On Wednesday, February 6, he will tell members of the Society for Advancement of Management about "Broader Responsibilities of Management."

Then on the following day, he will discuss some phases of the University's administration with the local chapter of the American Association of University Professors at their 7:30 p.m. meeting in the faculty lounge of the Morehead building. All faculty members and graduate students are invited.

Final Show By Troupe Set Tonight

Final performance of the Carolina Playmakers' musical comedy "Spring for Sure" will be staged in Memorial hall tonight at 8:30.

The John W. Parker directed production, which has played to near-capacity crowds here since it opened Friday, relates the adventures of a group of New York socialites whose plane has been forced down in the Smoky Mountains of Tennessee.

With a book by Catherine McDonald and musical score by Wilton Mason, the comedy includes 15 new songs and boasts over a month of nightly rehearsals by the 19-member cast.

Costumes are by Anna Graham, graduate assistant of the Playmakers, and settings have been designed by Lynn Gault.

Tickets for tonight's presentation will be on sale at the Memorial hall box office after 7 p.m.

UP Meeting

Nomination of an appointee to fill a vacancy on the Student Council will be made by the University Party at its meeting tomorrow night in Roland Parker lounge number three of Graham Memorial.

Phi Delta Kappa

Thirty Education Students Tapped Into National Frat

Thirty students in the School of Education have just been initiated into Phi Delta Kappa, national education fraternity.

Following the initiation ceremonies, the new members were honored at a banquet in Lenoir hall, with Dr. A. S. Hurlburt, director of the Bureau of Educational Research and Service, as principal speaker.

Purpose of the fraternity is to "promote free public education as essential to the development and maintenance of a democracy through continuing interpretation of the ideals of research, service and leadership. Election is based on scholarship, leadership and vocational choice in educational fields.

Dr. Hurlburt told the group that "every teacher in North Carolina must teach reading techniques if we are to close the four-year spread now found in the average classroom. I believe no teacher should be certified to teach in high school or elementary school without basic training in the teaching of reading."

He said that "education in this state must shift emphasis from memorization to interpretation and application of facts as a major plank in its platform for administration if we are to provide living laboratory group experience which will prepare pupils to assume their proper role in our way of life."

The new members are: Benjamin R. Baker, Greensboro; Richard L. Bestwick, Sharon, Pa.; F. M. Blankenship, Asheville; Ar-

Hope Prevails For Russian, US Friendship, Poll Reveals

(Associated Collegiate Press)

Can the United States and Russia settle their differences peacefully? Three-fourths of the nation's college students feel "there is still a chance," but not a good one.

Results of the National Poll of Student Opinion indicate that seven per cent of the students feel that chances for peace are good, while 13 per cent think there is no chance.

Many feel that "chances would be improved by more 'give and take,'" as a sophomore at an eastern engineering college put it.

Students were asked: How do you feel about chances for a peaceful settlement of differences between Russia and the United States? The answers:

1. Chances are good .. 7 per cent
2. Chances are fair .... 31 per cent
3. Chances are poor .. 45 per cent
4. No chances ..... 13 per cent
5. No opinion ..... 4 per cent

Students who foresee little chance of peace blame the situation on Russia, human nature and United States diplomacy. Says a senior in Alabama, "I don't think differences can be settled now because of the Russian government."

Assisting in serving were Mrs. Ethel Clamp, Mrs. Sedalia Gold, Mrs. Claude Burton, Jr., Mrs. Richard Sanders, and Miss Patty Starr.

The tea is given annually in honor of members of the faculty and administration.

IDC To Hear Bennett, Teague Tomorrow Nite

Members of the Interdormitory Council will hear Claude Teague, business manager, and J. S. Bennett, director of operations, discuss dormitory problems and answer questions tomorrow night when the Council meets at 7 o'clock in Williams-Wolfe room, Graham Memorial.

President Bob Creed has asked all members to write down their questions they wish to ask. The social committee, led by Vice President Paul Somerville will act as chairman for the evening and will initiate the questioning to the University officials.

As time permits, other questions from the floor will be heard.

"We hope all members will attend this important meeting with University officials," Creed said yesterday. He pointed out it was the first time in the last few years that Bennett and Teague have been invited to join council discussions.

Bennett and Teague will tell members of "projected plans" for dormitories, where they money goes, and why the University can't do more than it is doing.

Dormitories are self-supporting. There is no item in the present budget, for example, set aside for social rooms. Dormitories having social centers have them solely because money has accrued from rents. Large expansive social centers would necessitate a raise in rents.

Other matters on the Monday night agenda will be the spring IDC dance, and choice of orchestra. Tex Benecke, Johnny Long, Claude Thornhill are being considered.

200 Attend Ecumenical Meet Here

Stressing a theme of "Unity in Christ," Protestant student groups of North Carolina schools and colleges held a state-wide ecumenical conference in the Presbyterian church here yesterday.

The group of nearly 200 heard a number of speakers representing the World, National and State Councils of Churches.

Opening the conference yesterday morning, Dr. Clarence T. Craig of the Drew Theological Seminary discussed the Council of Churches and outlined the various ways in which the council proposes to influence political, social and economic affairs on the international level as well as problems of international scope within the Protestant-Christian church itself.

Further unity, even with Roman Catholics, was envisioned by Dr. Craig, as soon as the present doctrinal differences can be eliminated. He stated that the council was an organic unit, insofar as each part "felt" with each other part.

Dr. George D. Kelsey, former executive secretary of the Central Department of Field Administration of the National Council, first speaker on the afternoon program, pointed out that the only theological doctrine of the National Council was that of "the common recognition of Jesus Christ as Lord and Savior."

"In no real sense it is a super-church with a hierarchy," he stated. According to Dr. Kelsey, 52,000,000 Christians are represented by the council with North Carolina being represented by 12 denominations. The principle of creative discussion is followed in the meetings of the various council sub-divisions, and in this way greater unity is found to result in the application of Christian principles to economic, social and political problems.

George Worth, assistant of the local Presbyterian church, was director of the conference and W. E. Graham and John Dennis, served as hosts.
