

Scott Promises 'Good Game' Against Champion Wolfpack

By Bill Peacock

Carolina basketball coach Tom Scott isn't predicting a win over State here Saturday night, but he's sure the fans in Woollen Gym will be treated to a very good game.

"We can expect the worse from State," he said, "but it ought to be a very good game. We hope to turn the tide and win this one." The Tar Heels haven't beaten the champion Wolfpack since 1946.

"We'll have to shoot well and guard them carefully. Against State in the Dixie Classic (a game which State won, 58-51) we went to sleep and let them get three quick baskets which cost us the game."

The team hasn't played quite up to the form it showed in the Dixie Classic, but Scott feels that Vince Grimaldi, who went into a slump for about two weeks, is ready to give the Tar Heels the kind of play he turned in at the start of the season.

"Vince started scoring in Philadelphia (he got 17 against Temple and 14 Tuesday against Fort Bragg) and we hope we can get more balance in our attack. But everyone will have to go all-out to win."

The center position, which Scott said would decide the team's record this year, is improving right along, said Scott. Paul Likins, who has played most of the time at that position, is doing much better on his rebound work and has upped his scoring average considerably.

State warmed up for the game by polishing off Loyola of Baltimore, 74-33, in a game in which Everett Case allowed his entire team to play. State has the only perfect record in the conference (7-0), but has lost five games to intersectional foes. Their overall record is 12-5 compared to the 10-6 of Carolina.

Extra Coach

President Gordon Gray sat on the bench with the Carolina gymnastics team when it met Army at West Point last week. The Tar Heel prexy was at the Academy to present a portrait of Robert E. Lee. Army won 69-40, however, despite the coaching.

After a successful career as a high school mentor, Tom Scott, Carolina coach, took over at Concordia College in Minnesota for his first collegiate job.

LET'S TALK ABOUT USED BOOKS

Next time you stop in the Intimate Bookshop, take a look at the old book corner, back by the text department.

You'll find the darrest hodgepodge of odd books you ever set eyes on. Prices range from a rare North Carolina history at $45.00 down to a big section of old stuff at 48c. In the latter group, by the way, several customers have assured us that they have nicked off rare treasures. Maybe, so. If they did, it was in spite of our efforts, and you may do the same.

While we are particularly proud of our North Carolina books, there are quite a few nice items outside of that field, priced reasonably considering that they are titles that only show up in a shop every two or three years. We'll leave you to find them for yourselves, because half the fun of old books—buying or selling—is the quality of treasure-hunting.
