

Duke Cagers Top Tar Heels, 73-66

Groat Gets 27, Lifson 22-UNC

by Ed Starnes

A last quarter drive by the Carolina basketball team fell short in the last minute and Duke won a 73-66 thriller before 6,000 cheering fans in Woollen Gym last night.

Trailing by a 62-46 margin going into the final period, the Tar Heels suddenly started scoring and brought the score up to 71-66 with a minute left to play in the game. Duke pulled a successful freeze to hold on to its narrow margin.

Dick Groat and Rudy D'Emilio sparked the Blue Devils in the first half to a 41-28 lead. Groat scored 17 points in the first half and D'Emilio hit for 17.

Groat took personal charge of the game in the third quarter by scoring nine points as the Blue Devils raised its margin. It was the All-American guard who did most of the fine ball-handling during Duke's freeze, at the end of the game.

Jack Wallace, Al Lifson, and substitute Bob Phillips were the instigators of the Tar Heels rush for a victory. Wallace picked up six points in the drive, Lifson four, and Phillips six.

There were three minutes left in the game and Duke had a safe 71-61 lead when Carolina made its final bid for a win. Phillips drove under the basket for a layup, and it was followed seconds later by Cooper Taylor's free throw. Phillips again flipped in a layup to put Carolina but five points back, 71-66. It was then that the Blue Devils put on the freeze.

Groat and D'Emilio scored 52 of Duke's 73 points. Groat took the games scoring honors with 27, while D'Emilio scored 25. The Blue Devil's senior captain from Swissvale, Pa., put on a brilliant scoring exhibition for the fans, but it was D'Emilio, a 5 foot 11 inch sophomore guard from Philadelphia, Pa., who drew the greatest applause from the crowd.

In the first half D'Emilio hit on 8 of 17 shots from the floor and made good on the only free throw he was awarded.

Al Lifson, the Tar Heels sensational freshman, took high scoring honors for Carolina with 22 points. Jack Wallace netted 14 for second place, and Phillips scored 10.

A portion of the first half was dedicated to the theme of 'how not to play Basketball.' Both Carolina and Duke had trouble holding onto the ball and making a decent pass while the fans roared with laughter at the futile attempts to calm the game down.

Duke Jayvees Top Carolina By 79-66; Cashman Hits 30

Duke forward Cashman went on a second half scoring spree to give the Duke Blue Devil Junior Varsity a 79-66 victory over Carolina at Woollen Gym last night, scoring thirty points during the evening, eighteen in the second half.

The half ended with Duke on the short end of a 37-31 score, but the Blue Devils roared back in the third period, outscored the Tar Heels 25-14, and went into the lead to stay.

Carolina had a scoring spree of their own in the second quarter when Buell Moser scored 12 points to overcome a deficit and give the Tar Heels their half-time edge. Moser was second high scorer of the game with 21 points. Duke took the lead and held it for the first period, but then Carolina scored on five successive fast breaks, missed one and then scored three more. Moser and Paul Brantly accounted for most of the points in the high-scoring period.

Carolina had trouble getting their fast break off after the half, and Duke began scoring from the floor with regularity. The Blue Devils, led by Cashman and center Lemley who scored 17 points, kept increasing their margin until they led by 10 points midway in the fourth quarter.

Duke froze the ball during the last two minutes but still managed to score three points and the game ended, 79-66, Duke.

'Old Champs' Are Honored At Half-Time Ceremonies

by Walt McFall

Students and spectators at the Carolina-Duke basketball game here last night honored the members of Carolina's famous Southern champion basketball teams of 1922, 1924, 1925, and 1926 which were holding a reunion here.

The group, which was introduced by publicist Jake Wade, was headed by Jack Cobb and Cartwright Carmichael, Carolina's first two basketball All-Americans, and "Monk" McDonald, a great All-Southern star who earned 12 monograms in three sports here.

Those who attended the reunion were: Harold Winfield Barber, Charlotte; Richard Cartwright Carmichael, Durham; William Donald Carmichael, Jr., Chapel Hill; John Blackwell Cobb, Washington, N. C.; William Andrew Dodderer, Atlanta; William Augustus Devin, Jr., Silver Springs, Md.; Bunn Washington Hackney, Jr., High Point; Troy Ausborne Johnston, Greensboro; Samuel Howard McDonald, Charlotte.

Abe Bernard Neiman, Sumter, S. C.; Arthur Rowell Newcombe, Charlotte; Sidney Curtis Perry, Durham; James Wyche Poole, Greensboro; James Harold Lineberger, Belmont; Henry Abel Lineberger, Belmont; John Bryan London, Charlotte; Dr. Angus Morris McDonald, Charlotte; John Raymond Purser, Charlotte; Edward Bretney Smith, Asheville; and Lloyd Preston Williams, Charlotte.

The only four lettermen who were unable to attend the reunion were Carl Campen Mahler, Charlotte; William Alfred Vanstory, East Orange, N. J., and Winton Wallace Green, Tampa, Fla.

Yesterday afternoon the "Old Champions" attended a luncheon given in their honor at the Monogram Club. Later in the afternoon a party was given for them by Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Carmichael, Jr. Mr. Carmichael is the vice-president of the University and played on both the 1920 and 1922 basketball teams.

A buffet supper was held before the game in the Morehead Building, and after supper they were taken to Woollen's Gymnasium where they were met by members of the Monogram Club. The "Old Champions" were seated in a special section behind the press box, which was decorated in Blue and White.

After the game they were party guests of Tom Scott's and Jake Wade's at Mr. Wade's home.

Taylor Thorne and Simon Terrell, former Carolina basketball players, are officiating the sport now.

HOORAY For February!

For one thing it's the only month with spirit enough to have an extra day once in awhile - and every day counts when you have a bushel of good books to read.

For another, it brings St. Valentines Day, and we're pushovers for romance.

And especially in Leap Year. It perks us up. Even dry old Aristotle upon the shelf has shaken off a little dust and edged over to where he could be reached by Moll Flanders.

Yes sir, these February evenings are just right for a browse a deux in the cosy old bookshop. Come join the fun, won't you?
