

The "Bowl" bound Pi Phis have been putting in long hours at practice every day in Kenan Stadium for the coming Powder Puff game on February 16. The Pi Phi sponsored contest is being played here for the first time, although other chapters throughout the nation have made the event an annual affair. Carmen Nahm, transfer student from Florida State has been largely responsible for the adoption of the game here.

The proceeds from the game between the Pi Phis and the Tri-Delts will be donated to the Orange County Infantile Paralysis fund.

HOW MORAL CAN A VICTORY GET?
OR
Don't Put All Your Goose Eggs in One Basket

A college basketball team once had plenty of nothing. It was so bad that even the coach hadn't gone to a game all season. Couldn't stand to watch his job collapse. So the team careened through its schedule and hit the road for the big game, the season's windup. Due to lose by over forty-five points, the experts said.

But somebody back on campus had a brainstorm and started a notion. Telegrams, to be exact. Just before game time, the team got more telegrams than you could shake a referee at. Group telegrams from fraternities and sororities, personal telegrams from Prexy and the Dean of Women—hundreds of telegrams, all saying "We're behind you, team!" And by golly, the boys pulled themselves together and went out and lost by only twenty-eight points, instead of forty-five.

The moral is plain. The more you encourage guys, the better they work or play. Giving anyone a hand by telegrams does wonders for gratitude and cooperation—whether it's cash from home you want or a date or just to send a thoughtful message to someone on any special occasion. Just call Western Union, or head for your local Western Union office.

Di Will Talk On Chinese In Session

The controversial subject of unlimited warfare against the Chinese communist forces will again be aired on the floor of the Dialectic Senate tonight at 8 o'clock in New West building.

Tonight will mark the third appearance of the bill on the Senate floor. The first two times the bill met defeat on either moral or ethical grounds, or practical reasons.

The bill asks for several changes in policy, including the non-recognition of now-existing boundary lines. Its backers hope that recent changes on the international scene will have a favorable part to play in tonight's discussion.

The regular session will be followed by a special executive session.

Frank Sedgman in the semi-finals and went on to win the tournament.

Seixas staked the U. S. to a 1-0 lead in the challenge round with a decisive win over Australia's Merwya Rose, but lost the final match to Sedgman.

Seixas is expected to be the key man on the 1952 American team

Bible Lecture Series Set For Next 3 Monday Nights

Dr. William Brownlee opened the series of illustrated lectures, "From the Ancient Manuscripts to the Modern Bible", in 111 Murphey hall at 7 o'clock last night.

Continuing on the following three Mondays, the lecture series is sponsored by the Department of Religion.

Two professors of the Duke divinity school, Dr. William Brownlee and Dr. Kenneth Clark, are conducting the series. Brownlee, who spoke last night, will also deliver the second lecture, while Dr. Clark will give the remaining two.

A Fellow at the American School of Oriental Research in Jerusalem when the oldest Hebrew manuscripts of the Old Testament thus far known were discovered four years ago, Dr. Brownlee was the first scholar to identify and translate a Commentary on the book of Habakkuk found among those rolls. In the previous year, he had also been a member of the Univ. of California expedition to Mount Sinai.

Dr. Clark, an authority with an international reputation on the original Greek manuscripts on which our New Testament is based, has traveled extensively in the Biblical lands. On behalf of the Library of Congress, he went on an expedition to photograph and collate the Greek manuscripts in the monastery of St. Catherine on Mount Sinai.

Wake Forest and Davidson first played Carolina in basketball in 1911, making these clubs the oldest rivals on the Tar Heel schedule this season.

Skippy Winstead, sophomore forward on the Carolina basketball team, is the younger brother of Jim Winstead, a Tar Heel tennis star of three years ago.

which will make its second successive attempt to regain the Davis Cup from Australia next winter. Without Savitt and Trabert, both of whom are expected to be in service, the U. S. team may have to rely on the ex-Tar Heel heavily in both doubles and singles.

When the great Sedgman finally turns professional, as he is expected to do in 1953, Seixas may well become the top amateur player of them all.
