Swim Captain Cecil Milton Chosen Athlete Of Week

By Ed Starnes

Cecil Milton, senior and co-captain of the Carolina swimming team, was a unanimous choice as The Daily Tar Heel Athlete of the Week for his brilliant performance in the Tar Heel's close 43 1/2-40 1/2 win over Princeton last Monday night.

Milton took first place in the 120-yard freestyle, and the 440-yard freestyle to give Carolina ten points. He churned home in the 220-yd. freestyle in a time of 2:16.3, a new dual meet record. His first place in the 440 captured the meet for the Tar Heels.

Unsung Hero

Milton has been one of the unsung heroes of Carolina's swimming teams. A steady performer, he has been hidden in the past by the shadow of Jim Thomas and other great Tar Heel swimmers. With Carolina's well-rounded team this year, Milton's consistency has been an important cog in the victory streak that has now stretched to 23 in a row.

Coach Dick Jamerson classifies Milton as one of the top performers on this year's squad, and said that he was doing some of the best swimming on the team.

Second place in the voting went to Al Lifson, the basketball team's outstanding player. The freshman from Elizabeth, N. J., scored 22 points in the Tar Heel's defeat by Duke last Friday night, and chipped in 16 points against West Virginia on Wednesday.

Lifson started the season on the bench, but after a few weeks it was obvious he should be starting. He got his first chance in the Hanes housery game and turned in 13 points. His play in the Dixie Classic in Raleigh branded him as a future star of the Southern Conference.

Leads Scoring

At present he leads the Tar Heels in scoring with 288 points in 20 games for a 14.4 average, even though 4 games are included in the totals in which Lifson played a very little bit.

Vince Grimaldi copped third place with his play for the cagers over the past week. The 6' ballhawking speedster holds second place in the UNC scoring race with 255 points in 20 games for a 12-8 average.

He hit for 14 against West Virginia and played a fine game in the Tar Heel's loss to Duke last Friday night. A top-flight all round player, Grimaldi has been an important member of the Tar Heel five this year.

Check Goodin Gets 2 Firsts For Carolina

The Carolina gymnastics team took six of seven first places in defeating Duke's gym team, 68-44 in Woollen Gym last night.

The Tar Heels picked up five seconds, three thirds and three fifth places in winning their first meet of the season.

Check Goodin was high man for the winners with two firsts and one second, good for 16 points. Andy Bell of Carolina was second with 11 points. Top man for the Blue Devils was Dick Heckert whose first place in tumbling gave him six points.

The Tar Heel gymnasts took first and second places in the rope climb, high bar, parallel bars, flying rings; first and third in the side horse and trampoline, and second and third in tumbling.

Dick Heartley won the rope climb with a time of 4.7 seconds, but the top performance of the evening was turned in by Carolina's Otis Hartsell on the flying rings. Hartsell gave a beautiful exhibition and scored 248 points out of a possible 300.

Carolina now sports a 1-3 record, the losses being to Florida State, Penn. State, and Army. Duke had previously lost to Florida State, and has yet to win a meet.

The Duke squad, coached by Don Hedstrom, a former gymnast at Minnesota, was expected to give the Tar Heels a tough battle, but the UNC team showed its superiority in every department in chalking up the victory.

UNC-Duke Hold Practice Meet

DURHAM, Feb. 7—The University of North Carolina and Duke held an informal track meet here today as both teams prepared for the conference indoor meet March 1 in Chapel Hill. No scores were kept.

Cagers, Losers Of Five In Row Play Bulldogs Here Tonight

By Bill Peacock

The Carolina basketball team, which has lost five straight games in the conference and will have a difficult job qualifying for the tournament, gets a "breather" tonight when it meets The Citadel at 8:00 o'clock in Woollen Gym.

The Tar Heels are currently in 10th place in the conference race. The Bulldogs, who are in dead last place in the race with nine losses and no wins, should not give Carolina any trouble. The Citadel was beaten Wednesday, 73-64, by George Washington.

Citadel Disappointing

The Citadel has been quite disappointing this year to its followers, who were anticipating a better year than last when the Bulldogs won 6-11. Coach Bunzy O'Neil was looking forward to an even break in 28 conference games and perhaps a place in the play-offs.

But the Bulldogs were badly whipped, 87-69, by Carolina in their opener and never hit their stride. To make matters worse, center Jerry Varn, a six foot, nine inch sophomore from Ehrhardt, S. C., quit the team as did veteran forwards Bob Terry and Bob Laufer.

The offense is built around center Jim Cathcart, a six foot, three inch sophomore from Chatham, N. J. Cathcart had a good night against Carolina and scored 16 points. Freshman guard Bob Fisher of Bayonne, N. J. is another good scorer and hit for 10 points against the Tar Heels.

Bulldogs Shorter

The Tar Heels will have a great height advantage in the Bulldogs, who average only five feet, 11 inches. The average Carolina height is six foot, three inches. The tallest man in the starting lineup for The Citadel is Cathcart, while Carolina has six foot, nine inch Paul Likins and six foot, seven inch Howard Deasy.

Seegars and Weeks are both 5' 11", Zelinski is 5' 9", and Phil Sabio, the first substitute for the Bulldogs, is only 5' 7".

Coach Sam Barnes believes that the Tar Heels can whip The Citadel and end their four meet losing streak.

The Carolina lineup will be: 123—Earl Kendrick; 130—Harry

UNC-Citadel Meet Tonight In Wrestling

Carolina's varsity wrestling squad will meet The Citadel tonight in Woollen Gym at 6:15 as a preliminary to the Citadel-Carolina basketball game. The Tar Heels coached by Sam Barnes will be seeking their second win of the season.

The Bulldogs will bring a fine wrestling team headed by three returning lettermen. The most successful of these is 157-pounder John Scott from Baltimore, Md. Last year he was undefeated in dual matches, winning seven straight before losing in the third round of the Southern Conference tournament.

The other two lettermen from The Citadel are Ed Laney and Bill Williams both of whom showed great promise last year. Huge Jerry Thayer, 240 pound football tackle, is another fine performer for The Citadel, and he has earned a regular job in the unlimited weight class.

Coach Billy Bostwick is expecting great things from two newcomers to the squad: Douglas (Killer) Kelly and D. J. Galvin. Kelly is a junior and wrestles in the 123-pound class, and Galvin is a freshman who is leading the 137-pound division.

Coach Sam Barnes believes that the Tar Heels can whip The Citadel and end their four meet losing streak.

DON'T MISS THIS GREAT MONEY-SAVING EVENT AT A&P! Founders Week Celebration

We've 93 Candles on Our Cake!

Your A&P is 93 years young this week. For it was about this time in 1859 that our founder, George Huntington Hartford, proudly opened the doors of his modest little store on Vesey Street in downtown New York, the forerunner of today's A&P.

Even with his vision, we suppose he'd be surprised to see how his little business has grown.

We think he'd be proud, though, to know that the basic idea that guided him then, "to bring more good food to more people for less money," has been the reason for our growth.

We pledge to maintain this principle as long as there's an A&P!
