

Wreck Record Is Set Here; Two People On Critical List

'51 Enrollment Not Expected To Drop Much

By Bob Hennessee

Eighteen hours after Carolina's last big weekend of the year had ended Chapel Hill police were still tabulating the results of the most accident - studded 48 hour period on record.

The count last night read 22 accidents with upwards of 50 automobiles involved, and two people, including a State College student, in the hospital in critical condition.

"I've never seen anything like it since joining the force," remarked Chapel Hill Policeman C. J. Simpson as he proceeded to add up his score of accidents covered over the weekend. "Even when all the streets were covered with ice and there was a reason for accidents, it was never this bad," he said.

A three car accident involving three University students took place about 1 o'clock Sunday morning at the intersection of Raleigh and Cameron Streets.

James B. Raymer, 202 Whitehead, was booked by Patrolman Earl Bush on the charge of reckless driving after his car, a new Pontiac, struck a Ford driven by Luis E. Vargas, also a resident of Whitehead dorm, and then smashed into the left rear fender of a parked Plymouth, owned by Coed Katherine E. Merryman, of 203 Carr dorm.

According to Bush, Vargas was not at fault and was allowed to go. The extent of damage was not determined.

Three cars collided on the Raleigh highway Saturday night sending a State College student and one other person to the hospital in critical condition.

Two of the cars, a 1949 Mercury and a 1950 Buick, were listed as total losses and the third, a Plymouth driven by Richard Bone, of Carrboro, was damaged to the extent of $500. The Mercury, which was driven by a Raleigh woman was heading east and the other two were coming toward Chapel Hill. A Negro soldier from Ft. Bragg was the operator of the Buick.

Sigma Chi Ray Farlow lost part of the rear of his 1946 Town and Country Chrysler when it was struck in front of his fraternity house by a '42 Mercury driven by Kelly Emerson, Negro, Siler City, who then proceeded to slice off parts of three other autos parked nearby.

A Negro boy escaped injury when his bicycle collided with a car driven by former University student Gran Childress near Fowler's Food Store Saturday. The bike was destroyed.

The only reason the police could give for the bumpy weekend was that there was just enough rain to mix with oil and slicken the roads.

Some observers attributed the large toll of accidents to the draft, which many college students will face after leaving school next week; others opined that it might have been the influence of "that last big weekend."

Whatever the cause, Chapel Hill had never seen the likes of it and members of the local police force were hoping it wouldn't be repeated in the near future.

an estimated 5,200 to 5,500 enrollment for the fall quarter was announced yesterday by Director of Admissions Roy Armstrong.

But Armstrong asserted, "It is extremely difficult to make predictions of the actual number here next September because of the uncertain draft situation."

He also pointed out that since the Selective Service expects 200,000 less students to be deferred because of the College Qualification Tests, this figure may go down.

600 of these enrolled now for September are freshmen with the usual 15 percent out-of-state figure included.

A negligible amount of veterans as compared to this year's approximate 1,500 will be entered in the University, according to Col. F. Carlyle Shepard. Expected enrollment of Vets may vary from 500 to 800, depending on the international situation and the amount of money left to vets on the GI Bill.

Armstrong explained that the general enrollment figures vary from week to week and that the number of transfers is much less than last year.

The expected 230 freshmen enrolling June 12 who will proceed on a regular quarterly basis also accounts for the drop in the estimated figures.

Housing for undergraduates will be excellent, according to Housing Director James E. Wadsworth. Since many dorms on the campus will have two occupants to the room, there will be ample space for new incoming students. However, housing in Victory Village is still limited to veterans and this area is expected to be full for September.

The University budget is figured on a 4,700 average enrollment for the next academic year.

Enrollment after the war hit a high of over 7,000 while next year's figures may prove to be the lowest since before the war.

Numerous students left school during the Winter Quarter to enlist in the Armed Services as a draft scare hit the nation. Since Selective Service's ruling that students could choose any service after completion of the present academic year, the number leaving has dropped.

Veto Power Is Phi Topic

The Phi Assembly will hold its last regular meeting of the quarter tonight at 8:30 with the topic for debate, "Resolved: That the Governor of North Carolina should be given the veto power."

Prior to the meeting Assembly members will meet in Rathskeller for a short beer party which will be continued after the meeting. The Coed Senate will sit in on the session. All members, and any student interested in joining the Phi this year or next, are urged to be at the meeting.

The Phi is one of Carolina's two debating societies. Tonight's meeting will be held in Phi Hall of New East. Al House, newly elected speaker of the Phi, asked yesterday that all members be on time.

Dental Bids

Bids for the new Dental School will be opened Thursday, an administration spokesman said yesterday.

Contracts will probably be awarded a day later, he continued. The new building will be constructed as a wing of the Medical School and will run parallel to the Pittsboro highway.

The building will be about 180 feet long.

The Daily Tar Heel

VOLUME LIX

CHAPEL HILL, N. C. Tuesday, May 22, 1951

Number 148

Holmes Gives Last Lecture In Humanities

The third and final in this year's series of Humanities Division Lectures will be delivered tonight in Gerrard Hall at 8:30 o'clock by Dr. Urban T. Holmes, Kenan professor of Romance Philology.

The topic for lecture is "The Beast Epic of Reynard the Fox." This theme permits him to bring to the general audience, for whom the lecture is intended, a store of learning and a zestful approach, Holmes said.

