

Dance Or Not Looms As Big Frosh Issue

A question mark looms in the mind of freshman class president Jim "Slug" Claiborne who doesn't know whether his classmates want a dance this spring or not.

"The class has hardly any funds, but many freshmen seem to want to have dance," Claiborne said. "If you want a dance, call social chairman Donna Blair, 27051, or me at 2-7041. If you don't want one, call us anyhow so we can find out what class sentiment is," he added.

Most non-fraternity men are in favor of the dance, while many fraternity men think a freshman dance isn't necessary.

Although plans are incomplete, a proposed dance would include live music, refreshments, and admission would be charged.

Force captain. Following his discharge, Ewing became associated with Charles Evans Hughes as a member of the law firm of Hughes, Schurman and Dwight, an association which was maintained until the firm's dissolution in 1937.

He then joined with Charles Evans Hughes, Jr., to form the partnership of Hughes, Hubbard and Ewing and was associated with this firm until his appointment as Federal Security Administrator in August 1947.

With his appointment as Federal administrator, Ewing began his attempts to bring parts of the agency into closer relationship and made his attention-drawing health insurance recommendations. This recommendations is embodied in his report to the President, "The Nation's Health—A Ten-Year Program," which was published in September 1949. Earlier, Ewing had called a National Health Assembly in response to the President's request that he formulate a 10-year program to raise the nation's health standards. More than 800 professional and community leaders met with Ewing in Washington to study the problem.

UNC Student Injured In Wreck Near Durham; $700 Damage

A UNC student was knocked unconscious and sustained a severe laceration on the head Sunday afternoon about 3:40 o'clock when his automobile went out of control and left the highway about three and one-half miles west of Durham on Route 751.

State Highway Patrolman J. W. Edwards, who investigated the accident, said that Claudius A. Irby, Jr., was found unconscious in his car by J. H. Blanchard of 2928 Chapel Hill Road, Durham, and taken to Duke Hospital.

Blanchard said one wheel was still spinning when he first sighted the car. According to the investigating officer Irby was driving north on Highway 751 when his car left the road on the right hand side on a curve. When the driver swerved back in an effort to get back on the road, the machine careened across the and climbed a pine tree.

Irby was released from the hospital following observation and treatment. No charges were preferred.

Damage to the student's vehicle was estimated at about $700.

Church Building Begins

A new Episcopal Church has been organized under the sponsorship of the Chapel of the Cross. Regular services are being held in Gerrard hall.

The new church, known as the Church of the Holy Family, will eventually be located in the Glen Lennox area. Until facilities become available services will be conducted regularly at 11 o'clock every Sunday morning in Gerrard and Sunday school classes will meet in the YMCA.

Prof. Maurice A. Kidder of the Department of Religion is in charge of the new mission and will deliver the sermons. The choir is under the leadership of Dr. U. T. Holmes.

Fifty Episcopalians signed a petition to be presented to the Rt. Rev. Edwin A. Penick, Bishop of the Diocese of North Carolina, for the official organization and recognition of the new church.

Duke Fund Drive

Durham — Duke University's drive for $8,650,000 during 1950-51 has gone over the top by more than $113,000, President Hollis Edens said here yesterday.

Latest tabulations show that 8,704 contributors from all 48 states and from 21 foreign countries took part in the mammoth campaign and gave a total of $8,763,199.90.

Development workers said yesterday that gifts have continued to come in since the December 31 deadline and added that the final total is expected to be somewhat larger. A final report is expected soon.

This means, President Edens explained, that the first phase of Duke's $12,000,000 development program is completed.

The 1950-51 campaign was launched in the fall of 1950 with the aim of securing funds for the university's most immediate needs.

Playmaker Tryouts Are Set For 'Winterset' Production

Auditions for the Playmakers fourth major production, Maxwell Anderson's poetic tragedy, "Winterset," will be held at 4 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. today in the Playmakers theatre. As in the past, any student is eligible to take part.

Samuel Selden, head of the dramatic art department, will personally direct, and needs a cast of over 20 men and women to fill the roles. He will be on hand at the theatre today, together with other staff members, to hear the auditions.

The tryouts take the form of group readings on the stage between various candidates. Everyone is treated courteously, and heard as promptly as possible. There is no reason for newcomers to feel any fear or embarrassment.

The play is scheduled for production on February 26-March 2 at the Playmakers Theatre, and will be the only poetic tragedy attempted this year.
