, Joe Privott, Exchequer, and Al House, Vice Exchequer.

The Grail is a service organization which chooses members each spring on a half-and-half fraternity-non-fraternity plan. It handles sales of senior invitations and rings, puts on dances, and operates several scholarships.

Coates Given Di-Phi Award; Ullman Feted

Albert Coates, director of the Institute of Government and Law, was presented last night the annual Di-Phi Award at a banquet in the Monogram Club.

The award, a gold medal inscribed with names of the winner and the two campus debating societies, is made annually by the Philanthropic Assembly and Dialectic Senate jointly to the person who in their opinion has made the greatest contribution to the University, state, and nation.

Prof. B. L. Ullman of the Classics Department also received an award from the Di as the outstanding teacher on the University faculty below the rank of Dean.

In accepting the Di-Phi Award, Coates said, "I realize you are bestowing this honor not so much on me as an individual as on me as a symbol of the Institute of Government—to men who have helped the Institute to this particular point in time and space.

"I accept it in the name of half a dozen men of North Carolina who backed me with their vision, their judgment, and their money. I accept it in the name of pioneering colleagues."

Later, while speaking of the campus as a unit of government, Coates stated, "On this campus has come a form of government as concrete, vivid, realistic, and effective as any city hall, county courthouse, or state department operating within the territorial limits of North Carolina."

The annual awards made by the two groups to their outstanding members were also presented last night. Graham Jones was named outstanding graduating member of the Phi, Mel Respass as best orator, and Bob Gorham as outstanding freshman.

Dot Hogan Chapel Hill's Top Beauty

Dot Hogan, Chapel Hill student at Woman's College, was named Miss Chapel Hill Wednesday night at the first annual Chapel Hill Beauty and Personality Pageant.

Betty Lou Worthington, Ayden, was runner-up, and Betty Sue Jacobs, Chapel Hill, was selected by the contestants themselves as Miss Congeniality.

With her title Miss Hogan also received a $250 scholarship to be made available for her at the college of her choice.

Mayor Edwin S. Lanier announced the winners of the pageant and presented Miss Hogan with traditional crown and roses.

Sam Beard, radio announcer for Raleigh's WPTF, was master of ceremonies, and drew loud applause from the audience, numbering 300, with his humorous ab libbing.

The contestants made their first appearance on stage in evening gowns. They appeared the second time in shorts, high heels, and sweaters or blouses.

Judges were Mrs. Frances Jarman, Station WDNC, Durham; Mike Harper, president of the Roxboro Jaycees.
