Only lettermen back for Coach Fordy Anderson's outfit is Leroy Ott, a sixfoot guard who owns a deadly one-hander. Stan Albeck and Dick Goelzer, two boys who were members of last year's team although they did not win monograms, have won starting jobs this season. Goelzer is a six-five center, while Albeck is a slim forward.

Duke, which won its first games with Temple and Hanes Hoisery before meeting North Carolina in the Gerry Gerard Memorial Game Wednesday, is again led by star guard Dick Groat, who is captain of the Blue Devils. His partner at guard is a dashing sophomore from Philadelphia, Rudy D'Emilio. Another sophomore who has won a starter's berth is Bernie Janicki, a blonde, six-four forward from Ambridge, Pa. His forward partner is letterman Bill Fleming of Philadelphia. Divinity School senior Carl Glasow of Rochester, N. Y., is the Duke center.

In a preliminary game to the Duke-Bradley clash, the Duke junior varsity, winner over the Atlantic Service Force crew in its only game thus far, meets the strong Cherry Point-Marines. Game time for the preliminary is 6:30 o'clock. Coach of the Cherry Point team is Lt. Bob Smith, former Long Island University captain.

The Bradley contest ends a rugged four-game week for the Blue Devils. Tuesday they face Furman's Purple Whirlwind at Shelby and on Saturday meet Virginia Military Institute in Duke Indoor Stadium.

Strong UNC Gymnast Team Could Have Losing Season

by Alva Stewart

A host of outstanding performers, led by Captain R. S. White, will carry Coach Bill Meade's hopes for a successful gymnastic season in 1952, but even with this abundance of talent, the Tar Heel gymnasts could have a losing season because of their rugged schedule. The Tar Heels face three of the nation's top teams—Florida State, Penn State, Army, and possibly Navy.

Paced by the Regna twins, Florida State is likely to repeat as National AAU titleholder. Last year, the team won the Southern Intercollegiate Gymnastic League crown and also placed first in the National Intercollegiate championships. Florida State is coached by Hartley Price, who tutored Illinois to two national championships before going to Florida.

Coached by Gene Wettstone, 1948 U. S. Olympic mentor, Penn State will be a strong contender for national laurels. The Cadets, coached by former Olympic gymnast Tom Maloney, are Eastern Intercollegiate champs. Runner-up to Army last year, Navy will be hard to beat. The Middies are coached by former Olympic gymnast Chet Phillips.

The Tar Heels also have scheduled meets with Duke (on Feb. 8 and Feb. 29) On March 15, the Tar Heels will compete in the SIGL meet at Tallahassee, Fla. One week later, they will jaunt to Boulder, Col. for the N.C.A.A. championships. The N.A.A.U. and Olympic tryouts will be held on May 3 at State College, Penn.

Leading contenders for Southern honors are Captain R. S. White, SIGL trampoline champion; Don Waddell, promising sophomore tumbler; junior Charley Hartley, who bettered the SIGL rope climbing time in practice Wednesday; letterman Check

Goodin, chief point-maker in 1951; junior Andy Bell, the most consistent winner for the Tar Heels last season; and Otis Hartsell, a sophomore whom Coach Meade calls "the most improved man on the squad."

Other boys who will probably see action in one or more of the event are Jerry Dorn, senior rope climber; Gordon Hudson, freshman performer on the side horse; Rupert Phipps, on the parallel bars; Pete Brumley, Frank Williams, Larry Thorp, and Bill Woods on the mats; and John Rhodes, Dick Hallden, and Bill McCord on the trampoline.

Goodin is called the "iron man" of the team by Meade. The dependable junior performs on the side horse, high bar, parallel bars, and rings. Besides displaying his agility on the high bar, Andy Bell helps out on the rings. Letter-

Wrestlers To Meet Davidson

The Carolina wrestling team will get its first taste of competition of the season when it meets the Davidson matmen tomorrow night at 9 o'clock in the Wildcat gym.

Four freshmen, two sophomores and two seniors will wrestle eight Davidson matmen. The frosh are Abbie Keles (120 pounds); Earl Kendrick (130); Pete McGhee (157); and Sandy Dann (137). The two sophs are Andy Holt, the blind boy, and Harold Butts. Holt will compete in the 177-lb. class, while Butts is a heavyweight. Both of these boys wrestled on the freshman team last year.

Maryland is favored to win the Southern Conference crown this year. The defending champions are the VMI Keydets, who are coached by Oscar Gupton, Carolina frosh coach last year.

man Jerry Dorn performs on the high bar as well as climbing the rope.