One of the most versatile men on the faculty, Holmes has had an important place in music and dramatics on the campus, and in the religious life of the community.

Last winter he was awarded the Legion of Honor Medal by the French government for his contribution to the promotion of the French language and culture.

He has been a member of the Department of Romance Languages in the University since 1925. He received his doctorate at Harvard and spent a short period of study at the University of Paris.

During the war Holmes was with the Office of Strategic Services. He has been a Kenan professor since 1945, and is a Fellow of the Medieval Academy of America. He has written extensively in the field of the Middle Ages and of Old French language.

False Alarm

The second false fire alarm within a two-week period was turned in Sunday night when both of Chapel's fire trucks were called to Smith Dormitory about 11:10.

The person who turned in the alarm has not been found, police reported yesterday.

Another false alarm was reported May 7 from Spencer Dorm. Arthur F. Greenbaum, Baltimore, Md., turned himself in to Police Chief Sloan for turning in the alarm. He is scheduled to be tried on the charge today in Recorder's Court.

Greenbaum gave no reason for turning in the alarm. Turning in a false alarm is covered by a state law rather than a city ordinance. The estimated cost, according to the City Manager for answering the alarm was $50.

Thomas Duval Selected New Quarterly Editor

Thomas E. Duval, rising senior of Jacksonville, Fla., was named the new editor-in-chief of the Carolina Quarterly yesterday afternoon by the Faculty Advisory Board of the Quarterly.

Kenneth L. Penegar, rising sophomore of Gastonia, was appointed executive editor.

Radio Majors Will Present Variety Show

Students of the Radio Department will present a radio show of the comedy variety type under the title "Studio 75" in Studio A of Swain Hall tonight at 8:30.

Impersonations of some of radio's top talent will highlight the show, with Jim Mills playing the role of Jerry Colonna, and Bob Thomas starring as Enzo Pinza. Included in the supporting cast of radio majors will be a comedy trio called the "Gleeful Gastons."

Eighty seats are available for anyone desiring to see the production. There will be no admission charge, and doors to the studio will be closed at 8 o'clock in order to allow time for set arrangements.

If the show turns out to be successful, it will probably be presented over WDNC FM in Durham during the regular 4:30-6 o'clock week-day broadcasts which come from Swain Hall over the station.

The show was written, produced, and directed by Mills.

Brauer Will Speak At Math Symposium

Dr. A. T. Brauer, University mathematician, has accepted an invitation to speak at a symposium on Mathematics to be conducted by the National Bureau of Standards, U. S. Department of Commerce, at the Institute for Numerical Analysis in Los Angeles August 13-25.

The Symposium is being held in connection with the celebration of the semi centennial of the National Bureau of Standards.

Subject of Brauer's lecture will be "Bounds for Roots of Matrices."

Duval, an English major, has been associate editor of the literary magazine this year and as a freshman was office manager for Tarnation, campus humor magazine.

In a statement, Duval said, "The quarterly is the literary magazine of the University. As I see it, it should serve primarily as a workshop for the student body and a medium through which they can display their creative accomplishments."

"If the students do not respond, however, we must accept contributions of merit from outside. It is my opinion that we can do our greatest service and justify our existence most fully by trying to aid in developing our own talent here."

The faculty advisory board, which made the appointments, consists of Charles Eaton, English Department; Lyman Cotton, English; Harry K. Russell, English; Phillips Russell, Journalism; and Walter Spearman, Journalism.

All other positions on the magazine will be appointed by Duval and Penegar. Duval announced a meeting for 4 p.m. today in the Quarterly offices in Graham Memorial for all those interested in being on the staff next year.

Two Recitals Set For Hill; 1st Is Tonight

Two students of music in the University will give their spring recitals in Hill Hall this week.

Robin Scroggs, a junior from Raleigh and holder of the Kay Kyser Scholarship this year, will give a piano concert tonight at 8:30, and William Hudgins, a senior from Seaford, Va., will play a recital tomorrow night at the same time.

Scroggs' program will feature works by J. S. Bach and Alexander Scriabin, and other selections from Beethoven, Chopin, Schubert and Debussy.

Soloist with the University Symphony Orchestra last winter in a performance of the Franck Symphonic Variations, Scroggs has also played recitals this year in Raleigh and Danville, Va. He is a student of Dr. William S. Newman.

Hudgins, also a student of Dr. Newman, will give a program featuring the Beethoven Sonata in E major. Other selections will include an Interludium from Hindemith's "Ludus Tonalis"; the "Theme and Variations" of Faure, and the third sonata of the contemporary Russian composer, Dmitri Kabalevsky.

Final Exam Schedule

No student will be excused from a scheduled examination except by the University Infirmary, in case of illness, or by his General College Faculty advisor or by his Dean, in case of any other emergency compelling his absence.

Monday, May 28, 8:30 a.m. All 11 o'clock classes.
2 p.m. All 1 o'clock classes and Business Administration 71 and 72, and Zoology 104.
Tuesday, May 29, 8 a.m. All 12 o'clock classes.
11:30 a.m. All 2 o'clock classes.
3 p.m. All 8 o'clock classes.
Wednesday, May 30, 8 a.m. All 3 o'clock classes.
11:30 a.m. All 9 o'clock classes.
3 p.m. All classes not otherwise provided for in this schedule.
Thursday, May 31, 8:30 a.m. All 10 o'clock classes
2 p.m. Common exams in all French, German, and Spanish courses numbered 1, 2, 3, and 4.